Campbellford Rink Opens In Warne Trophy Bonspiel

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 23 — (ENS)—An official opening ceremony on the ice at the community centre Saturday, was followed by a friendly game between Toronto Talmacs and the Campbellford-Peterborough Combines. The opening was witnessed by approximately 1,000 spectators.

Before the game started Mayor J. E. Ayrhart of Campbellford said the community centre was for the use of the rural districts surrounding Campbellford as well as for the citizens of the town itself.

He had great hopes for the future of the centre and expressed satisfaction that the ambition of sportsmen in this town for artificial ice would be realized in the not too distant future.

A feature of the ceremony was $3,500, which represented the the handing over of a cheque for Provincial Government grant towards the cost of the centre. This pleasant task was performed by Minister of Public Welfare, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, MP. Mayor Ayrhart accepted the cheque, which he in turn gave to Dr. W. W. Baker, chairman of the Rink Board of Managers.

A memorable moment, as well as a somewhat humorous one, followed at centre ice when the Mayor dropped the puck between Hon. W. A. Goodfellow and Dr. F. G. Robertson, who forgot their political differences to engage in a bit of horseplay.

The politicians were replaced by Aubrey (Dit) Clapper, the Boston Bruins' player and coach of former years. Mr. Clapper agreed to come to Campbellford and act in capacity of referee. His assistant was Owen D. Hendy, well known hockey player in these parts.

Campbellford - Peterborough Combines repeated their victory af a year ago by defeating their Toronto opponents 9-3. The puck chasing was done on fast ice and while hard fought, was a clean exhibition of hockey, with only a few penalties, those being for minor offences.

Summary of Scoring:

Celebrate At Banquet

The opening program on the ice was preceded by a banquet at which the Toronto team, leader in the Toronto Hockey League, was guest of the Community Centre Board.

Dr. W. W. Baker, chairman of the board of managers, presided. Guests included Mayor J. E. Ayrhart of Campbellford, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, minister of Welfare in the Provincial Parliament, Dr. F. G. Robertson, M.P., and their wives. Ray Snook, coach-manager of the Toronto team spoke a few words.

During the serious part of the program, Dr. W. W. Baker expressed his confidence that the community centre venture would be a great benefit, not only to the citizens of the town of Campbellford, but also to the surrounding countryside.

Must Have Co-operation

Co-operation between the board and the hockey club was of prime importance, and the finances must be successful if the venture is to expand. He asked the hockey club to face this matter squarely, and thanked them for donating their services as the main attraction of the day.

He also spoke words of praise to the visiting Toronto team, many of whom were here on a similar charitable venture when money was raised for the Campbellford Memorial Hospital at a benefit game a year ago. He expressed hope that the meeting of these two teams would be an annual affair.

H. Davidson, whose late father built the rink, was also present. Dr. Baker thanked Mr. Davidson for his co-operation in the business deals which made the community centre a reality this year. Special tribute was also paid to Fred M. Rutherford, under whose dynamic drive this play was instituted.

On the less serious side, the gathering enjoyed a social hour after the meal served by the ladies of Christ Church. Mr. and Mrs. George Nicholls entertained at the piano, and the former acted as M.C. for an impromptu program. Several of the Toronto guests and their ladies contributed musical numbers.

Churchill Stirs Election Pot

LONDON, Jan. 23 — (CP) — Winston Churchill stirred up Britain's election campaign during the weekend with a warning against "another plunge into Socialist regimentation."

Sir Hartley Shawcross, the Attorney General, Sunday night retorted:

"I would have thought that if ever men's souls were regimented it was under the old (Conservative Party) regime with education for the masses cut shrot almost as soon as it began; with the drab lives in long rows of monotonous back-to-back houses; with men becoming more and more mere cogs in the mechanized industrial machine."

Churchill, in a radio address on Saturday night, called for a return to free enterprise to "win us back the glorious ascendency" which marked the rise of the British Empire. It was his first major speech since the General Elections were set for Feb. 23.

The Conservative leader said that Socialism was "the weakest defence against Communism" and was being discarded in the rest of the Commonwealth and, most of Western Europe.

Sir Hartley, taking up the cudgels for the Labor Government, in his reply to Churchill declared the Conservative leader was simply chanting: "everything that Labor can do, I can do better."

Two Residents Suffer Fractured Bones

Two Peterborough residents were taken to Civic Hospital over the week-end with bone fractures. One of the injuries was caused by a skiing mishap and the other by a fall on the icy sidewalk.

Ronald Cumming, 27, of 1216 Monaghan Road broke both bones in the lower part of his left leg Sunday while skiing at Bethany. He was removed to Civic where he was given medical attention.

While on her way to All Saints' Church Sunday morning, Mrs. Cecil Thackeray of 465 Stewart St. slipped on the sidewalk as she was walking along Rubidge Street.

Consider Home For Aged At Special Session of Council

COBOURG, Jan. 23.—(ENS).—Northumberland and Durham Counties Council will hold a special session early next month to consider a new addition to the Counties Home for the Aged. The board of management, following a resolution passed at the November session last year, obtained plans and specifications for a new wing to cost around $60,000 and tenders have been called.

Reeve G. A. Walton of Newcastle, chairman of the board of management, told the Council Friday that it had been hoped to be able to open the tenders at the January session, but it took some time for the contractors to study the plans and prepare their tenders. Last year Counties Council paid $4,400 for an architect for preliminary sketches of an overall expansion of the counties home. Cost of the working drawings for the $60,000 addition amounts to $3,120, or a total of $7,520 for plans to date. Reeve Walton pointed out that considerable money was involved in the addition and it should be gone into carefully.

Suggests Old Hospital

Deputy-Reeve G. F. Jamieson of Bowmanville had another suggestion. The Bowmanville hospital building, which was going to be vacant as soon as they were able to occupy their new hospital, could be bought very reasonably. It could be made ready a whole lot more quickly than building a new counties home addition. It would handle 50 bed patients as compared to the 17 which the new addition would accommodate, and he felt it could be bought for around $20,000. It was in very good condition and a bargain at $20,000. He said he would like the board of management to look it over before they decided on the new addition. Furthermore the new hospital was only a short distance from the old one, so it would be conveniently situated for treatment of the counties home inmates.

Reeve Arthur Wartman of Percy Township declared that he liked the Bowmanville idea and it should be looked into.

In connection with the recommendation of the finance committee that the clerk and treasurer be given an assistant at a salary of $900 a year, Council decided to appoint a committee to look into it and report back at the special session next month.

Appointments Made

The following appointments were made at the close of the January session:

Auditor of criminal justice accounts, H. Woodley; reforestation, E. Scott and A. Ferguson; Children's Aid, L. Giddy and W. H. Conn; board of health, George Galbraith; board of management, G. A. Walton; hospital board representatives, Port Hope E. B. Lingard, Cobourg Roy Dodge, Campbellford R. J. Locke; Colborne registry office, D. McLaughlin; Cobourg registry office, George Galbraith; Port Hope registry office, E. Lingard; Bowmanville registry office, Norman Allison, and jail commissioner, Roy Dodge.

A proposal of Deputy-Reeve George Galbraith that counties representatives on hospital boards be paid by the counties, the same as any other committee member, was turned down by the Counties Council.

Among the recommendations of the legislative and bylaws committee were the following:

That the resolution of Elgin County for better distribution of fines be endorsed; that the recommendation from Simcoe County regarding increased provincial assistance to Children's Aid Societies be endorsed; that the resolution from Simcoe County re universal starting and closing of daylight saving time be endorsed.

Administration of justice, $1,859.57; counties roads, $24,703.96; Trenton Suburban Road Commission, $2,984.39; hospitalization, $5,594.00; child welfare, $5,622.82; municipal government, $4,465.69; counties gaol, $3,311.82; counties home, $6,442.44; miscellaneous, $6,490.26; board of health, $10,000; debenture payment, $18,255.19.

A grant of $10,000 was authorized for the building fund of Bowmanville Memorial Hospital.

The road and bridge committee recommended that a bylaw be prepared joining county road No. 61, south from Burnley to the Percy Township boundary, connecting with county road No. 62 and that the county road No. 61 extension east of Burnley be turned back to the township.

A-Bomb Hysteria

When the Atomic Energy Commission came to a dead end in 1948, it seemed to many as if they might as well fold their hands and wait for the final explosion which would split the earth into atoms. Last Thursday when the Russian delegates walked out of a closed U.N. conference on atomic energy (they walked out because Chiang Kai-shek's nominees are still the official representatives of China at U.N.), people again shuddered at the headlines.

• • •

It is time that more people did some cooler thinking about atomic energy and the Bomb (or bombs—there may be hundreds of them by this time in American reserves). In the first place, fear has driven out sense. The A-bomb has become this post-war age's bogey. In earlier days it was the scowl of Zeus, the Yellow Peril, dynamite, tanks. Every age seems to bow down before some monstrous fear which it defies.

• • •

Secondly, atomic energy is a revolutionary technique; it is not proved that the A-bomb is a revolutionary weapon. The two 1945-type bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki have been calculated to have had the destructive power of 2,000 tons of ordinary bombs. A great noise was made about their awful powers to destroy life, cities, and the very earth. Yet, British and American bombers in the recent war dropped, altogether three million tons of bombs in the European and Pacific theatres. The special survey made by American military authorities after the war, to assess as accurately as possible the military and political significance of the bombing, found that it had destroyed neither the morale nor the industrial production of Germany. If three million tons of bombs cannot do this, will the equivalent in atomic bombs do it? And it will take a goodly number of atomic bombs to equal the three million tons dropped during the last war.

• • •

In making plans for the control of atomic energy, such facts should be considered. Merely because of unproven fears, the plans should not be so rigid, and stifling that no agreement can be reached on them by all the nations. It has yet to be demonstrated that a compromise would be completely ineffective or useless. A further matter should be considered by the designers of controls. The A-bomb is but one off-shoot of the new techniques of atomic physics. Because it has cast such a dreaded shadow over the world, must countries (even countries like Russia) be denied the opportunity to use atomic energy for industrial and social purposes? Must these uses be discarded because no way can be found to put safety catches on the bomb?

The Two-Bottle Men Were Frauds

Not many people in Canada drink port—not many, that is to say, compared with those who drink other things. But most of us have heard those stories about eighteenth century squires, and nineteenth century gentlemen, who regularly drank a couple of bottles of port every night after dinner. Sipping a single glass of that heavy, fruity, rich wine—so strongly reminiscent of glorified cough mixture—we wonder how they did it. What livers, we think, half admiring and half nauseated.

Now we learn the secret. The bottles of that day, an expert tells us, were smaller than wine bottles at present, and they had bulges in their bottoms in which a man could put his fist; they held only half a pint. The two-bottle man, therefore, consumed a pint of port each night, which seems reasonable, if not wholly admirable. In the days before central heating a pint of port provided an easy means of getting warm.

Nevertheless, a pint of port every evening—it is a solemn thought. There was an instrument in those days called a tongue-scraper, a blade of ivory with a silver handle; the two-bottle men needed the tongue-scraper as we need the toothbrush.

Sir Osbert Sitwell, in the autobiography, recalls that the ninety-third Archbishop of Canterbury, Archibald Campbell Tait, used to gargle his throat with port, to combat a weakness brought on by preaching and speaking. If this were a guaranteed method of producing rich oratory we would not hesitate to recommend it to our own House of Commons, where so much of the speaking sounds as though the Members gargled with small beer or even milk-and-water.

U.S. Ready To End Spanish Boycott

United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson has announced that the Government of his country is now ready to support a move in the United Nations that would end the diplomatic boycott of Spain. This would be a complete reversal of the policy followed since 1946, when relations were broken off after a United Nations resolution advocated such action, and it could easily become a precedent for other western democracies.

The news is not surprising. For more than a year, there has been a determined drive in the United States to end the boycott, led politically by Senator Tom Connally of Texas and Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada. The drive is said to have the backing of the Roman Catholic Church; high-ranking military strategists are known to favour it, in addition to important commercial interests. Pressure exerted by these groups understandably might influence Government policy.

The Spanish dictator, Francisco Franco, may currently be considering a move which could provide the western democracies concerned with a face-saving excuse, if one is needed. He is said to be contemplating a complete overhaul of his Government; it is reliably reported he had admitted he thinks the time has come to revise the "fundamental laws", the term used in Spain for certain basic laws on which Franco's regime has been established. One of these is the law of succession, and there are reports that Franco visualizes himself as regent, with the throne restored to the House of Bourbon-Hapsburg—a situation which would make recognition very easy for any nation wishing to revert to that policy.

Democratic peoples, especially those whose political thinking is liberal, find anything which implies approval of a dictatorship repugnant. State Secretary Acheson, however, has declared that the decision to abandon the 1946 policy in no sense signifies approval of the present regime in Spain. His statement may be accepted, for recognition and disapproval are obviously diplomatically compatible. The Governments of Canada, Britain and the United States, for instance, could not be said to approve the present regime in Russia in principle, yet they recognize it in both the diplomatic and economic sense.

Archie of the N. Y. Sun

When the New York Sun stopped publication a few days ago we shed no tears, for we never read it, and its connection with the late Frank Munsey lent it no glamour in our eyes. But the current issue of The New Yorker reminds us of a debt of gratitude which we owe to the defunct paper; it was in its columns that Don Marquis' wonderful literary cockroach archie first made his appearance. archie, our readers will recall wrote his free verse by leaping from key to key of a typewriter, and because he could not manage the space-key he could not use any capital letters. And with archie we cherish the memory of that noble animal mehitabel the cat. She summed up in her shabby and raffish self a wonderful defiance of convention and a noble scorn for the trivialities of life. Listen to this, from one of her midnight songs:

my youth i shall never forget
but there s nothing i really regret
wotthehell wotthehell
ther s a dance in the old dame yet
toujours gai toujours gai
the things that i had not ought to i do because i ve gotto
wotthehell wotthehell
and i end with my favourite motto
toujours gai toujours gai

The corrupt philosophy of this ribald animal is counteracted by archie's great moral dictum live so that you can stick out your tongue

at the insurance — doctor

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is useless to expect that manufacturing costs will ever drop to pre-war levels. Why, it even costs more to write history today than it did.

Mr. Justice Chevrier says that perjury is the curse of the Ontario courts. We may not be one of the Ten Lost Tribes of Israel, but perhaps we would trace descent from Ananias and Sapphira.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

"WHAT was he doing . . . the great god Pan, Down in the reeds by the river?"

There is a legend that a cry went up through the woods and groves of the ancient world at the time of the birth of Christ: "Pan is dead. Pan is dead." If he were alive today he would be amazed to find that the rude pipes that he fashioned out of reeds were the antecedent of a family of musical instruments that includes the modern organ, with all its bewildering array of knobs, pedals, lights and other gadgets. It is an interesting family and includes the accordion, a modern version of the regal (portable organ) of the XVIIth century. The regal can be moved easily from one room to another, but it requires another person to blow it, and it has to be rested on a flat surface such as a table. The bagpipes are another sort of organ. The smallest organ is the mouth-organ, which will fit into the pocket, and is the nearest of modern instruments to the pipes of Pan. The harmonium is nearly related to the accordion, and is sometimes called the reed-organ. Actually the terms reed-organ and pipe-organ are misleading, but they are convenient terms and sanctioned by usage. The pipe-organ normally contains reeds, and organ reeds are not made of reed—they are metal tongues placed in slots (anybody who has taken a mouth-organ to bits in his youth will understand what I mean). The organ family is not a regular member of the orchestra. The reason for this is not far to seek. All these instruments are individualists; they have been constructed with a view to being self-contained. Unlike the violin they provide their own accompaniment. This has been done at the expense of various factors. The accordion, like the harmonium, has an unpleasant quality of tone; furthermore the number of chords it can play is strictly limited. The bagpipes must be heard out of doors to be appreciated. The "pipe organ" cannot be moved around.

THE modern organ is by far the most complex musical instrument and is capable of an immense range of sounds. From the faintest whisper to the mightiest roar, it can hold its own against a full orchestra. It is much less flexible than the orchestra, but it has a statuesque grandeur that the full orchestra can never attain; and all this is controlled by one man—the organist. The organ console of a large organ is bewildering and fascinating to the layman; it looks like the control panel of an air liner, together with several keyboards (called manuals), which give it the look of a pianist's nightmare. The organ of Liverpool Cathedral, England, one of the largest in the world, has five manuals and over 10,000 pipes. The organ of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough, has four manuals and 2,640 pipes. The largest organ in the world is not in a church but in a store. Wanamaker of Philadelphia was a great lover of music and like a true American he did nothing by halves, so he had a seven-manual colossus constructed. Seven manuals are about as much as the average human arm will reach, and it is unlikely that this number will be surpassed until a new race of long-armed organists has been evolved.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE introduction of pneumatic action, and later on of electro-pneumatic and electric action caused a revolution in organ building. No longer was it necessary to press hard on the keys; in fact the touch of the modern organ is lighter than that of a piano. The console could be placed in a more convenient position for vision. An echo organ could be placed far away from the console. Electric blowing provided a higher pressure and a steadier wind supply than hand-blowing. Many new kinds of pipes were invented. The outstanding figure of this period in the history of organ-building was Hope Jones, who worked in England and later emigrated to the States, where his ideas were taken up enthusiastically. His search for new ideas sometimes led to extravagancies, and the theatre organ is an example of Hope Jones' theories run wild. Nowadays there is a tendency to return to a more sober tonal scheme, more in accord with traditional "organ tone", while taking full advantage of all the mechanical and electrical aids exploited by Hope Jones and his school.

✧ ✧ ✧

ELECTRONIC organs have become very popular in recent years, and their comparative cheapness and portability are great points in their favour. They occupy very little space and require no tuning. A considerable variety of tone-colour is obtainable, and the volume can be controlled more easily and smoothly than with the conventional organ—no "building up" for climaxes. The sound comes out of one or more amplifiers, just like the radio. In spite of all its advantages it is safe to say that the electronic organ will never supersede the pipe organ except where considerations of space, cost and portability are paramount. It has its uses, in small churches, concert halls where there is no pipe organ installed, and so on, but one or two loudspeakers will never sound like a real organ; the tone is bound to have a "canned music" quality. The initial attack or "bite" of the pipes is lost. There is also a more technical reason; the harmonics are "tempered". No doubt as time goes on technical improvements will be made, but I venture to prophesy that the pipe organ will never be ousted by the electronic organ, and its effortless grandeur will continue to delight the ears of men for many years to come. The poet Claudian said, about 400 A.D. "Let there be also one who by his light touch forcing out deep murmurs, and managing the unnumbered tongues of the field of brazen tubes, can with nimble finger cause a mighty sound; and can rouse to song the waters stirred to their depths by the massive lever."

Fabricated Homes

[illegible] fabricated mobile bungalows which can be moved by loading the complete house on a four-wheel trailer float. One of these transportable bungalows—fully equipped and furnished — recently has been on show in the City of London. Three workmen are said to be able to erect it in six hours, and dismantle it for moving within four hours.

Letters To The Editor

SUMMER THEATRE NEEDS TIME

Sir: In discussions about the Summer Theatre one frequently hears the point stressed that there are a great many people in Peterborough who have no interest in the theatre. I am reminded that in the early 1930's there were a great many people in Peterborough who had no interest in a Concert Series. Some of us, indeed, had the unhappy experience, after considerable time and effort had been spent, of returning subscriptions to those who were interested and saying "Sorry, no concerts." Now, of course it is "Sorry, no room." And many names on a waiting list.

A number of things have contributed to the gradually changing picture. I do believe, however, that the capacity audiences which now attend our winter concert series are evidence of that interest in music and ballet. The theatre grows where continuous opportunities are given for them to be heard and seen. Could this not prove true of the Summer Theatre if it is encouraged to remain in the city? The Community Concert Series was not established over night in Peterborough, nor without many frank discussions of the practical problems which accompany any artistic endeavour.

A city which gives such splendid support to the Community Concert organization is surely not indifferent to the conditions of a quite young Canadian venture such as the Summer Theatre. It is evident that its future in Peterborough depends largely upon the decisions made regarding its continued use of a suitable auditorium. And I feel confident that those who make the decisions will not do so hastily. Nor will they be wholly practical in their views, but tolerant and generous as well with thought for the theatre's possible place in our community in the years to come.

CITY HALL A BOWER OF ARCHITECTURAL MEMORIES

Sir: Shades of Sir Christopher Wren! So the design of the new City Hall has met with the full approval of our staunch traditionalists, the Council. What a fine thing tradition is—follow it and you can never be accused of being anything but conservative.

How reassuring it is to know that "the design of your City Hall will therefore, not be dated, but will look even 100 years from now as it does at present coming out of the past". Certainly we can now be sure that tradition will be truly served; the Mansard roof will tie us to the 17th century, and the cupola to the 18th. We will be linked to Peterborough, England, the New England tourist will be reminded of his home, even the policy holders of the Shenandoah Life Insurance Company will have their ties with us, and the first two floors will certainly remind Montrealers of the Canada Cement Building. What a pretty architectural dish!

I understand that the Library may some day be torn down. I suggest that would be a pity. Its uncompromising Victorian hideousness should be allowed to stand side by side with these other reminders of our architectural past.

What fun the archeologists of the future will have when they dig up the ruins of Peterborough. The new City Hall will certainly provide them with any number of intriguing clues.

With three clock towers in four city blocks, walking up George Street will be like an adventure in space-time. Leaving George at Charlotte and arriving at George at McDonnel one will probably gain or lose several minutes with no trouble at all. Perhaps the Council will be able to establish a new position, that of City Clock Keeper. However, I doubt whether this would be an office job, since it would require attendance on at least six days a week.

DONATIONS FOR SUMMER THEATRE?

Sir: Numerous excellent letters attest the personal desires of the writers for a continuance of the Summer Theatre. They also probably reflect the wishes of many of their friends, but it seems they have given scant thought to other purveyors of local entertainment. Some of these people have erected large, expensive buildings, provide entertainment for many people and pay goodly sums in taxes. Other lesser ones function and pay their bills in the regular way. I have never heard of any of them asking a subsidy from the public funds.

By all means let the desirous ones have their Summer Theatre, but let them also pay for it in the regular way.

Just as a suggestion, I add, the Opera in New York find themselves annually in financial difficulties and they have overcome them so far by soliciting donations from well wishers, welcoming anything from $1.00 up. While I have never attended nor expect to attend any of the plays, I would contribute modestly to a similar local effort.

BOARD OF EDUCATION'S JUDGEMENT

Sir: It appears that the Board of Education is doing its best to make it impossible for the Summer Theatre to return next summer. If they cannot use better judgement in other matters, the outlook is indeed grim—until next election day.

This is Peterborough's one hundredth anniversary. When are we going to grow up?

Yours truly,

GEORGE GREEN.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yield seed; to you it shall be for meat. And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so. (Gen. 1: 29, 30.)

For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I, even I, will both search my sheep, and seek them out. And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their own land, and feed them upon the mountains of Israel by the rivers, and in all the inhabited places of the country. I will feed them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountains of Israel shall their fold be: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in a fat pasture shall they feed upon the mountains of Israel. (Ezek. 34. 11, 13, 14.)

Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Wherewithal shall we be clothed? (For after all these things do the Gentiles seek:) for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all those things.

But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you. (Matt. 6. 31-33.)

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Expect Canada Recognize Chinese Reds In Month

OTTAWA, Jan. 23—(CP)—Canadian recognition within the next month of the Communist Chinese government is predicted in diplomatic circles. The belief is that official recognition is inevitable and that it will be announced soon after External Affairs Minister Pearson's return to Ottawa. He's due back in the capital Feb. 10 from the Colombo, Ceylon, Commonwealth Conference and a subsequent trade trip in the Far East.

At the last session of parliament Mr. Pearson told the Commons that Canadian recognition would hinge chiefly on the question of whether the Communist government is a bonafide representative of the majority of the Chinese people.

Mr. Pearson indicated before he left for Ceylon that any decision would await the end to the Colombo Conference.

The government announcement, when it does come, is expected to emphasize that recognition does not mean approval of the Communists, but that it can hardly withhold recognition from a government which is obviously in complete control of the country

Cheese

An appeal to the Federal Government to support the price of cheese at 30 cents a pound likely will be made at the annual convention of the Canadian Dairy Farmers' Association.

The association meets here Jan. 26-27, inclusive, and indications are that the recently-announced Anglo-Canadian cheese contract will play a large part in the discussions.

Under the contract, Canada agreed to sell the United Kingdom about 85,000,000 pounds of cheese at 25 cents a pound and agreed to support the domestic price at 28 cents. The U.K. price is six cents below the 1949 level and the support price is down two cents from last year' 30-cent price-support.

The dairy farmers feel that the cheese industry would have been better protected if the government continued to supoprt the price at 30 cents.

John Ballentine of Atwood, the association's vice-president, said recently in Toronto that the association still hopes to get 30-cents. He said a plan to obtain such support would be outlined at the forthcoming convention.

Skelton Leaves Drinking, Smoking Alone

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23 (AP)—Memo to the editor:

Hey, look, I know it's news when a star gets caught smoking marijuana or battling in a barroom.

But is it news when Red Skelton admits that he doesn't smoke, drink, gamble or frequent night clubs.

"Nope, never do," answered the comic. "Except when I'm playing benefits in those places."

"Why not?"

"First of all, because I resent paying $35 or $40 for a glass of ginger ale and an inferior sandwich. Second, if you start hanging out in night clubs, the publicity makes it seem like you're an awful drunk. I don't think that's good for a performer, particularly in the small towns. I care a lot what those people think of me."

He used to go to the Brown Derby after his radio show, but he doesn't even do that now. I can sometimes be seen at Vine Street Hot Dog stand, munching a weiner.

No Party Man

Skelton added that he seldom attends Hollywood parties, doesn't smoke (although he chews an unlighted cigar), gamble or drink.

He admitted that he did some guzzling during the war. "But one day after I got back, I was called to substitute for a radio star who couldn't make his broadcast," he recalled. "I suddenly realized what would happen if I couldn't make it to my show some day." So Red hopped on the wagon and has been there ever since.

"I don't care what people say," he declared, "a man is not at his best when he has been drinking. And in my racket you have to be on your toes every minute."

Lady Lawyer Wins Acquittal

LINDSAY, Jan. 23—Mrs. David Thomson, Lindsay's only lady lawyer, won an acquittal for her client in the first case in which she has acted in Lindsay police court.

Mrs. Thomson acted for Wesley Cameron, of Lindsay, who was charged with careless driving as the result of an accident near Omemee on December 31. It appears that the Cameron car, a 1939 model, had left the road on a sharp curve, jumped a farmer's fence, and landing on its side 22 feet from the roadway. Neither occupant was injured, although the car was damaged to the extent of $300.

Mrs. Thomson moved first for dismissal of the case on the grounds that the crown had not proved lack of due care and attention, taking evidence only after the accident had occurred. When dismissal was denied, she put an expert motor mechanic in the stand, who told the court that in his opinion the accident could have occurred because of mechanical failure of the steering mechanism.

Spent 11 Years of Last 22 In Jails and Reformatories

A sentence of two years less a day was imposed on a man who has spent about 11 years of the last 22 in jails and reformatories. Fergus Mongraw, 38, of 129 James St., pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $310 from John Vincents store, Sophia St. before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Saturday.

This record is truly amazing, Magistrate Philp commented examining Mongraw's record which stretches back to 1928. "There is very slight possibility of this man ever changing his ways," the magistrate added. Nearly every offence is theft or closely related to theft.

When asked what he had to say about sentence, Mongraw said, "I'd like it as light as possible, your honor. I've been out of work a month now."

While being brought in for questioning Friday about three p.m., Mongraw suddenly bolted from beside Constable Gordon Trennum and escaped custody. Neither the constable nor Detective Sergeant John Stevenson who had been following at a little distance were able to catch him before he ducked out of sight.

Rookie Constables Donald Jones and Robert Menzies picked him up about an hour and a half later on Hunter St. He told them at first his name was Joe Brown.

Detective Sergeant Stevenson told the court Mongraw had taken the money from the till of Vincent's store about 10.45 Friday morning.

Mr. Vincent had been out delivering an order of groceries. The store is attached to the Vincent home and Mrs. Vincent had stepped into her kitchen for a moment. She heard the store door close and went out to find a five-year-old boy and Mongraw in the store.

Mongraw made a purchase and left. Later in the day, the Vincent's noticed $310 of some $500 they had in the store to cash pay cheques was missing. The money was later returned. He had banked $200 and had the rest on him.

Mongraw was picked up a short time later by police. It was just as he was approaching the rear of the police station that he made his dash for freedom.

Alcohol Plant In Lindsay Is Closing Down

LINDSAY, Jan. 23—The Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company's plant at Lindsay is to cease operations. Robt. Farquharson, manager, has announced the plant will probably cease operations about February 15 and that the buildings and equipment will likely be put up for sale. Economic factor behind the move were not discussed by the manager who said he felt this was something which should come from headquarters, if it was made public at all. The plant at Lindsay is owned and operated by Corbeys Distillery, Corbeyville.

During peak employment periods, which ordinarily come at this season of the year, the plant gave work to approximately 50 men. This winter 25 men are on the payroll because, as the manager explains, fresh supplies of wood are not being brought in therefore the need for additional help does not exist.

Canadian Industrial Alcohol has long been regarded as a source of employment for a good many Lindsay families.

Industrial alcohol, has been the product of the Lindsay unit and the industry's benefits to the local economy were not confined to Lindsay. Dealers in the wood they required and their suppliers were also benefitted by the company's operations here.

Marines Take Cage Win From Toronto

Toronto West End YMCA cagers dropped a nifty basketball number to the local Outboard Mariners Saturday night in the YMCA gym 65-51. This was the second win for the Outboards this year as they turned back the Hamilton Strands last Saturday.

The Mariners ran the Toronto quintet ragged in the first half as the out-of-towners found the going strange on the small floor. They also found Eddie Nicholls a mighty hard customer on the floor as he drifted in for 14 points in the half, seven baskets. Jimmy Thorburn and Gordie Burns backed up Nicholls by adding a total of 10 more points to lead the Marines to a half-score of 33-14.

Concentrating on stopping Nicholls the West Enders let Joe Stewart loose in the second half to spoil their determined drives to take the lead. Stewart with eight points and, with points by Ab Stewart, Burns and Plunkett, managed to keep the hefty lead of the first. Fallis, of West End YMCA, took over the scoring honors as the Torontos battled back. He sank six baskets and two fouls for 14 points while Schultz was sinking four baskets.

Led The Way

Fallis led the scorers for the night with 18 points while Eddie Nicholls, who played a game well both ways, rapped home 16 points. Joe Stewart and Gordie Burns each had 12 points while Gibson and Schultz had nine and eight respectively. Other scorers for the Marines were: Thorburn and Ab Stewart each six, Plunkett five, Payne and Smith each four. Watts five, Meschino and Wilson each four and Tiaczyk three, were scorers for the West Enders.

The Orfuns turned back the Marines' "B" squad in a rough City League fixture 39-31 to take undisputed position of top place with two wins and nary a loss. The game was close in both halves as the Orfuns with Thorburn in the lead went in front in the first 21-16 and continued to be led by him in the second as they again outscored the Marines Bees 18-15.

Jimmy Thorburn led in the point-getters with 17 while Joe Stewart and Doug Plunkett were holding down Eddie Nicholls to 14. For the Orfuns MacPherson and Bill Moorhead each had eight while Plunkett scored four points and Joe Stewart two. Gordie Burns had eight for the Marines, W. Smith five and D. Burroughs four.

I MEETS TOUGH OPPONENT —Yukon Eric, above, who faces a real test Thursday night when he takes on Seelie Samara in the main bout at the Brock. Samara is a scientific wrestler with a barrel of holds and it will be interesting to see how the big Alaskan shapes up with this style of grappler. Quite a number of the fans think the colored star will take Eric, by using the leg lock hold and his famous hammer-head stunt. Eric is a powerful man, who overcomes his slowness in the ring with his tremendous strength. Samara's speed may turn the tide in his favor. In an effort to show nothing but the best Manager Jim Laidlaw will announce the remainder of the card tomorrow.

Young's Point Boys Win Over Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 23 (ENS) — Young's Point boys defeated the Lakefield Sea Scouts 9-3 in a hockey tilt Saturday in the fine new open-air rink (the fans' part being roofed) at the Point. The H & S Association at Young's Point have equipped their smart young team with uniforms, and the team is handled by Jimmy Jones, while Skipper Ken Jakins and Lynn Pratt looked after Lakefield.

Darling, S. McIlmoyle and Wilson scored in the first for the Point, while P. Heard counted from W. Heard and S. McIlmoyle got one in the second for them, Pratt and Berger tallying for the visitors with an assist each going to Leonard and Down. Jacobs and Darling got one each in the third for the winners, and S. McIlmoyle hit the twine twice, Leonard counting one for Lakefield.

Teams:

Lakefield—Goal, Leonard; defence, Pratt, Berger; centre, Down; wings, Edwards, Hinton; alternates, Lean, Wingett, Doubt, Rath, Henry.

Minor Changes Suggested By Rugby Union

By JACK MITCHELL

TORONTO, Jan. 23—(CP)—Everything must look rosy to Big Four officials now that the Grey Cup championship is back in their midst. Canada's richest football league indicated at its annual meeting that it doesn't plan to change the status quo.

Contrary to some years, almost all the decisions made by delegates from the four teams at Saturday's huddle here appeared negative on advocating only minor changes.

The league rejected an application from a second Toronto team wishing to swell its ranks. It decided to try to work out a schedule that would call for each team to play two games more than the present 12.

The Big Four's own import quota of seven Americans a team will be liberalized next fall to provide for a try-out system. A club is allowed the first two games of its schedule to test its imports.

It was recommended that the Canadian Rugby Union also raise its import quota to seven, instead of the present five, and adopt a similar try-out system.

Nothing Startling

There seems nothing startling about other recommendations to the CRU, as announced by League-secretary D. Wes Brown of Ottawa following all-day closed deliberations by the 15 delegates from Montreal Alouettes, Ottawa Rough Riders, Hamilton Wildcats and Toronto Argonauts.

These are:

1. A slight revision be made in Grey Cup final prices to make the tickets $3 along the sides and $2 behind the goallines, instead of the current $3, $2.50 and $2.

2. All Grey Cup tickets available for public sale be sold through a central C.R.U. bureau instead of regular ticket agencies.

3. C.R.U. players certificates should be issued to clubs by Jan. 1, instead of in the late summer, so that teams can forestall raiding by signing players up earlier.

4. Expenses be allowed for 30 persons for each team in the Dominion final.

5. On forward-pass plays, only eligible receivers should be permitted to go downfield.

Apparently happy about Varsity Stadium's project, to increase seating capacity by 10,000 to make it seat about 29,000, delegates made no mention of any move to take the Dominion final away from Toronto.

Eric Cradock, Alouettes vice-president, became Big Four president under the system of rotating the presidency among the four clubs. This came after delegates put over for "lengthy and careful consideration" Montreal's suggestion that a permanent neutral president be appointed.

W. C. (Billy) Foulds again was named chairman of the board of officials and A. A. Burridge of Lindsay, convener of the interscholastic and junior divisions.

Marmora Juves Get Fourth Straight Win

MARMORA, Jan. 23 (ENS) — Marmora juvenile hockey team maintained its unbeaten record on Saturday in beating Tweed here by the score of 10-0. In this OMHA league in which teams of Madoc, Tweed and Stirling beside the local team are represented, Marmora has won each of its four games played to date. While Tweed played pluckily, they were beaten by better combination. Sweet, the Marmora goalie, got his first shut-out and Darrah, last year's Midget who scored three goals the previous night for the Trent Valley team, got a well earned trio again. The game was cleanly fought and was free of penalties.

Teams:

Tweed—Goal, Moffatt; defence, Moon and John LeSage; centre, J. Mumby; wings, Manion and Rupert; alternates, Rashotte, Holmes, Fisher, Taylor, James LeSage.

Marmora—Goal, Sweet; defence Borland and Darrah; centre, C Trumble; wings, A. Mumby, Jones alternates, Brownlie, Eggett, Drummond, Mechan, Mantle, Brooks, Brown, Smith and Lavender.

Referee — Glen Lavender, Marmora; linesman, Earl Leonard, Marmora.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Legionnaires play the Petes at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture. Definitely not an exhibition, this one counting two points in the standing for the winner. And practically all one has to announce is a hockey game "Legion vs. Petes" to assure a full house in this town. On account of the fans know from past experience that these rival clubs put that extra effort into it when they clash before the home folks. They work their heads off in an effort to humiliate the other side with a loss, and they don't play it too gently, either. Though OHA refs are wise to that and toss 'em off quickly for any little offence. Wisely so, at that.

* * * * * *

While Legion are atop the heap by a comfy margin, they didn't look good in their last start here, when Nylons beat them. And the Petes appear to be on the upsurge. This promises to make for a hard, even go, with the winner not having much margin at the finish. Unless, of course, one of the teams comes up with a sour effort. And we don't expect that for a moment when it's Petes against Legionnaires. While the place may not be a sellout, it should be pretty well packed when "The King" is played and the puck faced off.

* * * * * *

Guy Suggests Again!

For Lakefield fans, we might mention they have an OHA intermediate "A" tilt on home ice this e'en with Trenton. Sixardees meeting the Lakefield Indians. And, brother—and you, too, sister—we think the airmen will find the redskins tough medicine. Such former senior "B" stars as Percy Nicholls, Ernie Nicholls—one "l" or two doesn't make an "l" of a lot of difference, eh?—Joe Blewett, Les Burton, Jack Jopling and the rest stud this starry intermediate lineup. We'd still like to see Lakefield this winter in an exhibition against either Petes or Legion. And we haven't any ulterior motive in the suggestion—both Legion and Petes seem to think we have every time we come up with a suggestion—other than good entertainment for fans.

* * * * * *

Don't be too surprised if the Petes' baseballers are in the Toronto Viaduct League, senior "A", along with Oshawa this coming summer. Provided we have lights in Riverside. And there's a chance the City Council and the Utilities Commission will loan about $10,000 each—with the money repaid on a rental basis at a certain annual rate same as the softball Bowl lights were installed—for Riverside lights. The city thus keeps complete control of its property, gets the lights free after a period of time, and provides night games for spectators and players. Like the artificial ice setup at Civic Arena. As well as leaving the park free at twilight time each night for the minors. We feel it would be sound civic business.

Look Toward Toronto

At the first 1950 COBL meeting in Belleville yesterday, not too much was accomplished. Oshawa seems interested in that good Toronto tie-up, and the Petes are getting quite interested, too. Picton favors a COBL, but that team is an unknown quantity up this way, previously playing intermediate. Batawa spokesman said they were now on a three-day weekly work basis, so that doesn't sound encouraging, and a Belleville official said they needed their park fenced in ere they could go for senior ball. A year ago we said the Petes would do better in a Toronto loop, like just before the war, and we still think so, provided Oshawa is in the same group and if we get lights here.

Bev Goulding's Collegiate cagers did well o'er the weekend. Friday in Oshawa, his seniors won 42-20 and the junior "A" boys yanked out a 28-25 verdict. Saturday at home, PCVS junior Bees and bantams took SPS 45-9 and 22-4 respectively, but the senior PCI-ers dropped a 37-34 exhibition to the all-star Eaton's cast. At the YMCA on Saturday, Outboard Marines "A" squad defeated the Toronto West End "Y" 65-51, Ed Nicholls having 16 points while Gord Burns and Joe Stewart got a dozen each. Fallis led Toronto with 18. Orfuns won 39-31 from Marines "B" team in a city loop fixture, Jimmy Thorburn being the big sniper with 17 points in a roughish joust. Belleville belles play Togs here Wednesday.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

There was a real turnout Saturday night for the regular weekend mixed rink bonspiel—and by way of a change the ladies did the skipping. The "Mrs. Mitchell's" did a real fine job of it.

The prizes were donated by the Peterborough Printing Co. and presented by Mr. D. Clarke. The winning skips were Mrs. V. Selkirk and Mrs. L. Bearne.

The winning skips in the men's afternoon bonspiel were B. Switzer, C. Crane and J. Adams.

Next Saturday, all day, the annual open bonspiel for the W. G. Morrow Trophy will be held. It's for men's rinks. Twelve rinks have already entered and 28 is the required number for a complete draw. Get up a rink and get in the game.

Last week was a heavy one—besides our schedule games we had the Neill Trophy and two open bonspiels. It's always a pleasure to pass on compliments, and we are passing on what we heard. Regarding the men's 'spiel on Wednesday last, the games were all played pretty well on time and the 'spiel all over by 11 p.m. This gives the guests time to get home at a reasonable hour.

Of the ladies' 'spiel, they too played their games on time and those identification cards pinned on each player was a nice idea as was the cards posted up inside and directly behind each ice, naming the skips and to what club they belonged. We forgot to mention that the scatter rugs won by Mrs. Wood's rink were donated by the Brinton Carpet Co.

Other comments we heard were regarding the friendly feeling, the sportsmanship and the hospitality shown to the guests. It all adds up to making the bonspiels a success.

And here is a suggestion given to us. In all bonspiels the prizes be displayed on a table upstairs and numbered 1, 2, 3, etc.

Policeman to a man staggering home at 3:00 a.m.: "Where are you going at this time of night?"

"To a lecture."

Hawks Take Leafs

Black Hawks defeated Maple Leafs 4-2 Saturday in a neat peewee puck loop fixture on good outdoor ice before a fair crowd of parents. Good passing was shown. One of the losers' goals was accidentally kicked into the Hawks' net by the goalie. Curtis, Livings, Murphy and Goldie shone in this fray. Murphy scored three for the victors, Goldie getting a goal and an assist, while R. Brown had an assist. Livings got two for the losers, with Chambo and Adamson each having an assist. Teams:

Leafs: Curtis, Forestal, Orr, Livings, Clambo, Adamson, Douglas, Ashby, Hancock, Sparrow.

Hawks: Smellie, Goldie, Druery, Murphy, Stewart, R. Brown, Cairns, Olmstead, J. Brown, Scharf, Armstrong, Beggs, Kimball.

PCVS Hoopsters Take Four Weekend Frays

PCVS boys' basketball teams won four out of five games played in Oshawa Friday and Peterborough Saturday. In Oshawa Friday the visitors were victorious in both games the senior 42-20 and the juniors 28-25. In Peterborough Saturday evening, the seniors dropped an exhibition game to Toronto Eatons Junior Executives, 37-34. However, the PCVS junior B and bantam teams were victorious over St. Peter's 45-9 and 22-4.

The PCVS junior "A" team waited until the closing minutes to win in Oshawa. Six last quarter baskets and two foul shots overcame a 19-14 Oshawa lead at three quarter time. Lionel Hempstead led the scorers with nine points. Cunningham had eight and McIlraith six for PCVS. Scott and Vargo each had eight points for Oshawa.

Fine Attack

The senior game was all Peterborough as Oshawa was unable to find the attack which overwhelmed Lindsay the week before. Neil Thompson had 10 points, Northcott and Grafstein eight each.

The exhibition game with the Junior Executives representing 14 Toronto and district high schools, was close and hard-fought all the way. PCVS had a 20-19 lead at half-time. This was increased to 32-25 at the three quarters. However the last quarter was all Toronto as the visitors scored six two-pointers to one by the home team. Hugh L. Bearg of Forest Hill Collegiate was top scorer with 17 points. Don Nelles of Runnymede Collegiate had eight and Fred Papsin of Harbord CI six. Al Northcott had 14 for PCVS and Neil Thompson eight.

The preliminary games were rather one-sided. Creighton Johnston of PCVS had 14 points to lead the junior scorers. Bob Boorman had eight and Brian turner six for PCVS in the bantam game. Richardson had four points for St. Peter's junior and Galvin the same for St. Peter's bantams.

Girls Divide Points In Mixed Swim Go

Girls from the YWCA taught the YMCA'S Swimming Club a thing or two Saturday night as they took three out of the six events in the mixed swimming. They accepted the chance to compete against the boys when the Hamilton YMCA Swimming Club were not able to meet a scheduled swim for Saturday night here.

Besides swimming, five of the girls gave a display of diving. Ralph Wood exhibited the advanced crawl stroke.

Miss Elaine Rutledge was awarded a gold medal, donated by Gerald Armstrong, for being the first girl to win the 40-yard handicap event. Miss Rutledge won the third heat of the handicap swim and went on to take the first semi-final and then the final heat. Carol Ferguson won the second heat and the second semi-final but finished third in the final heat as Michael Triggs, of the Boys' Swimming Club, pulled in second.

Carol Howe placed second in the first heat and Wilfred Rankin third. Ted Rankin took second in the second and Gaynel Morgan third in the second race.

In the spoon and cork race, a feature swim, Terry Reid was the victor, the only one to finish the race. In the other feature event, the balloon race, none of the swimmers conformed with the rules.

Miss Audrey Hustwitt, YWCA swimming director, acted as judge and recorder, while Alext Sinclair, the recreation director, was timer and judge. Gord Minty, honorary swimming director at the YMCA, directed the program.

Braves Of 1914 Staged Biggest Upset

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP). — On July 11 of 1914 Boston Braves were running dead last in the National Baseball League—11½ games behind the pace-setting New York Giants.

Three months later the team directed by "Miracle Man" Geo. Stallings won the National League flag by 10½ games and plastered the famed Philadelphia Athletics four straight in a sensational World Series.

That, say the sportswriters and sports broadcasters of the United States, was the greatest sports upset of the first 50 years of the century.

By a margin of 128 to 53 the amazing feat of the hub city immortals has been adjudged a greater shocker than Gene Tunney's victory over Jack Dempsey in their first fight for the heavyweight title at Philadelphia in 1926.

One Other Surprise

Only one other upset in the 50 years got really serious support among the 361 experts from coast to coast who replied to an Associated Press poll.

That was little Centre College's draamtic 6-0 triumph over Harvard in 1921, when the Crimson was a football power to be reckened with. Forty cast their ballots for Bo McMillin and the storied Praying Colonels.

Fourth, far back with 24 votes in the final count, came Jim Braddock's "Cinderella Man" victory over Max Baer for the heavyweight boxing championship in June, 1935.

Man o' War's defeat by Upset at Saratoga Springs in 1919—the only loss by the great thoroughbred in a 21-race career—placed fifth in the Surprise Stakes with 21 votes. Max Schmeling's 12-round knockout of the rising Joe Louis in 1936 drew 12 avid supporters.

Gaye Stewart of Chicago whose third period goal Sunday clinched a 4-3 verdict for the Black Hawks over New York Rangers.

Leafs Capture Two Tilts Broda Gets 6th Shutout

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Nobody yelled "fatso" at Turk Broda this weekend. The star puck stopper from Brandon scored his sixth shutout just one less than big Bill Durnan of Montreal Canadiens, as the Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs both hung up a pair of victories to tighten the National Hockey League race.

Saturday the Leafs edged New York Rangers 2-1, while Canadiens beat Boston Bruins 3-1, and the league leading Detroit Red Wings defeated Chicago Black Hawks 5-3. The Leafs went on to edge the Wings 1-0 at Detroit Sunday night on rookie Sid Smith's goal and Canadiens beat out the Bruins 5-4. The Hawks licked Rangers 4-3 at Chicago.

Detroit's lead today now is nine points over Montreal, with Toronto solidly in third place with four points behind the Canadiens. The Leafs have a three point edge over the Rangers, who are a game ahead of Boston, and Chicago at the bottom is two full games behind Boston.

In the Toronto-Detroit game Sunday, four players were penalized after a lively brawl in the first period, with Steve Black of Detroit and Jim Thomson of Toronto drawing majors. George Gee of the Wings and Gus Mortson drew minors.

Leaf Scorers

At Toronto Saturday Dunc Fisher of New York got the first goal, but Joe Klukay tied it and rookie Johnny McCormack scored the winner for Toronto.

In between periods the rough going on the ice resulted in a flare-up between the players as they moved to the dressing rooms. Ranger goalie Chuck Rayner and Thomson of the Leafs started throwing punches and most of their team mates joined in but the outburst was quickly subdued. Coach Lynn Patrick of the Rangers, however, required six stitches to close a cut on the back of his hand after throwing a punch at Mortson, whose lower lip was cut.

There was wild confusion as the players milled with usher, police and spectators on their way in and out of the seats. Police reinforcements were called and for the remainder of the game there was a line of blue coats separating the players on both teams as they moved to and from the dressing rooms.

The Canadiens did it the hard way in both their victories over the Bruins. At the Forum Saturday they scored three goals in the second period, and after that found Jack Gelineau in the Boston cage too much for them. Meanwhile the Bruins drove hard in the finale but the veteran Milt Schmidt was the only goal scorer as Durnan made some sensational diving saves. Canadien scorers were Rip Riopelle, Ken Mosdell and Norm Dussault.

Weather Storm

At Boston Sunday night the Canadiens again weathered a late storm of rubber that brought the Bruins to within a goal of tying it. The Canadiens had taken a 5-0 lead on two goals by Billy Reay and one each by Rip Riopelle, Ken Mosdell and Callum McKay.

Then Milt Schmidt set the Bruins afire by beating Durnan on a 15 foot shot. Defenceman Bill Quackenbush scored on a Schmidt pass. Fern Flaman got the third and a fluke goal went to Dave Creighton, making it 5-4.

In the Rangers-Black Hawks clash at Chicago the Hawks won on a third period rally. Roy Conacher, Bert Olmstead, Bep Guidolin and Gaye Stewart scored for Chicago, and the Ranger goal getters were Edgar Laprade, Pentti Lund and Buddy O'Connor.

Haas Leading Golf Tourney

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP) — Twenty professionals bunched in a spread of five strokes and headed by young Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans today head into the final round of the $10,000 Long Beach open golf tournament.

One of four linksmen tied for second, one stroke back of Haas, is Vancouver's smooth stroking Stan Leonard, who fired a sparkling 66 Saturday and came back with a 67 Sunday to add to his first round 71. At 204, Leonard is tied with Cary Middlecoff, former United States open champion; Jim Ferrier, one time U. S. PGA king, and Smiley Quick.

The big Vancouver pro, making the best showing of his career in a major American tournament, was given a good chance to take down a big chunk of the prize money.

Haas moved into the lead at the end of 54 holes Sunday with rounds of 70-66-67 for 203.

One-Armed Boxer

GUELPH, Jan. 23 — (CP) — Something new went into the books when a one-armed boxer was crowned champion of the 155-pound class at the Ontario Agricultural College intra-mural boxing show Saturday. He was Lloyd Dean, 22, of Ridgetown, who won decisions over both his opponents. Dean also plays basketball, soccer and hockey, with volleyball and bowling on the side.

Buffalo Battles Twice To Draw

By The Canadian Press.

The charging Buffalo Bisons, leading the eastern division of the American Hockey League, had to be content with two week-end draws while their closest rivals, Providence Reds, won their single game.

Saturday night Hershey Bears, eastern cellar tenants, battled Buffalo to a 3-3 stalemate and Sunday night's game with Pittsburgh Hornets ended in an identical score. Fleming Mackell paced the Hornets with two goals which he scored within 40 seconds during the third period.

The Reds, who have not lost a game in two years on Pittsburgh ice, downed the Hornets 6-4 on Saturday night.

Cleveland Barons, western division leaders, trounced Springfield Indians 7-2 Saturday but lost 4-1 the following night to New Haven Ramblers.

Youth Is Jailed For Assault In Restaurant

James Atkins, 21, of 420 Rubidge St., was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail when found guilty of assaulting Nicholas Douros during a fracas in the Churchill restaurant early Saturday morning.

Together with Ronald Gilmour, 20, 132 Maude St., Atkins was also fined $15 and costs or 15 days by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC, on charges of causing a disturbance. If Atkins failed to pay his fine, the 15 days was to run consecutively with the other sentence.

Joseph Bryan, 18, 735 Herman St., also charged with causing a disturbance, was given a one week remand.

The affair began about 1.30 Saturday morning when about six youths, of whom three were the accused, went into the restaurant. Mr. Douros, proprietor, said it was very busy at the time. He said the youths were blocking the whole aisle and he asked them to go to the counter to be served. He said there was not room for them all in one booth where three girls whom they were with were sitting.

Mr. Douros said he told them a second time they would have to sit at the counter to be served. He said Atkins came to him and swore at him then punched him twice, on the face and on the chest.

He testified that someone stepped between him and Atkins and general fighting seemed to break out.

A waitress, Miss Mary Outwater, said the gang were acting up as they came in the restaurant. She said after Atkins hit Mr. Douros, Charles Baker grabbed Atkins from behind and then some friends seized Baker from behind.

A fight broke out between Atkins and Baker.

Denies Hitting Man

Atkins told the court he did not hit Mr. Douros, but had only shoved him after Mr. Douros had pushed him.

"There is no question of your guilt in this matter," Magistrate Philp said.

In the case against Gilmour, Mr. Douros said he saw Gilmour fighting with Baker and two other customers. Testifying on behalf of Gilmour, Atkins said, "I caused all the trouble. Gilmour and Bryan tried to break up the fight. They took me out of the restaurant."

Gilmour said he "heard a big noise and got a sock on the jaw." He said he had just tried to protect himself against two fellows who were attacking him.

"I knew I couldn't handle them," he said, so he got out taking Atkins with Bryan's help. "If I was getting beat up, there wasn't any sense in going on fighting, was there?" he asked.

Magistrate Philp said the court was not going to tolerate continued disturbances in restaurants. "There are some people who apparently regard it (a fight) as the highlight of an evening."

City's Industrial Assessment Second Highest Of Its Size

Assessment of Peterborough's industrial properties is 23.11% of the total assessment, second only to Kitchener in the listing of six comparable cities of Ontario. Kitchener tops this group with 24.83%; Hamilton is next with 19.04%; Toronto 12.80%; London 11.80%; and Sudbury 8.47%.

The percentages of residential assessments are: Sudbury 61.52; Peterborough 60.44; London 57.74; Hamilton 55.36; Kitchener 51.06; Toronto 47.35%.

Percentages of commercial and professional assessments are: Toronto 39.85; London 30.46; Sudbury 30; Hamilton 25.60; Kitchener 24.11; Peterborough 20.45%.

These figures were obtained from Norman A. Wilkes, assessment commissioner.

Peterborough appears to rate in first place in the closer balance of its residential and industrial assessments. Its residential percentage is higher than Kitchener's with only a slight difference in industrial.

7 Days In Jail Car Impounded

Pleading guilty to a charge of drunk driving, Irvin Morrow, 19, Havelock, was sentenced to seven days in jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today. His car was impounded for three months.

Provincial Constable Roy Feeley said shortly before midnight Saturday while driving from Norwood to Havelock, he saw a set of car tracks in freshly fallen snow.

He said the tracks indicated a car had been driven in a very erratic manner from side to side on the road. For some mile and a half the car had been driven on the left side with two wheels on the shoulder.

Followed Tracks

Constable Feeley followed the tracks into Havelock to a car parked on the main street with its motor running. He said he saw two men come out of a building, one a short time after the other. He said Morrow nearly fell twice on his face crossing the road to the car. Morrow got into the car and started to drive off. He overtook the car at the railway station.

He testified Morrow was very drunk. He said his eyes were bleary, his breath smelled strongly of alcohol and his speech was thick. Morrow had a cut on his lip which required several stitches to close.

TRIBUTE TO DR. GORDON

At the annual meeting of the Trinity United Church on Thursday evening Dr. Donald Whyte paid tribute to the Rev. Dr. D. Bruce Gordon the minister for his faithful and untiring work during the past year. Total amount raised by the congregation during the year amounted to $27,000, believed to be the largest in the history of the congregation.

Toronto Plants Strike Vote UE Threatens

Rejecting what they considered a "watered down" version of the Conciliation Board's recommendations, delegates from 1,500 Toronto CGE workers on Sunday threatened to take strike votes within 10 days.

They asked also that the Peterborough plant be included immediately in negotiations to conclude a 1950 agreement. CGE has refused to sit with the Peterborough delegates claiming there is uncertainty here as to the bona fide bargaining agent.

C. H. Jackson, Canadian UE president, said unless the company negotiates strike votes will be taken at the plants. These five, all in Toronto, are Davenport, Royce, Ward, Carboloy and Premier Vacuum Co.

Board's Recommendations

The majority report of the Conciliation Board recommended a reduction in the work week from 44 to 42 hours and a 4.77 per cent boost in wages to maintain take-home pay. (In Peterborough and Cobourg the reduction would be from 45 to 42 hours.)

Chairman of the Board, Judge J. C. Reynolds, and the Company nominee, C. B. Scott, filed the majority report. A dissenting opinion was brought in by the Union nominee J. L. Cohen.

The minority report agreed to waive the original union demands for a 40 hour week for a 42 hour one, but there was to be a general wage increase and the work week "should be reduced uniformly to 42 hours" to maintain take-home pay.

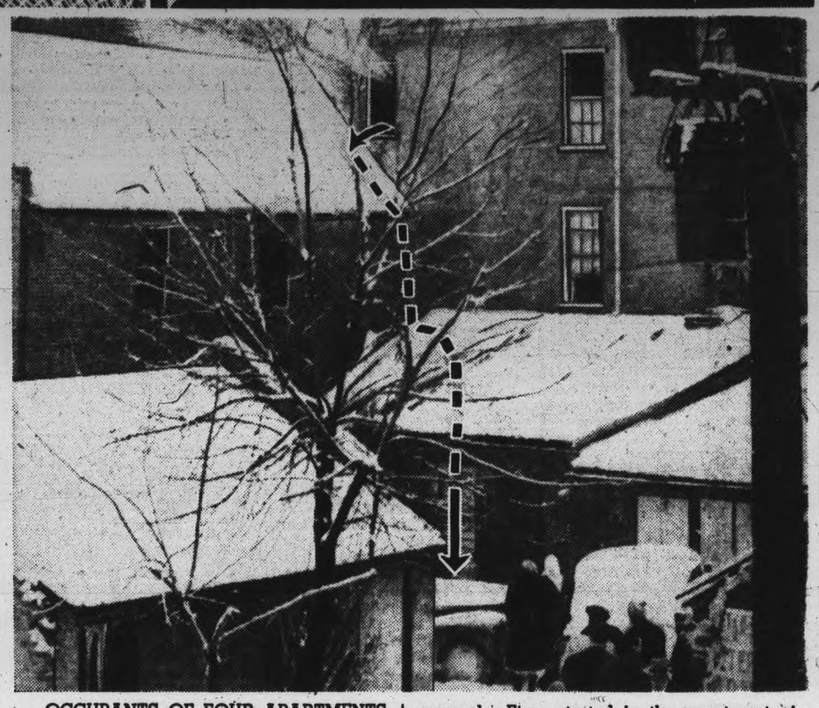
Union officials point out that the 4.77 compensating increase was based on a calculation of the two hour cut in time, not the three hour cut as in Peterborough and Cobourg. Workers in these two plants would lose out on the 4.77 per cent formula, they say.

Jackson Wires

A wire was dispatched to H. M. Turner, president of the CGE in Toronto, by Mr. Jackson. It asked him to resume negotiations for "a speedy and fair settlement of 1949-50 contract improvements.

"The meeting has instructed the Joint Negotiating Committee to take strike votes if no satisfactory movement toward a fair settlement is shown within a week.

"The meeting also demanded proper recognition of contractual rights and Company obligations to include Peterborough in negotiations on the basis of the UE being the bargaining agent under contract which runs to June 30, 1950 by the Company's own statement."



Heavy Snowfall Makes Good Skiing

The snow was wet but glorious to skiers in the Peterborough area over the weekend as the hickory in many cases came out of the backroom for the first time this season. A few skiers tried Victoria Park Saturday but the two to four inches of snow were only a taste for Sunday's skiing.

With four to six inches on the hill the skiers advanced on Bethany early Sunday morning. One tow was operated until 1 p.m. when the skiing terminated due to the heavy going. The skiers tramped the chalet hill before leaving for Kempt's Hill.

The contingent from Bethany added to the fairly large crowd at Kempt's. In the morning the skiers had tramped one side of the hill making it fairly fast for the afternoon considering the dampness of the snow.

Saturday's snowfall provided a good base for the light snow which started to fall early today. Skiing is expected to be tops in the Peterborough district for the remainder of the week. There will be night skiing at Kempt's hill under the lights.

10 Passengers Escape Injury

Ten passengers escaped with nothing worse than a shaking up Saturday when a Lindsay bus ran off Highway 7 into the ditch, two miles north of the city limits.

The accident was the result of a mixup involving three motor vehicles. Last in line of three southbound vehicles, the bus pulled out to pass a truck ahead, driven by Albert Vilneff of Bridgenorth. Simultaneously the truck also swung left to pass the car ahead of it.

Rather than risk a collision the bus driver, Morley Suggitt, of 789 Snelgrove St., chose to run into the ditch. The front axle was bent and there was slight damage to the body and left rear. Total damage would be about $100.

Another bus came from the Peterborough terminal to take the passengers on to their destination.

Provincial Constable G. E. Hendren investigated.

CHILD IMPROVING

Four-year-old Donald MacFarland, victim of severe burns when he fell into a pan of hot water Friday night, was reported considerably improved by St. Joseph's Hospital officials today.

The water had been prepared by his mother, Mrs. William MacFarland, 2 Maniece Ave., to give the youngster a bath. When it was placed on the floor before cold water was added, young Donald began to play with his six-year-old brother Billy, Donald stumbled and fell into the pan, only his face escaping the hot water. No adults were in the room at the time.

County Council Asks Law For Christmas Tree Cutting

Peterborough's County Council has taken a firm stand against the indiscriminate cutting of Christmas trees. At the closing day of the January session a resolution was passed unanimously asking the provincial authorities to consider legislation that would prove an effective control on Christmas tree cutting.

Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore introduced the resolution which is to be drawn up by the county clerk and the county solicitor.

"I don't believe in doing away with Christmas trees," said Mr. Gifford, "but it has now come to the point of being a public nuisance; and there are many instances of trespassing on public property."

Gale Elliott of Harvey backed up a suggestion of Mr. Gifford's that dealers found cutting trees should have to produce a permit.

The matter of trespassing to obtain trees is not confined to truckers handling hundreds of them, Glen Nichols of Chandos observed.

No Car Check

Trucks loaded in this district are usually bona-fide, he said, but there is no way of checking on the multitude of cars roaming through the north country with individual trees tied on them.

One member suggested that each tree be tagged with particulars of purchase on the tag, but this was generally conceded to be too much to expect.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Attorney-General's Department, and the Departments of Lands and Forests and Municipal Affairs. It will also be circulated among the Association of Rural Municipalities.

Quinquennial Division Of Justice Costs Between City And County To Be Assessed

This year the administration of justice accounts, involving the city and county, must be adjusted. It is the regular procedure every five years.

Seven Outdoor Rinks Are In Operation

Mother Nature still holds the decision whether the rinks will close or not. Armar Butcher Superintendent of Parks, said today that if there is a thaw after this snowfall and the bottoms go out, the rinks will go out.

The Parks' men were out early this morning clearing the week-end's snowfall from the ice surfaces. They are hoping that the weather will turn colder so they can continue their day and night flooding to get a good base on the rinks before February.

Already seven rinks in the city have a base which allows the children to have some outdoor skating. There will be skating and hockey nours on these rinks until 9.30 p.m. The rinks with ice are: Riverside and Turner two each, each, Inverlea, Hamilton and King Edward.

Lakefield Creamery Is Robbed Of $60

The Lakefield Creamery was broken into through a rear window and about $60 in four salesmen's cash pouches taken sometime during the week-end.

An employee, Allen Graham, discovered the break-in when he went to work about 6.30 a.m. today. He reported the theft to Lakefield's Chief Constable Garnet Samis.

Chief Samis said the safe had not been touched. The creamery office is situated on a side street about half a block from the main street.

Mother and Baby Escape Burning Building Through Window Onto Roof

A $4,500 fire of unknown origin that broke out Saturday noon caused the evacuation of four apartments at 426½ George St., normally occupied by nine persons. Trapped in her third storey apartment by the fire which started below Mrs. Norman Edwards was forced to slide her nine-month-old baby, Brenda, down the snow-covered slope of an adjoining lower roof. The infant was caught by Les Charlebois, a mechanic at Midtown Motors on Water St.

Then she also slid down the roof to safety.

Mr. Charlebois and Ed. Cooney of Riverside Taxi Co. heard the screams of the frightened mother while standing on their Water St. lot overlooking the rear of the long east block of George St. stores and upper apartments.

Both raced toward the scene of the fire. By this time smoke could be seen coming from several windows, including the third storey one occupied by Mrs. Edwards.

With an agility that surprised him when he had time to reflect afterwards, Mr. Charlebois, a middle-aged man, shinned up a 12-foot water pipe onto a one-and-a-half storey roof, then ran along it to a point almost under the Edwards' window.

"My baby, save my baby," Mrs. Edwards kept crying. Mr. Cooney directed her not to let the infant go until Mr. Charlebois could catch it as it tumbled down the roof.

The squawling infant, soaking wet from being rolled in the melting snow, was then taken to the residence of Mrs. Ralph Green, a neighbor, where some dry clothes were put on her.

Compartment Gutted

Worst hit by the blaze were Walter McLaren, 33, and his middle-aged mother, Mrs. Edith McLaren. Their six-room apartment (two were used for storage purposes only) was completely gutted. Their possessions now consist of an old model car, some thirty-odd cents, and the clothes they had on their backs when the fire began.

For them is was a heartbreaking loss.

Mr. McLaren came from Lancashire, England, two years ago. His mother joined him last summer. They had just completed redecorating and painting their apartment and had purchased new furniture and a refrigerator.

All their possessions went up in flames or were damaged beyond the point of salvage; and they had no insurance on their property.

Exact cause of the outbreak is not known. Mrs. McLaren was in bed ill, in the same room where a wood stove was burning low. First indication anything was wrong was when she smelled smoke and then noticed it billowing from a storage room, adjoining the kitchen, where the wood for the stove was kept.

Turned In Alarm

Others in nearby apartments began to notice the smoke. Clifford Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs Hamilton Hutchinson in Apartment 1, heard the cries of Mrs McLaren and looked out the window overlooking Water St. He saw the smoke coming from the McLaren apartment, a separate section of the building, and ran down the long wooden stairway at the George St. entrance to give the alarm.

By the time he got back smoke was thick in the stairway and he immediately led his mother out of the premises to safety. Mr. Hutchinson then raced to the rear of the building to see what he could do, but found the rescue of the mother and baby had already been affected.

Mrs. McLaren was brought down the ladder from her flaming bedroom by firemen led by Captain Frank Shearer and Bill Sorrie. Miss Eleanor West was led from her apartment by Fire Chief George Smith via the back stairs.

Mrs. Edwards, in the apartment above, seized her baby at the first sign of danger and started down her only exit—the wooden stairway common to all four apartments. She was met by a blast of hot and acrid smoke when she started to descend.

Prepared To Jump

The baby began to choke and she was forced to retreat to her own part of the house. As the only means left to her she opened the window and shouted for help. Failing that she was prepared to jump.

Three of the apartments—those of the McLarens, Miss West and the Edwards—are owned by Martin Hollend who operates a clothing business in a downstairs store. His merchandise had to be covered with tarpaulins to prevent extensive damage caused by the water trickling down from the ceiling.

Additional water and smoke damage was caused to the clothing store of Abraham Fines and M. S. Zacks and Son. Most of it was confined to excess water leaking into their basements and soiling merchandise.

The fire itself did not escape from the McLaren apartment where it started. Firemen found it difficult to cope with at first due to the dense smoke, and at first there were conflicting stories of the number of persons in the building.

To the north of the Hutchinson apartment, the third-storey row of rooms, extending toward Brock Street, have been condemned previously as unsafe in case of fire, it is understood.

Stricter enforcement of fire regulations — including additional means of escape from the upper apartments — will likely follow Saturday's $4,500 outbreak.

Asks For Term In Reformatory Jail Is 'Boring'

Because it was "very boring at the county gaol," 17-year-old Frank Thomas, 47 Lafayette St., asked for a four-months sentence which would mean the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph when he was found guilty of theft by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today. He was given four months definite and two months indefinite.

Thomas had been charged with breaking and entry and theft of some $60 in quarters from Bert McLeod's drug store Jan. 1. Evidence in the case was heard Jan. 16. Magistrate Philp reduced the charge to straight theft when he decided that pulling wider an already opened panel leading into the store, did not constitute "breaking."

Life Very Boring

Thomas was placed on suspended sentence last June on a charge of theft. Asked why he wanted to go to the reformatory, Thomas said he found life in the county gaol where he has been held since Jan. 5 very boring. He said he would like to be doing something to occupy himself.

Evidence Jan. 16 showed that about 3:30 a.m. Jan. 1 after he had been to a midnight show with a friend, Garry Stewart, who lives in the apartment over McLeod's drug store, at Park and Albert Sts.

When Stewart arrived at his home, he noticed the panel leading into the store had been pulled open, although ordinarily it was nailed shut. He phoned Thomas and asked him to come over.

He said that he had not gone into the store, but had taken his dog for a walk. When he returned to the apartment, Thomas was counting quarters and gave him $20 which Thomas later won back from him shooting dice.

Light Music On Menu At Festival

By WILLIAM BOSS

EDINBURGH, Jan. 23—(CP)—Music "that may shock the highbrows" is slated for the 1950 edition of the renowned Edinburgh Festival.

Artistic director, Ian Hunter, releasing this year's plans for the three-week gala of the arts, said one of its brighter spots will be concerts of light French music, to be played by France's famous broadcasting orchestra, L'Orchestre National. And the conductor will be Britain's Sir Thomas Beecham.

Lest Sir Thomas's admirers however, gather that he's gone off the classics, Mr. Hunter hastened to add that another innovation is scheduled for the festival.

The jaunty little baronet will also lead his own instrument, the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, in performances, rare in Britain, of Richard Strauss's "Ariadne Auf Naxos."

The opera requires two casts, one to do the acting, the other the singing. The presentation will be by the Glyndebourne Opera Company, whose spoken roles will be delivered in English and the sung ones in German.

Give 20 Concerts

Six major orchestras, three of them foreign, will give 20 concerts, while there will be 30 recitals by two choirs, three chamber music groups and several smaller ensembles.

The foreign orchestras—Danish, French and Italian—will specialize in works of their own national composers.

A new concerto by Virgil Thomson for cello and orchestra is to have its first European performance at the festival, while a Montreal-born singer, Jennie Tourel, with an orchestra still to be announced, will give the first performance in Britain of Paul Hindemith's religious work, 'Das Marienleben."

Plans for the drama remain to be filled out. As last year, when an Ottawa troupe played Robertson Davies' "Eros at Breakfast," a theatre company from North American is hoped for. And the Glasgow citizens' theatre is being invited to present a season of plays.

The festival begins in August.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Let's have a bar or two of soft music for this entrance, professor!

There's an idea at Winnipeg, and mind you it's nothing more, that Toronto Argonauts intend to play football fortissimo this season to the compositions of Bach. Not the old maestro, Johann Sebastian; rather, Joseph A.

Joe is the man that Argonaut President Bob Moran had in mind, Robert Clarke, Canadian Press staff writer will wager, when he revealed that the club is after a one-time Notre Dame star as coach.

Moran did not name his man, but he identified him as one of the famed Seven Mules, the nickname given the line Titans who cleared the way for Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen—Jimmy Crowley, Harry Stuhldreher, Elmer Layden, and Don Miller.

(In Toronto, Moran termed it "a shrewd guess." He said Argos are thinking of Bach all right, "but he is only one of five or six candidates we are considering." Only a tentative approach to talk things over had been made and the club had yet to receive a reply.)

Moran gave one other hint that could point to Bach. He remarked that the man sounded out by Argos has been a line coach in professional football in the United States. Bach has acted in that capacity with the Detroit Lions, Boston, Yankees and New York Bulldogs.

McGill University claimed five Dominion and one Provincial men's swimming records following a meet at Montreal Saturday night which was aimed right at the record box. The competition was called the Record-Breaking Attempt Swimming Meet and was held at the Montreal YWCA. The McGill swimmers competed against a team from the YMCA.

Adin Merrow, 26, broke three Dominion records in the 440-yard back stroke event. At the 200-yard mark, he was timed for a record-breaking 2:20.5 minutes. New records also were established when he finished 220 yards in 2:34.8 and completed the whole 440 yards in 5 minutes 23 seconds.

Erwin Kpin, 20, swam to a new Canadian record of 6:11.5 minutes, 9½ seconds less than the present mark, in the 440-yard breast stroke. Peter Mingie,, 19, finished the 1$$-yards back stroke in 1:01.6 minutes to set a new Dominion mark.

At Rosetown, Sask., the curling Campbells of Avonlea, Sask., made history Saturday night when they became the first rink to win two car bonspiels.

The foursome took an 11-10 victory over Aubrey Cochran of Shaunavon, Sask., to win the $15,000 Rosetown All-Saskatchewan 'Spiel. Last November they won the four first-prize cars in Saskatoon's 'spiel.

The Diamond Hall trophy top event in the 72nd annual Chatham Curling Club bonspiel stayed in Chatham for another year as W. E. Lister defeated another Maple City rink, skipped by J. W. Harrington, 11-5 in the finals on Sunday night.

Toronto Granites, skipped by W. S. Tomenson, won the final on Saturday of the 45th annual curling competition for the Canada Life trophy and the single rink honors for local curling clubs, defeating Dr. J. C. Malcolmson's Toronto rink 13-6 in 11 ends at Toronto.

With the entry list of the Ontario School Boys' annual bonspiel over-subscribed, eight rinks have had to be dropped, officials said at Guelph Saturday. Only major change in the play arrangements is in the Esso trophy, which will be decided in Galt. The event will take place in Guelph and Galt, Feb. 2-3.

Spitfires Belt Galt Team In 3-1 Victory

(By The Canadian Press)

Jack Bailey's second-period goal in Saturday night's Windsor-Galt clash was probably the most important one ever scored by the clever Spitfire winger.

Breaking a 1-1 deadlock, the marker paved the way for a 3-1, six-point victory and moved Windsor into a third-place tie with Guelph Biltmores in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race, nine points behind the first-place Toronto Marlboros.

In other junior games Saturday, Toronto St. Michael's topped Stratford 3-1, Marlboros belted St. Catharines 5-0 and Barrie overcame Oshawa 7-4.

Hopes Dimmed

In the only senior game, Owen Sound had their play-off hopes dimmed further when they dropped a 7-3 decision to Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen.

Erwin Grosse opened the scoring for Windsor in the first period, a margin which held up until Ken Green tied it up for Galt near the mid-way mark of the second. Jack Bailey sank his all-important marker four minutes later and Earl Reibel added a clincher in the finale.

St. Michael's topped Stratford for the second time in as many days. Con Bonhomme's two unassisted tallies paced the Irish attack while centre star, Will Marshall added a third. Doug French clicked for the Kroehler goal.

Get Vengeance

In the second game of the Maple Leaf Gardens doubleheader, Marlboros extracted vengeance for a 7-5 trimming suffered the night before at the hands of St. Catharines Teepees. Jack McKenzie's two markers were easily a safe margin as the Toronto club completely bottled up the Teepees. Lorne Pirie, George Aitken and George Armstrong also scored.

A five-goal burst of power in the final frame at Oshawa gave Barrie a hard-earned 7-4 win over the Generals. Oshawa had earlier taken a 2-0 first-frame lead on two goals by Ted O'Connor before Graham Towers opened the second period with a Barrie single. Ted O'Connor then followed with his third marker to be followed eight minutes later by Barrie's Lionel Barber.

The final frame was all Barrie as Mirl McCarthy plunked in two and Graham Towers, Jack Shedden and Stan Long all notched singles against a lone counter by the Generals' Caron.

Bobby Bauer and Floyd Martin each tallied twice for Kitchener-Waterloo in their game against Owen Sound while singles were rapped home by Bill Walsh, Jack Shewchuck and Billy Flick. Buck Forslund popped in two for Owen Soun's basement-dwellers while Markle got the single.

TORONTO, Jan. 23 (CP)—Ontario Securities Commission investigators Saturday arrested a Toronto man on charges of selling between $25,000 and $40,000 worth of shares in an Alberta oil lease without being registered with the commission as a salesman.

Leo M. McNicholl, 37, was arrested when he walked into the offices of the commission.

Police said some months ago McNicholl went to Ontario's Guelph-Kitchener area and sold shares at $1,000 for a one-per-cent share in the lease to about 30 persons.

Police from Guelph Sunday took McNicholl there. He will appear in court at Guelph Tuesday.

Executives Hold Study Session For Four Weeks

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Another study session for top flight executives and those on the way up will be held by the University of Toronto in the four weeks May 29-June 24.

It is called a management conference, the first of which was held last year, attended by business men from across the country.

In announcing the dates the university says;

"This conference will be of greatest benefit to those Canadian men of business who are assigned to general managerial duties and to those who, having reached the top in their special departments, are regarded as future general managers. It will be available to executives of demonstrated ability, without limitations as to formal educational achievement.

"The program is intended to occupy fully the energies of all who participate and it will not be possible to enter into it on anything less than a full time basis."

Subjects to be discussed will include human relations, industrial management, marketing and finance, problems of internal control and of external origin.

Fish Cookery

One of the biggest problems in selling fish is that so many people don't know what to do with it when they get it—or don't know what to get.

So the Federal Department of Fisheries is making an effort to show them. First step is establishment of an experimental kitchen for fish cookery in the west block of the Parliament Buildings, Ottawa.

The kitchen will be the headquarters for an initial staff of six trained home economists who will travel throughout the country giving demonstrations and lectures to women's groups, schools and others. They will, among other things, pass on new recipes. Miss Hazel Freeman, chief home economist for the department, will be in charge of the project.

Sugar Record

Canadian beet sugar plants have just completed their largest production year in history, says "Sugar Facts," issued by Canada and Dominion Sugar Co. Ltd.

Total output was 224,809,000 pounds of refined sugar from beets grown in 1949.

Find Stolen Silver

ISLE OF CAPRI, Italy, Jan. 23 —(Reuters)—Fishermen at work Sunday dragged up in their nets silver tableware and ornaments worth about 20,000,000 lide (about $34,000). Police identified the silverware as belonging to Eldride Reiniger, an Austrian whose home was robbed last month. Thieves jettisoned the loot in a panic during their flight, police believe.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"BUY AN APPLE MISTER?"—The apple seller remains the symbol of the great depression of the Thirties, the memory of which remains vivid and fearful in many minds today. The dramatic spark which touched it off was the stock market crash of 1929. But it was not until late in 1930 that the average, thrifty, hard-working wage-earner really felt the jolt. Conditions became harsher through 1931 and by 1932 millions were jobless; business was stagnant. How nations got out of it is still a subject of bitter controversy.

Plan Extension At Mark Street

The annual congregational meeting of Mark St. United Church was held Friday night. The minister, Rev. B. S. Morwood, conducted a short devotional period.

E. Butler was appointed chairman of the meeting, and K. A. Kidd secretary.

Reports were submitted by the various organizations of the church and indicated a successful year.

In his report, Mr. Morwood expressed his appreciation of the splendid co-operation of church officials and of the goodwill and friendliness with which he and his family had been receved since coming to Mark Street Church.

It was reported that Mark Street Church was now ministering to more than 300 families. As a result of the continued growth of church, it was felt that the present facilities were becoming inadequate. A motion was passed recommending that the official board inaugurate a building fund and take the necessary steps to extend the present church building.

Upon the report of the nominating committee, Messrs. A. W. Gamble, F. Edworthy, R. Knox and E. Lillico were appointed elders and Messrs. G. Craft, L. Agnew, G. Stockdale, G. Eason, S. Exel and N. Hewitt were named to the board of stewards.

Mr. Morwood closed the meeting with the Benediction. Following this a social hour was enjoyed.

Gifted Preacher At Trinity For Anniversary

One of the most moving and convincing of preachers in the United Church of Canada pulpit, the Rev. Dr. W. J. Johnston, minister of Eglington Church, Toronto, gave the sermons both morning and evening at Trinity United Church's anniversary services. His evening theme, "Spiritual Millionaires", was based on Acts III, 6: "And Peter said: Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I unto thee".

Each of his hearers was, wittingly or no, a spiritual millionaire. Some have not discovered the secret of probing the treasurers. The key to the secret was in St. Peter's words. And sometimes Dr. Johnston warned, "We are just as miserly in spending our spiritual currency as we are in spending our physical (fiduciary) currency".

The preacher told of four great teachers, which reveal the treasures: the law, suffering, experience, and Jesus of Nazareth. "The man who keeps the laws (of country, of Moses, or morality) is on the road to happiness; the law is our schoolmaster to lead us to a higher level of living and thinking."

Suffering A Servant

Affliction or suffering is the second great teacher. "It is not what sufferings do to us; it is what we do to the sufferings". For instance, Jesus Christ made out of the cross "the most redeeming thing which we know anything about". As St. Paul taught: Put your afflictions to work for you. Make them your servants. Dr. Johnston's exposition of this point was warmly humane.

The third teacher, experience, has this great lesson, which Dr. Johnston made vivid out of his own experience. "Don't worry". Trust in God; put the best you have and know into your work. Worry will then be recognized for the superfluity it is.

The fourth teacher is plainly revealed in Jesus' injunction: "Learn of me". Real happiness, said Dr. Johnston does not come out of things. Jesus transforms life, gives it a unity, power. It was on this evangelical call that Dr. Johnston ended his sermon.

Dr. Bruce Gordon, Minister of Trinity, conducted the service, assisted by the Rev. M. J. Aiken, of St. Andrew's whose congregation worshipped with Trinity. The evening anthem was "Love Divine", by Prichard. Albert Marson, Toronto tenor, was guest soloist and sang Harker's "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains", and two Negro spirituals: "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen" and "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord". The organ postlude was an arrangement of Purcell's "Trumpet Voluntary". Donald Kennedy, BA, Mus. Bac., was in charge of the music.

Morning Service

The morning service was also largely attended. Dr. Johnston's theme was "The Soul of Religion". The special music included the anthem, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones" by Oldroyd, and a recitative and aria from Mendelssohn's Elijah (Ye People Rend; If With All Your Hearts) sung by the guest tenor, Albert Marson. His other solo of the morning was Liddle's "The Lord Is My Shepherd". The organ postlude played by Mr. Kennedy was Karg-Elert's "Praise the Lord With Drums".

VANCOUVER, Jan. 23 — (C P) —Everyman Theatre's second entry in the British Columbia Regional Drama Festival, the Bibical story of "Noah," by Andre Obey, Saturday night won the Hamber award for the best play of the festival.

Judged the best comedy, exclusive of the winning play, was George Bernard Shaw's "Candida," entered by the Vancouver Little Theatre Association.

Vic Fergie, who played the Moody Jake in Patterson Green's comedy "Papa Is All," was chosen as the best actor of the week by Mr. Wray. He is a member of the Vagabond players of the New Westminster. Babs Hitchman as Birdie Hubbard in "The Little Foxes," was named best actress.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 23 (CP) — A Detroit motorist lay seriously injured nearly an hour beside his wrecked car Sunday until a jurisdictional question between Oxford and Brant authorities was cleared.

John Yanick, 27, of Detroit is in hospital at nearby Paris with a broken shoulder, broken arm, multiple lacerations and shock. His condition is reported as fair.

He was driving alone when his car swerved off the highway and smashed into a tree near the southern Ontario village of Creditville, just inside the Brant county line.

Art Perry, a nearby resident, said he telephoned Ontario Provincial Police at Woodstock, eight miles away, for an ambulance. He said police told him it was a matter for Brant county and they would advise police at Brantford, 23 miles distant.

Meantime a passing motorist, John Fleck, came across Yanick and tied a tourniquet around one arm to stop the flow of blood.

Rebate Mix-up Means $14,500

BARRIE, Jan. 23 (CP) — An apparent mix-up in administering rebates under the Children's Protection Act may enrich Simcoe county municipalities by $14,500 at the expense of county coffers, Simcoe county council was told Saturday.

D. F. MacLaren, county solicitor, said a county delegation had conferred with both Premier Frost and Welfare Minister Goodfellow last week.

The members, he said, had been informed that the rebate authorities for 1949 by the Act had apparently gone to the municipalities as part of a one mill rebate on their equalized assessments. The rebate consisted of 25 per cent of certain grants by council to the Children's Aid Society.

Mr. MacLaren said information indicated the rebate for 1949 was not recoverable from the municipalities.

Nellie Made News In 1890 Around World In 72 Days

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—(AP))—A prim young woman steps off a train in Jersey City. Three stop watches click, 10,000 people cheer, telegraph wires flash the news, cannons roar in Brooklyn and the Battery.

"Father Time outdone!" shouts the New York World headline. An era has ended, it says, and the "new age of lightning travel begun."

In Paris, a Frenchman shakes his head and views with alarm: "Women should be the subject animal. . .This is a great epoch in revolt of the sex, which I regret. . ."

All this fuss was raised 0 years ago when Nellie Bly came home, victorious in her round-the-world race with a fictional character Time: 72 days, 6 hours, 11 minutes. It was a sensational new record.

It was the biggest newspaper stunt since Stanley found Livingstone. It was the first public acclaim given an American newspaper woman. And probably no single reporter since has received as much space in his paper as Nellie did after she came back Jan. 25, 1890.

She got all of the first three pages and a good portion of the others. On page one, Jules Verne, creator of Phileas Fogg who made the trip in 80 days, acclaimed her. So did the president of France. So did Count De Lesseps, who incidentally got in a plug for his Suez Canal. Without the canal, he said, Nellie never would have made it.

"All Europe enthusiastic," said The World. "Even imagination's record pales before the performance of the 'World's' globe-circler," said The World. "The 'World' and its representatives know no such word as 'fail,'" said The World.

All But The Ads

Nellie pushed everything off page one that day except the small two-line ads at the bottom, such as:

"Pains in my stomach were quickly cured by Dr. Scott's electric plasters—D. M. Harmon, Toledo.

Nellie's real name was Elizabeth Cochrane. She was 23, grey-eyed, ony five feet three, but full of energy. She had got a job from Joseph Pulitzer with a sad tale about losing her last $100 in the big city and with a list of suggested stunt stories.

Going to work, Nellie went everywhere. She went up in a balloon, down in a diving bell. She posed as a lunatic (after practising before a mirror), as a beggar, factory worker, shop girl and a Salvation Army worker.

But her greatest stunt was the global trip. The best previous time was a year and a half, set in 1836. Her goal was beating Phileas Fogg, hero of Verne's "Around the World in Eighty Days."

All Nellie's transportation was arranged in advance by her paper on regularly scheduled ships and trains. She simply had to get on and off. But, still, her journey was singular. She made it in a very ladylike age, when ladies rarely travelled unescorted.

This was Nellie Bly's great triumph and the rest of her career, inevitably, was anticlimactic. In 1895, she married a rich Brooklyn manufacturer 40 years older than she. He died and she was unsuccessful in running his business. At 56 he died of pneumonia. The World gave her a half-column obit on an inside page.

Several months after Nellie returned in 1890, a man named George Francis Train went around the world in 67 days, 12 hours, 3 minutes. but who remembers him?

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Men Are Less Faithful In Marriage Than Women

DEAR MISS DIX: We have been discussing two questions in which we are greatly interested

Dorothy Dix

One is: Which is the more loyal, men or women? The other is Which gives up more in marriage, man or woman? What do you think about these subjects?

ANSWER: I think that women are more loyal than men, and that women give up far more in marriage than men do. You often see a one-man woman, but very rarely a one-woman man. When it comes to marriage there are probably fifty times more faithful wives than there are faithful husbands.

There are many men who are loyal friends and loyal employes, men who are loyal to their church and their political parties and their countries. Perhaps in these relationships they are even more loyal than women are, but when it comes to loyalty between the sexes, then it is women who are the most faithful.

Seldom, indeed, do you hear of a husband standing by the wife who has been unfaithful to him and got herself in a mess of scandal, and seldom do you find a wife forsaking her husband when he is in trouble.

Wife Gives Up More

Concerning your second question which gives up more in marriage, a man or a woman, I should say unquestionably that the woman does. If either one is a sacrificion goat which is laid on the marriage altar, she is it.

To begin with, she gives up her name and her identity and henceforth is known only as an adjunct to her husband. Then a woman must almost always give up her career or her job when she marries, no matter how much she loves it, or how successful she is in it. Husbands want their wives' time and attention instead of sharing them with the public. Babies have to be looked after and can't do with a part-time mother. Houses won't run themselves and so it is generally either good-bye job or on to Reno. And nobody who hasn't tried it knows what it means to a woman who has earned her own money and had her own pocketbook to become financially dependent on her husband. And it is the wife who has to bear the children and who has to get up an hour before the balance of the family of a morning and work an hour after the balance of them have gone to bed and who has no Sundays or holidays off.

Of course, marriage is no picnic to a man. He has to toil and slave to support a family and do without the things he wants in order to give to Junior, but it is the woman who gets the hot end of the bargain.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What am I to do about a full-grown intelligent man who persists in entertaining the erroneous idea that I am so much his superior that he cannot aspire to my hand? I have done everything within my power to convince him otherwise, but in vain. He clings to his delusion. Before definitely trying to forget this lovable fool I want to know if his attitude is normal, and would I be happy with a man so incapable of properly appreciating himself?

R. S

ANSWER: Having once got my clutches on the tail feathers of such a rara avis as a man who thought that any woman was too good for him, I should hold on like grim death until I shooed him to the altar. For, believe me, you will have one of the greatest curiosities in captivity.

Somehow it seems too good to be true, and I only fear this profession of humility may be an alibi to conceal his real purpose, which is evading marriage. It is an original excuse, and terribly clever, for it leaves a woman defenseless. Such an attitude isn't normal. It is against nature for any man not to think that he is the superior of any woman and that she is darned lucky to get him. Somehow a man's inferiority complex never extends to women, and that is what makes the case of this young man so very strange.

As to whether you would be happy or not with a man who writes his own price tag so cheaply, there is much to be said on both sides of the question. Of course a man who thinks humbly of himself is sweet to live with and a pleasant companion, but on the other hand, the worms of the dust seldom get anywhere except into a hole. It takes a lot of self-conceit to nerve a man's arm to fight the world.

Then, too, you run afoul of a peculiarity of feminine psychology, and that is that while it is gratifying to a woman's vanity for her husband to put her on a pedestal, woman is by nature an incense-burner and she is happier looking up to her husband than she is looking down on him.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am working for a man who is not fresh or flirtatious but he persists in calling me by my first name. Don't you think that if he was really a gentleman he would say Miss So-and-So? I am afraid others may think we common to allow it, but I need my job and don't want to lose it.

MAXIE.

ANSWER: Probably it would be more dignified and formal for your employer to call you Miss So-and-So, but I think you are very foolish to make an issue of this small matter or let it trouble you.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question: I hope that you can help me. Recently I had dinner at the —— and they served hot rolls that were lighter than Parker House rolls. They were flaky with rather large holes in them. I think they are made with yeast because a friend makes rolls very much like these rolls with yeast, but she refuses to give the recipe.

If you have such a recipe I will appreciate having you send it to me.

While I am writing, will you please tell me why the very outside of my angel food is tough and hard to cut. I would like to know where I make my mistake because I follow directions carefully in the ——. Mrs. W. J. W.

Answer: There may be some of our readers that know bread-making secrets we do not know; if so, I hope they will reveal them to you and me.

But—when I want my hot rolls to be the finest I know how to make I am carefull to let them rise a little higher than double their volume when shaped, and then I chill them outside. When the oven is heated to 400 deg Fahr. I put in the rolls and reduce the temperature to 375 deg Fahr until they are baked and golden. This gives very light rolls, but is an unorthodox way of handling yeast mixes.

I hope readers of this column will write to me if they have other methods of making yeast roll light and airy. I will print their replies in this column, if they do.

My first guess about the crust on your angel food cake is that your oven may be registering 325 deg. Fahr. but may not be this hot actually. When I have what I call a "gummy" crust on my angel foods that make them hard to cut or pull apart I find the oven heat has receded too much before they are finished baking.

Could you check your oven by standing a small portable oven thermometer inside and comparing it with the outside thermometer?

Here is the Angel Food cake recipe I recommend:

Angel Food

Sift good quality cake flour twice and measure 1 cup less 2 level tablespoons; 1¼ cups fine white sugar, 1 cup egg whites — (about 8 large eggs,) ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon each cream of tartar and vanilla, ¼ teaspoon almond extract. Measure the twice-sifted flour and put it into the sifter with ¼ cup of the sugar and sift 6 times. Put back in sifter. Add salt to egg whites in large bowl and beat with flat wire whip or rotary beater until foamy. Add the cream of tartar and beat until glossy and stiff, but not dry. Add the remaining 1 cup sugar 2 tablespoons at a time, folding and beating after each addition until just blended. Fold in flavourings. Sift one quarter of the dry ingredients over the whites and gently fold and cut in with shallow spoon. Fold barley enough to incorporate whites and flour. Repeat until the flour mixture is used up. Pour into ungreased tube pan which is reserved for sponge cakes only. It should not be greased or lined. Bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Turn upside down on cake rack and let cake hang this way until cool. Loosen sides with sharp narrow knife and shake from pan.

See recipe elsewhere on this page for Cooked Chocolate frosting, which is recommended for this cake.

Question: I have a problem and I wonder if you can tell me what I am doing wrong. I just can't make rolls.

Recently I made a batch of Parker House rolls using the recipe that comes with dry yeast. The crust was hard, the rolls tough and the folded over part was sticking straight up when I took them from the oven. Would appreciate it if you could help me. Mrs. R. McK.

Answer: Let's change your entire routine with rolls. I make them every week-end from the recipe which follows:

Parker House Rolls (2 dozen rolls)

Soak 1 package of granular yeast (making sure it is dated right) in ½ cup warm water a little warmer than your wrist, and 2 teaspoons sugar, for about 15 or 20 minutes, or until it fills a measuring cup.

Scald ½ cup milk until very hot. Meanwhile sift bread flour and measure 4 cups and put in large mixing bowl and make well in centre. When milk is hot add a scant 1/3 cup cold water to it and 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 2 tablespoons shortening. Beat then add 1 egg and stir. Add the yeast to these liquids and pour this liquid mix into well in centre of flour. Stir until liquid disappears then remove spoon from dough and knead dough in bowl for about 5 minutes. (This may be done on the board but since more flour has to be added by board-kneading, and since more flour makes rolls hard, this should be avoided for rolls.) Brush top of dough with melted butter, cover with cloth, then with plate and let rise at room temperature for 2 hours. Do not stand on radiator or on stove or near a register. When dough has risen to about double in bulk punch it down several times in the bowl. Tip dough out onto greased bakeboard and pull off pieces about the size of an egg, flatten them on board to ½-inch thickness, spread one-half with butter, and fold other half right over, like a sandwich and press down hard. Let rise to double in bulk, covered, brush tops with melted butter, bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 15 minutes. Brush again with melted butter.

Tattooing Art In Lean Days Women Blamed

By H. R. HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX—(CP)—Women and the current housing shortage are playing major roles in stifling what to Prof. F. A. Baldwin is the noblest of the arts—tattooing.

The professor, dean of Canada's tattoo artists, is sick, in mind as well as in body. Now 67 and bedridden, the artist admits that his days of needle wielding are numbered.

He's worried. Who will carry on his work of indelibly imprinting entwining hearts, schooners and the Lord's Prayer on sailors' chests, broods Baldwin, as he lies in a small room back of his Halifax waterfront studio.

There are few candidates for the title "professor" nowadays. The dean blames the women for the shortage. Most of a tattooist's master-pieces are created at night, when sailors are off watch. Women object to the night work, Prof. Baldwin contends, and discourage their artistically-inclined spouses.

Landlords, taking advantage of the housing shortage, have added to the prospective tattoo artist's problems. High rents and lack of enthusiasm on the part of property owners for his art haven't improved the picture for the tattooist.

Pressed, Prof. Baldwin will admit that perhaps the artist's habit of packing up and moving on to greener pastures several times a year might influence landlords.

Dean Baldwin can recall when there were four studios on Montreal's St. Lawrence Boulevard. Now in all of Montreal there is only one fulltime artist plying the needle. There's one consolation, that city's lone tattooist — Joe Lavoie — is one of Baldwin's pupils.

Artist Few

On the fingers of one hand Prof. Baldwin can count the artists now tattooing full time throughout Canada. There is Leo Baumier in Quebec City, who studied under the Halifax dean. In Vancouver two more needlers work full time. There is no professor in the port of Saint John, N. B.

Prof. Baldwin is puzzled by the lack of interest in the profession. He says there is ample opportunity for a young lad artistically inclined. When he started "Jagging" in 1899 while with the Imperial Army in India, he used a shark's tooth, plied by hand. In the old days sailors wanted the entire back and chest covered with anything from serpents to ships.

The profession is a cinc today, compared with the days of the needles and tavern business. Nowadays tattooists have the electric needle, studios, and the demand is for small jobs, such as entwining hearts, instead of full-rigged ships.

Though bedridden, Prof. Baldwin doesn't think of retiring. "I can't wait to get back to the needle," he says, peering eagerly toward the Dutch door leading to the studio. "There's a religious-minded fellow in Halifax with half the Ascension of Our Lord on his back. I got to finish up the job.

"When I get through with him he'll have 48 angels to carry around.

Sauce or Flavouring Makes The Dish French Cooks Say

By MARY MOORE

The French, cook on the principle that the sauce or flavoring makes the dish.

So, I think, it behooves me to occasionaly devote this space to auxilliary items such as frostings, sauces, dressings, etc. Since this week I made one of the best angel foods cakes of my cooking career, with a frosting that can be described no other way than "perfect"—this week is one of those occasions.

Effie's Soft Chocolate Frosting must be cooled before it is spread, or it runs off of your cake.

Effie's Soft Chocolate Frosting

One and one-quarter cups whole milk, 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon vanilla. Put milk in top of double boiler and shave the chocolate into it and heat over boiling water until chocolate melts. Sift together the sugar and flour, and add to the chocolate-milk mix, stirring. With rotary beater beat smooth and cook until thick stirring. Remove from heat, add butter and vanilla. Cool to room temperature before spreading on cake. Delicious on angel foods, chocolate cakes, chocolate-walnut pan cookies.

Drawn Butter Sauce (with variations)

Two tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons boiling water or vegetable liquid, 1 or 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Melt butter, stir in flour, stir in liquid until thick, add lemon juice.

Variation 1 parsley: Add 1 to 4 tablespoons Parsley, when using on broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, carrots, etc.

Variation 2 Egg, Rich: To drawn butter sauce add either 1 or 2 sieved or chopped hard-cooked eggs and, if desired, 1 tablespoon finely chopped chives. OR reduce flour to 1 tablespoon and when sauce is thick pour it slowly over 1 beaten egg yolk, stirring over boiling water for 2 minutes, then add sieved yolk of 1 or 2 hard-cooked eggs. Any version of this is good on boiled fish especially salmon. The first sauce with only 1 chopped hard-cooked egg is good with drained canned salmon mixed into it, and served as creamed salmon on toast.

Variation 3 Cheese: Replace water with skim milk and add ¼ lb. sliced processed cheese, stirring until cheese is melted. Good on cauliflower, potatoes, boiled onions, asparagus, green and yellow beans OR served on poached egg when used for supper dish.

Caramel Sauce (for ice cream, cottage and cornstarch puddings)

One cup cream, 1 cup corn syrup, 1/3 to ½ cup butter, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1½ cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, (another) 1 cup cream. (Mix together the cream (1 cup), corn syrup, butter, salt and sugar and cook over low heat to 250 degr. Fahr. or until if a teaspoonful is dropped in cold water it forms a hard ball. Add the other cup of cream and boil to 216 deg. Fahr. or until it will "thread" when dropped from tip of spoon. Remove from heat, add vanilla. Serve hot if to be served over ice cream.

Golden Pineapple Dressing (for fruit salads)

Beat 2 eggs, add ¾ tablespoon flour, ½ cup sugar, ¼ cup lemon juice and beat again. Add 1 cup canned pineapple juice and cook, stirring over boiling water until thick. Cool and chill. Fold in ½ cup heavy cream whipped until stiff. This amount will serve 6 for main course fruit salad for lunch, and is the best fruit salad dressing I know.

Snow Plowing Streets To Cost City $4,985

Tenders for plowing snow from the sidewalks of the extended city, as accepted by the council, amount to $4,985 as compared with the hotal of $4,310 last year

The men who drew snow plowing contracts are: Dis. No. 2 between the river and Bethune St., north of Dublic St., Morley W Bebee at $850.

No. 3 district, northwest end of the city, Ernest Hughey $850.

No. 4 district, central west end, J. A. Mason, $550.

Districts 5 and 9 west of Bethune, south of Sherbrooke to the boundaries. John Clifford, $900.

Dist. No. 6—between river and Bethune St., W. Husk, $600.

Ashburnham, north and south, M. H. Perritt, $700, comprising districts 7 and 8.

District 10, south of Lansdowne St., Olver Kingdon, $485.

The tenders were actually let at the beginning of the season as they were gradually effectd. The city's streets department takes care of several sections itself. So far the setson has been running more to rain than snow with consequent favor to the contractors. However, they never feel certain until the middle of March. After that they know they are out of the woods, but in the meantime February and March can pile up a lot of snow.

Arrest Three Youths For 20 Break-ins

ST. THOMAS, Jan. 23 — (CP)— Three Port Stanley youths, the eldest only 16 years, were taken into custody by Provincial Constable N. Hogarth Sunday night and will face charges of breaking and entering at least 20 summer cottages belonging to London and St. Thomas persons.

The police have been looking for the cottage invaders since Jan. 8, when 10 cottages in Orchard Beach at Port Stanley were broken into.

Two of the youths are said to be the same pair who broke into W. C. Wheaton's Drug Store some weeks ago, stealing cigarets, candy bars and other merchandise.

Two Parked Cars Damaged At Curb

Two parked cars were damaged when a car driven by William McTeague, 200 London St., skidded as he was driving to a stop at the east curb in front of 422 Rubidge St. Sunday afternoon.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley reported that McTeague had been driving north on Rubidge St. When he swung into the east curb and braked his car to stop, it slid on the snow.

The car skidded into a car owned by William Farrance, 422 Rubidge St., which was driven ahead by the force of the bump and hit another car owned by Alpin Christie of the same address. The McTeague car suffered most of the damage.

$60,000 Fire Sweeps Hotel

ESPANOLA, Jan. 23 —(CP)— Damage estimated at $60,000 was caused to the Avenue Hotel here early Sunday when a fire of unknown origin gutted the interior of the building. The hotel is jointly owned by W. J. McLaughlin and Eugene Boucier, both of Espanola.

Six persons who were in the hotel at the time of the fire reached safety without difficulty. Espanola firemen said that Boucier, who returned to his room to save the hotel's receipts from Saturday, had his hair burned slightly. Two roomers lost approximately $900 in personal effects.

The hotel was formerly a meat market but was recently converted into a hotel and a new section added. Only a few articles of furniture were saved before the fire swept through the building.

McCubbin Backs Market Boards

WOODSTOCK, Jan. 23 (CP) Setting up of hog, poultry and cheese boards to aid farmers in their marketing problems was favored by Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to the Dominion Agricultural Minister, in addressing the Oxford County Liberal Association's annual meeting Saturday.

He opposed "dumping" of surplus products and urged farmers to be "optimistic" about 1950.

"I believe," he said, "that the government should help you for the next six months, until you can set up organizations to help yourselves."

Alfred R. Dickout, of Salford, was re-elected association president.

Mr. McCubbin noted that in the early postwar period the working man was working and the farmer was prosperous. "But we are now going through a different period—the farmer is jittery, the worker worried."

"I can assure you the government is thinking of them and the government is preparing public works projects."

Mrs. Dobbin died in a Toronto hospital on Jan. 17 following a lingering illness. She was born in Port Hope, daughter of the late Thomas Martin and Letitia Preston, and lived for many years in Peterborough. Her husband, Fred Dobbin, predeceased her six years ago. He was a compositor for the Peterborough Review, when it was edited by his uncle, the late Frank Dobbin, and latterly worked for a Toronto daily newspaper.

She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Arthur Rusaw (Belford) of Peterborough, Mrs. Edward Ellis (Gladys) of Toronto and Mrs. Norman Cooper (Bessie) of Rochester. A son Norman Dobbin lives in Toronto, a sister, Mrs. Harry Milburn in Smith township, and a brother W. J. Martin of Peterborough.

Mrs. Dobbin was a member of the Church of England and of the Eastern Star Order.

A truck and car collided while the car was attempting to pass as they both travelled west on Otonabee St. about five p.m. on Sunday.

The car, driven by Boyd Cowie Hiawatha, was travelling behind the truck driven by Peter McAuliffe, RR 6, Peterborough. In the collision the left front fender of the truck struck the right side of the car tearing off the right rear fender, denting the body and door and doing other damage.

Play In Verse Has Premiere

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 — (AP) — T. S. Eliot's play in verse, "The Cocktail Party," had its American premiere Saturday night —a socially and culturally glittering premiere whose entertainment value poses more than a slight problem.

Eliot, the Missourian who became a British subject and later Nobel prize winner, said himself recently that the poetic drama is experimental and must remain so for years to come—maybe, he added casually, for a century or so.

This is a thought that will reassure many in the distinguished first-night audience at Henry Miller's theatre. The play-goers included the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

"The Cocktail Party," expertly and suavely performed by an all-British cast, is a play full of wit, ideas, talk in what might be called a Bernard Shaw-Noel Coward manner, and hardly any action.

It is about love, guilt, and a considerable number of other topics of the age.

Alec Guiness stars. He is cast as a psychiatrist, a devil, a father confessor and a thoroughly mysterious party guest— sometimes separately, sometimes all at once. He talks a remarkably great deal. So does everybody else.

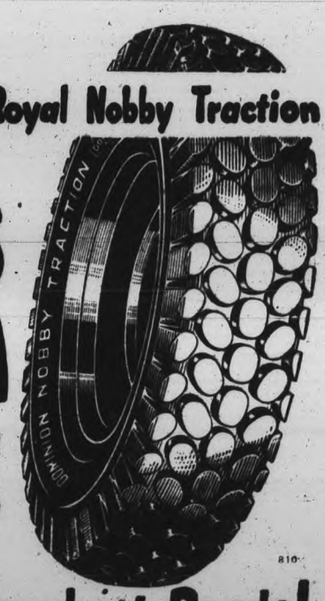
Final Tribute Paid Miss E. O'Connell

The funeral of the late Elizabeth Mary O'Connell took place Saturday morning from the Church of the Immaculate Conception where solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. James Greenan, assisted by Rev. J. F. Hoolihan as Deacon and the Rev. G. J. O'Sullivan as sub-Deacon.

Many were the friends who called at the Duffus Funeral Home to pay their last respects to one noted among many virtues for her rare amiability and delicacy of character, (which might well be emulated).

The pallbearers were Kevin Harley, Robert White, Basil Clancy, Alonzo Coughlin, Gerald Maloney and Edward Foley.

The Honorary pall bearers were Dr. H. M. Yelland, Dr. Rodger S. Chenoweth, Dr. J. Epping, Vincent Sullivan, Phm.B., John Malane, Dr. M. J. Roche, Joseph Paquette, C. E. Wm. McAuliffe, Phm.B., John Casey and Frank Hickey.



Burial was in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery. The graveside prayers were offered by Rev. G. J. Sullivan.

Her passing added keenly to the grief of a family so recently bereaved of her dear brother J. T. O'Connell.

Fatality Toll Held At Six Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Clear, dry weather over most of Eastern Canada this week-end was credited as the biggest factor in the new year's lowest week-end accident death toll—six persons—all in Ontario.

A Canadian Press survey showed most areas enjoyed favorable weather and good road conditions, probably accounting for the reduction in traffic fatalities to three.

From midnight Friday to early Monday morning, two deaths were reported from injuries received in falls and one victim was claimed by a shotgun blast.

A spectator at the cornering of a jack-rabbit under a granary at Chatham, 11-year-old Norman Shreve of nearby Fletcher died in hospital after being wounded by a shot fired at the rabbit. Clarence Handsor who fired the gun, said that apparently Shreve didn't hear his warning that he was about to fire.

At Ottawa Wilfrid Brule, 41, died in hospital from injuries believed suffered in a fall near his home.

Dies From Fall

Leung Law, 65-year-old Chinese, died at Toronto from injuries last Monday when he was blown off his feet by high winds and suffered a brain injury.

Michael Garry, 19, of Toronto died a few hours after he was involved in a motorcar smashup. After a police chase at wild speeds, the motorcar in which Garry was travelling and said by police to be stolen, left the road and smashed into a tree. Garry died in hospital at Oshawa.

Roy Card, 19, of Verona, died in hospital at Kingston following a Saturday night accident. It is believed the truck he was driving skidded on the icy pavement throwing Card and a passenger out of the truck. Card fell under the truck's dual wheels.

Oscar Bridges of Harrow, Ont., a 65-year-old Negro, died of injuries received in an automobile accident on the outskirts of Windsor. Police said the vehicle he was driving crashed into a parked automobile.

British Novelist George Orwell Victim Of TB

LONDON, Jan. 23—Virtually an invalid for the last three years, George Orwell, noted British novelist, died of tuberculosis in a hospital here Sunday. He was 46.

Author of Nineteen Eighty-four and Animal Farm, both of which were enthusiastically greeted by the American reading public, Mr. Orwell had done most of his recent writing in sanatoria. The success of the above-mentioned books had resulted in re-issuing of three earlier books, which appeared just two days before his death.

George Orwell was the pen-name of Eric Blair, whose father and grandfather were members of the Indian civil service. He was born in India, was educated at Eton and later joined the Burmese police service, in which he saw duty in remote stations. Burmese Days, recently reprinted, is the result of these years.

Knew Hunger

Mr. Orwell was no stranger to hunger and poverty in Europe. His book, Down and Out in London and Paris, reflected his personal adventures and observations. Others of his later books showed an unconventional attitude toward left-wing politics and a burning passion for truth.

During the Spanish civil war, Mr. Orwell fought on the Republican side, joining an anarchist unit in preference to the Communist-led International Brigade. He was severely wounded. In the second world war he broadcast to India for the BBC, served in the Home Guard, and did part-time factory night work until his health failed.

Though his literary reputation in America rested largely on the two novels published within the past four years, he was considered one of the leading British novelists of the day. His biting satire and vivid prophecy earned him literary comparison with Jonathan Swift and Aldous Huxley.

Big Business Smuggling On British Coasts

By JOAN CAPREOL

LONDON —(Reuters)— Smuggling today has become such international big business that British customs officers collect about five times as much revenue from seized contraband and fines as before the war.

Get-rich-quick smuggling trips across the English Channel have turned peaceful coves and fishing villages on the south and east coasts into thriving smuggling centres. But the customs men's "loot" has increased accordingly, and is to be put up for sale soon.

The jewelry, gold cigaret cases, watches, liquors, cameras, fur coats, and nylons lifted from hundreds of men and women who have made smuggling their post-war profession will fetch a bigger amount than ever for the British treasury.

During the last 12 months the courts have imposed penalties of £223,650 ($693,300), convicted 2,905 smugglers, and sent 59 to jail. In 1947 fines amounted to £111,150.

Last year the British customs seized 31,008 consignments, including 19,857 pounds of tobacco and 1,204 gallons of spirts. In 1948, 24,624 lots were confiscated against 22,489 in 1947 and 16,642 in 1946.

Ringleaders of the new gangs of get-rich-quick adventurers, seeking fat profits by running highly-taxed or prohibited goods rarely get caught. They use stooges, many o them ex-service officers, men who have found themselves restless after the war, and now smuggling because of the adventure.

To curb the serious increase in illegal trade between Britain and the continent, the customs want the courts to inflict fines equivalent to three times the value of captured articles, plus duty and purchase tax.

Use War Knowledge

More widespread knowledge of navigation, gained during the war, has led more smugglers to take to the sea. Many operate from the south of France. They collect goods from Tangier and run them to a rendezvous of the Italian coast. Many carry arms to be used against competitors.

One customs official said: "We are back almost to the days of the 1850s. There is a great deal of piracy among the smugglers.

"But instead of sailing craft stealing into isolated spots, smugglers are using fast launches to run from coast to coast under the cover of darkness.

"The stuff they bring in is no longer stowed away in caves along the coast as it was in the old days, but it is whisked off in trucks immediately it is landed.

Smugglers find it more difficult to approach the British coast. The revenue cruiser Vigilant is fitted with the latest developments in radar. From secluded covers officers watch on her radar screen the movements of even the smallest craft for several miles.

So here the dodge is to use smartly-dressed men and women carrying the contraband in false-bottomed suitcases or to build compartments inside cars ferried across the channel.

Hundreds of imitation pearl necklaces sewn into the lining of a man's waistcoats were seized when customs searched an overstout passenger. One smuggler came in carrying a £5,000 diamond in a false eye.

Marmora C of C Discuss Plans Tourist Season

MARMORA, Jan. 23—(ENS)—Marmora district Chamber of Commerce held its first monthly meeting of the year last week under the chairmanship of president Alex Fraser. The meeting was devoted to business matters, the trend of which, as various speakers indicated, revealed the hopes and plans for greater improvements and services to attract tourist business to the area.

Guest and new Warden of Hastings County, Clarke T. Rollins, deplored the condition of existing local roads and hoped that a large measure of attention would be paid to this problem to ensure an increased flow of tourist traffic, vital to the welfare of the county. He congratulated the Chamber on past efforts to improve tourist attractions and pledged his support on future progress.

A report for the Band Committee was presented by Major Percy Gray, who told of progress in securing new band instruments, and though slow, organization in this matter was going ahead favorably. As chairman of the Chamber's Santa Claus parade committee, he reported that the project had been a success. C. T. Nicholson submitted a report of revenue handled from the result of the Hallowe'en Shell-out program.

To Elect Eight

Reeve V. M. Lynch, speaking for the nomination committee dealing with the election of eight new Chamber directors, said the date for receiving ballots had been extended until this weekend.

W. J. Cottrell was appointed editor of the Chamber of Commerce bulletin, replacing Bernard Hughes who retired. A cash balance of $56.78 was announced by Chamber treasurer Floyd R. Loveless; receipts for the past year were $512.90, he said.

The High School project was reviewed by H. A. McNally and J. L. Shannon, both of the membership and finance committee, and an appeal for larger membership was made. D. P. Marett discussed the problem of district advertising with the view of attracting more resort operators to the district. General manager of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, R. G. Walsh, made his first appearance as guest of the Chamber. Dr. W. J. Donevan provided the evening's entertainment in the showing of personal travel slides.

British Tories Go All-Out To Obtain Women's Vote; Hopes Run High

SECURITY: Conservatives promise as much as Socialists, with individual rights retained. This poster shocked Socialists.

By ROSETTE HARGOVE

LONDON —NEA)— The women's section of the Conservative and Unionist Party is out to fight every way short of hair-pulling to overcome the Labor Party in England's Feb. 23 General Elections.

Since it is now generally agreed that the women's vote will swing the election one way or the other, hope rides pretty high in the hearts of the Tories, if only because of numerical superiority.

Of the 2,500,000 Conservative Party members, 50 per cent are women. Against this are 253,164 independent women Larbor Party members, not counting women trade unionists.

Although the Conservatives think victory is in the bag, they are far from complacent. They have infused new blood in the party by the creation of the "Young Conserative" group. This now numbers 154,000 members, men and women. Age limit is 17 to 30 and the president is a 27-year-old school teacher, Frances Vale.

These young people are used as spearheads all over the British Isles. They organize discussion groups ,brain trusts, get-togethers and will, of course, be active in pre-election canvassing.

Much Too Active

The result of the election is anybody's guess at the moment. "The working-class women are fed up," a member of the Liberal Party explained. "While they may not go to the extreme of voting for the Tories, they may well abstain altogether, which in itself might defeat the Labor Party. The latter are a little worried. They think the Conservatives are altogether too active."

PRIVACY: Insurance companies threatened by nationalization, join British Tory campaign.

In answer to my query as to what the Tories are doing to woo women over to their side, a spokeswoman at party headquarters answered brightly: "We are practising the personal approach in contrast to Labor, which works through Trade Union organizations and organizers, and uses a certain amount of coercion."

The Conservatives have spared no effort as far as propaganda is concerned. All sorts of pamphlets are especially addressed to women. Posters proclaim: "The Tories will clear up the mess," or "Housewives — Socialism spells high prices;" "Your money — under Socialism the pound buys less."

Other points in the Tory program include reduction of taxes to eventually reduce the cost of living. Private builders would immediately be given permission to build cheaper houses.

"Instead of a nation of 'council house' tenants we want everybody to own their own homes," say the Conservaties. (Since the war only one in four private houses have been built, and recently this number was brought down to one in 10.)

Never Miss a Bet

The Tories never miss an opportunity to point out that all the benefits which the nation is now enjoying under a Socialist government were put into operation by them either before or during the war years. These range from family allowances, social service education opportunities, protection of women and children, rent restrictions, old age pensions, better hours and conditions for shop employees, school milk and canteen schemes.

As for the National Health bill the Tories consider this their particular baby. They claim that when the Labor Government took over they tried to do everything at once, with considerable chaos, confusion and excessive expense

Women Candidates

The Conservatives have 24 women candidates for the general election as against Labor's 39. Of the 24, four are under 30 years of age. Furthermore, they come from a wide range of social and income groups. To get back into power, the Conservatives need between 40 and 50 additional seats.

As an alternative to socialism, the Tories offer the women the promise of well-run social services, revisal of the family man's income-tax position, and relief from drudgery in the home for housewife and mother. They also pledge revision of laws unfair to women, equal pay for men and women, doing equivalent work, and protection for the old, with the chance of a small pension of 10 shillings a week without a retirement condition.

This may sound like "All this—and Heaven, too" to skeptics, but the Tory answer is that every woman is at heart a conservative and an individualist, two qualities which haven't much chance in a regimented state.

Coal Strike Affects Steel Plants

Unemployment Ghost Rises Anew As Coal Pinch Felt

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24 (AP)—The long tentacles of the coal strike stretched today into the steel industry of the United States and squeezed 500 workers out of jobs.

The continued walkout of 63,000 United Mine Worker members forced Crucible Steel Corporation to reduce operations at its Midland, Pa., plant.

Crucible la dioff 500 and said the idle total may reach 1,000 by the end of the week if the coal shortage continues.

At the same time, a General Motors spokesman said his firm has been notified by steel companies that they may have to shut down this week for lack of coal. He did not identify the steel companies.

H. R. Boyer, director of G.M.'s motor production engineering section, said the giant automobile corporation will have to shut down in 30 days if the steel supply is cut off.

Cut Back Production

Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company also made plans to cut back production at its works in Youngstown, O. No figures were given on the number of workers that will be affected.

Die-hard miners in six states cling grimly to the UMW tradition of "no contract, no work." They have turned deaf ears to the pleas of John L. Lewis and his field lieutenants to work without a contract.

Western Pennsylvania today led the strike parade with 33,500 of its 50,000 soft-coal diggers refusing to work. The count in other states showed: West Virginia 12,000, Ohio 9,000, Alabama 6,500, Tennessee 200, Kentucky 1,800.

No break has appeared in the Pennsylvania miner's resistance, but there are indications that neighboring West Virginia's diggers may soon abandon their no-work policy.

Many UMW locals during the week-end did vote to return to the pits, but pickets changed their minds for them.

32 Raw Eggs Champ's Record

VANCOUVER, Jan. 24 (CP)—Canada today boasts two claimants to the Dominion egg-eating championship.

It all started last week when Vancouver City Detective Jack Whelan sat down and downed 30 soft-boiled eggs in 20 minutes.

The news burst with the ferocity of an eggshell among employees at the International Nickel Plant in Sudbury. The local champion, Gamere Bloeman, dethroned Whelan by demolishing 32 raw eggs—Grade A large—in 17 minutes by a fellow-employee's stop-watch.

Then Vancouver called on an expert. G. R. Wilson, the city's dominion poultry products inspector, guzzled an even three dozen three-minute eggs in the comparatively slow time of 35 minutes.

"Time doesn't count," said Wilson, claiming the title on the basis of a four-egg margin over Bloeman.

Berlin Reds Tighten "Little Blockade"

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Jan 24 (AP)—The Russians appeared today to be tightening their grip on Berlin-bound truck traffic after a slight relaxation of their "little blockade" measures.

Only six to eight German trucks an hour got past the Russian guards on the way to Berlin this morning, compared with the 10 to 30 trucks that were getting through hourly Monday night.

Westbound trucks from Berlin however, were passing this border point between the British and Soviet zones without difficulty German and allied military trains also cleared the frontier on schedule.

The Soviet frontier guards imposed their slowdown on truck traffic to Berlin last week-end apparently in retaliation for a short-lived American move to take over the vacant part of a Berlin railway building.

Clergyman Tries To Drive Out Ghost

Uses Ancient Prayers And Rites To Exorcize Old Woman's Spirit

BRISTOL, England, Jan. 24—(Reuters)—A parson and three other men will draw the curtains in a small four-roomed house here tonight and with ancient prayers and rites will try to drive off the ghost of an old woman.

The house, at 13 Highworth Street, has been haunted for six months—ever since Mrs. Baber, wife of the occupant, opened up a storeroom that had been closed for 16 years.

When the Baber family rented the house they were forbidden to open the storeroom or disturb its contents, the property of Mrs. Gladys Drury who owned and died in the house 18 years ago.

Mrs. Baber defied the ban—and the ghost, believed to be that of Mrs. Drury herself, walked.

Today, Rev. Francis Maddock, Vicar of St. Anne's Parish Church, sat in his vicarage study, puffing a pipe and memorizing the prayers with which he will "purify" 13 Highworth Street Tonight.

Only Four People

"I am not allowing anyone in the house except Mr. Baber and two church attendants," the 35-year-old parson told a reporter. "Mrs. Barber will not be there, she is too nervous. She moved out of the house with her daughter a week ago."

Mr. Maddock said he might perform the rites in total darkness. He wanted the proceedings to be quiet, seemly and unsensational befitting a religious service.

The special prayers he will employ are not in the church's Book of Common Prayer, he said.

"I consulted ancient sources, and the Archdeacon of Bristol has given me guidance on what to say," Mr. Maddock added.

Asked if he believed in ghosts, the bachelor parson said, "I neither disbelieve nor believe. This is my first experience of them and I am open-minded. In performing the rites I am acting as an ordinary parish priest trying to help my parishioners."

Mr. Maddock said he would wear surplice, cassock and a stole, the usual attire of Church of England clergymen, and probably would not use incense.

Presenting Brief On Liberties

TORONTO, Jan. 24—(CP)—The Association of Civil Liberties will present a brief today to Premier Leslie Frost urging effective legislation to combat racial and religious discrimination. The brief, endorsed by 67 other organizations, will be submitted by a delegation headed by Dr. R. S. Seeley, Provost of Trinity College. Proposals in the brief include the passing of a fair Employment Practices Act to prevent discrimination in employment, housing and public places, and amendments to the Ontario Racial Discrimination Act.

Suggest Board

The delegation also will urge that a Board be set up like the New York State Commission against discrimination, its functions should include:

1. Investigation of complaints of discrimination; where the complaint is well-founded, to attempt to conciliate. Failing this, to be in a position to take more effective methods to remove the discrimination.

4. Conduct continuous program of education of the public in the purpose and nature of the law with a view to creating an "area of co-operation and climate of public opinion favorable to the administration of the law, and a broad educational program to promote understanding and harmony between all members of the community."

A delegation from the association six months ago submitted a brief to Premier Frost with similar proposals.

Bloody Noses, Black Eyes At Glasgow Election Meet

LONDON, Jan. 24—(CP)—Labor candidates today get official campaign instructions from the party, as the Conservatives did Monday night—a night that saw the first outbreak of disorder in political meetings since the date—Feb. 23—was announced for Britain's general election. The government hopefuls, including its 390 members of the present 640-seat Commons, will meet in a Westminster building for talks by Prime Minister Attlee and Herbert Morrison, Deputy Prime Minister and Campaign Manager.

Candidates of Winston Churchill's Conservatives got a briefing Monday night from Richard A. Butler, M.P., who took the lead in framing the Conservatives' 1949 policy statement — "The Right Road For Britain."

Both parties will contest every seat in the new 625-seat Commons, reduced in size by a revision of electoral districts.

Butler told the Conservative candidates the points to emphasize from the party's 6,000-word manifesto, which will be published tomorrow, a week after that of the Labor party.

Glasgow Fists Fly

The election disorder came in Glasgow, where the first real blood in the campaign was drawn Monday night when Scottish "home rulers" clashed with Labor supporters at a Labor party rally.

The battle lasted only 10 minutes, but produced enough bloody noses, black eyes and bruised ankles to indicate that Labor speakers may have a tough time in the next four weeks discussing the home rule question—which is not strictly an election issue.

During the last few months more than 700,000 Scots have signed a covenant calling for a separate Scottish parliament. The Labor party is adamantly opposed to home rule for Scotland.

The Conservatives, too, have hesitated in supporting a Scottish parliament, but their compromise policy of promising to let Scots have more handling of their home affairs has staved off open anger. Only the Liberals, now a small minority in the Commons, have promised to support a separate parliament for Scotland.

Beaten In Hotel

HAMILTON, Jan. 24—(CP)—Samuel Grossman, 57, of Montreal, was found beaten early today in a locked hotel room. He was treated in hospital for a broken jaw, cuts, bruises and shock. His condition had improved by noon, but he still was unable to tell police how he was injured.

Landlords Plead Rent Controls Now Invalid

TORONTO, Jan. 24 — (CP)—Canadian landlords will submit before the Supreme Court next week that Federal rent controls are invalid, on grounds that control of rent falls within the power of the provinces and is outside the scope of Federal authority under the War Measures Act.

The landlords' argument is disclosed in a factum filed with the court by R. M. Willes Chitty, the counsel for the Canadian Federation of Property Owners Associations.

If the court rules at the hearing starting next Monday in Ottawa that the controls are beyond the jurisdiction of Parliament, all housing will be decontrolled except where provincial controls apply. If the ruling is that Parliament can control rents, the regulations will be extended beyond March 31.

The other side

Mr. Chitty will argue that The Wartime Leasehold Regulations were invalid from the outset, or have since become invalid.

"Fixing rents is simply an interference with freedom of contract and in no way exercises either government control over the property or its use," he says in his factum.

"Regulating and restricting the contractual and legal right of the owner to obtain possession of his property either by contract or under the law is not control of the property or its use by the government for the benefit of the nation or for the purposes of war."

Wolves Getting Bolder

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Jan. 24—(CP)—Wolves which have been ravaging livestock in the Saguenay district have become bold enough to attack a man it was reported here today. Miche Ladurantaye of nearby St. Bernadette de Boileau reported that he was attacked by a wolf near the outskirts of the village. Unarmed at the time, he ran to a nearby cabin for a rifle and returned to kill the wolf which had turned on his horse.

Guerrilla Raid Called Mutiny

JAKARTA, U.S.I., Jan. 24 (AP)—A top Indonesian military chief today blamed a sudden guerrilla raid into the city of Bandoeng on a "mutiny" of native soldiers in The Netherlands army.

About 600 armed fighters from so-called private army of an outlawed former Netherlands army captain seized key points in the big west Java city Monday morning, but withdrew later in the day after bloody fighting.

A Netherlands army spokesman said a Netherlands general at Bandoeng, 120 miles southeast of Jakarta, had persuaded the guerrilla raiders to withdraw to avoid further bloodshed. Sixty Indonesian army soldiers, including three high-ranking officers, were reported killed in the fighting as guerrillas took over most of the city.

Scugog Island Girl Gets $8,000 Damages

WHITBY, Jan. 24 (CP)—A Supreme Court jury Monday awarded Ruby Brown, 24, of Scugog Island, $8,000 damages for the loss of an eye in a traffic accident at nearby Oshawa last September. Defendant was Grant Mahaffey of Whitby township.

Arthur Villa and Gerald Mulville of Oshawa, joint plaintiffs with Miss Brown, were awarded $450 and $100, respectively, for injuries suffered in the accident.

Second Victim Dies Fleeing Oshawa Police

OSHAWA, Jan. 24 — (CP) — John Gray Bell, 17, died in hospital here Monday night, the second victim of a wild flight from pursuing police Saturday night.

Bell died of injuries suffered when he and three companions crashed into a clump of trees when their stolen automobile failed to make a sharp turn near here Saturday. Michael Gery, 18, was killed in the crash. Driver of the car, Albert King, 16, suffered minor injuries.

Caledonian Cooks On Toes For Robert Burns Birthday

EDINBURGH, Jan. 24 (Reuters)—With the celeration of Robert Burns' birthday coming up tomorrow, Caledonian cooks in all corners of the world are busy preparing Scotland's edible enigma—the haggis.

Though the haggis occurs at other seasons of the year, it is for Burns Night—the evening unleashing thousands of orations on the immortal Scottish bard—that its great moment is reserved.

Borne steaming and triumphant to the table with a guard of skirling pipers, the "great chieftain of the puddin' race" (Burns' own admiring words) graciously accepts the acclaim of countless thousands at banquet tables in Scotland and abroad.

Rivalling with its internal secrets the more baffling mysteries of the ages, it makes true Caledonian blood course faster, and stimulates sentiment worthy of Robbie's birthday.

But among the sprinkling of Sassenach who find themselves caught up in the celebrations, the haggis remains a "queer beastie," its possible origins calculated to start a somewhat-morbid train of thought.

"Everything in sight sewn up in a sheep's stomach," was one American definition.

Yet nothing, in truth, was ever more innocent or nourishing than this amalgam of oatmeal, onions, spices and other harmless ingredients—even if presented in what is undoubtedly—in Scottish dialect—a "sheep's pluck." The haggis's overcoat has no more significance than the sausage's skin.

Heiress, 17 Returned To Family

Missing Montreal Girl Spirited Home, Only Suffers A Cold

MONTREAL, Jan. 24—(CP)—Beverley Ann Van Horne, 17-year-old daughter of a wealthy Montreal family, was back home today after her headline-making trip across a continent.

Police located her last week in Vancouver where it was said she had taken a dish-washing job in a cafe.

It was learned that the attractive girl, who may be in line to inherit the rich estate built by her great-grandfather, Sir William Van Horne, was spirited into Montreal Monday night after being taken off the Toronto train at Cornwall.

She was first reported missing a week ago after it was revealed that police, at the behest of her relatives, had been searching for her in Hamilton and Vancouver since Dec. 15.

Mrs. W. L. Fraser, her grandmother and guardian, declined comment when asked for Beverley's whereabouts today but it was learned that a friend of the family and a Montreal doctor met the train at Cornwall Monday night and the girl was driven to her home here.

Has A Cold

She was accompanied by Detective Sergeant William Phillips of the Montreal Missing Persons Bureau and an unidentified companion.

It was also learned that Beverley, part-time McGill University student, was suffering from a cold.

The reason the girl left home here to end up as a cafe dish washer in Vancouver could not be learned and the only comment from police came from Police Director Albert Langlois who said this morning: "She is back home. The case is closed."

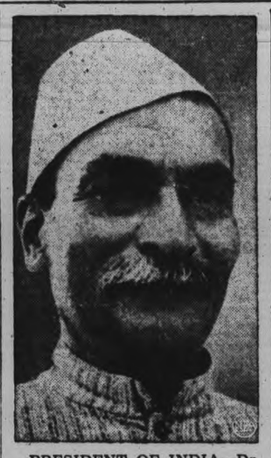
"The case of the missing heiress" was prominently displayed in newspapers across the continent but relatives and police were reluctant to give out details about the girl's odyssey. Beverley herself foiled attempts of newspaper photographers to get pictures of her in Vancouver, Calgary and Toronto, stopping points on the way home.

Her great-grandfather was one of the builders of the Canadian Pacific Railway and its president from 1888 to 1899. He is said to have left an estate worth $2,000,000 and it is understood Mrs Benny Van Horne, Beverley's stepmother and widow of the girl's father, is the first-in-line heiress.

North Bay Gets Power Cutoffs

NORTH BAY, Jan. 24—(CP)—Lights flickered on and off, fuses popped and residents groped through unexpected darkness Monday as North Bay had its first day of scheduled—and unscheduled—power cutoffs.

The schedule called for four one-hour blackouts in each district, but east-end residents got more than their share when an evening power failure prolonged their last cutoff by several hours.



North Bay Hydro Commission officials explained that too many east-enders turned on their switches before the power came on. The resulting strain on power facilities when the main switch was pulled blew out transformer fuses and burned down a section of transmission line.

Deputy Postmaster Struck By Bus, Dies

KINGSTON, Jan. 24 (CP)—S. A. Morris, 60, deputy postmaster of Kingston, was killed here today when he was struck by a Kingston City Coach Lines bus while on his way to the post office.

Morris ran directly into the path of the bus from in front of another bus parked on Princess Street. He apparently was running to catch a third bus parked across the street. He ran in front of the parked bus and into the path of the oncoming vehicle, driven by Rolland Lloyd, R.R. 1, Collins Bay.

Morris suffered a broken neck and a fractured skull. He had been an employee of the postal department 39 years. He is survived by his widow and son.

PRESIDENT OF INDIA—Dr. Rajendra Prasad, president of the Indian Constituent Assembly, has been elected the first President of India by parliament, two days before India becomes a republic. No other nominations were filed against him. Dr. Prasad, 65, is a former lawyer and professor of English.

Gandhi Disciple Elected India's President

NEW DELHI, Jan. 24 (AP)—Dr. Rajendra Prasad, 64-year-old disciple of the late Mohandas Gandhi, today was named first president of the Indian republic today by a cheering constituent assembly.

Prasad, who had served as president of the constituent assembly, will be installed at ceremonies Thursday when India formally drops her status as a Dominion and becomes a "sovereign democratic republic."

Although India is thus renouncing any allegiance to the King, she will continue to remain a member of the Commonwealth under an elastic interpretation of Commonwealth Association.

Prasad, picked as the choice of the dominant Congress Party, was the only candidate for president. No vote was taken in the constituent assembly, which cheered approval when he was merely declared elected unanimously by H. V. R. Iengar, assembly secretary and election polling officer.

Prasad was nominated by Premier Jawaharlal Nehru.

Nehru said the naming of the president closed one chapter of Indian history with a dream of independence realized, but a new chapter will open Thursday when the republic must work to realize other dreams.

Home Minister and Vice-premier Vallabhai Sardar Patel, who seconded Prasad's nomination, asked all to show loyalty and cooperation with the new president.

Prasad will hold office for five years, after which he can be re-elected, according to the new Indian constitution.

He will be Chief of State, with the formal function of appointing the Prime Minister and commanding the armed forces. His powers, however, are subject to the advice of his cabinet.

The cabinet will be directly responsible to the Lower House of Parliament, the 500-member House of the People, elected according to population.

The Upper House of the new Parliament — the Council of States—will be presided over by the vice-president. Twelve of the council's members are to be appointed by Prasad and the remainder will be elected by state legislatures on a population basis

Sleet Storm Turns Roads Into Icy Strips Across Southern Ontario

Worst Storm of Winter Paralyzes Vancouver Had No Trains For Week; Post Office Halts Parcels For Present

TORONTO, Jan. 24—(CP)—Sleet and rain struck southern Ontario last night, turning highways into ice strips and causing one death. Assistant Postmaster Samuel A. Morris of Kingston was struck and killed by a bus early today while running to catch another bus. In Toronto, 60 minor accidents, more than in any other 24-hour period this year, were blamed on the slippery roads. Nine persons were injured. The storm extended from Windsor to the Kingston area and as far north as Collingwood. Highways department employees are sanding and salting roads today.

Sleet conditions are expected by weather officials to continue throughout today.

Commuters between St. Thomas and London were late for work after ice and sleet disrupted the London-Port Stanley Railway service. The trolley was forced to suspend operations after ice formed on its wires.

Strathroy and St. Catharines reported disruptions in power service caused by the sleet.

Worst Storm In B.C.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 24 (CP).—A short; sharp and intense storm that claimed at least one life on Monday night brought out hundreds of workmen today to restore battered communications to the city.

The worst blow of the winter heaped from 6 inches to a foot of snow on the city, stalled traffic, confined hundreds of persons to downtown districts and claimed the life of 75-year-old William Stanley McLeod who died of a heart attack at the peak of the storms

Mr. McLeod, a manufacturer's agent, forced to walk through the gale, suffered a heart attack and died despite efforts of an inhalator crew at a nearby fire station.

Meanwhile, the worst blizzard of the winter, accompanied by temperatures as much as 25 degrees below zero, gripped Central Saskatchewan Monday night.

Saskatoon suffered the worst as visibility in the city and surrounding farm areas was almost nil. City transportation suffered and automobile travel in the country was almost impossible.

Cancel Classes

Traffic snarls forced cancellation of classes in all but three schools in the area, including the University of British Columbia here.

Unknown Saboteurs Blow Up British Ship

HONG KONG, Jan. 24 (Reuters)—A marine court of inquiry announced today unknown saboteurs had deliberately blown up the 1,931-ton British ship Chaksang in Hong Kong harbor during a typhoon last September.

Thirteen Chinese crew members died in the explosion and fire which destroyed the vessel.

The vessel, owned by the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company, Limited, had been about to leave for Tientsin when a typhoon warning delayed the sailing. The court's decision said there was strong evidence that the saboteurs had been connected with a firm which briefly occupied premises here but could not now be traced. There was no evidence of motive.

Sydney Tries To Untangle Civic Government Mishaps

SYDNEY, N.S., Jan. 24—(CP)—This steel and coal city—paralyzed administratively by a fantastic series of civic mishaps—moved Monday night to untangle its jammed gears of government.

City business has been almost at a standstill in the wake of recent disasters involving city councillors and officials.

Most spectacular was the slaying last December of Joseph MacKinnon, crippled registrar of voters. Mayor Dan Jack MacLean was charged with his murder and resigned Dec. 20. MacLean, elected to his fifth two-year term in the Dec. 8 civic elections, will stand trial at the February sitting of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court.

In October, Deputy Police Chief George Peck died. City Clerk James MacDonald died Dec. 29 and City Treasurer D. J. O'Connell is convalescing from a stroke.

Monday night city council ratified 10 new appointments, a number of resignations and retirement of several employees on pension in a 40-minute reorganization meeting.

Deputy Mayor Tony Gallagher led council in the reorganization drive. For more than two weeks, council met behind closed doors to decide on recommendations for appointments.

Some of Monday night's appointments will be temporary. Permanent ones will be made once a new mayor is elected. Gallagher indicated that the date of the election will be announced as soon as the Nova Scotia municipal affairs department ratifies it.

Study Changes To Be Made In Liquor Law

DUNDAS, Ont., Jan. 24 (CP)—Ontario municipalities may be granted the right to determine—within limits—their own hours of liquor sales and the number of licences to be granted in their jurisdictions.

Liquor Commissioner Arthur Welsh told a meeting of the Progressive-Conservative Association for Hamilton-Wentworth last night that the Ontario Government was seriously considering the move.

He said the problem of administering a law with the same set of regulations for every one in the province the size of Ontario was immense. Differences of geography and working conditions were too vast to be handled from a central office in Toronto.

Won't Give Up Authority

He said the government was giving careful study in regard to the treatment of alcoholism, and accepting the fact that the majority of persons in Ontario use alcoholic beverages in one form or another, it was the government's desire to provide sensible legislation to ensure that sale is carried out under the best possible conditions.

Under the present system there already was a considerable measure of local option. For example, a municipality with local option rights was free to vote itself dry or wet. If it chose to go wet, it had a number of options at its disposal—retail liquor store, beer warehouse, beverage rooms, taverns, dining-rooms, dining lounges, or any combination from this group.

Democratic control, he added, was assured by the fact that a three-fifths majority was necessary before any change could take place.

Unknown Sub Near Kodiak

KODIAK, Alaska, Jan. 24 (AP)—An unidentified submarine has been reported seen within half a mile of Kodiak, where the United States Navy has one of its far-northern bases.

The navy immediately clamped on a secrecy ban and sent out planes to search the area. Results of the search were not announced.

Sighting of the submarine was reported Sunday by five members of a civil aeronautics administration crew. They said they were told by the navy to divulge no details. All were interviewed by high naval officers.

Navy winter exercises are being conducted in North Pacific waters, but official sources did not link the appearance of the submarine with the manoeuvres

Dogs Get Their Man Working Under RCMP

The 1948-49 report of the RCMP describes a half-dozen cases where the dogs were used to help the police get their man.

Wolf, for instance, helped police uncover evidence which led to the arrest of two men for the murder of Norman Burgoyne, a Fredericton taxi driver. Wolf also found a girl who had escaped from an inter-provincial hom efor young women at Coverdale, N.B.

Wolf was responsible for bringing Frederick Getchal Martin and Gerald Williams to trial for the hold-up of a confectionery store and a taxi driver in Saint John, N.B.

Baby Perishes In Fire Brother Started

SUDBURY, Jan. 24. — Gerald Smith, nine-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith, burned to death in his carriage Monday afternoon while firemen stood helpless outside the Lockerby Township cottage.

His brother Ronny, four, told his mother he started the fire as he played with matches on a table in the front room, near the sleeping baby.

One other child, Faye, five, was playing outside.

Ed Smith, a miner, left home at three o'clock and Mrs. Smith, who had been unwell, went upstairs to lie down.

About 3.30 she told Fire Chief Dave Leclair, she smelled smoke and ran down stairs to the kitchen. Ronny came from the front room. Dragging him outside she shouted to neighbors: "The house is on fire and my baby is in there."

Calls Firemen

Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dorothy Provincial, after calling firemen ran across the road to the Smith home.

"The front room was a mass of flames and we couldn't get near it," she said.

The fire brigade raced four miles over icy roads that delayed their arrival. Using a pike-pole they finally pulled out the carriage after the flames subsided.

A 250-gallon tank was soon exhausted fighting the flames and seven Lockerby volunteer firemen refilled it at Trout Lake, a half mile away, after chopping a hole in the ice and filling the tank with gallon buckets.

The temperature was zero and all firemen were crusted with ice

FOUND INNOCENT — Preston Tucker sits with his mother, Mrs. L. C. Holmes, in Chicago Federal Court after the Government's case against the auto-maker and seven associates were found innocent of charges that they executed a $28,000,000 fraud in attempting to put over a post-war "dream car."

Will Intervene In Phone Strike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)— The government took a hand today in a labor dispute which has brought a threat of a telephone strike across the United States. The union, meanwhile, has come up with a new twist: A plan to make the strike effective by jamming company switchboards.

—The Federal Mediation Service said it will enter the dispute to help get a settlement. William N. Margolis, assistant director of the service, will confer first with Joseph A. Beirne, president of the strike-threatening Communications Workers of Americ. (CIO). He said he will meet with company officials later.

The union has announced it will call a walkout of 300,000 phone operators and equipment caretakers soon unless companies of the Bell system negotiate an agreement based on the union's demands.

The union is asking a wage boost, pension changes and a 35-hour work week. It has not fixed the amount of wage increase it wants.

Britain's Lulu Is Real Clown

LONDON (CP).—Lulu Castron is Britain's only woman clown.

Fair-haired, five feet eight inches tall, aged 50 but looking more like 25, she walks around the circus ring with a true clown's swagger.

Lulu dresses for the job in satin pantaloons, a glittering coat and a white hat. Her face is the traditional white with a blob of rouge on her nose.

Her father, Jo Castron, who died at 82, was a clown, too. Lulu made her debut in Russia at 12 and tells reporters:

"I shall go on clowning till I die. That's the power of the circus — you can never leave it."

Prices Dip Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 24 — (CP).— Prices dipped steadily for the second successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today Western oil stocks led the downturn as selling pressure increased slightly at the half-way mark.

Volume for the first three hours was 722,000 shares.

Losses were held to fractions in industrials. Key issues slipped from opening firmness. Utilities, papers, refining oils an dliquors were among the losers.

Declines ranged up to 15 cents in Western oils. Prices held in early dealings, but a sudden flurry of selling pushed the group lower from recent strong advances. Royalite, Anglo-Canadian, and Okalta were among the heavier losers.

Junior and senior producing golds sagged but a few smaller issues attracted considerable attention. Laguerre Gold Mines jumped from 3½ cents a share to 12 cents a share and then settled slightly in heavy trading. The company owns property in the Larder Lake district, but operations have been suspended since 1947.

Quemont Trading Corporation with a producing base metal property adjoining Noranda Mines in North-western Quebec, featured base metals, climbing to a new high at 22¼ before setting at 21½, up ⅛ from Monday's 1¼ advance. Other base metals slipped slightly.

Sleet Storm

By midnight the storm moved into the Fraser Valley, where the preceding cold snap had brought relief from the threat of floods.

Meanwhile, about 150 miles to the north, divers were called in to search for the bodies of two train crew members who died on Monday when their Pacific Great Eastern Railway freight engine was swept into Seton Lake by an avalanche during a blizzard.

Their deaths brought to six the number of fatalities since the week-end.

Engineer Alec C. Munro 42, and Fireman Harry P. Seymour 27, both of Squamish, BC, were trapped in the cab of the engine.

Two persons were burned to death and another was killed under a slide of ice from a school roof.

Prairies Lashed

The whip-end of a blizzard lashed out over the prairies. The weatherman said it is passing on to northwestern Ontario, but so far these results are evidence of its visit:

Work stopped at seven bituminous coal mines in Alberta; clogging roads threatened to block traffic heading for a bonspiel at Brandon, Man.; trains and planes were hours behind schedule; bus and automobile traffic was forced off the road in some districts; and one rural school has been closed for the winter.

Saskatchewan was probably the worst hit Monday, with the thermometer dipping to 25 below after a short "mild" spell near the zero mark. Saskatoon reported the worst blizzard of the winter. Visibility in the central section was nearly zero and rural areas reported auto travel practically impossible.

Today, weather warnings will continue over the western prairies until afternoon and are likely to continue in the eastern section until tonight.

No Trains For Week

Vancouver still hasn't seen a train from the east since the storm started last week, but Canadian National Railways officials said they hoped to bring one in from Yale, B.C., Wednesday with 60 passengers aboard.

Passengers being ferried from Penticton, B.C., by Trans-Canadian Air Lines when their trains were stalled, still couldn't make Vancouver. The planes set them down at Victoria when fog obscured Vancouver's airports. They'll have another try at reaching Vancouver today—by boat.

Won't Take Parcels

The Post Office Department at Ottawa today clamped a ban on mailing of parcels, news and printed matter to points west of Kamloops and Penticton, B.C. because of heavy snow and blizzards in the mountains. The department said letters to those areas would be sent in by airmail wherever possible.

Instructions were received by CPR and CNR passenger agents in Peterborough Monday night not to sell rail or sleeper reservations beyond Kamloops and Penticton until further notice.

Curse Of Strong Drink

LONDON, Jan. 24—(AP) —The curse of strong drink —its cost—is driving Britons to soda pop. The National Association of Soft Drink Manufacturers reported today Britain soaked up 225,000,000 gallons of lemonade and such in 1949. This is twice the pre-war average. So is the cost of beer and whisky.

Why Visit Dentist? Try Violin String

VANCOUVER (CP).—A violin string may never take the place of a pair of pliers in the dentist's art, but it's at least as effective.

Proof of this is 77-year-old John A. McBride of Vancouver, who says he has been pulling his own teeth with a violin E-string for years. Now he hasn't a tooth left in his head.

He merely ties the string around the tooth, gives two little pulls "to get the feel of it." Then comes a third big yank and "out she comes."

"It doesn't hurt a bit," he says. "The nerve snaps and that's all there is to it."

Protect Tourists From Fake Guides

LONDON (CP).—Visitors to London are advised to employ only registered guides, able to identify themselves by lapel badges and registration certificates.

The Travel Association has announced a campaign to eliminate "spivs and touts" from the tourist industry, where they have been mulcting unsuspecting visitors for as much as £1 ($3.10) a head for fake information.

Bryant Peers, 37-year-old professional guide who is in charge of the register the association will operate, says its aim will be to ensure that visitors are told the truth and nothing but the truth.

Guides will have to pass examinations on the area in which they intend to operate, on their ability to deal with people and on their appearance. Their code of rules and conduct prescribes that "when on duty registered guides shall at all times be soberly and reasonably well dressed. Male guides should never appear on duty without collar and tie."

Peers, a lecturer at London Polytechnic and a former schoolmaster, says that London's historic spots abound with bogus guides, collarless and unshaven, who attempt to foist their services on travellers.

The campaign to register all reputable guides — whom Peers says support the scheme — started Jan. 1.

"Unprofessional" conduct will result in any registered person being struck off the list, he says, adding that it is hoped to cover the whole of Great Britain in time.

Delegates Like Carnival Gaiety

KENORA, Jan. 24. — (CP). — Delegates to the Northern Ontario outfitters' convention Monday night joined in the bustling spirit which presages Kenora's annual snow carnival.

The 200 delegates, half-way through their annual meeting, are as concerned as other citizens with the choice of a carnival queen and other matters less weighty than usual convention business. Out-of-town delegates have a shaving permit to avoid the ire of the bearded citizenry.

Earlier the delegates discussed proposed changes in Ontario's woods-management policy. They passed a resolution asking that it take steps to permit the KVP (Paper) Company to continue operations at Espanola. A Privy Council decision recently handed down would bar the $13,000,000 firm from operating.

The convention expressed fear that Espanola would become a ghost town.

Sewage Plant Finances Not Yet Settled

COBOURG, Jan. 24 —(ENS)— The plan to finance part of the cost of the new sewage disposal plant, to the amount of $338,000 by a surcharge on the water rate, ran into difficulties Monday at a joint meeting of the town council and he Public Utilities Commission. One earlier problem had been arriving at a rate which would not impose too great a hardship on industry, which used a large quantity of water.

The commission re-iterated its earlier stand that it did not feel like being the collecting agency for this sucharge, which would appear as an extra on the water bill.

The commission spokesmen pointed out that if there were arrears in some of the payments of this surcharge on the part of the consumers, the commission would feel it would be its responsibility to make good the deficiency and it also felt that the spread of the rate charged to industry was not equitable.

After a long discussion, the Utilities Commission told council that it would require some more time to consider the matter before coming to a decision.

Man Found Sleeping In Farmer's Barn

William J. Stevens, Campbellford, was fined $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy in police court before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, Monday.

Provincial Constable Norman DeBow said he had received a report that Stevens was found sleeping in an Asphodel farmer's barn. Constable DeBow said Stevens at first refused to give his name and address when picked up.

A Sensible Move

LONDON, Jan. 24—(Reuters)—The Daily Express said in an editorial today that the United States "clearly wishes to lead the nations back to normal relations with the Spanish government of Franco." The Conservative paper said this is "a sensible move which should be supported."

External Affairs Dept. Plans To Make New Rank

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 — (CP) — The External Affairs Department is making efforts to create a new rank in Canada's foreign service, a step between the two main and distinct sections of the staff—the diplomats or potential diplomats and the clerks

Approval in principle of its establishment has been granted by the Civil Service Commission and details are being worked out. No decision has been made on designation, but at this stage the rank is referred to in the department as foreign service assistant.

Its existence would open up a new channel of advancement for those clerks, stenographers and other subordinate members who make up three-quarters of the 1,250 men and women who work for Canada in the External Affairs Department.

It could also become a stepping stone between the two manpower sections, provided the person has the necessary college degree. This would create a link that does not exist at present. For years there has been little if any movement of staff from one section into the other.

Would Raise Ceiling

Thus the move is an effort to raise the ceiling now facing the clerks and give them something higher at which to aim. But it also recognizes another fact.

A considerable number of young people, particularly girls, have been taking jobs as stenographers and clerks simply because they want to serve abroad. A number have been found to have bright university records behind them The change would offer them a ladder to higher things.

A second step designed to benefit the clerical staff is establishment at departmental headquarters of a committee to consider their problems and to work out policy on matters affecting them.

The committee is headed by an officer, but the clerical grades are represented and heard.

Canadian Pilots Celebrate 21st Anniversary of Club

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 (CP)—Canada's private pilots today celebrated the 21st anniversary of the founding of their parent organization, the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association.

Highlight of the celebrations will be a "coming of age" ceremony tonight at the final session of the association's annual two-day meeting.

Adding a sombre note to the proceedings will be the knowledge that pilot error—carelessness by pilots—still is the major cause of accidents in sporting flying in Canada.

Pilot error was the primary cause of about 87 per cent of the private flying accidents in Canada last year, D. W. Buchanan, secretary-manager of the association told delegates at yesterday's opening session.

Less Showing Off

However, he said Canadian pilots were showing less tendency for such "show-off" flying as stunting at low altitudes, low flying and "shooting-up' homes of friends.

The association's safety record showed a marked improvement in 1949 over the previous year. During 1949, the 35 member clubs flew a total of 33,122 hours with only 39 accidents reported. Two of them were fatal. In 1948, 41 member clubs reported 55 accidents—four resulting in six fatalities—doring 35,034 hours of flying

Mr. Buchanan also reported that despite new government grants revision of flying standards a year ago resulted in only 957 pilots being qualified in 1949 compared with 1,433 the previous year.

The grants—$100 to each qualified pilot and $100 to the club which turned him out—were made by the transport department to encourage output of pilots and bring the standards up to those of the international civil aviation organization.

D. K. Yorath of Edmonton, association president, said most of the "bugs" have been ironed out of the D.O.T.-sponsored program and that already there has been a "decided improvement" in flying training.

30 Persons Forced Flee Burning Building

MONTREAL, Jan. 24 — (CP) — More than thirty persons were forced to flee in their night attire when fire heavily damaged a three-storey brick building in the west-end Montreal early today

The building contained a tavern and two flats. The blaze, of undetermined origin, broke out shortly before 1 a.m. Estimate of damage was not obtainable.

First General Election

BELGRADE, Jan. 24—(AP)—Yugoslavia's first general election since 1945 will be held Sunday, March 26, a decree published today said. There is little doubt that the voting will return to power the communist "People's Front" of Premier Tito, despite his current quarrel with Moscow over interpretation of communist theories.

11 Die In Derailment

DAR-ES-SALAAM, Tanganyika, Jan. 24 — (Reuters) — Eleven persons were killed today and many injured when a train left the line and crashed down a steep incline here. All the dead were Africans. The injured, who included eight seriously hurt, were taken to hospital.

WA Meets At Keene

Thirty Days For Brawling

A young man aged 21 was sentenced yesterday in Peterborough magistrate's court to thirty days in the county jail for fighting in a main street restaurant at 1.30 o'clock last Saturday morning. He and some companions had come swaggering into the restaurant, literally throwing their weight around, had begun arguing with the proprietor, and then started fighting. The sentence of thirty days was deserved. Some of the others with this fellow can consider themselves lucky not to have got similar sentences. Brutish uncivil conduct in public places by quick-tempered cocks who have exaggerated notions of their own valour cannot be tolerated. In such cases a touch of physical force—in keeping with the force such louts indulge in—a stinging whip, might be salutary. At present, the law does not allow a magistrate to impose whipping for such misdemeanours. The whip is no cure but it is a deterrent.

Public Housing

Dr. E. G. Faludi, town planning consultant who devised the master plan for the development of the city of Peterborough, was a chief speaker at the convention in Toronto Saturday when the Ontario Association of Architects observed its sixtieth anniversary. The occasion made his comments specially important. The theme of the convention was public housing and Dr. Faludi had this to say: that it is obvious that in this country of only 13,500,000 people, we should not have to build human warehouses. On the other hand, "we cannot afford the present endless rows of strawberry-box type development. There is a happy medium, and we must plan for it."

* * *

The type of street building—a development from war-time housing—which has been going on ever since 1945 in this and in all cities and towns across Canada, is not to be prized. "Endless rows of strawberry-box type development". It can be argued that what has been going up is the best possible within the price ranges that people can possibly afford. It can be argued that building costs are exceptionally high, that the need is exceptionally great, and that considering all things, the new housing is pretty fair. Let all this be admitted and still there is little to praise and much to condemn about the last decade's house building. It is to be hoped that in fifty years' time people will shudder at the 1940-50 houses and streets and consider them blots on the landscape and civic sore thumbs. Can anybody in good sense now say that these rows of little functional houses, are worthy of this country and the people who have to pay six to nine thousand dollars for them?

* * *

Housing times are out of joint. We hazard a guess that the house building of the 1940 decade will go down in the architectural history of this country as the worst it has ever had, despite the tiled bath-rooms, the breakfast nooks and the utility kitchens.

* * *

Architects and builders cannot be absolved from complicity in this crime of construction. They cannot lay it all at the doors of high costs and the urgent need for domiciles. It is beyond their ingenuity to plan reasonable houses at reasonable prices, to use new techniques, new materials; to accept the fact that labour costs are high and to get around them? And what really vigorous protest have the architects been raising against the type of housing of this last decade? Are they, like zealous craftsmen and artists, in arms against it; or are they meekly sitting with folded arms? It is they, the architects and builders, who have perpetrated the endless rows of strawberry boxes.

* * *

By the way, what has become of the Provincial grants set up nearly two years ago, to encourage experimentation with new materials and techniques? We have seen no fruits of this plan.

Check The Christmas Tree Scalper

Peterborough County Council has asked the Provincial Government to consider legislation to prevent the indiscriminate cutting of Christmas trees. The reeves complain not against the Christmas tree custom, but against the chopper who blunders into a wood-lot, steals one or half-a-dozen trees and scuttles with them. Even small-time dealers came under the Council's criticism, dealers who cut without permission or cut without regard for the woods. "It has now come to the point of being a public nuisance", Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore remarked, "and there are many instances of trespassing on public property".

The greedy tree-hunting motorists through the county may think that two or three trees are a small matter, and, especially if they are growing on what is or looks to be public property, they have the notion that they, as part of the public, have a right to them. They have not; and the sorry part of the story is that two or three trees are multiplied by hundreds. The depredation is not slight, and it is more than a nuisance; it is indiscriminate cutting in these years when great efforts are being made to regulate and conserve wood lots.

Family Tradition

We are always fascinated by accounts of family tradition, and the British Isles is particularly rich in such matter. Not only are there families with two or three hundred years of important national service, like the Churchills and the Cecils; there are families which have served in humbler capacities, but with the same family tenacity.

Yesterday we came across the name of Bill Dalton, who has been a ratcatcher in London for forty years, and whose family have been ratcatchers since 1710. And just before Christmas we read an account of Albert Pearce, who is one of fifty members of his family who are now chimney-sweepers in England; they have been in that trade for over three hundred years, and they think, understandably, that there is nothing about chimney sweeping that they do not know.

Both Dalton and Pearce are described as being unusually happy men. They know their jobs; they make a good living, and they have a pride in doing a necessary job well. Will Canada, we wonder, ever have any families who have stuck so long to one trade?

Our tendency here, of course, is to gild refined gold and paint the lily. We have no ratcatchers; they are all scientific exterminators. Our chimney sweepers are probably flue inspectors or heating reconditioners. And their sons are as likely as not to be doctors and lawyers. The trend is ever upward.

This ambition is a fine thing, but it cannot go on forever. And in the desire to better onself and one's family there is always the danger of forgetting that there is more to life than "getting ahead." To be a king among ratcatchers is probably a more glorious thing than to be lost in the ranks of a profession. There is much to be said for sticking to one job and doing it supremely well. In that way the man glorifies the job; he does not depend on his job to glorify him.

NOTE AND COMMENT

In the columns of a contemporary we read of a girl "who made goo in the movies". Pitching Hollywoo, of course.

The Gallup Poll is trying to find out which men seek in a wife—brains or looks. The answer is that they seek both, and are lucky if they get either.

We read that a New York maternity centre is "teaching natural childbirth". Wonderful what education can do in this incubator age.

A scientist says that fog can now be produced artificially. Most of the fog in the world at present is produced artificially.

The one women attending the trapper's convention at Prince Albert, Sask., is unmarried. And she calls herself a trapper!

A Toronto alderman refers to an amendment of the Sunday sports decision as "another red herring tossed into the works." Tossed, we presume, by someone who smells a rat and wants to nip it in the bud.

There is value in being able to spell. Recently a British soldier pinched a comrade's coat, leaving a note addressed "To whom it may corncern". A simple spelling test revealed him as the only suspect who spelled "concern" in this way, and he got six months detention. Phonetic spellers with light fingers take notice.

Peron Increases Repressive Measures

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

TWO measures taken last week in the Argentine Republic show that President Juan Domingo Peron is beginning to follow the dangerous road eventually trodden by all dictators. Hitherto remarkable among his confreres for his sunny smile and quick wit, he has now evidently lost both his sense of humour and his sense of proportion. The first Government measure shows a remarkable lack of both: the banning of "decadent foreign dances", among which are included the North American fox-trot and the Brazilian samba.

Argentines in contrast to the common belief of foreigners that all South Americans are full of gaiety, have always taken their pleasures rather sadly. But almost everywhere where they have gathered to dance, the inevitable and usually melancholy tango has been balanced by the more cheerful rhythms of other lands. Nationalists have often complained about this, as they have about the prevalence of foreign words like "futbol" (football) and "plataforma" (railway platform) in the Argentine vocabulary, but so far their only success has been in persuading the Mayor of Buenos Aires to ban boogie-woogie during the war as "immoral". This was regarded at the time as a joke, but apparently it was the beginning of a trend.

A FAR more dangerous trend is shown in the action of the Congressional Committee Investigating Anti-Argentine Activities, which, by banning 47 newspapers and periodicals last week, has brought the number of periodicals closed till the next session of Congress to fifty-six. The Committee was set up under a constitutional Government before Peron came to power, and modelled on the Dies Committee in the United States, but now it has become a mere instrument of internal discipline in the hands of the Peronista majority in Congress. Peron has long been trying to muzzle Argentina's traditionally free press, and the list of papers provisionally (and possibly permanently) banned is symptomatic. It includes a large number of outspokenly independent journals, a humourous magazine published in Chile, "La Nueva Provincia" of Bahia Blanca (which has the standing of such British papers as "The Scotsman" or the "Yorkshire Post"), and the "Argentinisches Tageblatt", the first newspaper published abroad to the banned by Hitler in 1933.

EVEN more symptomatic is the reason given for this wholesale suppression. It is that these papers failed to carry on their front pages the slogan "Year of the Liberator, San Martin". Nineteen-fifty marks the centenary of the death at Boulogne-Sur-Mer in France of the man who, more than anyone else except Simon Bolivar, freed South America from the Spaniards, and great demonstrations are planned to mark the occasion. But Don Jose De San Martin himself would be the last person to approve of any compulsory homage, or of his name's being used to bolster up a narrow nationalism in which he did not believe.

In almost everything San Martin was the antithesis of Argentine's present ruler, Peron. Born in the province of Jujuy when Argentina was still part of the Spanish viceroyalty of the River Plate, San Martin served as an officer in the Spanish Army and never had the least desire to take part in politics. He was an austere soldier and a simple patriot, and it was only from a sense of duty that he accepted the post of Comander-in-Chief when the United Provinces of the River Plate declared their independence in 1810.

AFTER clearing the Spaniards from most of what is now Argentina, he led an Argentine Army across the snow-bound Andes, a feat comparable to Hannibal's in crossing the Alps, and completed the liberation of Chile in the decisive battle of Maipo. The Chileans wanted to make him President but he declined, accepting only the honorary title of Captain-General. With a mixed Chilean-Argentine force he sailed up the coast to Peru, conveyed by the Chilean Navy created by the British Admiral Lord Cochrane, and entered Lima in triumph. The Peruvians also offered him the Presidency, which he again declined, though he could not stop them naming him Generalissimo of Peru.

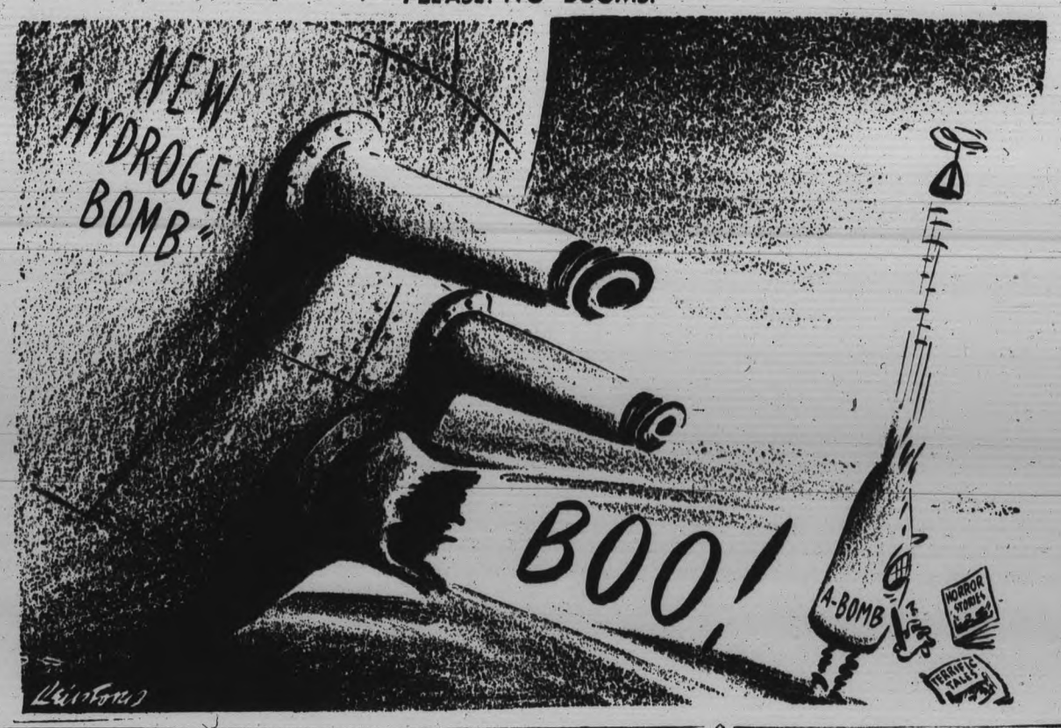
AT Guayaquil in Ecuador he met his brilliant, flamboyant counterpart from the North, General Simon Bolivar, whose tattered army had liberated Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador and Northern Peru in the face of well-equipped Spanish forces and almost insuperable natural difficulties. What passed between the two men at this historic conference has never been disclosed. It is only known that Bolivar, already President of Greater Colombia, accepted the Presidency of Peru as well, and San Martin returned to his own country with the modest rank of Brigadier. Now that Argentina was free of the Spaniards, civil war broke out among the victors, now too accustomed to guerrilla fighting to settle down, and President Rivadavia asked San Martin to accept command of the loyal forces.



He declined. He was weary now, saddened by the loss of his wife, Remedios de Escalada, and by the failure of the American nations to unite, but more than that he was incapable of taking up arms against fellow-Argentines. His decision was now unpopular among his more short-sighted and idealistic compatriots. He went into exile in France, and when he died his country had almost forgotten the man to whom it owed its existence.

SINCE then his achievements have come to be assessed at their full value, and to Argentines the name San Martin evokes the same feelings as George Washington to Americans or William The Silent to Dutchmen. He has been, a figure above party politics, representing only Argentina. It has taken a Peron to drag his memory into the political arena in support of a cause which San Martin would have spurned. Peron, the soldier who has never fought a battle, the politician who has publicly threatened to hang his opponents, and who owes his power largely to his oratory, has called to his aid the prestige of a non-political and silent soldier. It is a sign, not only of a loss of sense of proportion, but also of a feeling of insecurity — Peron fears he is not a big enough man to stand alone, even with the vocal support of his First Lady.

Oratory and Radio

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

A LONDON dispatch tells of the Labour Party selecting a team of five broadcasters to present its election case and excluding from it its best orator, Aneuran Bevan. Bevan, the despatch says, may have been considered "too strong meat" for the "middle classes".

We can think of another explanation: The fact that the Bevan style of oratory, powerful with cloud and flame on the platform, doesn't go on the radio.

The platform orator, taking his inspiration from his audience, feeding on his own flame, refuting with a nod and crushing with a gesture, is a failure on the radio; enters a home with a roar of rhetoric when he should enter it with grace and humility.

The great orators of the past on platforms and in forums would probably have failed dismally with a microphone. One can hardly imagine a Fox, with his histrionics, being effective from a radio studio, or an O'Connell, who used to thunder to 100,000 people on the Hill of Tara, being effective from a radio studio, or that Sheridan's indictment of Warren Hastings would have sounded half as good if delivered from the BBC.

The microphone, which the good broadcaster must think of as a musical instrument, calls for a different technique; a different art; and the speaker using it must depend for his appeal upon something other than the charm and grace and presence which made Laurier so attractive, or the vigor and power of repartee which made Arthur Meighen so feared.

The truth is that the old oratory as the great pre-Victorians and Victorians employed it, or even as Lloyd George, with his imagery and mimicry employed it, has gone out, its place taken by the radio speaker with his manuscript—or the manuscript of somebody else. Whether the change is a good thing or bad, good or bad for the discussion and debate which are so much a part of democracy, is a question.

Letters To The Editor

MEN'S OPINIONS

Sir: On this question of the Summer Theatre, I have noticed that all the letters thus far sent to you have been signed by ladies. Where are the gentlemen on this question?

As one of the new citizens who took an active part in the formation of the Concert Association in Peterborough and for many years on its executive, I felt we made a contribution to the cultural life of the community, and it has proven to be of great educational value. Now that we have the opportunity of extending the cultural life of our community further by having the Summer Theatre here, I feel that we should do our utmost to encourage them in every possible way. The mark of our civilization lies in our cultural institutions and it behooves our public bodies to do all in their power to facilitate their existence.

I hope that his letter will prompt other men of the community to voice their opinions.

Yours sincerely,
J. LOW.

(Ed. Note: Mr. Low's letter was written before yesterday's correspondence on this subject was available to him.)

ASSOCIATION OF INCURABLES

Sir: In the past few years many hundreds of letters, pleas, and petitions requesting pensions for civilian handicaps, have reached the desks of Members of both Federal and Provincial Governments. These have all been answered in a very sympathetic manner but no concrete results have yet appeared.

In the Spring of 1947 an Association was formed in Calgary, Alta., for the sole purpose of uniting the voices of all those pleading for pensions. This Association organized by a group of handicaps is known as "The Canadian Association of Incurables". In the last three years it has grown slowly and steadily and now it has representatives in several provinces. This Association with its headquarters in Calgary and local Provincial branches operates entirely upon, and as extensively as voluntary contributions will permit.

A short time ago the Ontario branch was started and we are anxious to acquaint everyone in our Province, and especially those handicapped, with the aims of this Association. We need the assistance of all, but we are especially interested in the names and addresses of those incurables who are in need of such a pension. At present there are many on our Ontario mailing list but we know there are hundreds whose names we do not have.

To properly put this urgent matter before our Government as soon as possible we need definite figures regarding the number and needs of all Canadian incurables. Already all across our Dominion are going out letters and questionnaires to handicaps and shut-ins. Petitions are also being circulated. Many Civic Officials are giving their approval to our cause.

If you are a handicap....
If you know a handicap....
If you know of a handicap....
let us know them too.

Sincerely yours,
A. RUSSELL AVERY,
Ontario Representative,
Can. Assoc. of Incurables.
Port Robinson, Ontario.

ROADS IN THE SOUTH WARDS

Sir: Re column in Examiner issued Thursday, January 19, 1950.

Residents south of Lansdowne St. should not be too "hot", as the column stated in regards to extending George St. through the Exhibition Grounds, but should turn their intentions to more important work such as stop lights at the corner of Lansdowne and Park Sts., where accidents are increasing in number.

I think many will agree with me on this subject.

Let's forget new roads in the south end until the roads already down here are made suitable.

Sincerely,
J. H. M.

Canada is "seeking ways to boost immigration," we learn from Ottawa. May we suggest that a logical first step would be to cease restricting it.

Close Watch Being Kept On Medicine Ads

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 (CP)—Long absent from the Canadian scene is the brash patent medicine man who toured the countryside peddling bottled cure-alls for everything from heart disease to falling hair.

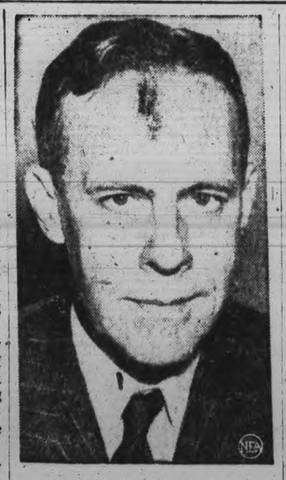
For three-quarters of a century the Food and Drug Division of the Federal Health Department has served as Canada's watchdog to keep the sly operator from being replaced by a more subtle form of swindle.

Inspectors and laboratory technicians of the division are constantly on the watch for carefully worded advertisements making claims for present-day products that might be just as false and just as dangerous.

The division is celebrating completion of 75 years or work dedicated to assuring that food and drugs used by Canadians are pure and safe, and that they live up to their advertising claims. Today is the final day of a two-day "open house" at the division's Ottawa headquarters.

Dr. C. A. Morrell, director and Chief Dominion Analyst, told in an interview how the division works.

First To Act



Canada, he said, was the first country in the western hemisphere to set up a special branch for such work. Today the scope of this work is probably wider in Canada than anywhere else in the world.

Inspectors in 24 Canadian cities from Sydney to Victoria are constantly checking imported goods and drugs to assure they are pure. An office now is being established in St. John's, Nfld.

Dr. Morrell said the division examines all commercials before they are used on the CBC. As many as 1,000 a month are scrutinized.

There is no requirement for scrutiny of newspaper advertising before publication. But the ads are carefully checked afterwards. If any claims are found to be false the advertiser is warned. If he persists the division undertakes to bring charges in court.

The Food and Drug Act is broad enough to cover such general falsification as misleading impressions or anything likely to create an incorrect idea about a product.

Small Investors Play Too Safe Official Says

By FORBES RHUDE, Canadian Press Business Editor

Are you one of the 900,000 Canadians who has savings or more than $1,000?

And have you noted the great developments of Canadian resources in recent years which promise to pay profits to some one? Have you wondered how you could use some of your savings to share in those profits?

J. W. G. Clark, executive assistant to the president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, had something to say about it Monday in an address to the Rotary Club of Belleville.

First, he made it clear that he was not suggesting the get rich quick method that broke so many hearts and pockets in 1929.

"The sad truth," he stated, "is that too many small investors are inclined either to play too safe or to gamble away their money on moose-pastures." And he added that the investment of small savings in the development of Canada's natural resources and its industrial companies does involve a measure of risk.

Listen To Advice

But he appealed to people to study the situation and opportunities with what advice investment men can give them. He said:

"Savings of Canadian people reach the staggering total of $4,500,000,000. A vast percentage of these 'new savers' do not know how to put their savings to work.

"They know how to bank their savings and they have been taught how to buy Canada savings bonds. They also understand how to protect their wives and families with life insurance policies. Beyond that the business of investing their money is a mystery. This is where the competent financial man enters the picture.

"Canada is in urgent need of the capital of its small investors. Surely they have a right to enjoy a share of the country's growth and prosperity.

"Actual participation by Canadians in the great Alberta oil development has been small as compared with the hugs sums of United States capital involved. If we don't watch out, control of the vast iron discoveries in Labrador will pass to other hands."

Have Only One Horse For Each 21 Mounties

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 — (CP). — The RCMP are not mounted any more. The force only has one horse for every 21 men.

The annual report of Commissioner S. T. Wood showed Monday the force had 3,369 uniformed men March last and only 159 horses.

Members of the force also walked 12,048 miles on patrols in Northern Canada.

Illustrating the change in the mounted police methods is a table showing that on northern patrols members covered 47,206 miles by dog sled, 58,959 miles by boat, and 217,456 miles by plane.

Old Boys' Book Club Meets To Talk Over Great Adventures

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Jan. 24—(CP)—A group of middle-aged men meet regularly in London to talk over the adventures of fat boy Billy Bunter, handsome Harry Wharton and other English public school characters that were popular in Britain and Canada for 30 years before the Second World War. They are members of an organization known as the Old Boys' Book Club and they have an exciting coat-of-arms incorporating revolvers, pipes, masks, school caps, cricket bats and detectives' magnifying glasses.

Authors, doctors, lawyers and schoolmasters, as well as men in ordinary walks of life, make up the club's membership. It also has corresponding members in Canada, South Africa, New Zealand and Brazil.

Reason for this far-flung membership is that "The Magnet," "The Gem" and other schoolboy magazines in which Billy Bunter and his contemporaries first appeared in 1909 were exported to many different countries of the world.

Always Enthusiastic

They ceased publication in 1940, due to wartime paper restrictions, yet pre-war copies are still read and exchanged by members of the Old Boys' Book Club.

"Our Club is living proof that men never really lose the enthusiasms of their boyhood," said Leonard Packman, the Club's chairman and founder.

Appropriately, the president of the Old Boys' Book Club is 75-year-old Charles Hamilton, who created Bunter, Wharton, Merry and a host of other schoolboy characters and wrote no less than 70,000,000 words about them.

An Active Man

Hamilton, now living at Broadstairs, Kent, wrote about the boys of Greyfriars School in "The Magnet" under the pen name of Frank Richards.

In "The Gem," as Martin Clifford, he wrote of Tom Merry and Co. of St. Jim's. In "The Popular" he was Owen Conquest, creator of a Canadian backwoods school called Cedar Creek. As Hilda Richards in "The Girls' Own Weekly," he wrote of Bessie Bunter and the Girls of Highcliffe.

These papers have not been revived since the war, but Hamilton is still turning out stories about Greyfriars and St. Jim's, which are occasionally published in book form.

Choice Of Queen Surprises Co-eds

MONTREAL, Jan. 24—(CP)—Montreal co-eds Monday registered "mild surprise" when they learned that St. Thoms girl had been named Queen of Dawson College.

That's what Clyde Kennedy, editor of the McGill University Daily said Monday night. The co-eds from McGill and Dawson—a branch of McGill at St. John's, Que.—weren't "up in arms" at the honor, he said. That was an exaggeration.

The queen, lively blue-eyed Lois Fulton of the University of Western Ontario, London, will be crowned at a dance in St. John's next Friday night.

In announcing the selection Saturday, Cye Risen, president of Dawson Arts and Science Undergraduates' Society, said the move was prompted by the "fine display of football and good sportsmanship" by the University of Western Ontario in clashes against the McGill squad.

Charges Yonge Street Immorality Centre

TORONTO, Jan. 24 (CP)—The Rev. Ben Spence, veteran temperance advocate, said Monday liquor is turning Yonge Street—Toronto's main thoroughfare—into "another Jarvis Street."

Jarvis Street, he told the Ontario Liquor Licence Board, is well known as the centre of an "immoral" district. He objected to the renewal of licences for 17 liquor outlets on Yonge between midtown Davenport Road and downtown King Street.

"Me use Nickel?"

The oil and gas he sells would cost more were it not for Nickel. Tough, hard Nickel Steel bits bite through rock to reach the oil. Drilling equipment is made of Nickel Steel to stand terrific stresses and corrosion.

Much oil refinery equipment is made of Nickel alloys to stand up under intense heat, under sub-zero cold, and to resist corrosion by acids. The modern refinery contains hundreds of tons of Nickel alloys.

In the tankers at sea, in the tank cars which transport oil products, in the tank trucks which bring oil and gasoline to the service station, Nickel alloys are used in many ways.

Forty-three years of research have uncovered hundreds of uses for Nickel in the United States and other countries. Now Nickel exports bring in millions of U.S. dollars yearly. These dollars help pay the 14,000 Nickel employees and also help pay railwaymen, lumbermen, steel and iron workers and other men and women making supplies for the Nickel mines, smelters and refineries.

Legionnaires Defeat Petes In Hot Fray Before 2,000

Fighting an uphill battle for more than half the game at Civic Arena last night, the Legionnaires roared back from behind late in the second period to take the lead and go on to win 8-5 in their OHA senior "B" fixture. A record arena crowd of nearly 2,000—there were 1909 paid admissions—saw a swell scrap, and the feud will be resumed there tomorrow night.

IN ON THREE—Speedy Bill Crowley was in on three goals as was Joe Rochetta, here last night, as Legionnaires defeated the Petes 8-5 in an OHA senior "B" tilt before some 2,000 fans, the best crowd yet at Civic Arena.

Play was quite fast and pretty even most of the route, and rugged at times, though kept well in check. The referees halted play whenever trouble threatened, though they let guilty ones off free on a number of occasions. Harding and Montgomery mixed in a fist fight in the first frame and drew majors, the battle starting a free-for-all, but no other penalties were handed out. Again, a fight started late in the third, but no one was chased. Chum Fryia of Legion hit the boards hard in the initial inning and was taken to hospital where it was found a shoulder bone was broken in two places.

Looked Good

The Petes looked definitely better for more than half the game, but Legion kept fighting back and they got rolling hard in the middle heat to tie it up and then take a lead. Play was pretty even in a sizzling third stanza, but Legion got the lone goal on some poor clearing at defence late in the chukker. None of the goals on either side were soft, though a few came on screened shots in scrambles, the goalie not seeeing the flying disc in time to make his move.

Hard feelings were in evidence from the start between these bitter civic rivals—bitter since 1945. While two neutral referees were right on the job, a lot of sly stuff still went. The checking was heavy, too, with sticks, elbows and bodies used hard by both squads. Even the goalies took a brisk combing at times as enemy forwards, without a puck, brushed them in the face with a quick elbow in passing. The pent-up feeling was there but didn't quite break out into the explosion expected, barring the one free-for-all, quickly subdued.

Had The Lead

The score was 4-2 for the Petes at the end of the first and they looked at least that much better. Again in he second they looked better than Legion for a space, then play evened off for a time, and finally Legionnaires began to press hard and hold a good margin on play. They outscored the Petes 5-1 this time to win the tilt right there and tote a 7-5 edge into the third. The last heat was pretty even, but Legion got the odd goal to run the count up a bit. The Petes pressed plenty in the third, too.

Bill Crowley and Joe Rochetta led the Legion attack, each being in on three goals in a good showing. Doug Mortimer and Toodie Greenlaw were in on a pair each, and Dootch Vitarellii and Bert Hill were two other forwards who caught the eye. Burns was strong on defence, as were the others, while Nicholls was tough to beat in goal. Junior West led the way for the Petes with a goal and three assists, besides almost scoring two or three more when right in there. Fred Garvey was in on a pair, and Fife was dangerous all the way. Bill McMasters played a rousing, bumping game on defence for the Petes, and Gus Leonard did some effective work. Goalie Roy Harding turned in his usual good chore and had little chance on those that beat him.

Legion: Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, D. Mortimer, Montgomery, Hill, Fryia, Stewart, Parnell, Greenlaw and Mortimer.

Petes—Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Leonard; centre, West; wings, Creighton and Garvey; alternates, Jopling, McMasters, Fife, Collins, Griffin, Coughlin, Conlin and J. Mortimer.

IN OPENING BOUT—Jim (Goon) Henry, above who clashes with Toar Morgan in the opening bout of Thursday's mat card at the Brock. Toar has been showing his old time form lately but the Goon will give him a chance to prove if he is ready for main bouts or not. For the semi-final Pat Flanagan hooks up with Steve Stanlee, and this one should be a classic. The main bout between Yukon Eric and Seelie Samara is attracting great interest throughout the district, with the fans about even in their choice of a winner.

Oshawa Juniors Gain Two Points As Trips Lose

Friends and relations of the Oshawa Juniors saw the Bees smother the first place Junior Oddfellows Monday night 8-5 in in a game in which the league leaders played last place hockey. The same clubs meet Friday night at the Civic Arena.

Twice in the first period the slow-moving Triplelinks managed to squeeze even with the Oshawa Bees after they picked up soft goals at the expense of goalie Red Wasson and his defence. Brabin finally earned an Oshawa goal with only 54 seconds left to put them up 3-2 at the end of the period.

Oshawa Carries Play

As Oshawa improved in play in the second, the Triple Links went lower and lower. The defence disappeared. The wings and forwards failed to carry the puck and were effortless in backchecking. Wasson let one slip between his hands as the locals' play reached its lowest ebb. Meanwhile the Motor City crew were collecting four goals, several on Oddfellow penalties and several on breakaways. They were passing and breaking quickly. Somehow the locals scored two to make a second period score 7-4.

A goal was scored by both teams in an uninteresting third period.

During the game the Peterborough defence only showed signs of life in several places, at the end of the first period and in spots in the third. Oshawa forwards repeatedly caught the defencemen out of position in the second as they broke fast in twos and threes on Wasson in the nets. The forwards were waiting in the centre ice area for passes from the boys inside the blueline.

Wyatt Shines

Bob Wyatt made several nice rushes with the aid of Ron Turner and Don Floyd but did not set the world on fire. Dean Wasson caught two or three Bees with his Wasson Wallop to enliven the game. Red Wasson, except for lapses, was good considering his support.

The three Oshawa forward lines had a glorious night, particularly the third line featuring Bob Attersley. The Brabin-Etcher-Johnston line was persistent in its attack inside the Trips blue marker. Pollard was nice on the defence while Hurst between the pipes came through when his services were required.

Lineups:

Peterborough Oddfellows — Goal, Red Wasson; defence, Fennell, Millar; centre, Turner; wings, Wyatt, Floyd; alternates, Baker, Birch, Doris, Desjardin, B. Mason, R. Mason, Richlark, D. Wasson.

Oshaws Bees—Goal, Hurst; defence, Pollard, Deeth; centre, Myles; wings, Wilson, DeGray; alternates, Attersley, Weddup, Brabin, Etcher, Bannon, Johnston, Lawrence, Dodd.

Summary:

First Period

Oshawa—Myles (Wilson)	2.24
Oddfellows—D. Wasson (Desjardin, R. Mason)	4:58
Oshawa—Attersley (Pollard)	6.14
Oddfellows—Fennell	11:30
Oshawa—Brabin (Johnston)	19:06

Penalties—Myles 2.

Second Period

Oshawa—Attersley	1:18
Oddfellows—B. Mason (Millar)	3:44
Oshawa—DeGray (Myles)	6:17
Oshawa—Etcher (Johnston)	8:29
Oddfellows—R. Mason (D. Wasson)	10:55
Oshawa—Brabin (Johnston)	11:47

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A speedy hammer-head against a chesty powerhouse—that's the main bout setup for the pro grapple card at the Brock this Thursday eve. Seelie Samara, colored scientific grappler, goes against husky Yukon Eric as the main attraction, and it should draw another big wrestling crowd. Promises to be a highly interesting scrap as Seelie has it over Eric on his speed and experience—knowing all the mat answers—while the Alaskan is rather green yet at the grapple game but offsets this with his terrific strength. He just takes all they have and wades in for more. Ought to be a dandy. Two action-packed prelims on tap, too.

* * * * * *

Next OHA senior "B" fixture here is tomorrow (Wednesday) p.m. at 8.30 in the Civic Arena. The opponents? None other than the Petes and Legionnaires, it being the latter's home fray. No doubt another big gallery on deck to see these bitter city rivals in an OHA grouping fight it out to the finish. You may see better hockey at times than these teams serve up, but you won't see any more exciting puck play on account of they play for keeps, and every rival player is giving that extra effort with no coasting around. And they keep their heads up at all times—knowing how easily they could be knocked up among the spectators. Yes, sir!

* * * * * *

Those Bitter Enemies

No love lost at all last e'en as Legion won 8-5, having to come from behind late in the second period to do it. Had to look like the OHA senior "B" champs they are to win it, too, as the Petes were plenty hot. A swell scrap before nearly 2,000, and we think the place will be packed again tomorrow. Lot of the fans go there looking for fights and they're going to see a whopping exhibition any time now. Nearly broke out a few times last eve, but two neutral and tough refs were on the job. Even at that, they missed a lot of sly and rough stuff—and we know some of the rival players rib each other pretty hard vocally all the way. Yep, there'll be trouble aplenty and soon betwixt these feudin' puck foes, as the schedule draws toward a close. When the big free-for-all occurs, we'll hit for the powder room!

* * * * * *

Petes outplayed Legion more than half the game, but wilted under a hot attack late in the second frame. Petes looked better the first inning, Legion came on to have a margin in the second, and the third was about even, though Legion scored the only goal. Fine, rugged and exciting hockey, with both sides really playing for keeps. We certainly enjoy that as no one coasts out there. Crowley and Rochetta led the Legion snipers while West and Garvey topped the Petes. McMaster and Burns were doing plenty of torso tossing (but hard) on the rival blue lines. And both goalies were in top form, despite the score. Yeah, 'twas a dandy and we'd like to see more Petes-Legion games and forget some of the other squads in the group! Afraid it can't be done, though.

About Goalie Penalties

E.J. writes in asking why doesn't a penalized goalie have to serve his own penalty. The rules states that a teammate will serve minor penalties for a goalie, or the first major penalty. But if the goalie gets himself into two fights during a game and draws a second major penalty, he's had it. In this case, he automatically draws a match misconduct penalty and his place will be taken by a member of his own team, but not by a sub goalie who might be dressed and in the lineup. The new guy has 15 minutes to don the equipment. Of course every time a goalie draws a minor he is penalizing his team by making it play a man short, and he suffers, too, by being kept that much busier with his side shorthanded.

* * * * * *

Down in Oshawa last gloaming, our junior "B" IOOF-ers dropped an 8-5 puck decision to the scrappy Motor Citizens. Actually, the Oddfellows didn't play up to form, though the Oshawa lads are tough cookies to take at any time. Triple Links looked weak defensively, not only in goal and at the blue line, but with some indifferent back-checking. Wyatt probably was the pick of the crew at that. Close enough in the first and third periods, but Oshawa salted it away with a sustained drive in the middle canto. Bun Kingdon will hound his charges now to prep 'em for the return tilt here Friday.

Haas Wins Long Beach Tourney

LONG BEACH, Calif., Jan. 24—(AP). — You had no trouble finding Fred Haas, Jr., Monday night, after he won the Long Beach open golf tournament. He was right there by the 18th hole, selling putters.

"Did all right, too," drawled the tall, 34-year-old golfer from New Orleans, who went 16 strokes under par for a 268 to win the second playing of this $10,000 event in his third year as professional.

Haas, who came from a tie for 28th place after the first round to stand off determined bids by other stars in a pressure-filled final round, sells putters on the side. He adds comfortably to the $9,817 he banked last year as the ninth best-paid touring pro.

It was his second big victory in a month. In December, he took the Miami, Fla., open with a par-pasting 264. A veteran amateur, he turned pro in 1946 and won the Portland, Ore., open in 1948.

With the heat on, Haas' final round over Lakewood's rolling course was one of calm concentration. He one-putted five greens to add a 65 to his previously-posted 70-66-67. It was five strokes better than Canadian Stan Leonard of Vancouver could do, and won him $2,000 against Leonard's $1,400.

The two played in the same threesome and Haas started out one stroke up. The third member of the threesome, Smiley Quick of Culver City, Calif., who also was a stroke behind Haas to start, took a five and was never a factor the rest of the way.

The teams:

Marmora Shuts Out Hastings Puckists

MARMORA, Jan. 24 (ENS)—With only seven men comprising their team, Hastings did remarkably well in their game at Marmora on Monday to retire beaten by only a 4-0 score.

Only as the team left Hastings was it seen that it would be depleted through illnesses and minor injuries but the sextette which arrived put forth all possible effort and furnished opposition for the homesters that will be memorable. Nelson, the ex-Campbellford goalie, played a fine game in the nets as did Borland who got his first shutout. Hastings had hard luck in not registering in each period, five shots missing by inches and Borland excelling in saves. Most of Marmora's scoring was done in the first period. Their final goal in the second was scored by Gray who is having his first season with the Trent Valley team having played midget hockey last season. About 400 witnessed the game which was clean throughout and well handled by the referees.

Teams:

Hastings—Goal, Nelson; defence, Pettigrew and Ball; centre, West; wings, Mueller, Greenly; alternate, Carr.

Marmora—Goal, Borland; defence, Cousin and E. Leonard; centre, Stewart; wings, Lavender and K. Trumble; alternates, Goodchild, McInroy, Loveless, Darrah Gray, Nayler, Kerr, Forestell, Sweet.

Referees—Bill O'Malley, Trenton; Owen Hendy, Campbellford.

Summary - First Period

Marmora — McInroy (Goodchild) 6.00.

Marmora —Loveless (McInroy) 19.00.

Penalty—Cousins.

Scots Hospitality Plays Havoc With Curlers

AYR, Scotland, Jan. 24 (CP) — Canada's chances of regaining the Strathcona Cup, emblematic of Scottish-Canadian curling supremacy, appear black.

With three of five test matches already played, Scotland has piled up a 66 point margin. The Scots won the first match by 42 points, lost the second by three and won the third by 27. The next match is Jan. 27-28.

The "secret weapon" in the Scots armory perhaps isn't curling as much as good old Scottish hospitality.

Not that the Canadians have been overdoing it—but the canny Scots have been playing it sly.

Except for Sundays, both Canadian A and B teams have had two strenuous ice sessions a day since they arrived early this month—topped off with a banquet every night.

Those Late Hours

They seldom get to bed before 1 a.m. and have to be back on the ice by 10 a.m. the next day and often their hosts of the day without a match on the morrow, can stay in bed late.

But there's no suggestion that the visitors aren't taking their curling seriously.

There's also the grind of long bus trips from the city to the curling rinks, the civic receptions take at least as much of a toll as the activities with besom and stane.

One old Scots curler remarked. "I've never met a soberer crowd of curlers in 59 years o' playing the game—and dammit they're guid curlers."

Another handicap to the Canadians is the "hack" used in Scotland. This isn't a rubber, sunk into the ice as in Canada, but a small square metal plate resting on the surface. This tended to unsettle the visitors at first, although they're getting used to it now.

Lindsay Holds Scoring Lead By Slim Margin

MONTREAL, Jan. 24 (CP) — Left-winger Ted Lindsay of Detroit again is in sole possession of the National Hockey League scoring leadership—although by a slim margin.

The fiery winger boasts 17 goals and 31 assists for a total of 48 points, one point more than teammate Sid Abel who has 24 goals and 23 assists.

Abel, Detroit team captain, climber into a first place tie with Lindsay last week after the latter had held top spot for 10 consecutive weeks.

Following week-end games, Lindsay gained a narrow lead on his teammate. Lindsay also is leader in the field of assists with three more than Chicago's Doug Bentley who is second with 28 assists.

In Third Spot

Maurice (The Rocket) Richard Montreal right-winger, is in third position of the individual scoring list with 40 points—25 goals and 15 assists.

Biggest threat to Richard's 25 goal record is Abel who has 24.

Tied in fourth place are Boston's Paul Ronty and Chicago's Roy Conacher with 38 apiece.

Toronto's goalie, Turk Broda counted his sixth goose egg during the week to cut down the lead of big Bill Durnan of Montreal who has seven shutouts. Durnan has the best goals-against record in the league—91 in 43 games.

Bill Gadsby of Chicago remains leader in the league's penalty division having spent 99 minutes in the cooler.

Quebec Downs Detroit Rink

QUEBEC, Jan. 24 — (CP). — Most rinks entered in Quebec's 37th International Bonspiel ran true to form in Monday's opening draws for the Chateau International and the Val d'Or Golden Valley awards.

There was one notable exception, however, when Gaston Amyot of Quebec defeated Dr. Stan McKenzie of Detroit, runner up for the international championship in 1949. Amyot almost doubled the score on the United States curler, winning 11-6.

Dr. McKenzie begins play today in the grand aggregate along with 60 other rinks which lost their first round games in the Chateau International and the Val d'Or Golden Valley events.

Other United States foursome fared better however, with E. W. Fiske, Jr., of Ardsley, NY., eGo. L. Irwin, Chicago, Thomas Allen, Brooklin, Mass., and Dr. Angus L. McDonald, Detroit, posting victories.

SOLLY CANTOR WINS

At Leeds, England, Solly Cantor, Toronto lightweight was pressed hard in maintaining his unbeaten record in British rings when he fought to an eight-round draw Monday night with Welsh champion Reg Quinlan.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Ten years ago tonight Henry Armstrong viciously pounded and stopped Pedro Montanez in nine rounds to successfully defend his world's welterweight championship in New York's Madison Square Garden. Montanez put up a gallant showing but was forced to retire after absorbing terrific punishment from Armstrong's two-fisted attack.

WINS 8-ROUND DECISION

At Toronto, young Alan McFater took all but handed out more in gaining a unanimous eight-round decision Monday night in a Maple Leaf Gardens bout with Johnny (Spider) Thompson of Buffalo. N. Y McFater weighed 135 to Thompson's 129¾.

Yanks Worried About Chances

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP). — The world champion New York Yankees are not sitting as pretty as some would like to have you believe.

Those quotes coming out of the front office: "We don't need trades, the Yankees already have the best," are nothing more than empty words. They hardly explain why the Yankees tried so desperately to wrest first baseman Eddie Robinson and pitcher Rae Scarborough from Washington Senators last December.

There is no doubt that things appear far better now than a year ago at this date, but that does not mean the Yankees have no problems. Manager Casey Stengel knows it. Never one to kid himself, Casey realizes that several questions must first be answered before he knows whether the Yankees can repeat in 1950.

Casey still does not know how many games Joe DiMaggio will play next season. His first-base situation is in doubt. Will it be Johnny Mize, Joe Collins, Fenton Mole, Billy Johnson, or will he be forced to draft Tommy Henrich from the outfield? How much would that weaken the outfield?

Will Jerry Coleman, the brilliant young rookie of 1949, fall victim to the sophomore jinx? Will Tommy Byrne finally overcome his wildness? And what about Joe Page? Can the gifted relief pitcher perform his near-miracles of 1949?

NEW SOCCER PRESIDENT

Arthur Arnold, chairman of the Ontario Soccer Commission, has been appointed president of the National Soccer League. He succeeds Jack Waldon, of Toronto, who retired last year.

Mair Leading OHA In Goals

TORONTO, Jan. 24 (CP) — Hugh (Scotty) Mair, stocky right-winger of Toronto Marlboros, is the new scoring leader in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior series. He took over from his former linemate Johnny McCormack now with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National League.

Statistics released Monday show Mair has 51 points—33 goals and 18 assists. McCormack still holds second place with 17 goals and 33 assists, for 50 points. Bill Johnson and Al Buchanan, also of Marlboros, with 48 and 42 points, are third and fourth.

In the Junior A series, Earl Reibel of Windsor Spitfires has regained first place after dropping it to Con Switzer of St. Catharines Teepees for nearly a week. Reibel has 40 goals and 50 assists to his credit for 90 points Switzer, in second place, has 89 points—25 goals and 64 assists Third is Ellard O'Brien of St. Catharines, with 49 goals and 34 assists for 83 points.

Canadiens Get Tilt

Canadiens defeated Rangers 5-3 in a peewee puck fixture at the Bowl rink, Mahoney and Johnston getting two goals each for the winners and Whitton one. O'Connell counted a pair for the Rangers and Dobbin one. Johnston and Mahoney stood out for the winners, while Dobbin, Reid and O'Connell looked good for the losers. The ice was heavy, but it was a good game for teams badly in need of practice, and both sides had some promising puckists. Referee Jim Shearin handled the tilt well. Only one lineup was received.

Mosienko Star At Millar Benefit Night

MONTREAL, Jan. 24 (CP) — Bill Mosienko showed Monday night what thousands of National Hockey League fans have known for a long time—that he's one of the speediest puck chasers on skates.

The Chicago Black Hawk forward raced off with the honors at the Tag Millar genefit night at the Montreal Forum as four NHL swifties competed in a puck-carrying race.

Under the rules of the competition, Mosienko raced up to the puck at the centre ice red line, circled the rink once going behind the nets, and finished at the red line. He made it in 14 4-5 seconds, edging Max McNabb of Detroit Red Wings, Tony Leswick of New York Rangers and Floyd Curry of Montreal Canadiens.

In a similar race among Quebec Senior League players, Andre Corriveau of Valleyfield Braves won with 15 seconds.

The benefit was a large scale affair in honor of little James Taggart Millar, the coach who took his Montreal Junior Royals through to the Memorial Cup last year and who died several months ago at 35. The $7,688.32 net proceeds turned in by 8,281 fans will be turned over to Tag's widow. She has two children.

Other Features

Other features of the benefit included hockey exhibitions by junior, senior amateur and national league stars.

In one 20 minute exhibition, Montreal Junior Canadiens tied with an all star team from the Quebec Junior Amateur Hockey Association, 1-1.

A QSHL all star team downed Montreal's Senior Royals 1-0 in the third exhibition.

Jean Beliveau, star of the Quebec Junior Citadels, was presented with the Tag Millar Memorial Bowl as the outstanding rookie of the JAHA last season.

Mosienko and Corriveau each were presented with an inscribed wrist watch for winning the puck carrying race.

Canadiens At Belleville

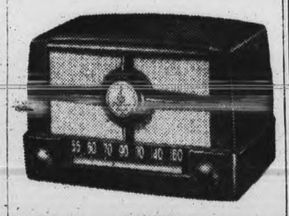
BELLEVILLE, Jan. 24—Montreal Canadiens of the NHL will pay a visit to the Memorial Arena here February 7, to play an exhibition game to aid boys' work. Canadiens wil provide two teams to play against each other.

Misses Premiere

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 24 (CP)—Jessica Tandy, actress wife of London-born Hume Cronyn, missed Monday night's world premiere here of her husband's production, "Now I Lay Me Down To Sleep," but she is due to arrive in London by air from California for Thursday night's performance. Miss Tandy had planned to attend the premiere, but she has been delayed by film production. Cronyn said he would accompany the show from London to Philadelphia at the end of the week.

102 Horses Eligible For Belmont

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP) — Nominations for the $75,000-added Belmont Stakes have closed, and 102 leading North American three-year-olds have been made eligible.



E. P. Taylor of Toronto nominated a pair, Navy Chief and Bull Page. Calumet farm leads the list with seven, while King Ranch and Maine Chance Farm named five each.

No date was given for the event, one of the top three-year-classics, but it is expected to be run Saturday, June 10, final day of the Belmont spring meeting here. This would put it more than a month after the Kentucky Derby and three weeks after the Preakness, the other two events making up racing's "triple crown."

Among the leading juveniles of last year made eligible are C. T. Chenery's Hill Prince and Tom Gray's Oil Capitol, which shared honors as the leading two-year-olds in 1949.

Student Class Added To VON Poster Contest

The poster publicizing the Victorian Order of Nurses designed by Jack Hamer of Peterborough, which was the prize-winning design in a VON national poster campaign last year, is the frontispiece of the current issue of the VON Quarterly, the order's official magazine.

This year's competition has already started and entries from Peterborough contestants are due before March 18.

A competition is being held in the city and the winning design will be forwarded to the national competition, as was done last year.

There will be two classes in the current competition: one for students and the other as an open competition.

First prize in the Peterborough competition will be $20, with second prize of $10 and third of $5. The first prize in the national competition is $100 with second and third prizes of $50 and $15. The prizes in the local and national competition for students will be $10.

The poster should publicize either the VON as a whole or an aspect of the work done by the order. Recommended size is 18 inches by 24, and all entries become the property of the order.

ICE BLOCKS STEAMER — Ice is rare along the northern British Columbia coast but it stopped a coastal steamer, The Chilcotin, 1¼ miles from Cumshewa Inlet, a logging community on Moresby Island. Freight was hauled on an improvised sled from the boat to the community. Out-going passengers walked from shore to board the ship. Passengers and crew members who hauled the sled from a ship's ladder, are shown here travelling over the ice.

Trials and Tribulations Of a Minister Discussed

A mutual recognition of each other as Christians by the Roman and Protestant Churches is coming, prophesied the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church while speaking to the Rotary Club Monday. Rotarian Morgan was speaking on the subject "His Trials and Tribulations as a Minister."

People who are always lamenting the fact that there are so many Protestant denominations are revealing nothing but their ignorance of true facts, said Mr. Morgan. In recent years, he explained, there has been a great deal of co-operative organization and work to bring all the groups closer together. These denominations speak as one voice through such organizations as the Canadian Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches.

"Please do not think either that there is no co-operation between the Roman Church and the Protestant Church," said Mr. Morgan. "There are extremists, of course, on both sides but there is a coming recognition of each other as Christians, and there are some places where we stand solidly together."

Mr. Morgan then told of a Baptist minister who belongs to a service club in another community who had no car to help him with his work. He was presented one day with a set of keys and found himself with a new car. It was not until some time later that he learned that a Roman Catholic member of the club had gone to the chairman of his church board and suggested that they together raise the money for the car.

People With Narrow Minds

One of Mr. Morgan's observations as a minister is that the hardest people to deal with are people with narrow minds. Narrow minds, he defined as "the kind of mind which knows all of the answers and has known them for a long time."

Mr. Morgan related several amusing incidents which have happened to him and other ministers.

He told the club that his last observation was that a minister's job is important. He explained, that contrary to the thoughts of many, a minister's job is not finished after the two half-hour sermons a week. A minister's time is spent in the preparation of his sermon, keeping abreast of the current trends, visiting the sick and shut-ins, and getting to all the homes of his congregation so that he will get to know them and be in a position to share their joys and sorrows. Besides these, there are funerals and marriages, sharing grief in one case and joy in the other. The minister must attend clubs and groups, making addresses, and give church organizations counsel.

"I say I wouldn't trade my job for any other. I like it thoroughly. I believe that this is the job which God has for me and I am convinced that He has something very important to say to the people of our generation. If I use whatever talents He has given me to that end, I feel that may days are well spent in His service.

Mr. Morgan was introduced by Gordon Matthews and thanked by Clare Collins.

Three new members, Douglas Miller, Charles Wood and Gordon McGavin were inducted into the club. T. J. Carley was in charge of the induction ceremonies, assisted by E. L. Sackville, Ross Dobbin, Jack Arnott, Gordon Monkman and Harold Deeth.

Guests were introduced by Burritt Smitheram.

Meat Surplus Embarrasses Britain's Food Ministry

By DON GILBERT, Canadian Press Staff Writer

A surfeit of meat is proving embarrassing to the British Food Ministry at home but strengthens the government's hand in its food dickering abroad. The meat ration has been temporarily jacked up but still the stuff piles up. With cold storage warehouses bulging, the Food Ministry has chartered a fleet of refrigerated ships for use as floating larders. The extent of government meat stocks is kept secret, but one figure mentioned is 500,000 tons—enough to supply 1,000,000,000 of the recent midget weekly rations.

At the same time, stocks of other foodstuffs are piling up. Warehouses are stuffed with £20,000,000 ($62,000,000) worth of frozen cod fillets—at a time when the public taste for plain cod is falling off in favor of more toothsome varieties of seafood now becoming available.

Bacon supplies are arriving so fast from Canada and Denmark that the Ministry has just added another ounce to the weekly ration so none will spoil in storage.

Ration Out of Fashion

The bulging state of the national larder has brought on redoubled demands that Britain follow the example of France, Germany and other Continental countries and scrap the entire rationing set-up. But the Ministry maintains its stocks are not unduly excessive and that the big meat stockpiles may be helpful in pending trade negotiations with Argentina.

Handling of food rations is a delicate question with the general election only four weeks away. The announcement last week that bacon rationing is being increased from four to five ounces had political repercussions. Lord Beaverbrook's independent Evening Standard greeted the news with the banner headline: "Here Come The Bribes."

Part of the meat trade believes there is a danger of some of the meat going bad unless its gets into the butcher shops quickly. One prediction is that the ration will be increased to two shillings (31 cents) a person weekly, which would be the highest since 1940.

For a number of weeks Britons have been receiving an extra twopence worth in their ration, making a total of 1s. 6d (about 23 cents). That provides a fair-sized portion of meat once a week.

Expensive Iceboxes

While the bulging meat stocks whet the public appetite, the cost of chartering the refrigerated ships to store the meat is causing taxpayers a headache. There now are 14 of these floating larders bobbing on the rides at London, Liverpool, Avonmouth and Glasgow.

The floating iceboxes hold some 45,000 tons and its costs 70 shillings monthly a ton stored aboard ship compared to 27 shillings a ton ashore.. Some ships have been under charter since last August and the total bill is estimated to be in excess of £150,000.

Demolish Houses As Vacated City Hall Site

Authority to demolish houses in the George-Murray Streets block as they become available was recommended to the council by the board of works Monday night.

"It appears to be definite now that the city hall is to be built this year," remarked Ald. Gillespie. "I don't remember anything on record that the council intended to go ahead with construction this year. If we put this through it will be a back-handed way of indicating that we intend to proceed with building this year."

Possession by May 1

Owners of the property in the city hall block opposite Confederation Square are being notified that the city requires possession by May 1, and that it is hoped all options will be completed before then.

The present authority provides for calling for tenders for the demolition or removal of houses as they become vacant.

'And that they employ only local help in that work," Ald. Doug Miller recommended.

"That should go into all our contracts," Mapor Swanston said.

$615,000 Available

The calling for tenders was embodied in a motion by Alderman Sands and Miller.

Ald. Braund: 'What if the tenders for the city hall amount to more funds than we have?"

The reply was to the effect that the council would have to be largely guided by the architects. Their estimates have been around $600,000, and it has been understood that the Morrow estate credit is at $615,000.

Report Thefts In Two Homes

Two thefts, one a breakin, were reported to police Monday in which a total of about $60 was taken.

Mrs. Peter DeCarlo, 17 Moir St. said sometime between 9.30 Monday morning and three in the afternoon while she was away, someone broke into her house.

Mrs. DeCarlo returned to find several drawers of a dresser ransacked and her husband's clothes lying on the floor. Mr. DeCarlo's wallet was lying open on the floor and $50 that had been in it was missing.

Miss Maisie Lloyd, 514 Bolivar St., reported that $10 had been taken from a cardboard box in which she was saving 50-cent pieces. Miss Lloyd, who has a room at the address, said she had about $57 in the box, but only part of it had been taken. Constable Gordon Trennum did preliminary investigation in both thefts before they were turned over to the detective department

Weekly Rental Fee of $125 Set For Summer Theatre

Peterborough's Board of Education decided Monday night that there may have been a slight case of overcharging in the Supervision committees estimate, and they lowered the weekly rental of Queen Mary Auditorium to the Summer Theatre group from $200 to $125.

Members of the Supervision Committee heard the figures on operation of last year's 11-week Summer Theatre on January 13 from K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, and decided unanimously that $200 a week was the rental.

The committee's report was made at a special meeting of the Board on Monday.

In the initial year of 1949 the rental was $80 a week.

After listening to Dr. Russell Morgan's addition, which included a much lower figure on depreciation of property and damages, in particular, the Board decided unanimously that $125 would be the correct amount.

There were no dissenters to the opinion that the 1949 troupe were irresponsible when it came to looking after the school property. To guard against any repetition the amendment to the Supervision committee's report called for the posting of a $500 bond to guard against property damage and the embodiment of a number of other restrictions in a contract.

Full details of the contract will be worked out with the Board's solicitor, T. J. Carley, K.C.

Mrs Paige Rowell said she wanted to know the minimum cost of having the dramatic productions without any form of subsidy.

Reasonable Charge

Dr. Morgan brought in what he considered a reasonable charge ($125) and this was subsequently approved by the whole Board, including G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the Finance Committee.

"I think we will break even," he said.

Basic costs as stated by Dr. Morgan were $70 a week for two caretakers, $6 for light, $5 for cleaning, $12 for insurance and $30 depreciation.

It was on the estimate that $700-$800 damage had already been done. Dr. Morgan replied. And he felt that this figure was far too large. Dr. Ross M. Matthews, chairman of the Supervision Committee which brought in the original estimate, agreed.

"As far as actual damage is concerned a lot depends upon the viewpoint of the particular person examining the auditorium," Dr.

Report Is Asked On Storm Drains

The laying of storm drains in new residential sections of the city is another sizeable job in the council's book of business that needs doing.

To Ald. Adam Sands' question Monday night as to "what is needed," City Engineer Chalmers replied in one word: "miles."

"All the new areas taken in by the city," Mr. Chalmers generally explained.

"And Ashburnham" said Mayor Swanston, referring to the expansion of its housing boundaries.

It was suggested that this work might be paid for on the local improvement basis. City Clerk Outram reminded the council that in the 1930's much storm drain improvement had been financed out of the general rate and by issue of debentures.

The inference was to the effect that switch to local improvement distribution cost would be unfair to property owners on the streets requiring storm drains because the expenditure on the other drains mentioned had been paid for in the general tax rate.

The board adopted the motion of Ald. Gillespie asking City Engineer Chalmers to report on the storm drain work in prospect.

Baby Suffers Burns When Hot Water Spilt

A 14-month-old baby, Paul Clark, was scalded Monday when his grandmother, Mrs. Jack Fawsett, accidentally spilled some boiling water from a pot on a kitchen stove on the child who was playing on the floor at her feet.

The youngster was today reported by Civic Hospital officials to be in fairly good condition The burn was confined mostly to his neck and chest.

The child is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clark, 14 Murray St.

Apartment Fire Said Caused By Hot Ashes

Hot ashes being put in a wooden box was the cause of the $4,500 fire at 426½ George St., Saturday noon, Fire Chief George Smith said today.

The blaze broke out in an unoccupied room, used for storing firewood and ashes, in the apartment of Walter McLaren and his mother, Mrs. Edith McLaren. Before it was finally extinguished it forced the occupants of four apartments at the same address to evacuate, and caused water and some smoke damage to three stores underneath.

Trapped in her third storey apartment by thick smoke in the stairway exit, Mrs. Norman Edwards was forced to tumble her baby down a sloping roof into the arms of an alert passerby She then escaped through the window the same way.

Mrs. McLaren was ill and lying in bed in the same room where her wood stove was burning low. Her son left her for a short time to drive a friend home in his car.

While he was gone Mrs. McLaren apparently cleaned out the hot stove ashes, and, finding the metal container full, she put them in a wooden box. Some time later she smelled smoke and then saw it billowing from the storage room.

She had to be rescued from the premises by firemen who carried her down a ladder.

The box burned a hole in the floor, and the apartment and all the McLaren's possessions were destroyed in the blaze.

Floodlights On Kempt's Hill

Another milestone in skiing history in this area will be reached tonight when the enthusiasts of the slats of hickory, zip down Kempt's Hill under floodlights.

This area is now among the very few such as London and Kitchener in Ontario which can boast of night skiing under lights.

Monday night the lights were given a trial and a new safety gate was installed.

Although many skiers do not mind skiing at night without lights the lights have been installed for those who had fears of snow-capped stones and stumps.

On Tuesday and Thursday nights the lights will be on from 7.30 until 10. There will also be skiing on Wednesday afternoon from 2 until 5. The tow will be operating at these times.

A few skiers took advantage of test Monday night to try the slopes while the men worked. Skiing was reported as "near perfect" with a powdery covering on a well-packed base.

Warning Shots Fired At Car

Five warning shots fired over the car of William J. Meredith who pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving in police court Monday, failed to stop the car. Lakefield's Chief Constable Garnet F. Samis testified.

Chief Samis said his car had been bumped twice from behind by Meredith's car in Lakefield on Saturday night. The second bump sent his car driving into a post on the side of the road.

The car which had hit him drove away, said Chief Samis. He testified that he chased the car and pulled alongside it, but the driver failed to stop when Chief Samis used his red blinker light as a stop signal.

The chief said the Meredith car pulled ahead of him and he had to chase Meredith six miles before he finaly stopped him

He fired the shots over Meredith's car on the highway to Peterborough, but said Meredith might not have seen the flashes of his gun because of snow covering the back window of his car.

Meredith was fined $15 and $6 costs.

Contract Extended With Marble Company

The Ontario Marble Co. has agreed to withdraw its notice of termination of the 1949-50 contract with Local 527 UE. The contract has been extended to February 17 by mutual consent.

Negotiations are expected to be re-opened during the week of January 31.

The 28 workers in the UE local have asked for a 40-hour week with maintenance of take-home pay, a general wage increase, a union shop, an improved vacation plan and other contract items.

On December 17 the Company notified the local that they wished to terminate the agreement when the anniversary date came due on January 22. The withdrawal of this notice was made late last week.

It was further agreed that any wage increases or adjustments in rates for various job classifications would be retroactive to the anniversary date.

George St. Site Foundation For Memorial Centre Would Cost Extra $100,000

Tenders adverse by more than $100,000 to the proposed George St. site of the Memorial Community Centre were reported to the board of works Monday night by the architects, Walter R. L. Blackwell and James S. Craig. Bids from five contractors on the foundation of the Centre at the location between Rink and Townsend Streets, and also on a supposable alternate property with ordinary subsoil conditions presented a range of difference in estimated cost from $100,600 to $150,459.

The report drew scant comment from the members of the board. They are sending it on to the joint committee of representatives of the council and of the building committee of the Centre.

In the lowest tender, from Richard and R. A. Ryan Ltd., the estimated cost of the foundation required at Rink and Townsend Streets was $130,092, and for an alternate site $29,492. The spread in that bid was $100,600.

In this report, the architects were completing another quest of the council for exact information about a site for the Centre. Probably the circumstances of this new phase of enquiry are remembered.

City Owned Property

The city owns the George St. property. They offered it again to the building committee of the Centre months ago last year, but the condition of the subsoil was again questioned. A large area of that block was once an expansion of the nearby creek whose outlet crosses George St. It was gradually filled in years ago with sawdust from the McDonald mill which once occupied all the point east of the Beaver Lumber Co. office on the east side of George St.

Previous soundings in the search for a site indicated a depth of 30 feet or more to hardpan. They confirmed opinions of a woozy condition under shallow topsoil which would swell the cost of the Centre foundation. Investigations made on several occasions on the order of the architects, once by an engineer who was brought here specially for that probe, and later by A. W. Robertson Co., received further support in the estimates based on the plans.

Twelve contractors were invited to submit tenders. Five responded with their estimates of the cost of the foundation.

To meet the problem of the foundation at Rink St., it was planned to sink concrete piling to support a floor of reinforced concrete, spread two or three feet above the ground. Both Mr. Blackwell and Mr. Craig explained the details, just as they had done on former occasions.

By this means, Mr. Craig said, the ground would not carry any of the first floor. Cost of 394 concrete piles was estimated by one of the contractors at $35,000, and of the concrete slab to be set on them approximately $65,000. That indicates the proposed base of the Centre at the George St. site.

The Council turned its thoughts back to that location chiefly because of its central position on George St. Since the Centre was first undertaken in its financing stage, the business area of George St. has made large strides to the Michael Sadlier, director of the Summer Theatre, will be asked if he can arrange such a program should the group open here during the holiday season. The admission charge would presumably be a nominal one.

Park St. Drain Bylaw Ordered Drawn

Building of a concrete drain on the west side of Park St., south of Brioux Ave., is to be financed by the local improvement plan, as recommended to the council by the board of works Monday night. Cost is estimated at $101,890 by City Engineer Chalmers.

It is proposed that 75% of that amount be borne by the corporation of the city; that 2-3 of the rest be assessed against the land on the west side of the street, and one-third against the properties on the east side.

Charge per foot frontage on the west side is computed at $5.15, which in 15 annual instalments at 3¼% is reduced to a charge of 43 93-100 cents per foot during that period.

The charge on the east side is $2.57½ a foot, or 21 96-100 cents per foot annually for 15 years.

The 75% borne by the city amounts to $82,042.72, or $6,997.31 annually for 15 years

A bylaw is to be prepared authorizing this work. It will be suspended after the second reading for an opportunity to the affected property owners to make any objections to the Ontario Municipal Board.

It was recalled that the petition plan last year attracted "about six signatures from some 35 owners."

Last Of Houses Now Occupied

The contractors are now continuing on the 100-house project which they began last year. This subdivision is west of Monaghan Road, extending to Erskine Ave.

Mr. John Wocker of Central Mortgage commented that the people seemed to be very happy about moving into the brand new houses.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

John R Crawford of Philadelphia and I believe that when you have become experienced with the two-handed game of Canasta dealing 15 cards and requiring one canasta to go out, you eventually will want to play the regular game in which 15 cards are dealt but you are required to have 2 canastas to go out.

In this standard game there are some strategic points to learn You do not have to be a mathematician to see that you cannot start more than 2 melds unless you can pick up the pack.

Do not make any meld in two-handed Canasta (if you have been unable to pick up the pack), unless you have 4 or 5 cards of that denomoniation. Then put only 3 of them down. Keep the 4th in your hand, hoping that you will get the 5th one.

Later on your opponent may freeze the pack, and he will think he may have a safe discard in your 3-card meld. Now, holding 2 more of them in your hand, you will be able to pick up the pack.

As soon as you have completed your initial meld, get as many pairs as possible in your hand in two-handed Canasta. Suppose you have 5 sets of pairs, and you have 3 jacks and 3 9s after the draw There probably will be a strong inclination on your part to hold the jacks and 9s.

However, by the time you have shaped out your hand in this fashion, there is probably a pretty good sized discard pile Discard one of the 9s or one of the jacks If you are unable to get the pack on the next round, discard one of the other set of 3 cards. This will not damage your hand.

Suppose that your opponent picks up your 9-spot and melds 3 or 4 of them It is a good thing for you to know that you were both working on the same meld The main thing is, if you keep your hand in pairs, you will be in a better position to grab the discard pile.

Another point to remember in two-handed Canasta is that on the average mathematically, you have to go through 68 cards before the percentages favor your opponent going out concealed

We cannot stress too strongly the importance of getting extra cards into your hand in the early stages of two-handed Canasta Cards are needed to form canastas so that you can score additional points.

Following this line of strategy if you get control of the pack, do not be too anxious to put down all of your melds You may find yourself holding 20 or 30 cards at one time That is how the game was given its name. You need a "basket" to hold so many cards and basket is Spanish in "canasta."

Two-handed Canasta is a game of big wins and sometimes big losses. Do not be afraid of getting caught with a handful of cards They will not add up to a great deal.

If you get into the habit of playing the game so as to get control of the pack, you will make a killing every so often—and when you do, it will double or triple the points you lost when you were caught with a handful of cards

Q—Building up to a canasta must the natural cards always exceed the number of wild cards? For example, do you have to have 2 natural cards and not more than 1 wild card, or 3 natural cards and not more than 2 wild cards?

A—No, that is wrong You must put down 2 natural cards, but you can meld as many as 3 wild cards with them You then would have a 5-card meld and the only thing you could add to that meld would be natural cards until you completed your canasta

LANGUAGES HER HOBBY—Learning languages is the hobby of Mrs. Laurence Steinhardt. The wife of the United States ambassador can speak seven and says the best way to learn a new tongue is to study it where it is spoken. In the last 15 years she has accompanied her husband to Sweden, Peru, Russia, Turkey, France, Czechoslovakia and finally to Canada. Mrs. Steinhardt is seen here with her family's pet dog "Gerry" a Dachshund.

Skilful Linguist Hostess Of U.S. Legation in Ottawa

By KAY REX,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 (CP) — Learning even one new language may mean a lot of hard work for some persons, but Mrs. Laurence Steinhardt finds it just child's play.

The wife of the United States ambassador to Canada has command of seven or eight, including Russian, Spanish, French, Italian and German.

"I suppose you could call learning languages my hobby," she said in an interview, adding that she has found the best way to become familiar with a new tongue is to study it in the country where it is spoken.

She ought to know. In the last 15 years Mrs. Steinhardt has accompanied her husband on his appointments to no fewer than six countries—Sweden, Peru, Russia, Turkey, Czechoslovakia, and finally to Canada a little more than a year ago.

The richly furnished drawing room in the hill-top mansion where the US representative makes his home bears evidence of the American couple's travels.

China ornaments and other bric-a-brac from the four corners of the world sit alongside photographs of the late President Roosevelt, President Truman, and Canada's former Prime Minister, Mackenzie King.

Even the pet dog, "Gerry," has shared in the family's nomadic life. The seven-year-old daschund was acquired by the Steinhardts when they were in Turkey

Canadians Friendly

Mrs. Steinhardt has found that living in Canada is much the same as living at home. She says Canadians are "very friendly and kind" and feels that the world would be a better one if it took as its example the relationship existing between Canada and the United States.

Pretty, with dark eyes and a quick smile, the American envoy's wife probably has seen more of this country than many a Canadian.

Last summer the family motored west, as far north as Alaska and the Yukon. They arrived in Calgary just in time to see the famed Stampede, which Mrs. Steinhardt found "most exciting" particularly the chuck-wagon races and the Indians in their vivid costumes.

Both the ambassador and his wife agree that Jasper is one of their favorite spots. The rugged natural beauty of the surrounding countryside has a particular appeal for them.

They have several pictures of the western trip, some of which were taken by daughter Dulcie Ann, who not only is fond of photography but also is following in the linguistic footsteps of her mother.

This summer the Steinhardts plan a tour of Eastern Canada. Probably as soon as the weather is favorable they will head for the Maritime provinces, and may even go as far as Newfoundland.

Home and School Association News

PCVS HOME AND SCHOOL

The health meeting Monday evening of PCVS Home and School Association left members with a wealth of information about fractures of body bones, which, it is quite possible, may be useful to them at some time. Dr. Donald Whyte, who has taken a special course of instruction in this branch of his work, was the speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. O Laderach, pogram convener.

Dr. Whyte pointed out various types of fractures, what to do when confronted by accident, how fractures are diagnosed and how they are set. He had several sample bones with which he demonstrated the breakages possible and how to re-set them. He also displayed a variety of appliances which are used on patients while the bones heal. He emphasized the importance of X-ray in treating fractures.

"You can't be too dogmatic in this type of lecture," Dr. Whyte said. "People are always coming up with experiences which are contrary to all rules. But, most fractures do heal and respond to treatment in the expected manner."

Mrs. W. G. Gunn expressed appreciation for this very interesting address.

President of the Health League of Peterborough, Mr. George Barns, also addressed the meeting. He advised that a recent survey among children in the city showed that while they are generaly "well fed" they are not necessarily "adequately fed" He explained the purpose of the Health League is to educate the public in matters of nutrition in addition to matters of disease and how to combat it, and urged all those in his audience to join.

Health posters decorated the walls of the classroom and health literature was on display.

Mrs. Cecil Searles, accompanied by Mrs. E. DeNure, gave delightful renditions of "Hills of Home" and "Christopher Robin."

President Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy presided for the meeting. Mrs L. M. Richardson received at the door and Mrs. S. M. Ferguson attended the register.

An increase in membership was reported by Mrs. Richardson with 237 the latest figure Mrs H. W. Johnston, publications convener, drew attention to various periodicals and urged members to take advantage of them A letter from Collegiate teacher Alex Londry thanked the Association for the banquet given the rugby team.

Refreshments were served at the close by the social committee with Mrs. J. Wood in charge.

Ten Best Dressed In Canada Married Women

By Canadian Press

It must be more than a coincidence — all 10 of Canada's best-dressed women are married.

Four combine full-time jobs with homemaking, two have charitable interests which occupy much of their time, and the others concentrate on their families.

The style-setters were chosen by six of Canada's top designers and fashion experts, who formed the group of judges in the third annual poll conducted by New Liberty Magazine.

The list includes women from St. John's, Nfld., to Vancouver Named were: Mrs. Yves Bourassa and Mrs. Murray Vaughan, both of Montreal; Mrs. H. M. Aitken of Toronto and Montreal; Mrs. Kenneth Davidson and Mrs. Robert Mather, both of Vancouver; Mrs. Chesley Crosbie, St. John's; Mrs. Robert Waterman, Halifax; Mrs. Alan Skaith, Mrs. Leighton Elliott, and Mrs. John McKee of Toronto.

In previous years, judges were asked to choose the best-dressed woman in each profession or occupation. But this year's judges were given a freer hand, asked only to select Canada's 10 best-dressed women, no matter in what field they were interested.

The winners were selected from a list of 46 names drawn up by the magazine's judges. The top 10 were not named in order.

Three of the best-dressed are professionally fashion-conscious. Mrs. Bourassa is a radio and film actress; Mrs. Davidson is Vancouver Province's fashion editor and Mrs. Mather, former Powers model from New York, now models in Vancouver.

Mrs. H. Aitken, more familiarly known as Kate Aitken, is a globe-trotter, newspaper woman, women's director of the Canadian National Exhibition and is married to a Toronto chartered accountant.

The two active in welfare work are Mrs. Crosbie and Mrs. Vaughan. Mrs. Robert Waterman is wife of the coadjutor Bishop of Nova Scotia. Mrs. Sarah Skaith, former columnist of The Globe and Mail, has turned her painting hobby to amusing children in hospitals. Mrs. Elliott is president of Toronto Welfare Council and a member of YWCA's national council. Mrs. McKee's hobbies are gardening and raising pet Dalmatians.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Boy Finds Older Woman Was Wrong Choice for Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: Six years ago I became infatuated with a widow ten years my senior. At first, she told me she could never be interested in one so much her junior.

Dorothy Dix

Then I became very ill, and while I was in the hospital she came to see me and promised to marry me when I got well.

Now, after five years, I find the marriage a failure. She has done much to further my interest, paid my debts, keeps her young son away at boarding school, endeavors in every way to retain her youth and good looks, never nags or complains, but I realize that she is too old for me. And to add to the tragedy I have met the one girl in all the world, fifteen years my junior, without whom life seems not worth living. This is the real thing at last, but could any case be more hopeless?

DAN.

ANSWER: I don't see why the case is hopeless. In spite of the one moment of maudlin sentimentality in which she marred you against her better judgment, your wife seems to be a woman of good sense. She knew at the time that the marriage of a boy to a woman ten years older than himself was a poor risk for both parties and seldom brought happiness to either.

Not Really In Love

You see, your wife was not madly infatuated with you when she married you. She was so sorry for you because of your sufferings and anxious to heal them, she let romance and sentiment becloud her judgment.

But the cool, grey light of the morning after must have come to her soon enough and made her realize her mistake when she found that instead of having a man to lean on she had a temperamental and emotionally unstable boy whose debts she had to pay, whom she had to keep entertained and amused and who considered her feelings so little that he demanded the sacrifice of her son to him.

Don't imagine that your wife has been happy. She may have been a good enough sport to stand by her bargain without a whimper. She may never have nagged nor complained, but her heart must have ached for the child she had to send off to school because you didn't want him around. She must have wished a thousand times that she could settle down in peace to being her age instead of having to try to keep up a synthetic girlhood and not look too old for a young husband.

So, Dan, my advice to you is to go frankly to your wife and tell her that you are tired of her and have fallen in love with a young girl, and will she please give you a divorce. I'll bet my new hat that she will hit the first train to Reno, singing a glad song of joy.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband, unlike most men, insists upon my going out in the evenings without him to enjoy myself, but I don't know where to go or what to do. I do office work in the day and in the evenings I love staying at home, cooking, reading, sewing or having friends in occasionally for dinner or cards. My husband enjoys going out alone two or three evenings a week and I like him to do so, but when he comes home and finds that I have stayed at home, he gts cross and says that he is afraid we will have trouble in the years to come because of my not going anywhere. I don't want him to feel that I am lonesome when he is out, or that he shouldn't leave me. Above all, I don't want him to ask me to accompany him to places when he would rather go without me? Any help?

G. M. B.

ANSWER: Not unless you can make your husband see that tastes differ and that you get just as much pleasure out of staying at home as he does out of stepping out.

You are broad enough to let him divert himself in his own way and according to his own idea of pleasure, and he should certainly accord you the same privilege. Of course, it is a pity when husbands and wives do not enjoy the same things and cannot play together, but nothing is gained when one tries to force his or her amusements on the other, nor does it make for the happiness of either when one martyrizes himself or herself to the other's pleasures.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 21 years old and a junior in college, a ministerial student with four years of school ahead of me. Do you think I should seriously consider selecting a wife at college? Should I confine myself to girls who do not dance or engage in worldly pleasures? Do you think the ordinary girl would give them up for me?

ANXIOUS.

ANSWER: A junior in college has no business getting engaged. He is too young and in no position to marry, and this goes double for a young man who is entering the ministry. He should not handicap himself by an early marriage. And whether a girl will give up worldly pleasures for you or not depends upon how much she loves you.

MOVIE COLUMN

Attention Men! Arlene Dahl Wants Husband

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24 (AP).—Here's good news to single men in general, but not actors in particular — Arlene Dahl wants to get married.

"But I won't marry an actor," she remarked. "It just wouldn't work. I want to keep on with my career, and I don't think two acting careers would jibe. I have heard of too many cases that failed.

"Because I want to keep on working, I want a man who is sympathetic to my career. But I want him to be the breadwinner and head of the family. It it's necessary, I'll quit acting."

The fatalistic redhead figures if she gets married this year it will be in June. It's her lucky month. She became a model in June, also made her stage debut, came to Hollywood and signed with MGM in that month. And June is the month for brides.

Odd Notes

Cary Grant is wondering about his forthcoming role in "O Mistress Mine." Alfred Lunt, who did the stage version, assured him that he's perfect for the role. Cary feels that the American public thinks of English cabinet men in the striped-pants, Sir Anthony Eden vein. The actor doesn't think he's the type.

The $1,000,000 Boston robbery has two studios racing to cash in on the publicity: Paramount's "U.S. Mail" and MGM's "The Asphalt Jungle" have similar jobs in their plots.

Warners clamped secrecy on the "Storm Warning" set during filming of a big Ku Klux Klan scene. So what happens? The extras in their bed-sheet costumes trooped across the street to lunch, advertising the news to anyone who passed by.

Mickey Rooney himself reported the kind of roles he'd like in the future: "I like to be sort of an underslung Gable."

Higher Royalties Retard Canadian Drama

HALIFAX, Jan. 24.—(CP). — Amateur theatre has been retarded in Canada mostly because of high tariffs on theatre equipment and high royalties, the Nova Scotia Drama League said Monday.

In a brief presented to the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences, the league said removal or lowering of the tariffs and royalties would provide a big impetus to amateur dramatics.

Aid was needed to help build properly equipped theatres and a Federal Department of Fine Arts might also assist in establishing regional theatre schools for advanced training and scholarships for training promising persons in the theatre arts.

Donald Wetmore, dramatics adviser, division of adult education of the Nova Scotia Education Department, said the small communities were vital to the Canadian amateur theatre, which must concern itself with all the people if it were to have a national character. He added:

"I believe we must concern ourselves seriously with Canadian play-writing. It is fundamental that we Canadians should work on plays that reflect our lives and dignify our way of life and our natural heritage, while at the same time they reassure us, through comedy or drama, of our possibilities and purpose . . . Our urban playwrights are coming of age; but we are in great need of Canadian playrights who understand and enjoy our small communities.

Grandmother 88 Shows Paintings

KITCHENER, Jan. 24—(CP)—The fame of "Grandma" Catherine Wildfang as an artist is beginning to spread outside this southern Ontario city. Though 88 next birthday, she has held two exhibitions of her paintings within the last few months.

Painted in the last 12 years, her canvasses hang in the homes of her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She signs them "mother."

Mrs. Wildfang recalls that her first work in water colors which, when a girl, she created by steeping the color from tinted tissue paper.

Her painting was shelved when she married Noah Wildfang of Tavistock and it was not until after her husband had died and her children had grown up that she started painting again.

Thirty of her pictures were gathered from the homes of relatives for her first exhibition, held recently in the Listowel Public Library. The same pictures were shown again at an exhibit in Moorefield.

CHICAGO DISASTER

In the Chicago fire of 1871, 18,000 buildings were destroyed.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"TELL ME, PRETTY MAIDEN . . . " sang the "Floradora" girls in the year 1900, and the famous double sextette — six men, six women — with its catchy tunes and graceful dancing, became the toast of Broadway. Watch closely and you might catch a glimpse of a shapely ankle through the "fluffy-ruffles" petticoats. There were many, many different "Floradora" girls in the years that followed, most of them beautiful brunettes with shapely, Gibson-girl figures and nice voices. Volumes have been written about how the members of the original sextettes prospered in later life, through judicious marriage or careful attention to the stock market. For years, Granddad got that young feeling when you mentioned the "simple girls (and proper, too)" of the "Floradora" sextette.

What's Right

You are going to a distant on a business trip.

WRONG WAY: Write a friend living in the city saying that you plan to make the visit, hoping that you will be asked to stay at the friend's house.

RIGHT WAY: Make your hotel reservations before writing the friend that you are to be in town. (Those who use their friends' home as hotels soon become a nuisance.)

Marmora News

EDMONTON, Jan. 24 (CP). — A measles epidemic among the Indian and Eskimo population of the Mackenzie Delta region inside the Arctic Circle has taken three more lives, bringing the toll to 10, it was reported here today.

A school at Tuktoyaktuk was set up Monday as an emergency hospital and 20 measles and two pneumonia cases were moved in.

Thirty other emergency cases are being cared for in the Anglican and Roman Catholic mission hospitals at Aklavik and another emergency hospital set up by Dr. K. A. Ward of the Indian Affairs Department at Aklavik.

Only the emergency cases can be treated in hospital because of the shortage of accommodation, but other cases are receiving clinical attention.

Invite Belgium To Atom Talks

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP) — Belgium, whose rich uranium deposits in the Belgian Congo provide the vital element in atomic energy, will join British-American atomic talks, beginning in Washington next Monday.

High diplomatic officials of the three governments will discuss the production and distribution of the Congo uranium, preliminary to a new agreement on sharing the precious ore, it was reliably reported.

Announcement of the conference by a foreign office spokesman here and a simultaneous communique in Brussels said only that the talks would be related to matters of mutual interest in the atomic energy field.

Some of the best uranium ore in the world comes from the Belgian Congo, which has approximately half the world's known supplies.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. J. W. Fairhall (Margaret), of Vancouver, and Mrs. J. Walsh (Hannah) of this city, and two brothers, Ambrose Dorris of Toronto, and Albert M. of Peterborough. Mr. Dorris retired eight years ago after working for many years for the Eastman Kodak Company. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic church.

Funeral will be held from the Anglesey Funeral Home on Thursday to St. Peter's Cathedral at 9 a.m. Burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

George St. Site

south, thereby bringing Rink and Townsend Streets closer to the commercial fringe. Besides, that property is owned by the city, eliminating the purchase of land. Consideration of the Children's Shelter block, opposite King Edward Park, ended on prospective cost of $50,000 to $60,000.

Ald. Adam Sands mentioned that factor last night, and he also said that the comparative costs presented in the tenders were hardly favorable to all the circumstances that might be cited for Rink St.

Probably hoping that the outlook for that location might be less discouraging than the earlier borings and general examination had suggested, the Council decided last year to go over the George St. block again. At that time it was suggested that tenders be invited for the foundation there, and also on what might be called ordinary ground that would bear the load of the Centre.

Messrs. Blackwell and Craig tabulated the essential facts of the five bids from the Ryan firm; George Hardy Limited; Fried Construction Co.; Bradford-Hoshal Ltd.; and Robertson Construction and Engineering.

The following figures show respectively the tenders for the Rink and Townsend site; the alternate site; and the amount of the extra cost at Rink-Townsend, in that order:

Fried Co. — $152,844; $35,358; $117,486.

Bradburd - Hoshal — $172,454; $36,874; $135,580.

Possibly it should be repeated that these figures apply only to the detail of foundation of the Centre.

Ald. Sands said there were only a few available sites in the city for the Centre. Referring to the Ryan company bid, he said the foundation cost would run from $29,492 on what might be called ideal property and $130,000 at Rink St.

"The building committee of the Centre wanted the Exhibition Grounds," Ald. Sands said. "I don't think even it could be called ideal. I'm wondering where you could get the kind of site that is indicated here. I don't think the comparison is too favorable to the George St. property. It is shown up in a very unfavorable light. On the other hand, there is the fact that elsewhere we would have to buy property for the Centre."

Mr. Craig agreed "that Ald. Sands has a point. An alternate site was considered to be about ideal. Possibly on an alternate site that might be selected the $29,492 in the Ryan bid might turn out to be nearer $40,000."

"This is valuable information for us," said Ald. Doug Miller. "It should be sent on to the joint committee of the Centre and the Council."

"It certainly is information I've been wanting," said Ald. H. Dodds, chairman.

The motion asked J. J. Dorris, secretary of the Centre committee, to arrange for the suggested meeting of the joint committee.

Police Question Murder Suspect

WELLAND, Jan. 24 (CP)—Provincial Police today questioned a suspect in the Dec. 17 bludgeon slaying of Sam Delabasich, 47-year-old taxi driver.

The suspect, whose name was not divulged, was picked up in a raid on a Welland district house.

A few hours after a $2,000 reward for information in the case was posted Friday, police received a tip to watch for a certain automobile. The car was found today and the suspect seized.

Delabasich's frozen body was found by four rabbit hunters in a ditch near here eight days after he was reported missing from his taxi stand. At the time it was thought he might have been victim of a "revenge slaying" but police said later they thought robbery was the motive.

Link Robbery With Car Theft

The garage and service station of Charles Flynn of Rockcroft, seven miles north of Buckhorn, was broken into Monday night by a thief or thieves. Value of stolen property has not yet been assessed.

It is known they escaped with a quantity of gasoline from the pump outside the premises but a careful check of the contents of the garage had not been made at press time.

Provincial Police Constables Joseph Hanson and R. Pope are linking this robbery with a car theft at Buckhorn. The car of Earl Hall, which he had left standing outside his residence Monday night, was missing early today.

Another car owned by Bob Dixon of Buckhorn was tampered with, but it is not believed anything was taken.

Mr. Flynn is a former reeve of Harvey.

99 Per Cent of Major Crimes Said Traced To The Home

"Is the criminal worth saving?" was the subject of an address given by Lieutenant Colonel Wallace Bunton, secretary of all prison work for the Salvation Army in Canada at a meeting of the Lion's Club Monday night at the Kawartha Club.

From 1878, when the Salvation Army first became interested in the rehabilitation of prisoners who had served their sentences, the army's answer to the question has been yes, Colonel Bunton said.

Members of the Peterborough police commission, Mayor Max J. Swanston, Magistrate W. R. Philp KC, and Judge Sheldon L. Smoke as well as Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Provincial Police District Inspector C. W. Farrow and Constable John Morrow, past president of the Kawartha Police Association were some of the guests included in the audience.

Colonel Bunton said the Salvation Army's prison gate homes were first brought to Canada in 1889 when one was set up in Toronto near Eglington Ave. and Yonge St. and a short time later in Kingston.

Difficult Task

Colonel Bunton continued that the Salvation Army was first cursed as the "scum of the earth" around prisons and were still thought of as a nuisance on occasion by magistrates and judges. But he said judges and magistrates and crown attorneys together with police forces had an extremely difficult task in protecting society against criminals. They were not appreciated as much as they should be, he said.

He explained that often Salvation Army representatives pleaded for prisoners when they knew magistrates and judges could not possibly place the accused on suspended sentence. The reason for the plea, he said, was to establish contact with the accused people. Then while the prisoners were serving their sentences, they had a better chance of gaining their confidence and thus doing something for them.

"No magistrate nor judge wants to send men to jails or penitentiaries if there's another way out," the Colonel said.

During his years of talking to prisoners and learning their stories and their background he had come to the conclusion that 99 per cent of the major crime committed can be traced to homes. Most of these crimes rape, armed robbery, safe cracking and murder were committed by people between the ages of 16 and 25.

A Sordid Story

In the backgrounds of these young criminals almost invariably was a sordid story of broken homes, common-law wives of husbands and illegitimate children. And very little was being done about it, he declared.

"Character was built in the home, the Colonel said, in spite of the best planned society or the best educational systems. If the home fails to build desirable character in boys and girls, society and schools were fighting a nearly impossible battle.

But in spite of the seemingly impossible task the Salvation Army faced in trying to rehabilitate criminals, it often succeeded he said. He said he could point to scores of ex-convicts who are now doing well, with excellent responsible positions, making good salaries, and raising fine families.

Making Good Progress

Of the 2,250 men and women who were released from prisons across Canada last year, he said, 87 per cent are still doing well and show every indication of continuing to be fine citizens.

The speaker was thanked by James E. Girven. First vice-president Bert Sisson was chairman in the absence of president Jim Marshall.

Other guests at the meeting were Major C. Everitt, Salvation Army officer commanding the Peterborough Division; Major H. Everitt, former chaplain of the Burwash reformatory; Roger Hollinger, former secretary of the Barrie Lions Club; Gordon Powbrook club, and charter member ell, past president of the Mill- George Neiberg, past treasurer of the Avenue Rd. club and his associate Alex Clark; Gordon Blackwell, a guest of Ron Clark, and Bill Tassel, Belleville, guest of George Hildenbrand.

Large Audience Greets Choir In First Concert

By T. J. ALLEN

The newly-formed Peterborough Choral Society's first concert given Monday night in the Collegiate auditorium was astounding. One is filled with an embarrassment of awe at the scope of the vocal program and with wonder at the measure of attainment of choir and its conductor, William Sims.

Let it be cordially said that here was a choir of some sixty voices singing with enthusiam, a considerable body of tone and conscientious effort in a large public performance after being organized only five months. It is a personal achievement of Mr. Sims that he has got together this group of singers, many of them young people new to vocal work, and given them his enthusiasm and the opportunity to sing. To do this takes energy and conviction. Mr. Sims, a recent resident, has cultivated an open field. One can regret that the work was not undertaken earlier.

Oklahoma Pleases

I shall not venture on a detailed criticism. The most successful and very warmly received choral number was the chorus Oklahoma from the musical comedy of that name. Conductor and choir showed in it a thorough familiarity with the rhythm, a sureness in tone and interpretation, and a trained ease. Some of the lesser songs went amazingly well, and delighted the audience.

The major efforts tended to be fortitudinous, on the part of both soloists and choir. It is questionable at the present stage of development of choir and young soloists, whether such difficult tests as "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" and the Samson choruses, were justified, except as semi-private flights before a limited audience of friends.

All In French

The trio and chorus from the final scene of the opera Faust—sung entirely in French, which this reviewer found difficult to take—were given with such intensity that the tension was communicable It is without doubt the first time that such a feat has been attempted in Peterborough. It was very daring, and bespoke arduous practice and large vision.

It must be said of both the choir and the soloists that fault is to be found with voice production phrasing, breathing, enunciation and pronunciation. Under expert tuition this can be rectified

The choir and its soloists reveal a large potential, and individual voices which orthodox church choir leaders may not have believed existed in Peterborough. The soloists showed great promise. Mr. Sims has attracted to his choir voices which have escaped other choir leaders' ears. And he has given regular choristers a new medium.

Expert Instrumentalists.

Gwen Craw and Charles Allen accompanied the choir and soloists, and gave duo recitals, Mrs. Craw at the piano, Mr Allen at the new electric organ—an instrument which the choir is buying and which has characteristics distinct from the virtues of a pipe organ Their technical competence and professional sureness gave a tremendous lift to the program. Mr Allen proved himself to be a master of the Hammond organ and of theatrical organ technique.

The women of the choir were in attractive, uniform black and white, the men in dark suits, the soloists in evening dress. Choir books were covered by pleasing red boards. The concert began in good, suave professional style and on time. Thereafter, Mr. Jack Smith, veteran local chorister and president of the Choral Society announced each number in his own familiar style, so that the audience did not need to consult the ample printed programs He successfully interjected a homely note. One unprinted item on the program, received with prolonged applause, was Bob King's singing, in Harry Lauder style, of The Road to the Isles.

The audience, by the way, virtually filled the large auditorium

Enthusiastic applause at the end of the program was cut short because the audience did not quite know how to respond after standing for the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Here is the full program:

Finlandia (Dear Land of Home)—Jean Sibelius.

Contralto solo—"My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (Saint-Saens), Elva Bennett.

SWEEP 'ER, JOCK—Youngsters participating in the "jam-pail" bonspiel at Lakeview school in Regina use all the gestures and expressions of big-time curlers. With their cement-filled jam tins and worn-out brooms, the boys fill in recess periods with three ends of curling which lead to school championships and playoffs against other schools.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Jam-tin curling has become the rage in Regina junior grade schools.

Old-time curlers—those who use both the irons and the granites—probably will raise their eyebrows but there's no need for alarm. The jam-tin will never replace the rock. The kids just use them because they can't afford the regular granites, and the tins are more practical on their undersized ice sheets.

An ordinary jam tin filled with cement it serves the purpose for 120 pupils at the Lakeview School who have taken the lead in this new form of the ancient Scottish game.

The boys and girls ranging from 12 to 15 years at recesses and take the game every bit as seriously as their older counterparts participating in Canadian championships. They have their own inter-school bonspiel.

The Reynold's five pin team of Stratford, Ont., may be disappointed with this news. They believe they had rolled up a Canadian record Saturday with a total of 1,569 pins in one game.

But the record books surveyed at Vancouver Monday showed that this score has twice been beaten officially in Vancouver.

On Dec. 11, 1942, the St. Regis squad, in the Senior City Five Pin League, shot an aggregate of 1,593 in one game. This was beaten Jan. 19, 1946 when the Seymour Recreations All-Stars posted a total of 1,672 in a match game.

Former lightweight champion Sammy Angott took a big step up the comeback trail at Baltimore Monday night as he scored a technical knockout over Clem Custer of Detroit in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

Ottawa Rough Riders may be after the elusive Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice, star North Carolina football backfielder, but the prospects do not appear too bright for the Interprovincial Football Union club.

Justice could not be reached at New York Monday night for comment on the Ottawa offer, but he has turned down repeated bids by pro clubs in the United States during recent weeks. The all-America star has said he will continue his medical career.

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League announced Monday that they would televise 12 of their remaining 14 home games. Only one Ranger game has been televised previously this season and that was on a sustaining basis. The telecast of the 12 games will be sponsored.

CANADIAN DELEGATION HEAD—Raymond Eudes, Liberal member of parliament for Montreal Hochelaga, will lead the Canadian delegation to the 10th session of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations opening in New York Feb. 7.

Mathews Says Liberals Happy Alternative

TORONTO, Jan. 24 (CP)—Norman L. Mathews, president of the Ontario Liberal Association, said Monday night that the Liberal party is the happy alternative to either the CCF or Progressive-Conservative parties.

In a free-time broadcast over the CBC, he said that the present Progressive-Conservative government was on the way out.

"We believe it is time that the taxpayer received a break," he said, "... we believe it is about time our system of education be sifted and brought completely up to date..."

He said the outstanding cause for complaint against the present lack of action in regard to education. The Royal Commission was set up almost five years ago and up to March a year ago, it cost the province $156,000 with little to show for it," he said

Raps Police 'Intimidation'

TORONTO, Jan. 24—(CP)—Mr. Justice J. B. Aylesworth reserved jurgment Monday on the appeal of a man convicted of manslaughter, criticized the "intimidation" police used in getting a "voluntary" statement.

Ralph Howlett, 27, of Petrolia, was acquitted of murder but convicted of manslaughter in the death of 63-year-old Harry Brown. Brown's body, the head battered with a bottle, was found in the Petrolia town hall boiler-room.

"I don't think 'intimidation' is too strong a word to describe police action in the case," said Mr. Justice Aylesworth. He expressed concern "over the manner in which police harassed the accused until he gave a 'voluntary' statement."

EXPELLED BY CZECHS—Cpl. J. G. Vanier, 28, is one of two RCAF men expelled from Czechoslovakia. Cpl. Vanier, whose home is in Rochebaucourt, Que., and Sgt. Morgan said. He inferred that somebody directly in charge of maintaining property might be inclined unconsciously to exaggerate depreciation and damage.

The stage curtains that were hung over the windows of the kindergarten, contrary to instructions, originally cost about $1,200. If the tacks were removed from them now and they were given a cleaning the bill would amount to about $60, he said, and dam-Irwin estimated the loss at $150-age would be about $100. Murray $200.

"Two seats were broken in August and they are still not fixed," Dr. Morgan stated as he made a brief review of the damaged items. "These seats should not remain as a monument to those who broke them."

About 16 tiles in the hallway could be replaced.

"I don't think the amount of damage was as great as previously estimated," he said, summing up. "I don't blame Mr. Wightman for that estimate, as I say, it all depends on the viewpoint."

Capital Charges

Some other items that had previously been included to make the $200 figure—such as the bringing up of an electric service from the basement of the school ($100) and purchase of a chemical fire extinguisher ($40)—could be considered capital expenditures and not necessarily chargeable to the Summer Theatre, Dr. Morgan contended.

Mr. Craw explained that the fire underwriters now demanded a boosted premium because of the particular use of the auditorium. Two policies were open to the Board: a general increase of $360 over a three-year period and covering all schools or a specific policy for the two-month term at the Queen Mary auditorium.

The cost of a special policy would be more than the one bringing in the whole school system, he said, because it would be computed on a different basis—on a theatre rating.

As chairman of the Finance Committee Mr. Craw recommended the special policy despite its added cost instead of an increased rate under the blanket policy on all the schools. This matter must still be discussed by the Finance Committee at a later date.

Introduced Report

In introducing the $200-recommendation of Supervision Committee, chairman Dr. Matthews said the committee appreciated the value of the Summer Theatre and their performances here. They had made a contribution to the cultural life of the city.

The "exasperation" of the Board was due to "the lack of responsibility toward the Board's property and lack of respect for the rights of nearby residents."

Referring to the report of the Supervision Committee, he conceded that restrictive conditions had been proposed. This was to curb any recurrence of "irresponsibility" he said.

"I don't think it was our intention to impose conditions making it prohibitive for the Summer Theatre to come to Peterborough," continued Mr. Matthews. "It is only when a school is being used that the taxpayer has a chance of getting back anything on his investment."

Personally he was quite willing to review the $200 weekly rental with a view to reducing it, he said, and if a subsidy were required he thought that "reasonable."

Mrs. Rowell asked if it were within the power of the Board to subsidize any one group.

"I don't think we have that right," replied Chairman Frank Jobbitt, but he said he would like legal advice before giving a definite reply.

The posting of a $500 bond was considered an effective way of ensuring the Theatre group kept damage to a minimum, the members agreed. Agreement was less easy on the conditions that should be attached to it, and the drafting of it was left in the hands of the solicitor.

That $125 is still a matter of conjecture," commented Stanley Adamson, but he voted along with the amendment.

General Conditions

Following are some of the general conditions laid down by the Board:

The auditorium and kindergarten will be available between June 30 and September 4. When the rooms are evacuated they must be in condition for the children to occupy.

Keys of the auditorium are to be in the hands of the Board's representative who will see the building is locked and vacated by midnight.

Sunday activity is to be kept to a minimum and so is the noise.

School materials and equipment must not be used without specific permission.

Theatre fixtures must not be installed in such a way as to leave disfiguring marks when removed.

The Board will depute authority to one of its employees in accordance with the contract.

Mr. Craw and Mr. Jobbitt both deplored the unbusinesslike way the Theatre had been run in 1949

Mr. Craw said he had asked Michael Sadlier for a financial statement of operation during the summer to be available in time for Monday night's meeting. Although Mr. Sadlier had been agreeable to this the statement had not arrived.

Mr. Jobbitt asked: "How does the public know the Theatre couldn't afford $200 a week. Has anyone spoken to Mr. Saddlier?"

Dr. Honey said he had a telephone conversation with the Theatre manager, in an unofficial capacity, and learned that the $200 rental would prevent the group from returning.

"It's a wonder Mr. Sadlier hasn't been around to see the Board and talk over these matters." concluded Mr. Jobbitt.

Since the Supervision Committee recommended the $200 rental to the Board on January 13 the fee has been a controversial one

A number of letters, mainly pro Summer Theatre, have been written to the Examiner and Board members received numerous inquiries from interested citizens.

38 Organizations Campaign To Keep Mill

ESPANOLA, Jan. 24—(CP)—Thirty-eight Espanola organizations are campaigning for government intervention to keep the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company paper mill here in operation after April 4.

The mill, main industry in this Northern Ontario town 40 miles southwest of Sudbury, is threatened with closure by an injunction requiring the company to stop polluting the Spanish River with mill waste.

Each of the 38 Espanola organizations was represented at a mass meeting Sunday night under the sponsorship of the Espanola Citizens Committee. The committee was formed after Espanola citizens learned of the possibility the mill would be closed.

The committee is headed by W. J. McLaughlin as chairman, Andrew Ellis is vice-chairman and Hing Young, secretary.

Ask Law Rescinded

John A. Fullerton, member of the Ontario legislature for Algoma-Manitoulin riding in which Espanola is located, told the meeting that special representations should be made to the federal government for the rescinding of the old English law which dealt with pollution of rivers and streams, and under which the injunction was granted.

"This is the law which actually affects the situation here and should be brought to the attention of federal authorities," Mr. Fullerton said.

Jim Fleure, a member of the committee emphasized that every organization represented at the meeting should prepare letters to the government, asking that the KVP company mill be allowed to continue in operation.

Youth Given Year In Shopbreaking Case

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 24—(CP)—One of three London youths convicted of shopbreaking last week was sentenced to one year definite and six months indefinite in an Ontario reformatory by Magistrate Donald Menzies Monday.

Sentenced was William Wheatley, 17, of London. The court was told he was already on probation for six theft charges in Woodstock.

His two companions James Benjamin, 18, and George Newman, 16, were placed on one year's probation.

Pensions Commission Collects Material For Dozens Of Stories

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 (CP).—Without more than a touch of surprise, Canada's Pensions Commission recently came up against the case of a conscience-stricken theological student.

He had been awarded a war pension because he lost part of a limb in grenade practice overseas. In the midst of post-war university studies, he began to brood. He concluded the accident was his fault, that the state shouldn't have to pay for what he considered his own negligence.

The Commission — 14 veterans of frontline service — studied the case and his protests and rejected them. They wrote him that he would never have been throwing grenades overseas if he had not volunteered to serve his country anywhere. They said his pension should be continued. They told him not to worry.

Strange Stories

Enough stories flow across the commissioners' desks to provide plots for shelves of novels. An average of 200 new claims face them daily. They are constantly making readjustments in existing pensions.

The pensions they and their predecessors have awarded now cost Canada more than $100,000,000 a year and go to nearly 200,000 men, women and children, the maimed, the widowed, the fatherless and the orphaned of two wars.

Behind their awards are tales of magnificent courage, of service, good and bad, of family complexities that are involved, raw, tragic, human and multitudinous. Pictures of men in lifeboats, or men on patrols, of flaming aircraft, of fluke accidents at home are constantly before them.

Wait 31 Years

Even now, 31 years after, veterans of the First World War still are applying for pensions and getting them; men now in their fifties or sixties who find themselves bothered for the first time by troubles rooted in their service long ago or men who for the first time need financial aid.

Any veteran can apply for pension, and the Veterans' Department has established an elaborate system of hearings, of medical inspection and help for the applicant in preparing his submission. Groups from the board travel the country to hold regional hearings.

One factor they find strange is the failure of many pensioners to claim separate allowances for their families. A 100 per cent pensioner with a wife and three children, for instance, is entitled to $171 a month — $94 for himself, $31 for his wife, $19 for the first child, $15 for the second, $12 for the third. If he were a 10 per cent pensioner, the total would be $17.10.

Confesses Old Theft

TORONTO, Jan. 24 — (CP) — More than three years after theft of 2,000 from a Toronto fuel oil company, Alfred Crapps, 28, gave himself up to Winnipeg police. Monday he was remanded to Jan. 30 for sentence, when he appeared in court.

In a statement to police Crapps admitted taking the money. He said his wife was ignorant of the theft. Later he quit his job and visited Hamilton and Niagara Falls before going to the United States.

He said he did not plan on surrendering until he returned to Canada and found he was the father of a baby 2½ years old.

Archaic British Laws Booby Trap Budding M.P.'s

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, Jan. 24 (CP).—The archaic laws of England provide a maze of constitutional booby traps for would-be members of Parliament.

A candidate may be elected in Britain's general election, then find himself disqualified from sitting at Westminster because of some inconsequential transgression of a law passed in the days of Good Queen Bess.

For instance, a firm with which a candidate has some connection, however remote, might have sold some paper clips to the Ministry of Works. Or, as a public service, he might have accepted membership in some organization technically known as "an office of profit under the Crown." These would bar him from the Commons.

At the 1945 general election Sir Hartley Shawcross, who as Attorney-General has been the Government's chief legal officer, came within an ace of breaking the law. Two days before polling he discovered his chairmanship of the Catering Wages Commission disqualified him from a seat in the House. He resigned just in time.

Others Not So Lucky

Not so lucky were a number of others who first won election, then discovered their transgressions. Special legislation had to be passed in each case of protect these members from possible penalties.

Three remedial bills were passed during the last Parliament. One of them concerned two Labor members, J. J. Robertson and J. B. Hynd, who had accepted appointments to the General Medical Council, an advisory body on medical education.

Although in years past many members of Parliament, mainly Conservatives, had served on the council, someone discovered belatedly that Robertson and Hynd had violated a statute passed in 1707. The only "profit" the members received was five guineas (16.25) for each meeting they attended.

Other Cases

Another case on which Parliament had to act involved Albert Evans, Labor member for Islington West. It turned out that the stationery firm in which Evans is a partner had sold a small quantity of labels to the Home Office. This, it was discovered, violated a 1782 Act disqualifying as an M.P. anyone making a "contract" with the public service.

Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross described the disqualifying laws as "not only obsolete but clearly absurd." The remedial bills only protect offending members from penalty, do not remove the original laws from the Statute Book.

Eight years ago a select committee of the House recommended a modernization of the law. But as yet Parliament hasn't got around to tacking the question as a whole.

Fence Completed Round Apsley Church

APSLEY, Jan. 24 (ENS).—The annual vestry meeting of St. Andrew's Anglican Church, Owenbrook, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mace. Mr. D. Hesler, the minister, presided.

Reports showed good progress made during the year.

The first fence completely encircling the church was finished during the year.

The following was the result of the election of officers:

Rector's Warden, Jas. Walke; People's Warden, John Mace; Lay delegate to Synod, Mr. Cuttle; alternate, Kenneth Mace; Chairman for Church Extension Fund campaign, Jas. Walke; Organist, Donald Hester; Sunday School Supt., Mrs. George Robson; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. Jas. Walke.

An increase was voted for the minister's stipend. Lunch was served at close of meeting by members of WA.

Smuggling Potatoes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Like carrying coals to Newcastle, Canadian smugglers are slipping potatoes into Maine, of all places. Their objective, United States customs bureau officials told a House of Representatives Appropriations Sub-Committee, is to get higher prices for potatoes under the U.S. government's price support program.

$5,000 Bail Set For McNichole

GUELPH, Jan. 24 — (CP) — Charged with unlawfully trading in securities, Leo M. McNichole, 42, of Toronto, Monday was remanded for three weeks with bail set at $5,000.

Hugh D. Foster special prosecutor for the Ontario Securities Commission, said he was asking for heavy bail because of the accused's record and because the Commission is contemplating laying more serious charges.

McNichole was arrested in Toronto Saturday and charged with selling from $25,000 to $40,000 worth of shares in Alberta oil leases without being registered as a salesman. He is said to have made the sales around Guelph, Kitchener and Acton, Ont.

OAKVILLE, Jan. 24—(CP)—Asleep and covered with snow, 10-year-old Roy Pasguan was found today on the highway here, 25 miles west of his Toronto home. He had been missing since Saturday.

Constable Harry Wilson said a red cap showing through the snow in the centre boulevard of the Queen Elizabeth Way caused him to investigate.

The lad said he had run away from home because his father "gave me a licking."

Favor Province Standardizing Daylight Saving

On recommendation of the Legal and Legislative Committee, Peterborough County Council at the January session concurred in three resolutions from other counties.

Council agreed with a communication from Simcoe that the Ontario government be requested to standardize daylight saving time. It was pointed out in the Simcoe resolution that the varying times caused considerable confusion last year.

Another was a Middlesex resolution that legislation be passed providing compensation for damage to motor vehicle and occupants as a result of deer running at large on public highways.

Reeves Glen Nichols and Warden Norman Wilson, from Chandos and Burleigh-Anstruther respectively, made the motion. Both cited instances to their personal knowledge of drivers having their cars damaged by stray deer on highways.

Council also agreed to endorse a Hastings resolution requesting the Ontario government pay 100 per cent of all hospitalization costs for poliomyelitis patients.

Hiss Given 5 Years For Perjury

Will Appeal Case As Sentence Imposed on 2 Counts

NEW YORK, Jan. 25 —(AP)— Alger Hiss, former United States State Department official, today was sentenced to five years in federal penitentiary after conviction on perjury charges.

Hiss was convicted on the perjury counts last Saturday by a jury of eight women and four men. He was not fined.

Hiss had denied slipping secret state papers to a pre-war Russian spy ring.

Hiss' defence counsel has said the case will be appealed to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

The next step for appeal beyond the Circuit Court would be to the United States Supreme Court.

Judge Goddard set bail at $10,000 pending appeal.

On Two Counts

The five-year term was imposed on each of two counts, the terms to run concurrently. Maximum sentence could have been five years imprisonment on each count and $2,000 fine on each count.

The jury held that Hiss lied when he denied passing secret state department documents to Whittaker Chambers, self-styled courier for a Communist spy ring and lied again when he denied seeing Chambers after Jan. 1, 1937.

Judge Goddard denied a defence request that the 45-year-old Hiss not be imprisoned saying:

"This should be a warning that a crime of this character may not be committed with impunity."

Choke Cabbie Rob Him Of $15

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 25—(CP)—Police across western Ontario are searching for two men who choked a London taxi driver into submission early today, robbed him of $15 and left him tied on a sideroad two miles west of Delaware.

The driver, Roy Masters, 23, freed his feet and walked 1½ miles to No. 2 highway where a transport driver untied his hands.

The taxi was recovered by provincial police on the bank of the Thames River, south of No. 2 highway on the Kent-Middlesex county line, five hours after Masters was dumped from the vehicle.

Owen Sound Factory Destroyed By Fire

OWEN SOUND, Jan. 25 (AP)—Monahan Modern Craftsmen, one of Owen Sound's newest factories, was almost completely gutted by fire early today. No estimate of loss was available but it likely will be over $10,000.

Cause of the fire is not known.

The plant, producing kitchen sink units, employed 10 men. Owner is William Monahan, Jr. His father, Capt. William Monahan, led the Owen Sound fire brigade in a three-hour battle with the flames.

Ottawa Has Plan To Support Egg Price

Believe Cabinet Has Approved Price of Between 32-40 Cents Dozen

OTTAWA, Jan. 25 (CP). — A plan under which the government will support the price of eggs on the Canadian market likely will be announced within the next few days, an agricultural source disclosed today.

The Cabinet, which had the question of price support for eggs under consideration for more than a month, is believed to have approved the principle of bolstering falling egg prices and has asked the Agriculture Department to work out details.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who has been besieged by letters and telegrams from farmer groups demanding egg floor prices, is understood to be preparing an announcement.

Made Shortly

It likely will be made within the next few days or at the opening of the annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. The meeting will be held at Niagara Falls, Ont., next Monday.

Although the price at which the government will support eggs was not disclosed, it is understood to be somewhere between 32 and 40 cents dozen for Grade-A large. In the United States the American Government has announced its intention to maintain egg prices at 37 cents a dozen.

By setting a price below the US level, the government could be more certain of meeting competition in the event that Canadian producers attempt to sell in the American market.

Canada To Share A-Secrets

OTTAWA, Jan. 25—(CP)—A tripartite agreement on substantial long-range importance to Canada's atomic effort should be approved by the United States, United Kingdom and Canada within a month. From the Canadian standpoint the important thing is the prospect of release of a considerably bigger flow of information from the United States' vast and expensive laboratories and experiments than has been the case for the last few years.

No immediate or specific consequence is anticipated, officials say, other than that sort of widened exchange of views which scientists consider the essential forum for the best work in any field.

Since the U.S. Congress passed the McMahon Act in 1946, atomic information has been allowed out of the U.S. in only a certain number of fields.

That act, or parts of it, would apparently have to be repealed before any agreement could function fully.

Canada's role in the months-long tri-nation talks leading up to the working arrangement now in prospect has not been a particularly active one.

They were apparently initiated by the U.K. on the question of atomic weapons and were primarily military in character. Reports from Washington indicate that the U.S. will be the sole Western producers of A-bombs but that Britain will work on other weapons and will have some A-bombs stored on her soil.

Mild Spell Now Extends Over Most of Ontario

By The Canadian Press

From the Maritimes to the Pacific Coast winter threw a full bag of tricks at Canadians today. A snowstorm was moving into the Maritimes; Ontario had heavy snow in some parts; freezing rain in others; the west was bracing itself against sub-zero cold after one of the winter's heaviest snowfalls. The snow had already reached Yarmouth, N.S., Tuesday night and was expected today in the rest of Nova Scotia and in New Brunswick. The snow reached blizzard proportions for a short spell at Montreal, where traffic was tied up and the Dorval Airport was closed with visibility at only 600 feet late Tuesday. A fall of eight inches and more was expected at Montreal.

Ottawa had one of its heaviest snowstorms of the winter, with drifts three feet deep in some sections. By Tuesday night the fall had changed to a freezing drizzle with rising temperatures.

Highways Bad

The snow and freezing rain made highways hazardous throughout Ontario and at Van Wagner's Beach, near Hamilton, 50 lakeside cottages and a hotel were threatened by high waves weakening the shoreline. One cottage had already been swept into the lake but its occupants were safe.

The warmer air brought fog at London and other points in western Ontario after a steady rain. The London and Port Stanley Railway resumed normal service after being disrupted for several hours Tuesday by icing conditions on the electric road. Windsor had rain and fog also, with the mercury rising to 40 degrees late Wednesday.

Unseasonable mildness was promised for today with the mercury expected to reach a maximum of 55 degrees at Windsor, 50 at London and St. Catharines, 45 at Toronto.

Still Cut Off

VANCOUVER, Jan. 25 (CP)—Virtually cut off from the rest of Canada by snow storms and prolonged cold, the Pacific Coast area today had little hope that the Arctic-like weather would break.

Six persons have died, train and road communications have been almost at a standstill, schools have been closed, and city streets clogged with snow after the worst storm of the winter.

Mercy Mission Reaches Tragic Climax

NORTH BAY, Jan. 25 (CP)—Armand Milani, 22-year-old Italian immigrant and brother of Camillo D. Milani, North Bay lumber and plywood operator, died in hospital here early today.

His death was a tragic climax to a mercy mission Tuesday in which a tractor-train, airplane, railway, motor car and ambulance were called into service in an effort to get him to hospital, after he suffered a severe skull fracture when struck by a falling tree at his brother's lumber camp at Mulock, about 20 miles north of North Bay on the Ontario Northland Railway.

Although the Mulock camp is only 20 miles from North Bay, it is inaccessible by road, and a complex mercy mission was necessary to get the injured man to hospital.

A plane carrying Pilot Tod Wilson and Dr. J. Fry and Camillo Milani, took off in a blinding snowstorm from the Trout Lake base.

Too Small

Wilson managed to set the plane down on a frozen swamp near the camp. Shortly after the trio met a party which was taking the injured man to the plane on a tractor-drawn sleigh.

Unfortunately, the swamp was not long enough to allow the plane to take off with a heavy load. Wilson barely managed to clear the tree tops after he attempted the run five times. Dr. Fry remained with the injured man to administer emergency treatment.

Returning to the base, Wilson phoned Provincial Police who in turn got in touch with Ontario Northland Railway authorities. It was planned to bring the injured man to North Bay by train. In

Brink's Holdup Uniforms Found

CLEVELAND, Jan. 25 (CP) — Police found seven uniforms belonging to the Brink's money transportation firm in a deserted house here and indicated a gang may have planned to use them in a repetition of the $1,500,000 robbery of the Brink's office in Boston last Tuesday night.

Detectives also reported finding burglary tools and rolls of green friction tape besides the uniforms.

Although a country-wide manhunt has been under way for the gunmen in the Boston robbery, they still are at large.

Detectives said they understood seven men, one a former member of the notorious Detroit "Purple Gang," had fled the house shortly before last night's raid.

Death Toll Reaches 9 In Toronto Plant Fire

TORONTO, Jan. 25 — (CP) — Death toll in last Friday's Phillips Garment factory fire stood at nine today with the death in hospital Tuesday night of Abraham Wersberg and Mrs. Priva Neiman.

Both had been unconscious since being dragged from the basement room in which they worked in the dowtown Richmond Street building.

Because the deaths of the nine victims have been attributed to suffocation and not burns, Prof. Joselyn Rogers, provincial chemical analyst, is taking blood tests of the first victim. His findings will be presented to a public inquest into the tragedy Feb. 1.

All of the persons trapped in the basement factory by the fire now have died.

Fire Destroys Lodge

STE. AGATHE, Que., Jan. 25—(CP)—A fire, started by the explosion of two basement furnaces, Tuesday night gutted the Normandy Lodge at nearby Trout Lake and caused injuries to three persons. Damage was expected to exceed $200,000.

House Now Cleared of Ghost Vicar Says After Rites

BRISTOL, England, Jan. 25 — (Reuters)—While crowds waited outside a Victorian stone house under a spooky quarter-moon, the Vicar of St. Anne's church here Tuesday night exorcised "The Bristol Ghost," which has been haunting 13 Highworth Road.

The house had been haunted for six months, ever since Mrs. William Baber, the wife of the occupant, defied a traditional ban by opening up a box room that had been closed for 16 years.

Rev. Francis Maddock, 35-year-old Church of England clergyman, said after a half-hour service inside the house: "If there was a ghost of an old lady in a bonnet and long black clothes, with a halo around her head, she has disappeared after my ancient rites."

At 7 p.m. the four-roomed two-storey house was in darkness, its yellow curtains drawn.

Half an hour later the Vicar and his two servers, the brims of their hats pulled down, made a dash through photographers' flash bulbs into the house.

Baber, 39-year-old decorator whose 34-year-old wife and six-year-old daughter Shirley are "nervous wrecks" after being haunted for six months, were waiting in the darkness inside.

Then, one by one, the lights were turned on as the Vicar went about each room with appropriate prayers taken, he said, from ancient sources going back to the earliest days of Christianity

The prayers were in English. No incense or holy water was used.

Fire Razes Block At Thornhill

Phone Girls Rouse Sleeping Villagers As Flames Threaten

THORNHILL, Ont., Jan. 25 (CP)—Fire spurred by a strong east wind early today destroyed the ancient Thornhill Hotel and four stores in the heart of this village 10 miles north of Toronto. Fire reels from Toronto and Aurora, a few miles north of here, aided in bringing the swift conflagration under control about two hours after its outbreak just after midnight. There were no reports of any injuries. Property loss was expected to be heavy. Destroyed were the 150-year-old, two-storey frame hotel; Harley's Drug Store the Answell Lumber Company Findlay's Barber Shop and The Petrolane Bottle Gas Company store.

The fire apparently started in the Answell Lumber Yards and spread rapidly. Firemen had to jump water from a creek about 1,000 yards distant from the blaze but before dawn were able an announce the fire was under control while they continued soaking the embers of the buildings on the west side of the Yonge Street Highway.

At the heighth of the blaze the flames leaped across the highway, forcing telephone operators from the exchange on the other side of the street. But before they were forced to leave their switchboard the girls had roused many persons in the village and hundreds helped in removing furniture and belongings from the threatened buildings.

Pile Goods On Walks

Some occupants escaped to their night clothing and store goods and furniture was piled along the sidewalk until firemen gave the all-clear signal and occupants returned with their goods.

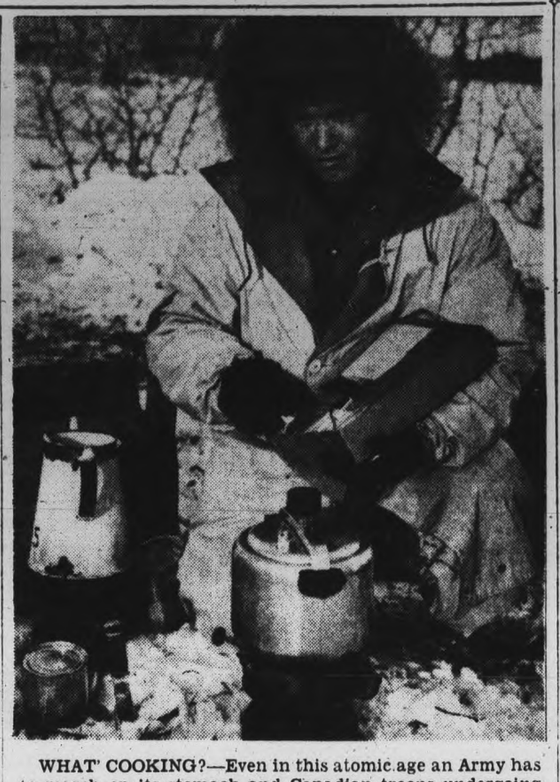
Mae Henderson and Shirley Thompson, the telephone operators on duty, placed calls for help to surrounding municipalities even while flames whipped against the windows of their office building. At 1:15 a.m they had reported "it's getting pretty hot here now. We can't get very many lines out. Telephone lines are down all over the village."

The old hotel, which fell rapidly to the flames, was owned by Nelson Grinnell. He recently purchased it from Sandy Findlay who had owned it for half a century.

A recent report by the Ontario Fire Marshal's department condemned the fire-fighting equipment in Thornhill village.

Woman Wins Tax Appeal

OTTAWA, Jan. 25 — (CP). — The Income Tax Appeal Board has ruled that a woman, living apart from her husband, should not be required to pay income tax on any moneys paid by the father of her children and intended only for the maintenance of the children.



The ruling was made by the board in upholding an appeal of Mrs. Eileen G. MacFarlane of Toronto against a Revenue Department assessment on her 1946 income tax. The judgment, brought down January 17, was released today.

The board ruled that Mrs. MacFarlane's taxable income for 1946 should be reduced by $775 and the assessment for the income tax varied accordingly.

The board judgment said in part that where maintenance is provide for a wife without children, or where maintenance is provided for both the wife and children, then caintenasce would be considered as forming part of the wife's taxable income.

"If however, as in this case, the wife receives nothing for herself, it would be going too far .....to interpret this section as permitting the wife to be taxed on an amount in which she has no beneficial interest and which she draws only for the benefit of her children."

Will Cut Taxes In Britain If Elected—Conservatives

LONDON, Jan. 25—(AP)—Winston Churchill's Conservatives have promised to run Britain's welfare state more economically, with less rationing and an end to nationalization if they are elected Feb. 23. The party manifesto, issued a week after that of Prime Minister Attlee's Labor party, pledges to maintain the country's huge National Health Plan and other social services, but at the same time cutting taxes.

The campaign platform is aimed principally at stopping the present regime's socialist trend. It also calls for encouragement to American and British investors in the colonies as a source of income.

It pledges close co-operation with the United States to help "all countries in Europe, Asia or elsewhere to resist the aggression of Communism."

Cheaper Production

Noting that United States Marshall-Plan aid is due to end in 1952, the Conservative platform calls for cheaper production at home and a Commonwealth economic conference to promote dollar-earning exports.

"We shall bring nationalization to a full stop here and now," the manifesto says.

It promises to repeal the Labor-sponsored law which is scheduled to put British iron and steel industries under state ownership Jan. 1, 1951.

Standing for private enterprise, it opposes the Labor party's proposal to nationalize sugar, cement, meat, wholesaling and waterworks.

Wherever possible, the party would offer to sell nationalized truck lines and bus and streetcar lines back to their original private owners.

Union Force Of 50 Combs Sudbury

SUDBURY, Jan. 25—(CP)—Fifty men visited every Sudbury beverage room Tuesday night, asking startled drinkers whether they were organizers for the Canadian Congress of Labor Steelworkers of America (CIO).

In its sweep of the city, the squad travelled in a caravan of automobiles led by the shiny station wagon of Local 598 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, expelled from the CCL for its alleged leftist leanings. As far as could be determined, it found no organizers.

In a few cases, it was reported that the group was told to mind its own business. One customer in a downtown beverage room loudly denounced one of the group leaders as a Communist.

The hunt apparently was touched off by a newspaper advertisement Tuesday announcing that the CCL had given the Steelworkers' Union the task of organizing miners and smelter workers.

Will Give MP's a Break Won't Pay Double Postage

OTTAWA, Jan. 25 — (CP) — Members of parliament won't have to worry about paying double postage on unstamped letters sent to the House of Commons by people who don't know that franking privileges are not in effect now.

Franking—the right of members to receive and send letters free—doesn't come into operation until 10 days before each session of parliament. That means people should wait until Feb. 6 before sending unstamped letters to members.

However, Postmaster E. W. Corkett of the Commons post office said today that the unstamped letters will be held at the parliament buildings until the members arrive in the capital. By that time the franking privileges should be in effect again and they won't have to pay the double postage normally required on unstamped letters.

Mr. Corkett said the majority of the letters are postage paid. These are sent to the member's home.

He remarked that there is not an unusual number of unstamped letters despite the campaign by the United Steelworkers of America (CCL-CIO) to swamp members with coupons demanding abolition of the means test on old-age pensions.

The coupons, being printed in daily ewspapers, ask people to sign them and send them to their member. Evidently unaware that franking privileges do not apply at present, the coupons point out that no stamps are necessary.

Negotiations Break Off This Morning

Reuther Says Firm Squeezing Union On Pensions Plan

DETROIT, Jan. 25 —(AP)— Chrysler workers marched out on strike at 10 a.m. EST, today after six months of futile negotiations over a pensions plan.

The United Automobile Workers (CIO) ordered its 89,000 Chrysler Corporation members to "hit the bricks" immediately after negotiations broke off at 9.45 a.m.

UAW President Walter Reuther said the strike was called because the company would not agree to grant a package of benefits worth 10 cents an hour for each worker.

Although Chrysler had offered a $100-month pension plan, the pattern this year in heavy industry, the union objected to the terms.

The company insisted that it be permitted to operate the plan on a pay-as-you-go basis. The UAW demanded that a jointly administered trust fund be set up with the company putting in a set amount for each hour worked.

Hit Dealers Too

The walkout will affect a total of 110,000 Chrysler workers in 25 plants across the United States. It will also hit an estimated 65,000 to 100,000 employees of suppliers and dealers.

Mr. Reuther said the company wanted to leave itself clear to "jerk the string" at a later date by basing the pensions on its promise to pay.

Herman Weckler, Chrysler general manager, claimed Chrysler's plan was as good or better than any the CIO has won.

Reuther said the company was trying to "squeeze out" of the pension set-up in effect within the steel industry and at Ford Motor Company. In those industries, labor won trust fund arrangements.

It took a strike to bring a steel settlement last year but there was no walkout at Ford.

Charges Russia Absorbs China

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The United States State Department made new charges today that Russia is absorbing four of China's richest northern areas.

Supporting State Secretary Dean Acheson's recent accusations, the department issued a detail "background document" which said that Russia's designs were in part supported by "two secret agreements signed by the Chinese Communists with the U.S.S.R."

It said these are known as the "Moscow agreement and the Harbin agreement. These purportedly grant further special rights to the U.S.S.R." in Manchuria.

In a speech before the National Press Club two weeks ago, Acheson charged that Russia is detaching Manchuria, Outer Mongolia, Sinkiang and Inner Mongolia and tying them to the Soviet Union.

Convict Sarnia Man Of Robbing Taxi Driver

SARNIA, Jan. 25 — (CP) — William Lyle Banks, of Sarnia, was convicted by Magistrate J. C. Dunlap today of the armed robbery of William Blaine, Sarnia taxi driver, on Jan. 7. Sentence was deferred until Friday.

Martin Langan, of Sarnia, was remanded until Friday for preliminary hearing on a similar charge.

On Jan. 20, Magistrate Dunlap sentenced Desmond Seguin, of suburban Blue Water, to 10 years in penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to the armed robbery of $34 from the taxi driver.

Canada Finds New Method To Aid Ships

OTTAWA, Jan. 25 (CP)—Ships will sail more confidently through hazardous coastal and inland waters with the aid of information gathered by a new Canadian-developed method of charting marine soundings.

Developed by a team of radio engineers at the National Research Council, it is expected to make an important contribution to the fight against one of the great hazards of navigation—lack of accurate and up-to-date knowledge about what lies below the sea.

A constant menace to shipping are the dangerous reefs, shoals and the ever-moving sandbars lying beneath the surface in wait for unsuspecting ships.

Headed by H. Ross Smyth, formerly of Montreal, the team has succeeded in developing a quick, easy and accurate method of taking comprehensive marine soundings in coastal and inland waterways.

Disregard Visibility

Value of the method is that it eliminates the necessity of locating the position of the charting vessel by visual fixes on shore-markers. It means that soundings now can be taken day or night and regardless of visibility.

The method involves use of radar in two capacities. One is to indicate exact position of the vessel in respect to the shore. The other traces the contour of the bottom of the body of water being charted.

The two types of information—depth and position — are transcribed simultaneously on movie film. This means that the exact depth at any point on the film is matched by the exact location at which that depth was recorded.

The film strip is later projected onto an enlarged marine chart so that it becomes possible to plot, frame by frame, both the ship's position and the corresponding depth of water.

This method, in which the hydrographic service of Canada has expressed interest, was developed and tested last summer by the section on radio aids to marine navigation at the division of radio and electrical engineering.

Assisting Mr. Smyth were F. R. Park, formerly of Calgary, and R. E. Freeman, a native of Kingston.

The research engineers experimented with the method in the Rideau Lakes between Ottawa and Kingston.

Prices Slump Sharply On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 25 (CP) — Prices slumped sharply in mid-session on the Ontario Stock Exchange today. Slight steadiness appeared following the sudden drop. This was the third successive session of declining prices.

Volume for the first three hours was 722,000 shares.

The market opened slightly higher, slipped slowly in the first hour and suddenly dropped as heavy selling appeared. A wide list of key industrial stocks showed declines ranging from fractions to a full point.

Papers and steels led the downturn with solid lists of losses.

Selling pressure was also strong in the mining board. McIntyre Mines dipped 3¾ at 61¼ in seniors.

Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, Quemont and Noranda led base metals lower. Several individual issues were heavy traders for declines.

Losses ranged up to 50 cents in western oils. Selling was not very heavy but price drops were comparatively sharp.

Dominion May Establish Permanent Price Support

OTTAWA, Jan. 25—(CP)—The government's price support program, a $200,000,000 farm price shock absorber, likely will emerge soon as a permanent feature of the Canadian farm scene, it was learned Tuesday.

Legislation to change its status from that of a temporary emergency in the transitional period between war and peace to that of a permanent peacetime measure is expected to be sought by the government of the next session of parliament opening Feb. 16.

The legislation will be either a straight amendment to the Agricultural Prices Support Act, eliminating phrases which refer to its "transitional" nature, or continuation of the program under an entirely new act. The prices support measure terminates March 31, unless extended by parliament.

Need Stabilizing

Need to imbed the price support structure more permanently into the Canadian peacetime scene appears to have roots in these factors:

1. The farm industry is showing growing signs of lack of stabilization, principally because of the questionable future of United Kingdom food purchases in Canada.

2. Farm prices have fallen considerably during the last few months. This decline appears to be more than just a temporary phase.

3. Because it is linked with the Emergency Transitional Measures Act, the legislation may be considered beyond parliament's jurisdiction in the event that a national emergency is found to no longer exist. This question may come up in the Jan. 30 rent controls case before the Supreme Court of Canada.

The cabinet, meanwhile, is understood to have given consideration to plans for making price support a permanent federal feature. It may decide to scrap the act and write a new piece of legislation, but this still is not certain.

As outlined in the current act, price support serves a double duty. It either allows the government to set a price for a farm product and purchase it outright, or it can underwrite the market through a form of subsidy.

Parliament earmarks $200,000,000 each year as the sum which can be expended under this program, but at no time has the government used more than 10 per cent of the allotment.

Charge Frost Passing Buck

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 25 (CP)—Mayor George A. Wenige charged the Ontario Government today with contemplating to unload a provincial headache on municipalities by revising liquor regulations.

The government is considering changing the regulations to permit municipalities to determine within limits their hours of sale and possibly the numbsr of outlets within their jurisdictions, liquor commissioner Arthur Welsh said Monday in Dundas.

"They are trying to pass the buck," the Mayor said "and undo all the good of uniform regulations. It is a matter for the province pure and simple and has nothing to do with us.

"First they sell a headache to the consumer then they want us to cure him," he said.

The Mayor suggested that municipal control of the hours of sale of beverages would create an "impossible" situation in the province as a whole, particularly with reference to tourist trade.

"We'll take over under one condition—that they give us all the revenue," he added.

Oshawa Police Charged 3,633

OSHAWA, Jan. 25—One double murder, 22 cases of shopbreaking, 29 of burglary and housebreaking and three of robbery topped the list of crimes committed in the city of Oshawa during the year 1949 Chief of Police Owen D. Friend stated in his annual report, presented to the Board of Police Commissioners this week. The total number of persons charged with offences during the year was 3,633, two hundred less than in 1948, but showing a marked increase as compared with the four years prior to that date. The number of offences for the previous four years was 3,035 in 1947, 1,898 in 1946, 1,847 in 1945 and 1,349 in 1944.

Some Private Enterprise

The manifesto advocates a measure of private enterprise for civil aviation, now in government hands. Also on the Conservatives' abolition list is the ministry of supply, which controls Britain's purchase and distribution of materials.

Abolition of the ministry of supply is in line with the Tory policy to do away with government bulk buying, especially of imported foods, throwing that job back to private dealers who they believe might get better bargains and better quality.

With these proposed cuts in government spending, a major point in the program is reduction of both direct and indirect taxation.

The Conservatives maintain that the tax cuts also would enable them to reduce the subsidies the government has paid out to farmers to keep food prices down.

Although the main clash between the Conservatives and Labor is on the issue of government ownship of industry, the Conservatives do not recommend immediate return of all nationalized industry to private hands.

Abandon Appeal O'Connell Land

Withdrawal of the appeal began by the late John T. O'Connell against the valuation of his south-end property expropriated by the city was reported today.

Judge S. L. Smoke had fixed at $11,000 the amount payable by the city for the block of land extending from Park St. to Monaghan Road required for a housing project.

Mr. W. B. Gordon, representing the estate of Mr. O'Connell, has informed Judge Smoke that the appeal is being abandoned. This decision will enable the city to determine the cost of the property and domestic services which it provided in an agreement with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for the 226 houses for exservicemen and their families now being completed.

The city assumed the cost of land and services, but the Corporation is paying for them after deduction of half the cost to the city which is borne by the government of Ontario.

On that project and also on the final 100 houses now in progress, the provincial government undertook to pay half the city's expenditure on each housing lot. The only condition applied by the government was that its 50 per cent payment was limited to $300 a lot. Its agreement was to assume half the cost to the city up to $600 a lot.

An agreement between Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation provides that repayment to the city for its costs shall be spread over ten years as an annual instalment credit to the Corporation deductible from the city taxes on the property.

This plan was adopted by the council as a means of avoiding a lump sum payment to the council in one year.

Allan R. MacNab To Head Reunion

KINGSTON, Jan. 25—The familiar battle cry "Up the Glens" will sound from hundreds of ex-Glengarrians' throats again this year when members of the First Battalion Stormont and Glengarry Association meet at the third annual reunion in Kingston.

Members of Kingston branch of the association decided to hold the reunion there at a meeting last week and an interim committee has since selected chairmen of various sub-committees to arrange for the lodging and entertainment of an expected 400 former members of the wartime regiment, to which Peterborough and district contributed a large share of the personnel. Allan R. MacNab of Kingston, formerly of Peterborough, has been chosen general chairman of the reunion.

DARTFORD, Jan. 25 (ENS) — Free trade was discussed by the Farm Forum Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCracken.

After hearing the radio broadcast the farmers became divided on the question of the merits of free trade.

Some thought it would mean a more equal standard of living while others disagreed.

The women presented the program.

Next meeting is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ward, with lantern slides. Lunch committee, Mrs. A. McCracken, Muriel Darling, Mrs. Don Yule and Bruce White.

A short skit was presented by Aureen Brown, Reta and Alec Yule and Victor Morrow.

After lunch a sing-song was enjoyed.

Coal Shortage Brings Layoffs

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 25 (AP)—The soft-coal strike today produced a growing contagion of unemployment in the United States, with at least 17,000 workers idle in the related railroad and steel industries.

Some 75,000 soft-coal diggers remained away from the pits on the third day of the union-ordered three-day work week.

Railroads, complying with the government order to reduce operations on coal-burning runs, contributed the most layoffs. The Baltimore and Ohio said it has only an eight-day coal supply on hand, compared with the normal 21-day supply.

Crucible Steel Company of America laid off 500 at its Midland, Pa. plant. Other steel companies indicated similar action was in the offing should the coal shortage continue.

Ask Ontario Gov't For New Legislation

TORONTO, Jan. 25 (CP)—The Ontario Forest Industries Association has decided to ask the Ontario government for legislation to offset the effect of an injunction compelling the Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Company to stop dumping pulpmill waste into the Spanish River at Espanola. Espanola is 40 miles west of Sudbury.

At its annual meeting Jan. 23, the association, comprising pulp and paper producers, lumbermen and sawmill operators and pulpwood exporters, eleced W. E Rowe of the Great Lakes Paper Co. Ltd. president.

The word "fortnight" is from the Old English term meaning "fourteen nights," according to the Encyclodepia Britannica.

Unemployed Workers Stage Protest Parade

TORONTO, Jan. 25 (CP) — Carrying placards condemning soup kitchens and unemployment insurance "red tape" 25 members of the Union of Unemployed Workers today converged on city hall seeking an audience with Mayor Hiram McCallum and City Council.

The group marched around the Cenotaph outside city hall, then selected a delegation to see the Mayor. A guard outside the council chamber said the delegation was too large and its ranks were trimmed.

J. W. Noseworthy, Member of Parliament for South York, accompanied the group.

Norway's legislature is called the Storthing.

Drove Through Stop Sign; Fined

A fine of $5, and $12.75 costs, was imposed on Frank Hall, 509 Chamberlain Street, when convicted of failing to stop at a stop sign, by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in Police Court today.

Police laid the charge as a result of an accident at George and McDonnel Streets on January 7. Hall was the driver of a car travelling east on McDonnel Street. He met in collision with a taxi driven by Donald Barringer north on George Street.

Barringer said he had intended to turn east on McDonnel Street. He added that he had been aware of some cars on McDonnel Street west of George Street, but did not pay much attention to them.

The first he saw of the Hall car, he said, was when it was directly in front of him about 10 feet away. Under normal conditions, he said, he could have stopped in time and avoided the accident, but the street was very slippery.

A Crown witness, Kenneth Ferguson, 16 Cricket Place, told the court he was driving his car about 20 feet behind Hall going east on McDonnel Street. He testified that he saw Hall's car slow to about five or six miles an hour before proceeding across George Street, but said it did not stop.

Hall said he came to a full stop before going on across George Street. He said he waited for two or three cars travelling south on George Street pass before starting up. He told the court he did not see the taxi until he was crossing the centre line of George Street. At that point, the taxi was about 50 feet away, he thought.

A passenger in the Hall car, Miss Mary Yeatman, River Road, confirmed Hall's testimony.

Second Walkout

Today was the second time within less than two years that the UAW called a walkout at Chrysler. The union won a 13-cent raise there in 1948 after a 17-day walkout.

There was still hope that the current dispute might be solved. Government mediators, who stepped into the talks Tuesday, said they expected to arrange further negotiations. Just when they could be arranged no one could say.

At Windsor, officials of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited were meeting today to determine what immediate effect the United Automobile Workers (CIO) strike against the parent plant in the United States will have on its 3,500 workers here.

A company spokesman said no direct statement could be expected before tomorrow.

Officials said Tuesday they expected the U.S. shutdown to reduce some of their supplies, especially metal body stampings. The spokesman said then "we will keep going here just as long as it is possible."

Fowler Startled By Charges Of US Committee

MONTREAL, Jan. 25 (CP)—R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association said Tuesday that "it is startling to hear" of the charges by a congressional committee that Canadian newsprint firms have participated in price-fixing arrangements against United States publishers.

(At Ottawa, officials of Canada's combines investigation committee declined to comment on the charges.)

Mr. Fowler told the Canadian Press that "this talk of investigation by congressional committee at Washington sounds very similar to the situation that developed two years ago when all concerned discovered that United States laws did not operate in Canada and U. S. powers of investigation did not extend into Canada."

He said that he had not time to give a complete answer to the charges as he had not had a chance to study the statement made by Representative Emanuel Celler (Dem. N. Y.) chairman of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee.

The United States is the main market for Canada's big newsprint and pulpwood industry. Last year the U. S. took about 81 per cent, or $400,000,000 worth, of this country's newsprint production.

Raps Statement

Mr. Fowler's statement Tuesday night in part said:

"Many of the statements in representatives Celler's announcement are most inaccurate and it is startling to hear such statements made in view of Canadian newsprint supply to the United States.

It is incredible that anyone should think that Canadian newsprint companies are curtailing production when 1949 total production of Canadian newsprint reached the phenomenal total of 5,175,000 tons which is about 200,000 more than the preceding peak in 1948 and 2,000,000 tons more than prewar.

"This expansion of Canadian supply has been in response from demands of publishers on this continent and has enabled them to obtain newsprint for their greatly expanded opportunities."

Montana wrestled as a middleweight, but eventually took on all comers, among them the great Frank Gotch, Ed (Strangler) Lewis, Joe Stretcher, Stanislaus Zbyszyka and Jim Londos.

Montana entered the movies in 1918. Among his best-known pictures were How To Handle Women and Good Morning, Judge.

NORMAN

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1950

Alas! The Site

The Memorial Centre is still up in the air. For if it is to be built on the George Rink-Townsend block it will have to be built on piles, and that will cost a minimum of $100,000 extra—that is, a hundred thousand dollars more than it would cost if the Centre were put up on an ordinary lot. Although the valuable and central lot has been offered to the Memorial Centre Committee as a gift—a gift from the city—it is a gift horse which had to be looked at not in the mouth but underneath the feet. The soil is sawdust, to a depth of some thirty feet. Hence the need for piles; hence the Council's request for a firm figure on the additional cost. Hence the $100,000.

* * *

The question now is: Is the free land worth it? Is it worth the extra $100,000 needed to build on it? It would seem not. The common sense way would be to build the arena on an "ordinary" (and of course, suitable) site. This would save the hundred thousand dollars' worth of extra building costs—presumably. But where is the "ordinary" lot to be found? It must be large enough, it must permit of parking space; it must be accessible; it should preferably be on a spot already served by hydro and water mains.

* * *

An "ordinary" lot will be hard to find, excepting for the large one staring the city in the face: the exhibition ground. That suitable area is otherwise known as "Morrow Park". It is deeded as a memorial for agricultural purposes. It is under a Trust. Not only are Trusts hard to break; many right-thinking persons believe that Trusts should not be broken except under the most extreme need or aggravating circumstances. People do not give property as memorials in order that the gift may be attenuated.

* * *

The Memorial Centre committee and all the people who want the arena built here and now are faced by a very pretty dilemma. The freely offered site cannot be afforded; the obvious one does not seem to be available; and none other is in the offing.

Good-Bye, Ontario Geography

Ontario schools are to have a revised curriculum beginning next September. One of the revisions is to apply to textbooks. Section (j) of the Department of Education's official memorandum states that:

> Authorization of the Ontario Public School Geography is discontinued. Permissive use of certain modern geography text-books will be approved, and the titles will be announced at an early date.

So it is good-bye to the big gray books—blue in our far-off juvenile days. They were, memory says, pretty good books. One had a feeling of pride, of real advancement—in being entrusted at last in Senior Third with such a big book. Although it never did fit tidily into the shelf of the desk, always sticking out for the knees to bang, it was tangible evidence of getting on in the world, and worth the inconvenience. And it was such a secure expanse to hide behind, when opened and set on edge on top of the desk. It had more pictures than any other school book—peach-picking in Niagara, wheat fields in far prairies, the British Empire in red all over the double page world, and ticklish maps of South America and Africa to reproduce. We never could get the bulges in the right places on free-hand copies; the two continents were so much alike. Then there were the counties and country-towns to memorize, a boring job, but to this day we know that Addington has no county town, and are still grateful for that strange omission in the long list.

The new-fangled books may be better and more up-to-date in their statistics, but none could ever be as fondly treasured as the Ontario Public School Jogerfy. Will today's pupils roam the world as freely and conveniently in long quiet itchy hours when the Taj Mahal was only a dozen pages from black Maori women!

Costly Salvage Of Logs

A student who was employed by the Federal Department of Agriculture last summer was sent into the burnt timber area of Mississauga and Chapleau to investigate insects which destroy flora. He found out other things besides the breeding habits and depredations of insects, it seems from a letter which was recently published in the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Our readers will remember that the Department of Lands and Forests has had a great deal of favourable publicity because it was setting out to salvage as lumber the fallen trees in that large area swept by fire in 1948. This Parry Sound writer reports, from his own observation, that the salvage operation is a costly failure. "Green" Italian immigrants were being employed to do the work which they did not understand. "They were not supervised or provisioned, a menace not only to themselves but to their fellow men . . . The camps I saw and lived in were a disgrace to civilized man."

As for the salvage operation itself:

"It has been highly exaggerated. Last spring it was reported that the current river drive was the largest in modern history. Actually it was smaller than the previous year, yet it was so highly exaggerated that we in the bush laughed for weeks over the write-up in the papers.

"Thousands upon thousands of logs were culled and left in the bush, logs that would have survived the insect plague if put in the water early. Through poor management on the part of these so-called lumbermen, and poor supervision on the part of the Government many thousands of dollars are still rotting in the bush.

"Because of poor planning the operators built mile upon mile of road only to abandon it on completion without having used it. This again can be attributed to upstart jobbers who do not know their job, or certainly do not plan it. When the Government pays $1,500 a mile for road that is not used, it seems extravagant."

The writer of the letter, William Howe, carries his castigation further. He says that most of the timber being cut and sawn is not burnt but green. The burnt is left standing to feed the cerambycid larvae and the adult. 'These scalpers, self-named timber operators, working under the guise of a salvage contract, are cutting down the remainder of the timber that was untouched by the fire, whether mature or not".

These are serious charges, which the Hon. Harold Scott, minister responsible for the Department of Lands and Forests, should investigate. It is his Department which promoted the "salvage" operation. No doubt figures can be produced (and some have) to show that large quantities of logs have been salvaged. But if there is an element of truth in William Howe's statements, more than figures will be needed by way of explanation.

Ottawats And Peterboors

Ottawa—the city—seems to be having the same kind of word trouble that Peterborough has. It's all in the name, the name for the burghers of the respective cities. Is a person who lives in Ottawa an Ottawaite, an Ottawan, an Ottawaer, an Ottawat, or what? The Ottawa Journal, fastidious in such matters, does not like Ottawan. It is "clumsy in construction, lacking in rhythm, rarely if ever used in conversation and seldom in print . . . Sole authority for adding an 'N' to the city's name is that a mixed freight and passenger canal-boat called Ottawan once plied the waters of the Rideau and Ottawa rivers . . . There are rigid standing orders in this (the Journal's) office banning it". Which seems pretty conclusively to give the quietus to Ottawan. The Journal frets over other not really Capital adjectives, picks them up disdainfully and chucks them. The Journal's solution to the problem is typically conservative: "As far as this Capital is concerned people may well keep on saying "I'm from Ottawa' ".

That is the snaky way some Peterborough people slide out of a Peterborough descriptive. It may be well enough for Ottawa (accustomed as it is to the stand-patters or slitherers of government officialdom), but we in Peterborough are used to facing up to hard facts and dealing with them. We do not hide behind verbiage. We have put into the civic test-tube such terms as Peterboroughite, Peterburger, and Peterborovian. The reaction has been negative. H. L. Mencken has waggishly suggested to us of the Examiner the unkind term Peterboor; that sizzled right out of the test-tube. Our latest—and we believe etymologically sound—offering is Peterburian. So far the term, under the litmus test of this newspaper, has proved neither base nor acid.

We do feel that if municipal Ottawa really wanted to find its substantive it could. But we have a suspicion that it and the Journal are after something national in scope, something grander than an Ottawa confection. The Journal gives the whole grandiloquent scheme away when it says, "As far as this Capital is concerned, we . . . " etc. Our guess is that Ottawats want to be referred to as Capital fellows—Capitalists.

From The Critic's Notebook

CHRISTIANITY AND HISTORY by Herbert Butterfield (Clarke, Irwin).

THIS is the most important and mentally exciting new book I have read since the war. Published in England, it sells at the remarkable low price of $1.75. Its author is Professor of Modern History in the University of Cambridge. I urge anybody with an active mind to read it. The Times Literary Supplement, in a leading article, says of it: "Christianity and History must be regarded as the most outstanding pronouncement of the meaning of history made by a professional historian in England since Acton's Inaugural".

This tribute hedges the book, implying correctly a line of descent from Lord Acton's peculiar, and Christian, view of history. Professor Butterfield is also a convinced Christian, and this makes his book difficult to comprehend. Another difficulty for a reviewer is due to its being a distillation, in 150 pages, of an outstanding scholar's years of experience and study. No adequate further synopsis of his view is possible.

* * *

HERE is a typical Butterfield passage: "The patterns that matter in history are patterns that end in personalities, who are the blossom and the fruit—they ARE posterity, they ARE the heirs of all the ages, whom creation groaned through so many astronomical eras and such long geological epochs to produce. Men work for progress, but without regarding it as the end which gives meaning to history. They are subordinate only to the glory of God". It is unfair to set out nakedly a paragraph from a late chapter in the book, when definition and interpretation of the terms he uses have preceded. Nevertheless, his definitions have not the precision of mathematical propositions and there is throughout an overlay of brilliant writing, and a bedrock of religious faith—or intuition—which gives the whole thesis a quality of revelation, or artistic perception. The mind tends to stagger before it or to be lost in rhapsody.

* * *

A READER dedicated to logic as the chief means of truth might become annoyed with Professor Butterfield. A sour person might think that wool was being pulled over his eyes—or rather, a blinding blanket of stars. To me this approach is one of the most exciting qualities of the book; the author writes as a historian who is an artist. He is wise beyond his information. His vision is large. Where most modern historians crawl in little grooves over the pages of time, he takes wing over the whole scroll.

* * *

HERE are some bones of Professor Butterfield's philosophy of history as revealed in this essay. The proper study of mankind is Man, not Nature. Man is above Nature. Jehovah is the God of history, not the God of Nature. "The deification of the multifarious powers and potentialities of nature . . . . seems to have been calculated to encourage the uglier forms of polytheism". "It may be true that nature and history are not separable, but at the level at which we do most of our ordinary thinking it is important to separate them . . . . important above all not thoughtlessly to assume that nature, instead of being the substructure, is the whole edifice or the crown". "Those who envisage only man-in-nature are calculated to degrade human history into a wilderness of atrocity and crime" (e.g. Hitler).

* * *

THERE is judgement in, and of history, because man is a creature of cupidity. "Lord Acton said that practically all great men were bad men and that hardly any public reputation survived the exposure of private archives. I think it would have been kinder if he had made the whole world kin, and would have been less unbalanced if he had started simply on the footing that all men are sinners". Judgement comes upon man; sometimes it is cataclysmic (as in this century). Professor Butterfield sees in history, and in the Judaic-Christian religion, a continued search for an interpretation of history "which would embrace catastrophe itself and transcend the immediate spectacle of tragedy".

* * *

PROGRESS is a base myth. "The generations of the past are not to be dismissed as subordinate to the later ones, mere stepping stones to the present day . . . . The technique of historical study itself demands that we shall look upon each generation as, so to speak, an end in itself, a world of people existing in their own right". He quotes the thesis of the great German historian of the last century, Ranke, that every generation is equidistant from eternity. We envisage history in the proper light "if we say that each generation—indeed each individual — exists for the glory of God; but one of the most dangerous things in life is to subordinate human personality to production, to the state, even to civilization itself, to anything but the glory of God".

* * *

IN this view of the supremacy of personality beneath a God, calamity, the decay of empires, great wars, and other catastrophes of time tend to justify the assumptions of historians and generations after the events: "We do not find people saying that life has no meaning because such things happened as the fall of Rome or the Norman Conquest—men point rather to the new world that was able to rise in due course of time on the ruins of the old one". The assumption that if the Germans had won the war, the world world have been hopeless for ever, or that if the atomic bomb will destroy all value, is presumptuous. In this regard the author takes many a poke at the self-righteous, the proud-minded and the systematizers. Here is one jab: "Precisely, because it is vain for man to think that he can ordain his own history or completely play the part of Providence for himself, even Metternich foresaw our tragedies a century before they came and put his finger on a fundamental cause of them, when he said that what frightened him was the human presumption that had become so evident."

* * *

THIS, Professor Butterfield believes, is a time of tragic conflict, when history is catastrophic. Yet, "it is hard to rid oneself of the impression that in general the highest vision and the rarest achievements of the mind must come from great internal pressure, and are born of a high degree of distress. In other words, the world is not merely to be enjoyed, but is an arena for moral striving".

I AM conscious of having avoided the obvious theme of the book, Christianity and history, and at the same time of having, through the quotations, given the impression (falsely) that it is streaked by religious whims. In atonement here is an intriguing statement from the introduction: "The principal challenge and the most formidable threat to Christianity today — namely the Marxian creed, is widely based upon an interpretation of history—one of a type which is calculated to produce a shaping of the whole mind. I personally am disposed to treat that challenge as both a dangerous and a respectable one, not to be dismissed as though it were the mere plaything of a gang of crooks, even if—like Christian history on occasion—it is liable to fall into the hands of unscrupulous men". Weather In The Editorial Eye

Lethbridge Herald: Continuous sub-zero mercury readings do not make a hard Winter in themselves. It takes a combination of snow, mercury rapping on the bottom of the tube, blizzards, blocked highways and shortages of feed for livestock to combine into a hard Winter that the Old Timers would even demean themselves to talk about.

* * *

St. Thomas Times-Journal: The Canadian West is getting a respite from zero weather. So maybe it's our turn.

* * *

Ottawa Citizen: Many a man gets real enjoyment out of shovelling snow. He recalls his younger days and even the wintry mornings when he used to kick his way to school, sending the light stuff flying, or the times when he helped clear the ice rinks. He still feels an exhilaration as he wades through a storm and the flakes fall on his face. But for older men this pleasure, too, is dangerous, since walking in deep snow requires an effort that if sustained too long can lead to exhaustion.

The best advice for the older generation is to let the younger folk shovel the snow.

* * *

Victoria Times: Though the snarp wind whips snow particles into the whirling measures of a sand-dance, beneath the white blanket the fresh life of spring is stirring. During the quick thaws, the nubs of early plants push up bravely through the still hard soil. Theirs is the force of growth that will not be arrested. In their present state they are little more than the tips of blunted spikes close-welded for strength and warmth. Each leaf form is tightly pressed against the point, scarcely suggesting the slender reed shapes that will sway gracefully under the kinder breezes of February, and dip before the downpour of freshening rain.

When the snow melts and the brown earth still stands distorted by the honeycombs of frost, these small buds will emerge, stretch slender fingers upward, form their palisade for the bloom stalk and wait for the sun to perform its quick miracle of the snowdrop, the crocus and, still later, the daffodil. There is little now, under the snow, to indicate the delicate beauty of the flowers. But the tender shoots just struggling through the ground carry a sure promise—one to lift depressed spirits with the assurance of graciousness to come.

Toronto Globe and Mail: Dustbowl and desert conditions are being created through rural Ontario this winter. The uncontrolled run-off of winter rains falling on uncovered and unfrozen ground is causing the trouble. The evidence is to be seen from any bridge crossing a stream whose flow is not regulated by storage and control dams. The high, fast-running water is carrying hundreds of thousands of tons of topsoil to the lakes and other river outlets where it is lost forever to farmers, grazers and tree growers alike. It is the price an open winter is exacting from Ontario for past failures in conservation.

Turtle Shames Channel Swimmers

A small Mexican turtle turned up on the English Channel coast this week and caused a great to do among the Cornishmen. A scientist declared the turtle may have swum all the way across the Atlantic. If a three-pound turtle can do a thing like that, what sort of a feat is it for a man, woman or child weighing from 120 to 180 pounds to swim the English Channel which you can see across?

This all leads to expression of the hope that in the light of the presumed accomplishment of this little turtle, the world may be spared next summer the reading of drivel about Daisy May Mooney, the American schoolgirl, or Frau Erna Brodbach, the Alsatian housewife, as they teeter up and down the beach awaiting right conditions, and then go home without swimming the channel threatening to return next year.

They should build a bridge and stop this business.—Montreal Gazette.

Bring forth the blind people that have eyes, and the deaf that have ears. Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the people be assembled: who among them can declare this, and shew us former things? let them bring forth their witnesses, that they may be justified: or let them hear, and say, It is truth. Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me.

I, even I, am the Lord; and beside me there is no saviour . . . . Yea, before the day was I am he. (Isa. 43:8-11, 13.)

"What is the plural of hippopotamus?" asked the teacher.

"You try, Tommy?" suggested the teacher.

"H-i-p-p-i—oh, well, who'd want more than one, anyway?" he demanded.

Persistent questioning during the days when the gardens were open to the public had driven the old gardener to exasperation, and he boiled over when, as he was planting some saplings, a hearty individual breezed along with: "Ah! What sort of trees are you planting there?"

The old gardener straightened his back and almost shouted: "Wooden ones."

Sir Wilmott Lewis

The British people have lost an unofficial ambassador to the United States in the death of Sir Wilmott Lewis, who, for more than a quarter of a century, was Washington correspondent of The Times of London.

Some of the U.S. officials, who knew him well during the years he served in Washington, credit him with doing as much as any other one man to foster good relations between the United States and Britain. His services were recognized by the King in 1931 when he was made knight commander of the Order of the British Empire.

The career of Sir Wilmott Lewis points the way in which a man working in a private capacity, although in his case in a highly responsible position, can promote good relations between nations and interpret the one to the other. It is a goal which foreign correspondents and other similarly situated individuals should seek.

Health Unit Extends Work To High Schools

COBOURG, Jan. 25(ENS)—Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit plans to extend its program in 1950 to include the secondary schools in the counties. There are 13 collegiate institutes, high schools and continuation schools in these counties.

The health supervision of children begins in infancy, when Health Unit nurses make visits to the homes to assist mothers in carrying out the family doctor's instructions and is continued throughout the life of the preschool child. During this period the work of the family doctor is also supplemented by immunization clinics carried out by Health Unit Medical Officers.

When a child starts school, examinations of various types by the public health nurses and the medical officers are available.

During 1949, the medical examination was completed of all the children attending elementary school at the time the examinations were initiated. This year, it will be possible to continue the health supervision of the child when he commences secondary school.

Owing to the fact that practically all these children have been subject to examinations during their career in the elementary schools, it will not be necessary to carry out routine examinations in the high schools, and this will make it possible to devote more time to individual cases who may be helped by advice by the staff of the Health Unit.

As in the case of elementary school, the health work of the Unit will be carried on as a supplement to the supervision of the children by the family doctor. It is hoped that, in addition to any immediate value that may result from assistance given to individual children in the secondary schools, the contact of the Health Unit staff with this older group of children will tend to be of value in making them conscious of the importance of public health in the community.

New Campbellford Hospital Gets $43,666 Federal Grant

OTTAWA Jan. 25 (Special). — Grants to help add 275 more beds to hospitals in Toronto and Eastern Ontario have just been approved by the Federal Health Department, Hon. Paul Martin announced here today.

The grants include $170,666 for St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto; $43,666 for the new Memorial Hospital, Campbellford; and $61,000 for the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston.

The Toronto project involves erection of a new seven-storey wing to contain 139 adult beds, a 50-cubicle nursery, and service departments. Space used by the service departments in the existing building will be released to provide room for 15 more beds. When construction is completed next year, this hospital will have a capacity of more than 800.

At Campbellford a new 43-bed hospital is schedlued for completion this spring to provide medical, surgical and obstetrical care for about 12,000 people in Campbellford, Hastings, Marmora and surrounding districts.

The Hotel Dieu Hospital, operated by the Religious Hospitallers of St. Joseph, Kingston, is adding a new five-storey wing and making extensive alterations to its present building to provide space for an additional 61 beds.

Under the national health plan the Federal Government matches Provincial grants for hospital construction up to a maximum of $1,000 per bed to active treatment hospitals, Mr. Martin said. Under the plan Ontario is entitled to more than $4,300,000 annually from the Federal Government for hospital building.

To Cure A Good Ham Pump It Up Correctly

TORONTO, Jan. 25 (CP) — George Salmon, 35, of Brantford heaved a cigar and explained: "The important thing about curing a hog for ham is to see that you pump it up correctly.

His explanation came shortly after he won the tenderized ham contest held by the Ontario Frosted Food Locker Association, holding their annual convention here.

Mr. Salmon said the pig, after being drained of blood, has a sweet curing solution pumped into its arteries. The solution contains salt and sugar. "The important thing to guard against is that you don't pump in more than 10 per cent of the total weight."

Kate Aitken Answers Your Questions Regarding Care of the Hands

PERMANENT NAIL POLISH: "My polish chips the first day I put it on. Is there any way I can get me a permanent job?"
Gracie Fields always does her nail polish three times over. When the first coat dries, it's covered with a second coat. Then comes the over coat, which seals and protects.
CRACKED FINGERS: "During winter weather the end of my fingers crack and nearly drive me crazy. Is there any ointment which will seal up my finger ends?"
Cocoa Butter rubbed generously into the cracked fingers will heal them. To prevent the cracking try this procedure. Before you go to bed, rub the finger ends well with cocoa butter; sleep in loose white cotton gloves.
RUBBER GLOVES: "How can I care for rubber gloves to make them last well?"
Dust your hands with corn starch before you pull on the gloves and again when you take them off. Hang up with a spring clothes pin instead of tossing in a drawer.
DISH PAN HANDS: "My hands are allergic to soap and water. How does that tie in with dishes for eight, three times a day?"
Use a dish scalding rack for your dishes and a flat pan in which you can shake the silver. Scalded, both silver and chirta dry themselves. Use rubber gloves, a dish mop and a good before-hand cream protection.
LIVER SPOTS: "I'm 62 and shouldn't be vain about my hands, but I am. Lately I've developed liver spots on the hand. They are quite large, dark and disfiguring. Is there any way to get rid of them?"
No sure way say the skin doctors except skin surgery. But you can use a good powder base Then coat it lightly with fine face powder. That covers up the spots for social occasions.
NAIL POLISH: "Please tell me what colour nail polish will be most popular this Spring."
Pink and rose shades instead of deep red seem to be the trend this Spring. Delicate peach bloom is allied with springtime navy and white suits.
NAILS IN MOURNING: "I'm a great cleaner and seem to catch a lot of dust under my nails. Is there any way to keep them really clean looking?"
Before you start a really dirty job, scrape your finger nails over a bar of mild soap. It protects your nails, scrubs out when you're done, leaving a clean-looking lot of finger nails.

Brown-Green Curlers Take District

Coming from behind to win both their games, the two Peterborough rinks skipped by F. Green and V. Brown won the district cup competition here yesterday. They will now go to Oshawa, at an early date, to compete with other district winners and if they are successful there they will go to Toronto for the finals.

With six clubs entered, Lindsay, Oakwood, Lakefield, Bobcaygeon Haliburton and Peterborough, Umpire R. F. Downey sent the boys away promptly at 9.00 o'clock.

Those clubs which have had practically no curling ice at all made a remarkable showing.

Throughout the day the games were witnessed by many spectators and the games were well contested. The Brown-Mark final was the closest, tied several times with Mark winning 13-12.

Curlers are asked to note the following changes in the vice-skips' bonspiel for Friday night, 9.00 p.m.:

T. McMillan vs. D. Clarke and R. Lyle vs. H. Hamley, to replace W. Archibald vs. J. H. Moebus and J. Sheedy vs. H. Foster.

A native of Ridgetown, Ont., the young athlete won the school's 155-pound class title in an intra-mural boxing contest. Lindsay Rink Advances To Third Round

QUEBEC, Jan. 25 — (CP). — Arthur McF. Limerick of Fredericton, NB, today was on the way to playing on his second straight championship rink, as he entered the Lieutenant-Governor's competition, blue ribbon event of Quebec's 38th international bonspiel.

Limerick, third man on last year's Fredericton champions, skipped by his father Judge Walter Limerick, Tuesday led 15 Canadian rinks and one from the United States to qualify for the international championship.

These included quarter-finalists of the Chateau International and the Val d'Or Golden Valley events. Round of eights in the grand aggregate, which will be known following today's play, will complete the international draw. All 119 games played on Tuesday went to eight ends.

Limerick's great showing, however, was overshadowed by skip D. D. Sutton's Wolfville, NS, rink which scored an eight-end against Maj.-Gen. H. N. Ganong's rink from St. Stephen's, NB.

The eight-end, fourth in the bonspiel's 37 years, and third in a row, came in the second end of an eight-end game. Sutton won 13-8

Later, Sutton was defeated 6-3 by James Forgie of Petawawa, Ontario.

W. F. Goforth, Toronto Granite, and K. B. McKellan, Toronto High Park, were the only Ontario rinks to reach the quarter-final play of the Chateau International.

Among rinks to advance to the third round of the grand aggregate were E. N. Gregory of Lindsay, Ont.

Grand Aggregate (1st Round)

It's Petes vs. Legionnaires at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture and the last clash betwixt these clubs for some time. Don't pass it up, folks, as it'll be another honey. Minus two ace forwards, Sixty Coombs (not yet okayed by the OHA) and Chum Fryia—with a fractured shoulder—Legionnaires will be in a spot and they'll have to hustle hard to beat the up-and-coming Petes. In fact, the Petes should have taken 'em here last time but they became disorganized in the last half and kicked away a good lead through some shaky defence work. It could easily be different tonight.

* * * * * *

That expected explosion is likely to occur any time now and when it does, boyoboyoboy! You can't preach these teams into any good-will-toward-man stuff, nor can strict refereeing keep them under control all the time. They just don't like each other at all and hard feeling is apparent every minute during one of those Petes-Legion classics. The OHA secretary sent down two neutral refs last game, instead of using one local official as a referee along with a neutral man. Apparently, the OHA, too, fears that inevitable explosion when a giant free-for-all occurs and old scores are settled with fists. We hope it doesn't occur and it won't if the referees are right on their toes.

This Is Babe's Idea

Comes a suggestion from Babe Fontaine re that puck race, and it is worth a thought. Babe figures it could be settled in two games, thereby giving both Petes and Legion a break, say on Feb. 6 and 8 when they wind up their schedule. He says it was done in Montreal about 1933 when Babe Seibert surprised a lot of NHL fans by tying the speedy Howie Morenz. They skated against time and taking a puck around the rink with them, several stop watches clocking them from the time they picked up that puck at a certain spot and stickhandled it around the rink and crossed a designated spot. Going behind each goal once, though not at the same time.

* * * * * *

Now, Babe's idea is that two rival players, perhaps Bill McMasters and Keith Montgomery, could race against time at the Petes' home game, and then Murray Fife and Bill Crowley at the Legion's home game. Or vice versa. The one with the fastest time would pick up the $60 cash prize, and the argument would be settled. Babe says: "Fans don't want to see a fast skater, they want to see a fast hockey player, so let these fellows race with a stick and a puck." They could have a running start and pick up the puck at one spot and then cross a finishing line with maybe three neutral timers clocking 'em. What do you think of it, folks? And you players and prize donors?

Minor Puck Playoffs

Secretary Walt Bent of the PMHA was in touch with Jack Christie of the OMHA and has the info on local playdowns. Seems Peterborough winners go into bantam, midget and juvenile major "A" playdowns, and must have winners ready to hit the playdown trail by Feb. 15. Now, the local setup will be the second and third teams in each section in a sudden-death semi-final game when the schedule winds up in another week or so. Winner of that then meets the top-place team in a home-and-home series, the ultimate victor going into playdowns and using an all-star squad if it wishes. The three PMHA winners can add players for the playdowns and will meet either Oshawa or Belleville clubs first.

Some talk of SPS playing this p.m. but we haven't their schedule. They will be at Port Hope on Friday in junior "B", while PCVS junior Bees go to Lindsay that night, the senior PCI-ers having a date in Lindsay. Outboard Marines are away this week-end, trekking to Toronto for a return go with West End "Y", but there'll be a City Loop double-header at the "Y" on Saturday evening.

Riders Have Eye On U.S. Imports

OTTAWA, Jan. 25 (CP)—Officials of the Ottawa Rough Riders said Tuesday night they have a number of promising leads out for new United States imports next fall.

Jim McCaffrey, manager of the capital city entry in the Big Four Football League, said he had received a letter from Howie Turner reporting that the star halfback has a "champion" all lined up for Riders.

Turner, spending the winter at Sarasota, Fla., said his "champion" is Charlie Musser, Southern Conference all-star guard for the last two years. He weighs 200 pounds, stands six feet, is strong and aggressive.

"You can't go wrong with this fellow," Turner wrote.

McCaffrey said Riders were investigating the chances of getting both Musser and Paul Gibson an outside wing with Buffalo Bills last season. Gibson also was recommended by Turner.

Ed Busch Paces Hamilton To 4-1 Win Over Marlies

By The Canadian Press.

Eddie Busch, with a two goal display, paced Hamilton Tigers to a 4-1 conquest of the mighty Toronto Marlboro club Tuesday night and gave the Bengals a six point grip on the third and last playoff position of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior League.

The margin might have been only four points if the last place Owen Sound Mercurys hadn't been "iced out." Kitchener-Waterloo were slated to meet the Mercurys but dangerous road conditions made it impossible to motor to Owen Sound.

In three junior games Barrie Flyers firmly entrenched themselves in fifth slot by trouncing Guelph Biltmores 6-3, St. Michael's bowed to the league leading Toronto Marlboros 5-1 and Galt Black Hawks moved out of the last position with a convincing 6-2 triumph over Oshawa Generals.

Bruce Dale of Tigers had a shutout until Scotty Main's tally at 19:10 of the final frame.

Kid Line Clicking

Hamilton's "kid line" and Busch, Taylor and Comfort combined for three of the Bengal total, and Polly Miocinovich smacked in the other.

A three goal second period splurge assured Barrie of victory over Guelph.

John Bobenic and Lionel Barber shared scoring honors for the winners, each of them clicking for a pair of goals. Singles were counted by Mirl McCarthy and Real Chevrefils. Walt Clune, Ron Plumb and Frank Bathgate clicked for the Bilts.

George Armstrong's two goals were enough to sink the hard-trying Irish of St. Mike's.

The Collegian's only goal came off the stick of centre-star Will Marshall early in the third period. Other scorers for the league-leaders were Dan Windley Murray Grenke and Larry Regan.

Pete Conacher's three counters carried on the great Conacher tradition and his display was the main reason for Galt's first win since Jan. 7.

All Pete's markers came in the last period after Oshawa had crept to within a single counter of Hawks.

Maxim Wins Title From Mills In 10 Rounds

By JIM CHAMBERS.

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP)—Fast-stepping Joey Maxim, not satisfied with winning the world's light heavyweight title, is cocking an eye at the heavyweight crown.

The 27-year-old boxing machine from Cleveland, Ohio, knocked out Freddie Mills of England in the 10th round Tuesday night to win back the championship for the United States.

Maxim's payoff blows that made a record indoor crowd of 18,000 roar were a stiff left jab to the face and a terrific right cross to Mills' jaw.

The victory redeemed the loss of the title here by New Jersey's Gus Lesnevich in the summer of 1948. Mills thus dropped the title in his first defence.

Wily Jack (Doc) Kearns, Maxim's manager, announced right away that the new champion will go after the heavyweight title.

Going Up

"Now that Joey has won the crown," Kearns said, "we'll stay over here to fight the winner of the Bruce Woodcock-Lee Savold fight in May. The British call this their version of the world's heavyweight championship, so we'll take a cut at that."

The United States National Boxing Association recognizes Ezzard Charles as the world's heavyweight champion.

"They have just as much right to put on the world's heavyweight championship here," Kearns said "as the NBA has to call Charles the world's heavyweight champion."

The knockout came in 1.34 of the 10th of a scheduled 15-rounder. Maxim weighed 174¼ and Mills 173.

Knockout Unexpected

Maxim was rated a 1 to 2 favorite with the bookmakers, but the knockout was unexpected.

After the terrific right to the jaw, Mills sagged to the floor. He was on his knees as the count rolled on. At eight Mills tumbled to his side. He was out cold and minus five teeth from Joey's crisp punching. The stocky Briton had fought only twice and showed lack of ring activity.

Maxim took most of Mills' hooks on his arms. After the fight Joey said; What that boy did to my left arm—my bread winner—was nobody's business. He really hurt."

On the Associated Press scorecard Joey was ahead six rounds to one, with two even before the knockout.

Rangers, Leafs Friends Again No Hard Feelings

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Nobody is more judicial than a major league hockey coach—before a game, that is.

Coach Lynn Patrick of the New York Rangers was calm and collected today, before his Manhattan puck-chasers collide tonight with the Maple Leafs at Toronto.

Patrick brushed aside questions concerning the rhubarb that developed when the Leafs beat Rangers 2-1 last Saturday, a brawl between players on both teams in the aisles leading to the dressing rooms. In that affair Patrick was an active participant, cutting his hand on the teeth of Toronto defenceman Gus Mortson as both Toronto and New York players milled around among spectators going in and out of the rink.

The Leafs and Rangers practiced in turn on the same ice yesterday with nary a harsh word, and Patrick himself said he was "trying to forget" the Saturday brawl. He had more important things to worry about, such as the condition of Wally Stanowski stuay Ranger rearguard, who may be operated on today for removal of a knee cartilage which refuses to heal. He also has centre Edgar Laprade nursing a groin injury. The Ranger forward, a tower of strength in all recent New York games, doesn't get into the practices because there's not enough time between games to give the groin injury a chance to heal.

The Leafs will be minus big Harry Watson, forward with a strained hip, and defenceman Garth Boesch, with a strained back. They'll also be without centre Cal Gardner of course, but Gardner, who suffered a jaw fracture back in November, is skating again with a special helmet and he may be in the line-up next Saturday.

Hockey Organized For Keene Teams

At the first meeting of the Keene Hockey Club, Dr. Ford was chosen president, Ralph Adamson vice-president, Harold Kemp seretary-treasurer, and Jim McCarthy senior coach. Another meeting saw some fellows interested in minor houckey made members of the club, which will supervise minor teams. Jack Mackness will coach the juveniles 16 to 18 years of age as of Nov. 1, 1949, while Harold Kemp will handle the midgets, 14-16 years, George Heron the 12-14 bantams, and Art Shearer the peewees, under 15.

These minor teams play in the PMHA, though a shortage of mantam players forced that team to drop out. The bantams will practice and have exhibition games, if there is ice and time. Some Keene games have been played in Civic Arena. Equipment has been expensive but good crowds have been turning out in Keene. Jim McCarthy was sick for a time so Dr. Ford and Art Shearer handled the senior squad. Barry Kumf is coaching the Keene entry in the Otonabee Rural League, the business manager being Thomas Gall.

Blackwell Ready

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 25 (AP) — Ewell Blackwell, once the pitching pride of Cincinnati Reds, says he's ready for that big comeback in 1950. Blackwell, knocked from his pitching pinnacle by illness and arm trouble in 1948 and a kidney operation in 1949, appears in top shape again.

Canadian Curlers Edge London Team

LONDON, Jan. 25 (CP)—The Canadian "A" curling team, arriving here from Ayr, Scotland, Tuesday defeated the Royal Caledonian Curling Club 74 to 57 but later lost by 56 to 51 to the Biggar Province squad.

In the first game, winning Canadian rinks and their skips were Ontario, Walter B. Cowan of Toronto; Albert, D. McDonald of Gleichen; and Saskatchewan, B. S. McNeice, of Regina.

Against Biggar Province only two Canadian rinks won their matches — Ontario and Saskatchewan—with the same players competing as in the first game.

The Canadian "B" team, playing at Kirkaldy, Scotland, was beaten 56 to 51.

Some 256 schoolboy curlers will exhibit their skill in the annual schoolboys' bonspiel which starts February 2 at Galt and Guelph. With 64 rinks from all parts of Ontario, it is expected a champion will be declared by the night of February 3. Glen Sagle's Sault Ste. Marie rink, winners of the big event last year, are favored to cop first honors. They may have trouble with Bill Scanlon's Guelph foursome, winners of Eastern Ontario bonspiel at Kingston earlier in the season. Northern Ontario centres are well represented with rinks expected from Espanola, Sault Ste. Marie, Haileybury and Little Current.

Mrs. G. P. Poulin's Ottawa Curling Club rink remains lone representative from Canada's Capital in the ladies' Coronation Trophy bonspiel at Montreal.

The Ottawa CC rink Tuesday chalked up a 10-6 win over Miss I. LeMesurier's Quebec Victoria rink to be the only Ottawa team to survive second-round play.

Edmonton Mercurys, playing a cosy waiting game for two periods, Tuesday night defeated the Wembley All-Stars 3-0 in an exhibition hockey game before 7,000 in Wembley's Empire Pool at London.

The daily double at New Orleans' Fair Grounds Tuesday, with three tickets sold, paid $2,491 on Aristocrat in the first race and Tiny Tidy in the second. Aristocrat paid $50.80 to win; Tiny Tidy $54.20

A horse named Robber Tuesday provided the largest straight payoff ever recorded at Hialeah Park, returning $325.60 for a $2 bet in the second race.

Thirty-three of Czechoslovakia's best ice hockey players Tuesday took a solemn oath to prepare themselves "to the utmost to defend with success the honor and glory of the Czechoslovak people's democracy." All are eligible for the team which will seek to defend Czechoslovakia's world title in London on March 13-22.

Twenty-one countries have challenged thus far for the Davis Cup, all except one of them in the European zone, the United States Lawn Tennis Association said Tuesday. Missing from the list is Australia, which reached the challenge round against the United States in each of the last two years. The deadline for challengers is January 31.

Jim Thorpe, whom his Indian mother named Bright Path, is the greatest United States football player of this century in the opinion of sports writers and broadcasters who participated in the Associated Press' poll. Thorpe combined the Irishman's love of combat which he inherited from his father, with the Indian's cunning and grace to gain his place in the sport's Hall of Fame in 1911 and 1912, playing left halfback for the now defunct Carlisle, Pa., Indian Institute.

Jersey Joe Walcott, who will be 36 next week, plans to fly to Germany April 25 to meet German heavyweight Hein Ten Hoff at Stuttgart May 7, his manager said Tuesday. Felix Bochicchio said, however, that the match depends upon the German promotor putting up Walcott's share of the fight receipts before Jersey Joe leaves the United States

Tuesday's trotting feature at Toronto's Dufferin Park was a handy two-heat win for Linna Lee, owned by Gordon Kingston of Napanee Racing over a treacherous track and through sleet, rain and snow, the Napanee mare was much the best, assuming the lead in each dash and winning without coming to a drive.

Vancouver Set To Hold Games

VANCOUVER, Jan. 25 (CP) — City Council, though somewhat staggered by the whopping bill involved — a possible $750,000 — has carried through with plans to ask for the 1954 British Empire games.

Council gave approval of formal application Tuesday and president Bob Osborne of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union said Vancouver is "reasonably assured" of receiving permission to sponsor the mammoth sports event.

Canada last staged the games in 1930, at Hamilton, and is the logical choice for 1954.

Mr. Osborne said in a brief to the council the city might be able to stage the games for $200,000. Later, however, he advised spending $750,000.

Spending the larger sum, he said, will give the city a large indoor swimming pool and a 15,000 seat stadium at the University of British Columbia.

Hamilton and Toronto also have applied for permission to stage the 1954 games.

Nylons Defeat Belleville 8-6

KINGSTON, Jan. 25.—In the most thrilling hockey game of the season, played before a crowd of 1,300, Nylons scored twice late in the final period to defeat Belleville Diesels, 8-6, in the Harty Arena Monday night. They also broke the second-place deadlock, the visitors dropping back to the third rung of the OHA senior "B" group ladder.

With the count deadlocked, 6-6 and the Diesels staging an all-out attack that had the arena in an uproar, Buddy Aitken broke away accompanied by Johnny Armstrong and Doug Patterson and engineered the assault that produced the winning counter on a shot by Armstrong at 16 10 of the final period.

As an anti-climax, Kenny Partis, assisted by George Graves, brought the tallying to a close 35 seconds before the battle ended.

SCORING PUNCH — Guard Bob Gibbs takes a strong left to the chin as Curt Norris leads with his knee, scoring for Colgate in 78-35 defeat of Toronto in Hamilton.

Confederation Wins

Confederation intermediates of the School Hockey League took a 6-1 win over Prince of Wales in a fair tussle. Floyd counted a pair in the first frame, Doleman and Brown tallied in the second, and Rose and Floyd got the final two in the third, as Bowen scored in that period for the losers. Bowen, Godfrey, Floyd and Brown stood out in this tilt. Teams:

Prince of Wales: Foster, Tripp, Douglas, Godfrey, Hancock, Hollingsworth, Freeman, Bowen, Morton, Allen, Northrop, Allin.

Confederation: Smillie, Jones, Goldie, Floyd, Scharf, D. Brown, Druery, Doleman, Rose, MacArthur Parnell R. Brown.

Referee, D. Crawford.

SNOOPER KEPT DRY

The word "eavesdropper" is derived from eavesdrop, meaning the width of ground around a house or building which receives the rain water dropping from the eaves.

Red Cross Branch Reviews Work of Past Year Sees Demands Increasing

Justification for existence of Peterborough Branch of the Red Cross Society was contained in reports of work done in 1949, read at the annual meeting Tuesday afternoon. Also, the public was given a satisfactory accounting of the funds, $20,000 of which comes from the annual Community Fund campaign.

One committee, that in charge of civilian relief, of which R. M Glover is chairman, asked for an increased grant as it is expected demands will be greater this year. The budget previously allowed was $200 for emergencies only, and there was dificulty keeping within bounds. This year $275 will be available.

Purchasing convener Mrs. F. E. Hooper reported having outfitted the son of a veteran so that he might attend school. The request was made by a local clergyman as the child's father was then in Kingston Hospital but has since died. In December the branch answered a call from Provincial Police and bought bedding and clothing for three families which were in dire circumstances. Needs of the Chappel family of Chemong were met, after they were burnt out last month and on their behalf the Rev. D. P. Morris of Bridgenorth United Church expressed sincere thanks to the society during the meeting.

Amounts expended on this relief were decreased 10 per cent through kindness of the merchants.

Appeal for Sewers.

An appeal for help in sewing was made by Mrs. G. Tollington, workroom convener. More women are needed to do simple sewing on children's garments, mostly nightwear. Quota for the Red Cross Outpost Hospital is almost completed and another for European relief is to be started immediately. The workroom is open each Monday afternoon, two to five, during which tea is served by the social committee. Even one afternoon's assistance would help.

Ninety-three woollen articles were finished during the year and shipped along with 37 donated garments. Volunteers to assist with the new quota will be appreciated.

A request for more work was made in the packing committee's report, which stated "The harder we work, the more people will get the help they need from this Branch." The Society will supply material for citizens who would like to test the ability of committee members, Miss Margaret White, Miss Mary Ross and Miss Jean Buck.

Aid was forthcoming in answer to 30 calls on the Soldier's Relief committee. Orders were issued for two pair of glasses, one set of dentures, 19 lots of clothing and one night's lodging.

Add to Loan Cupboard.

Contents of the loan cupboard have increased steadily in number and variety as it becomes better known. Requests for use of the equipment come from doctors, nurses, especially those of the Victorian Order and the Public Health Department, and clergymen, as well as individuals who have sickness in their homes.

Five new Gatche beds were purchased during the year, two arriving only last week. These are equipped with foam rubber mattresses which have been highly recommended by hospital authorities. Other additions were two wheel chairs, rubber sheeting four bed tables, several sets of blocks to raise ordinary beds to convenient height for nursing, one commode chair, four canvas back rests, canes, six pair crutches Gifts of several canes and pairs of crutches were gratefully acknowledged.

Though the cupboard has a wide range of supplies, articles not on hand are sometimes needed and then every reasonable effort is made to obtain them. Everything is carefully inspected before it is given out and thoroughly disinfected when returned. Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell, convener, thanked committee members Miss Mary Elliott, Miss Maud Rush, Miss Florence Gladman, Mrs. R. J Ward, Mrs W A Hinds and Mrs. G. Tolington for interest and co-operation in all phases of the work. Also the persons who have borrowed the supplies for the excellent care they have taken of them. Not once has anything been returned in a damaged condition which seems remarkable considering the use to which they are put.

Prepared For Disaster

Steps taken last year to provide adequate Red Cross services in case of a disaster were outlined in a report read by Mrs. E. Riley. These provide a local disaster unit geared to meet the four primary material needs of sufferers in an emergency; clothing, medical care, shelter and food. Peterborough Branch made out this basic plan which was accepted by Ontario Division.

Under each heading, necessities have been considered and supplies, equipment, help of organizations and individuals arranged for as adequately as can be foreseen. Efficiency depends on co-operation and speed. The latter has been taken care of also by a carefully organized telephone scheme.

Morale uplifters are the members of the visiting committee who made 30 calls on sick and lonely people and took Easter and Christmas gifts, and also assisted the civilian relief committee in distributing clothing. The nutrition committee functioned during dental week with a booth at the library where they gave literature on food for health Mrs. W. B. Gordon gave a lecture on this subject during the home nursing class.

Mrs. S. O. Shields is now conducting the Red Cross home nursing classes due to illness of Mrs. Joe Sharpe who arranged and organized them. Eleven lectures have been given to date with an average attendance of 37. Staff nurses Mrs. Maitland Forsythe, Mrs. A. L. Malby and Mrs. Shields have been assisted in the work by Drs. R. A. Kelly and Donald R. Clarke.

Awards Given

More than 200 Red Cross swimming and water safety awards were presented in the district last year; 164 at city beaches, 29 at YWCA, 16 at Bridgenorth and 11 at Keene. First aid pins went to nine graduates of an eight-week course in the fall. Committee head, Mrs. W. A. Hinds, said first aid kits had been loaned last summer for YWCA and CGIT camps.

Social committee convener, Mrs. B. D. Hall, reported hospitality was extended on various occasions as wel as each week of the fall and winter in the sewing workroom.

Apsley Hospital

G. H. Thompson, treasurer, read a detailed statement of all expenditures, which included $1,232.96 for maintenance and equipment of the Apsley hospital. Also $1,249.98 salary to the doctor for three months. This was offset in the receipt of $1,989.10 from the Apsley community doctor's services, including fees and doctor's collections for private practice. Most of the expenditure was incurred drilling a new well and putting in new pump and plumbing.

President Mrs. Chas. Ray, in giving a report of the Apsley hospital, said she felt the arrangement with the new doctor would prove satisfactory if 200 families will subscribe to the community service scheme. There are now 137. A set salary is paid the doctor by Peterborough branch, and it operates the scheme and receives the doctor's collections for outside services. President of the Apsley Red Cross Society, Mr. Norman Wilson, was unable to be present, but sent a message of appreciation.

Thanks of the Recreation Commission for Red Cross help on the playgrounds was expressed for Mrs. R. Whalon by C. G. Collins.

Paper Industry Tries To Solve Waste Problem

MONTREAL, Jan. 25 (CP). — The disposal of bark and wood waste in the manufacture of pulp and paper presents considerable problems to the industry, A. D. Hamilton, control superintendent of the Ontario Paper Co., Ltd., Thorold, Ontario., today told the members of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

Mr. Hamilton, in a report on the manufacture from bark of wrapping paper for newsprint rolls, told members of the technical section of the CPPA attending the association's three-day annual meeting that results of investigation indicate that bark itself cannot be developed economically for ultimate use as newsprint wrapper.

However, woodroom waste containing bark and some wood can be converted into a useable wrapper. But the economic utilization of wood waste depends on certain factors such as chemical costs, the cost of newsprint wrapper normally used and the integration of bark wrapper with a mill's operations. These factors will determine the economic feasibility of making such use of bark by an individual mill.

Chemical Costs Important

Mr. Hamilton said that chemical costs are the largest single cost factor.

R. J. Chambers, assistant chief engineer, Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills, Ltd., Quebec, and K. C. Logan, director of development, North-eastern Paper Products, Ltd., Quebec, said in a brief that the disposal of bark and its preparation for use as fuel to generate steam have been perennial problems of mills.

They said to prepare bark for use as fuel, it must have its moisture content reduced and be broken up into small particles.

J. C. C. Gain, control chemist, Abitibi Power and Paper Company, Ltd., Sturgeon Falls, Ont., read a paper on the manufacture of corrugating board by the neutral sulphite process.

PITTSFORD, N. Y., Jan. 25 — (AP)—A passenger train escaped derailment Monday night when it hit an 1,100 pound rail which New York Central Railroad officials said had been placed across one track of the Auburn branch. The Syracuse-bound train was moving slowly at the time. It dragged the rail about 100 feet before coming to a stop.

Deer, Great Dane Pals Eat and Play Together

BRAMPTON, Jan. 25 — Duke and Bambi are the best of pals. They eat, sleep and play together. Duke is a Great Dane pup, Bambi a young fawn.

The two animals live together on the ABC Farms on No. 7 Highday, three miles west of Brampton. They romp and play together in the stable among the stalls of the farm's hackney ponies.

Bambi came to the farm last fall. Several men working in the fields discovered the young deer with its legs caught in a wire fence. The deer was released and immediately adopted by the workmen.

Bambi and Duke became pals the moment they met. Both are allowed out every day for a run in the stable corridors. They have their own eating dishes, but are a bit touchy when one attempts to sniff the other's dish.

Several weeks ago Bambi saw a chance to gain a little more freedom in the fields surrounding the barns. The farm crowd thought they had seen the last of the deer.

Later in the day Duke disappeared from the barn. He was gone for several hours. Just before evening Duke was seen crossing the fields toward home, with Bambi bouncing along beside him.

The pets are upset when separated. A couple of days ago Duke was taken to a veterinary in Brampton for a check. Bambi wouldn't eat. He set up a clamor until Duke came back.

Sir Stafford Cripps Says Britain Finds Too Many Things Planned

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Jan. 25 (CP) — A central issue in Britain's general election campaign is the historic argument about where a man leaves off and the state takes over.

Advocates of individual rights argue that state intervention in day-to-day living has gone too far Britain, by this analysis, is a country planned within an inch of her life.

The Socialists reply that it is better to be planned down to the last tedious triplicate rather than submit to the blind economic forces which it blames for mass poverty and unemployment of the inter-war years.

If the choice is to be between planning and pot luck, the Labor party will take planning.

Won't Take Chances

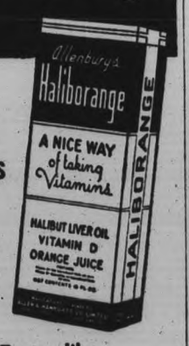
Says Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer and Labor's foremost exponent of a planned economy:

"We have for the first time based economic and financial planning of the government on the same sort of lines as any large, sound business enterprise would use.

"It is infinitely more important that the country's economy and finances should be properly planned and understood by parliament and the people, than that, let us say, Imperial Chemical Industries (one of Britain's biggest privately-owned companies) should conduct its business on properly planned lines, as of course it does.

"This essential planning is resented by some people because it tends to hamper their individual power to do as they like regardless of the interests of the nation. In these days of great economic perplexities it just isn't possible to allow individuals to waste the nation because they themselves get more profits or an easier life by so doing."

A different viewpoint has been expressed by Sir Colin Anderson, United Kingdom shipping magnate. While acknowledging that private businesses "are not a number of sweetmeats in boxes reserved either for descendants of those who invented them or for the first envious group that claims them," Sir Colin warned state control has its dangers.



"Where will it stop?" Sir Colin asked. "The obvious difficulty is to define where we draw a line at which we can stand and say: 'I do not want my front garden planned for me; I refuse to send my ship to load, at a loss, a cargo bought in bulk by a government department that seeks at my expense to show a profit on its annual operation'."

Outline Work Of Dealers In Investments

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

What is an investment dealer?—A question of interest to any one with savings.

The names of many investment companies are well known to the public, but because they deal in complicated financial matters they seem somewhat mysterious.

J. W. G. Clark, executive assistant to the president of the Investment Dealers' Association of Canada, gives a simple explanation and this, in part, is it:

We know that life insurance companies provide us with a means of protecting our wives and families; that trust companies manage estates; that banks provide us with the means of saving our money.

The investment dealer is not these. Neither is he a stock broker

The stock broker deals mostly in stocks and conducts a sort of shopping service for people who want to buy and sell stocks. He charges a commission for his service and doesn't enter into actual ownership of the stocks.

Just A Merchant

So what does the investment dealer do? He is a merchant, just as the grocer is a merchant. He buys securities, mostly bonds, but also common stocks, and sells them at a profit. He uses his money to carry securities on his "shelves" just as the grocer carries canned goods or fresh vegetables.

He thus provides machinery for the useful employment of your savings.

He is the third side of a triangle, of which one side is the borrower—the man who wants money to expand his business, or the town that needs a new school. The remaining side is you if you have saved money and are prepared to invest it.

He is adviser to both. He buys securities from the borrower and sells them to you. The borrower gets the money he needs and you get a share in a business, or a government bond.

Turn To Him

Governments—federal, provincial, municipal—turn to him when they are in need of financing. Perhaps it is for a city hall; perhaps it is a province which is prepared to guarantee a $25,000,000 Hydro issue. Maybe a manufacturing concern that wants to double its capacity and requires a large sum to erect factories, purchase machinery and equipment.

Or perhaps there is a great war and the Canadian government calls on investment dealers to organize and conduct war finance committees to sell hundreds of millions, billions of dollars of Victory bonds.

We think it is the responsibility of investment dealers in Canada to do their utmost to increase the number of men and women that have a direct stake in our country through ownership of corporate securities.

Lung Cancer Occupational Disease–Ruling

TORONTO, Jan. 25—(CP)—Dr. William Boyd, Professor of Pathology at the University of Toronto, said Tuesday that lung cancer is an occupational disease in certain industries.

He was testifying in public hearings on operation of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act.

Dr. Boyd said the lung cancer rate found in workers at the Consumers Gas Company depot in Toronto was six times higher than the general rate for men in the same age group.

Dr. Boyd said that medical evidence showed a high incidence of lung cancer in nickel, copper and chrome-plating industries, and wherever workmen were exposed to fumes from tar products.

He replied in the affirmative when Mr. Justice Roach asked whether a case of lung cancer could reasonably be attributed to a man's employment if the man had been breathing cancer-producing cases.

The Commissioner was asked by Reg Wright, of the International Union of Chemical Workers to recommend the inclusion of lung cancer in such plants as a compensation disease under the act.

Latest Thing In Churches At Rebuilt St. Columba's

By DON GINLBERT

LONDON, Jan. 25—(CP)—Many a Scots heart rejoiced at news that a start is soon to be made in the rebuilding of St. Columba's in Knightsbridge, reputed to be the most famous Kirk outside Scotland. The Church was—and still is in its temporary quarters—a religious and social centre for thousands of Scots who have made their homes and careers in London. Nine years ago it was bombed an almost completely burned out.

Now the Ministry of Works has granted a licence authorizing £70,000 ($217,000) worth of work on a new structure. Some time this year, it is expected, the Queen will lay the foundation stone.

As the premier Scottish Church in London—the only other is the small Crown Court Church in Covent Garden— St. Columba's played an important part in the religious and social life of the Scottish community, said the ministry.

Have Three Floors

The new St. Columba's will have three floors, arranged so everyone in the congregation will see the communion table, pulpit and lectern. An elevator will assist elderly churchgoers to the upper floors.

Dr. R. F. V. Scott, minister, said St. Columba's has many ties with Canada. One of his most vivid memories of the night the church was blitzed is of a Canadian Army Padre staying nearby who helped salvage as much as possible from the flaming building.

The padre, Dr. Scott recalled, was Dr. W. T. R. Flemington, now president of Mount Allison University, Sackville, N. B. Dr. Flemington went about gathering up hymn books and anything else that could be carried to safety.

Dr. Scott said many small gifts had been received from Canada toward the £150,000 needed for the new church, of which £130,000 has been raised. Lord Beaverbrook, born in a Canadian manse, gave £25,000.

St. Columba's numbers cabinet ministers and members of Parliament among its managers and elders. The late Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General of Canada, was an elder. Andrew Bonar Law, the only Canadian to become Prime Minister of Britain, worshipped there.

Canada On Eve Of Important Development

LONDON, Jan. 25 — (CP). — Canada is on the eve of "the most important natural resource development program in its history," C. Gordon Cockshutt of Brantford, said Tuesday.

Cockshutt, leader of a 12-man Canadian group which, with the British delegation makes up the United Kingdom-Canada Trade Committee, addressed the opening meeting of the committee here. The Trade Committee was formed in Quebec last year.

"Within the next few years we expect to add $400,000,000 or $500,000,000 to the value of our annual exportable wealth from new developments actually started," Cockshutt said.

He said the committee's prime interest is to improve and enlarge trade relations between the two countries.

Need Convertible Currency

"It is of fundamental importance that we agree on the necessity of getting our two nations back to the point where our two currencies will again be freely converible," he continued.

For the first time since the war British prices had become competitive with Canada's on many items.

"We hope price advantages you have gained will not turn out to be a vicious circle in which the present appearance of lower sterling prices disappears under the pressure of inflated demands from the sterling area itself," he added. "We in Canada want to return with all possible speed to free and enlarged trade with both the sterling and dollar worlds."

Give 70 Super-Forts

LONDON, Jan. 25 (AP) — The United States will give Britain about 70 Superfortresses (B-29s) and some sorely needed raw materials under an arms aid agreement now nearly complete. Diplomatic officials who reported this Tuesday night said the agreement probably will be signed in Washington this week-end.

Doug Graham's Team Wins Bowling Honors

Doug Graham's team took top honors in the opening round of the YMCA-Hi-Y Bowling League Tuesday with a score of 688. They defeated Miles Finnie's team, who rolled 594. In the other games, Bill Stewart with 650 won from Bob Howe 608, while Harold Grafstein took Dave Fanning 628-616. Lionel Hempstead rolled the high single with 202.

Donald Duncan, boys' work secretary, said the league was started to fill in the open time after the clubs' luncheons on Tuesdays. Saunders Rejects Lower Cost Claim

TORONTO, Jan. 25 — (CP) — Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, in a broadcast address Tuesday night, rejected the claim of some municipalities in the 60-cycle area that they should not be charged with any share of the cost of conversion of the 25-cycle area.

Mr. Saunders said that of 114 municipalities in the 60-cycle area, all except 15 received substantial reductions in cost immediately when the Eastern Ontario and Georgian Bay divisions merged with the 25-cycle Niagara division in 1944. The remainder, he said, were taken care of in the second year of amalgamation.

He cited reductions from $31.57 to $23.54 in the cost per horsepower to Owen Sound, from $25.58 to $20.17 at Peterborough, from $25.90 to $20.07 for Kingston and from $24.96 to $19.60 at Belleville.

Another benefit was the interchange of power made possible by merging the three divisions.

Palechuk To Be Tried For Cabbie's Murder

WELLAND, Jan. 25 — (CP) — Michael Palechuk, 19, Tuesday night was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the slaying of Arthur Gough, 27, St. Catharines taxi-driver.

Gough's body was found in a ditch in Crowland township on Dec. 23. His skull was crushed, his trouser pockets had ben turned inside out and his car was nearby.

Paul Busch, 17, said he had been acquainted with the accused and that Palechuk told him on Jan. 3 that "'the papers said Gough carried $10, but actually he had only $8 with him.' I took it all as a joke," Busch said.

Australia Experiences Big Boom In Wool

BOSTON, Jan. 25 (AP) — The biggest boom in the history of the Australian wool industry is in full swing and since Australia is the world's largest producer of fine apparel wool, this isn't going to help the North American clothing budget.

The price of fine apparel wools at the current Australian auctions mounts steadily. Records are being smashed daily.

Prices at the Australian sales have jumped some 25 per cent since the opening of the auctions early this month.

In Boston, heart of the wool trading of the United States, mills are reported paying 41 cents a pound more for apparel wools than they did last September.

McNaughton Holds Several Jobs Canada's Ace Trouble-Shooter

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 25 — (CP) — With eperience as a top-ranking soldier, diplomat, scientist and statesman, Gen A. G. L. McNaughton naturally holds down several jobs at once

This week the 62-year-old McNaughton ends a two-year term as head of Canada's permanent delegation to the United Nations. He leaves for Ottawa Jan. 27 and a new post as member of the International Joint Commission — which oversees problems of water which touch both United States and Canada.

McNaughton will continue to be chairman of the Canadian section of the joint United States-Canada Board of Defence. He carried out that duty throughout his stay at the United Nations.

What's more, he expects to travel from Ottawa to Lake Success each time the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission meets. While John Holmes will take over as acting head of the delegation, McNaughton will continue as Canada's representative in atomic talks—a job he has held for four years.

Ace Trouble-Shooter

And no one will be surprised if the Canadian government finds more talks for the man who has gained the reputation of one of the dominion's ace trouble-shooters on the international scene. Highlights in McNaughton's career include:

Commander-in-chief of Canada's armed forces overseas during the Second World War; Defence Minister, President of Canada's Atomic Energy Control Board, President of the National Research Board and a joint inventor of a cathode-ray direction finder.

Looking back on his experience in the U. N., McNaughton said in an interview:

"Atomic energy control is the most important single international political issue."

The drawn-out deadlock on the problem has not tempted him to give up hope agreement will be reached. He believed there will be in time effective international control of atomic energy.

U. N.'s Future

Asked what he saw for the U. N.'s future, McNaughton said: "The more I have seen of the U. N.'s organization and functioning, the more I am convinced of the soundness of the basis on which it has been conceived and set up. There have been a number of temporary disappointments but on the whole my four years here have been a very heartening experiment.

"I think the whole organization, especially in the specialized agencies and the economic and social fields, is gaining momentum and going in the right direction."

Ad Executive T. E. Walsh Dies

WINDSOR, Jan. 25 — (CP) — Thomas E. Walsh, former newspaperman and nationally-known advertising executive, collapsed and died at his desk late Tuesday at the age of 61.

Born in London, Ont., Walsh became that city's youngest editor with the Free Press at the age of 25 and moved on to advertising six years later and to eventually found the Walsh Advertising Company.

In 1946 he retired from his firm and sold it. Later he joined the McGuire Advertising Limited as its vice-president and was at the company's desk when he collapsed.

Question Account On Lions' Pool

Board of works expressed doubt Monday night of the council's liability for a bill of $2,594 from the Lions Club for extra cost on their swimming pool at Riverside Park caused by change of its location as ordered by the council last year.

Burnham St. residents had objected to the first site as being too close to the street line, and thereby to their houses. Lion Club agreed to move the pool further into the park, and Ald Young said the city had assumed cost of an electric pump and its installation for the purpose of altered sanitary connection to the street sewer.

Ald. Waddell said that work had been paid for. "I think we need more information about the items in this bill."

"We can ask the Club to send several of their members to discuss it with us," Mayor Swanston proposed. That suggestion was approved.

"And let us have a copy of the original resolution," said Ald. Gillespie. "I think we agreed to pay for the pump and also something for the sidewalk from the street to the pool."

"It is little for the service we are going to get from the Lions' investment," Ald. Anglesey commented. "It might be the proverbial straw."

Second Break-in In Daylight

The second daylight breakin and theft this week was reported to police Tuesday night when Mrs. Louis Yeotes, 446 Gordon Ave., told police that $25 in cash, some jewellery, clothing and liquor were missing from her home.

Mrs. Yeotes said that she left the house with Miss Stella Retzos, who lives in the same house, about 3.30 p.m. They returned about 6.30 p.m.

They found Miss Retzos' and Mrs. Yeotes' rooms ransacked. Drawers had been pulled open and their contents strewn over the floor.

Entry had been made by the back door which had been locked, but the thieves managed to open it. Constables William G. Scott and Donald S. Mackay did the preliminary investigation.

Monday afternoon the home of Mrs. Peter DeCarlo, 17 Moir St., was broken into and about $50 taken.

Difference Between Dog, Deer Hair Court Informed

Judgement was reserved in the trial of a Chandos man, Richard T. Bunt, charged with having deer in his possession during the closed season, by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

Game Overseer Robert Trotter testified that Nov. 11, two days before the deer season opened, he found the entrails of a deer lying on the south shore of Eel's Lake in Anstruther township. A short distance away, he found the front half of a deer hanging on some improvised poles. The hind feet and the skin of the doe were also there. Game Overseer Ray Simpson assisted in the investigation.

The next day, Officer Trotter obtained two search warrants to cover both the tenant of the house he intended to search, Bunt, and the owner of the house Richard Watson, who boards with Bunt.

Discovered Meat

He searched Bunt's home and in a kitchen cupboard discovered a dish of meat he believed to be venison. He identified the venison by its texture, color and smell. He also said there were hairs on the meat when he first took it which he believed to be deer hairs.

In answer to cross questioning by defence counsel, W. B. Gordon, Officer Trotter produced samples of dog and deer hair in court. He demonstrated that deer hair could be broken easily because it was hollow and was a good deal more coarse than dog hair. He said the hair on the seized venison produced in court as an exhibit was the same as the sample of deer hair he had.

Officer Trotter said he did not show his search warrants either to Mrs. Bunt or Watson who were there when he first arrived. He testified when Bunt arrived a short time later, Bunt's first words were: "I know what you're looking for. You want to know where I got the venison."

He said Bunt then told him that he had found the venison in the bush back of the house hanging about 20 feet from the ground in an evergreen tree. The Game Overseer told the court he asked Bunt to show him where he got the venison. Bunt's answer was that he would try, but did not hold out much hope for success.

They searched in the bush for about half an hour. Officer Trotter said he asked Bunt how he cut through the bone. Bunt replied that he had used a small hatchet. The officer pointed out there was no bone in the piece of venison he found in the Bunt house.

Peryer Retires As Bandmaster

Officers of Peterborough Citizens' Band for this year have been elected as follows:

Honorary presidents, Mayor Swanston and Ald. H. Dodds; past president, E. G. Myles; president, S. K. Mills; vice-president, H. J. Parnell; secretary-treasurer, S. J. Rowe; band manager, J. Kokesh; trustees, F. Smith, L. Irwin, A. Walters; committee, G. Johns and R. Viney; bandmaster, Wallace H. Parnell.

Mr. Wallace Parnell is succeeding Capt. W. H. Peryer who recently retired from the leadership but is continuing in active membership with the organization he helped materially to establish. As evidence of his interest, for example, Capt. Peryer, an accomplished cornetist, switched for the rehearsal Tuesday evening to the tympani.

As a community enterprise the band is directly responsible to the Recreation Commission. The prospect for this year of the municipality's centenary is that the band is likely to receive quite a number of special assignments as the events of the year are decided.

Southern India Leads World In Church Union

Southern India leads the world in church union, Dr. Catherine Whittier, a medical missionary on leave from India, told the Peterborough Fresbyterial of the Woman's Missionary Society, at the annual all-day meeting Tuesday in Knox church.

When the Anglican church united with nonconformist churches it did so at great sacrifice, because financial help from the English Anglican church was withdrawn. It meant a loss of approximately £40,000, Dr. Whittier explained.

Before the advent of Christianity in India a little more than 150 years ago, women had small chance of education, Dr. Whittier said. Because of the work of Christian missions, India's women are coming to the fore, taking their place among the women of the world and in some instances leading them.

Dr. Whittier described the great interchange of Hindus and Mohameds between India and Pakistan at the time the country was granted independence from the British government. There were between five and seven million refugees and Christians acted in the capacity of liaison officers between the two races. Feelings ran high as the refugees met on their journeys and fighting was the result.

The missionary described an operating room which her mission set up in a school room. The wounded often hid for weeks, fearing to come into the open for treatment, lest the enemy was near.

Two dolls, dressed as Hindu and Mohamed women were displayed by Dr. Whittier and she interpreted the meaning of the differences between the customs of the two races.

Strive For Temperance

Dr. Whittier spoke of the new government's determination to stamp out drinking and transform India into a temperate country.

Because of the illiteracy of the country, Christians had far greater representation in public office than was justifiable by numbers alone. All university students were now being obliged to teach adults to read and write and even when on holiday, teachers were expected to spend a certain amount of time teaching.

Dr. Whittier addressed the Presbyterial at the afternoon and evening sessions of the silver anniversary meeting. Her second address dealt with the medical work done by Christian missions in Central India. She had been working in the Central provinces of India, first going there in 1927.

In Central India the United Church has seven hospitals three of which are without doctors. Two of the doctors are Canadian and one hospital is in charge of a Canadian nurse, Dr. Whittier said.

Dr. S. Y. Walsh Heads Alumni Of Toronto 'U'

A new executive, headed by president Dr. S. Y. Walsh, was elected at an annual meeting of the Peterborough branch of the University of Toronto Alumni Association held in the Queen Mary School auditorium Tuesday night.

The meeting marked the first anniversary of the local branch formed about a year ago.

Guest speaker for the evening was M. B. Hastings, B.A.Sc., Toronto, past president of the Alumni Federation.

The members of the executive proposed by a nomination committee under chairman Miss Margarte M. McCulloch were headed by two honorary presidents, Dr. G. S. Cameron and R. L. Dobbin.

The executive is as follows: president, Dr. S. Y. Walsh; first vice-president, T. J. Carley, KC; second vice-president, Dr. H. J. Long; secretary, Mrs. W. Ross Thompson; treasurer, Miss Ila Giles; executive members, J. B. Lillico and Mrs. J. Wharry; membership convener, Dr. H. J. Long; program convener, W. R. Philp, K.C.

On the board of directors, each representing a faculty of the university, are: Grant Morrow, W. M. Cruthers, Dr. J. J. Craig, Mrs. C. A. Sollitt, Miss G. A. Fowler, D. J. R. Morgan, J. F. Lynch, Dr. E. P. Ray, Miss A. L. Thompson, J. R. Corkery, Miss M. M. McCulloch, John Hornal, Miss Margaret White and Miss Rachel Young.

Mr. Hastings' subject was "A Graduate Looks at the University in 1950." His audience had a glimpse of the university of Toronto through a collection of colored slides Mr. Hastings had shown.

Post Graduate Work

The slides pictured old and new university buildings both on and off the campus. He said a new trend had developed in the university so that Varsity "has become the post graduate university of Canada." He said there were 2,000 men and women engaged in post graduate work in the university this year.

Another 14,000 are taking courses through the extension department. He pointed out that although the university is a state university in the sense that about one-third of its income comes from the provincial government, it enjoyed all the benefits of a private university. This was possible because the University Act is prepared and amended by university authorities. There has never been an occasion, he said, when the Act was ever discussed on the floor of the legislature.

Mr. Hastings pointed out that there was a large number of men and women who have the ability to benefit by university training whose financial situation robs them of the opportunity. This indicated a job for the Peterborough Branch of the Association he said. He suggested that the branch should organize its members into committees designed to provide scholarships to help those who need help.

Mr. Hastings was introduced by Morley Sparling, executive secretary of the Alumni Association and thanked by T. J. Carley, KC. Ross L. Dobbin was chairman.

2 Chairs Cost $434

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 25—(CP)—The town council of Belfast, Ont., paid £140 ($434) Tuesday for a pair of chairs used by King George V and Queen Mary at an investiture here in 1921. The chairs were the property of the late Sir Crawford McCullagh, 19 times mayor of Belfast.

Canadian Producers Face $40,000,000 Loss, Liquidating Part of Flocks

Canadian poultry farmers will lose $40,000,000 in a 10 to 15% liquidation of their flocks, as estimated by Albert Seiling of Elmira in a practical talk to 60 or more local breeders here Tuesday afternoon. The meeting produced a unanimous motion by George Lockington and E. Payne asking the federal government for a 42-cent floor under top grade eggs. Copies are to be sent to Robert McCubbin, M.P., agricultural adviser to federal agriculture minister Hon. Jas. S. Gardiner and others. G. A. Brethen of Norwood was chairman.

Saving Put In Poultry

Mr. Seiling criticized the government for its failure, he said, to warn the industry both in timeliness and emphasis of the full facts of the termination of the British export contract as it approached. His sympathy was stirred particularly by the plight of the ex-service men who had gone into the poultry business after getting home from the war, and had invested their savings and service gratuity in it.

The company of Peterborough poultry and egg men listened raptly to the practical talk by Mr Seiling, giving them the benefit of much of his experience of 30 years since he set up his first brooder.

He concurred in the strong recommendations for a broad reduction of 10 to 15% in the total number of hens as a consequence of the loss of export business. Their total number was around 50,000,000. Proposed decimation would remove seven and a half million. At an average cost of $5 covering livestock and equipment values, the total capital loss to the poultry industry in this country would be something like $40 millions.

Deserted Sinking Ship

When the end was in sight, and must have been fully understood by some members of the government, "they deserted the sinking ship like rats," Mr. Seiling said.

In Mr. Seiling's opinion of market trends was the prospect of a return to high prices next summer, possibly higher than ever, as breeders and others sacrificed their flocks, perhaps drastically reducing the number of layers in the country. In two or three months the reaction would set in with declining volume of eggs and increasing prices. Mr. Seiling suggested that nobody would get any benefit out of the slump and recovery.

In his comments on poultry practice, Mr. Seiling said there was no money in hens until "you get up to 2,500 of them." He talked generally in terms of big flocks from 4,000 to 12,000.

Mechanization of feeding houses, he said, would enable one man to look after 4,000 to 5,000 birds.

ENGINEERING INTEREST

Companies specializing in concrete piling work as far off as New York were interested in the Memorial Centre job on the George St. property at Rink St. Mr. J. S. Craig of the architects' firm of W. and W. R. L. Blackwell and Craig, told the board of works Monday Night.

INVESTITURE of Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, as domestic prelate, by Bishop J. G. Berry Tuesday evening was largely attended by diocesan clergy and parishioners. Monsignor Butler was ordained priest Feb. 11, 1923. (Roy Studio Photo)

Must Pay $47.35 For Leaving Scene Of Crash

Found guilty of failing to remain at the scene of an accident, William Kinsman, 868 George St., was fined $25 and $22.35 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court today.

The charge was laid as the result of an accident on Lansdowne St. West and Monaghan Road December 23.

Ross Curlew, Perth, testified he was driving east on Lansdowne St. in the afternoon at a speed less than 30 miles an hour. A truck passed him going in the opposite direction. Following the truck was a car which turned out to the centre of the road. The two cars hit, doing little damage to either. The left side of Curlew's car was scraped.

Curlew said he drove to the side of the road, stopped and got out. He looked back to the other car, and about 200 feet away and saw the driver open his door, look back, then drive on.

He said he jumped back in his car and went after the other car. He caught it after it had turned left into Erskine Ave. The driver of the other car was Kinsman, he said. He added he thought Kinsman had been drinking heavily. The other passenger in the car, he thought, was drunk.

He testified that neither Kinsman nor his passenger would give him their names when he asked for them. He took note of the licence number and went to call police.

Had To Hunt Car

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley said he and Curlew had to hunt for the car and Kinsman, but when they found Kinsman about an hour later he was a borderline drunk.

In his own defence, Kinsman said he had had nothing to drink before the accident. He testified that when he looked back at the other car immediately after the accident it was moving. He thought the driver considered there was so little damage there was no point in stopping and drove on himself.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court Kinsman was driving a fellow worker's car without his consent.

"There is no question in my mind that Mr. Curlew is to be believed," Magistrate Philp said in convicting Kinsman.

Reports Funds Spent On Hall

BONARLAW, Jan. 25 (ENS) — The annual vestry meeting of St. Mark's Church Monday was the best attended in the history of the church. The Rural Dean, Rev. J. M. Brownlie presided.

The rector's warden, Ronald A. Brown, reported a substantial balance and all accounts paid in full.

The report of the Women's Auxiliary was presented by the president, Mrs. Everett Heath and revealed a substantial balance.

The Sunday school report was given by J. F. Baker and the Junior W. A. by Mrs. R. A. Brown, showing both these organizations in a healthy condition.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Rector's Warden, Ronald A. Brown re-appointed by the rector; people's warden, Everett Heath, re-elected by the vestry; delegate to Synod, Ronald Brown and proxy W. J. Barlow.

Discuss Many Uses Of Cereals In Diet

MILLBROOK, Jan. 25 (ENS)— The Cereal Boosters, the girls' club under the auspices of the Women's Institutes, met Saturday at the home of their leader, Mrs. Hilton.

Doris Hutchinson, the president, was in the chair, nine girls answered the roll call and there were two guests.

Different grains and their uses were discussed and also how cereals could be used at every meal. Beverley Patton judged a menu contest.

The girls made macaroni and tomatoes, macaroni and cheese and rolled oat cookies.

The home assignment was to make a dish of macaroni with either tomatoes or cheese, and to make one rolled oat dish.

For Bad Winter Cough, Mix This Syrup Yourself

If you want a splendid cough medicine, mix it at home. It costs very little, yet the way it takes hold of distressing coughs, giving quick relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with a 2½ ounce bottle of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 ounce bottle and fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. (Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.) It's no trouble at all and gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money—a family supply. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps to clear the air passages. This three-fold action explains why it relieves an annoying cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a very reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Rev. P. P. Butler

Address Read

A delegation of men of the parish presented Mons. Butler with an address of congratulation upon the recognition of his priestly and pastoral service by the Pope. It was read by Mr. Edward V. O'Toole. The address was accompanied by a cheque from the members of the parish.

The gift was presented by Mr. John Black and the address by Mr. F. J. Overend. It is a beautiful product of the penmanship and art of the Sisters of the Precious Blood.

The religious life of Monsignor Butler began with his baptism as an infant when the cathedral parish embraced urban Peterborough and its nearby rural areas. He was born in Ashburnham where his parents lived, but St. Peter's was then the only Roman Catholic church in the city. It was there he received the sacraments of holy communion and confirmation, and it was also the scene of his ordination to the priesthood by the late Archbishop M. J. O'Brien on Feb. 11, 1923.

The church of his present rectorship saw the fulfilment of the vocation of Monsignor Butler, and the bestowal upon him of the honor of appointment as domestic prelate, following the request to the Pope by Bishop Berry.

Virtually explanatory remarks by Bishop Berry referred to the ceremony of investiture. The hierachy of the church was not confined to archbishops and bishops, as generally assumed. The council of Trent decreed that it included priests and other ministers at the altar.

The church was the tabernacle of the blessed eucharist as the embodiment of the real presence of Christ Himself, Bishop Berry said. That faith and devotion through the centuries explained the riches of art and architecture proclaiming the honor and glory which the church everywhere paid to the presence of the Lord. In that historic belief it was not to be wondered at that those who served in close proximity to the altar should be surrounded by respect and dignity and honor from all the rest of the church. "Through the power inherent in the sacrament of holy orders they, in the divine providence, take bread and wine as the blessed Saviour did and by transubstantiation it becomes the body and blood, soul and divinity of our Lord."

"The royal purple of pagan Rome was brought into the church and was consecrated to this high use of giving glory to the presence of our divine Master. The bishops were clothed in purple, but their assistants have also been raised to that dignity. Your rector has been singled out among the priests of the diocese to wear the Roman purple, insignia recognizing respect and honor.

"I give you Monsignor Butler with great joy. He has come down through 27 years in the priesthood with the respect of his associates in that order, and with the love of the people among whom he has worked in missions, in rural parts of the diocese and in this industrial city of Peterborough.

"May he have your prayers as well as your respect and honor, and it is our wish that he may be spared many more years to labor faithfully and diligently in the service of his church here. No priest would want to have honor come to him if it was not a means of bringing Christ more and more to the notice of his fellows."

Bishop Webster Preaches

"St. Paul perfectly sums what may be said of the greatness, the dignity and the duty of the Christian priesthood when he says: 'Let a man so account us as ministers of Christ and stewards of the mysteries of God.' And Christ Himself said: 'I will not call you servants .... I have called you friends because all things whatsoever I have heard of the Father I have made known to you.'" Bishop Webster said in his sermon.

Speaking of the divine commission to the Church and of the primacy of St. Peter and his successors, Bishop Webster said: "It is not my purpose to try to express in words what the papacy means to the church and to each of us. But, at the beginning of this Holy Year, I plead with you to hearken to the voice of Christ's vicar on earth. The Church is the body of Christ. It is Christ living in the world. It is not a number of individuals, but the totality of redeemed humanity united to and in Christ. He is the head of the church, and we are His members, and members one of another.

"Only when the world places its trust in Christ, can we hope for that peace for which we long and pray. Keep the Holy Year as a year of prayer and penance, and by your truly holy lives bring men to believe in God, in Christ whom He has sent to us, in the church which He established, for Christ speaks through that church just as truly as he did in the streets of Jerusalem and on the plains of Galilee."

Monsignor Butler expressed with deep feeling his thanks to all those who were present to share with him in the honor he had received. He said he should first address his parishioners, but he asked them to give him the privilege of speaking first to Bishop Berry. He thanked His Excellency for having proposed him to the Pope for the dignity of becoming a Domestic Prelate.

To the priests of the diocese, his seminary classmates represented by Bishop Webster and to the parish as a whole Mons. Butler said he was more grateful than his words could express.

"There is a group here I wish to mention. They are of my own flesh and blood. Their number is smaller because my parents are not there with them, but it is also larger because of the children of my brothers and sisters, and also through the marriage of members of my family."

"I love this church and this city in which I was born and grew up. I humbly hope that this honor is reflected upon my native city. The Mayor of Peterborough was a boyhood friend in Ashburnham. We grew up together. Our paths separated, but today he is mayor of this city with its cathedral in which this ceremony has taken place. We have been friends down through the years.

"My love for my church and my city includes my love for all in this community. I pray that God will promote its success, will make it a city of peaceful homes and brotherly love. It is the best of places to live in."

Mayor Swanston and Ald. Hurrell Dodds, both of Ashburnham, attended the rite of investiture.

Monsignor Butler said that when he gave the papal blessing as permitted to him it would be with the invocation that it would go out over this parish and this city, "and may it bring you all God's special grace and favor".

Bishop Berry was attended by Rev. V. J. Corkery and Rev. F. A. Marrocco; Bishop Webster by Rev. C. J. Carroll of Norwood and Rev. F. Bennett of Wexford; and Monsignor Butler by Rev. Joseph Walsh and Rev. Charles Kay. Master of ceremonies was Rev. John F. Coghlan.

The Monsignor's purple investments include the sutane in that color and also a black sutane with purple cord trim, biretta, mantelletta, cincture, rochet or cape.

A GRANDMOTHER, Mrs. Joseph Lacas, 51, flanked by a Provincial Police officer, appeared nervous and upset at her arraignment a few days ago. She was charged with kidnapping her two grandchildren and with attempted suicide while being held for questioning in police cells following the disappearance of the youngsters.

Western Counterfeiter Baffles RCMP With His Methods After Year

OTTAWA, Jan. 25.—(CP).—A western counterfeiter, who claimed to be a novice, still has police baffled more than a year after he was sent to prison.

His counterfeit bills, RCMP experts say, are too good to be made in the way he described.

The case is outlined in the annual report of Commissioner S. T. Wood.

He told how a counterfeiter from a western city was finally caught in Elbow, aSsk., after leaving a trail of bogus $10 United States bills across the three prairie provinces.

He pleaded guilty and in August, 1948, was sentenced to two years in penitentiary. He told in detail how he made the notes and his equipment.

But the RCMP don't believe him. They say his bills were too good to be made by a novice at engraving with home-made equipment.

Doubt Story

The report said the bills were "crisp, easily cracked and the etching uneven." But while they couldn't disprove it, they doubted the man's story of how he—an "amateur" counterfeiter — made the plates from a chunk of brass well cylinder.

This was the story:

"I took a $10 American bill and split it. I took each half and fixed them face down on a brass plate using a mixture of varnish and Scotch tape. I then secured a number of files and sharpened them for use as engraving tools.

"After sticking the split bill on the brass, I used one of the files, sharpened to a needle point, and traced the design on the brass. I then removed what was left of the paper and drilled out the larger parts of the design by a power drill using the various sharpened files of finer details. The shading in the head and other parts were done largely by guess work.

"When tracing the design on the brass I made a number of pin pricks and not a continuous line so that I did not entirely ruin the bill and had it to use for a comparison while I was filling in the detail. After finishing the engraving I did not use any special treatment for the plates but ran off some samples, making various corrections.

Front and back of the bills were then glued together.

Seize Equipment.

In his home, police seized the plates, a small printing press, 364 complete counterfeits and a number of uncompleted bills.

Expert at the crime detection laboratory in Regina examined the plates in detail.

"It was difficult" the report said "for authorities to give credence to the account of the method employed in making the plates, as the workmanship appeared of too high quality to be attributable to an admittedly unskilled artisan.

"Engraving experts examined the plates and were of the opinion they had been turned out by an experienced technician thoroughly acquainted with trade methods and using excellent tools. It was considered extremely improbable that any success could be achieved by using the system outlined by the accused."

Just Let It Drop

With this observation of doubt, the matter stands. The man, Arthur Ronald Weiss of Regina, was sentenced to two years each on charges of possessing notes and using the plates, the terms running concurrently. His brother, Aldon Lowell Weiss, pleaded guilty to similar charges but denied any part in the manufacture of the notes. He was given a two-year suspended sentence.

But neither was charged with actually making the plates, so the doubt in the minds of RCMP investigators was not followed up.

"It won't be followed up," said one headquarters official, "unless some new evidence should arise. "It's just one of those cases where you get so far and can't go any further."

No blame was attached to Shelton. Testimony showed Smith's body was lying on the road when run over.

Ski Club Runs Kempt's Hill

Negotiations were completed late last week for the Peterborough Ski Club to manage the Kempt's Hill skiing area. Under this new agreement a group of Ski Club members purchased the equipment and leased the hill. The Hill will be run in the interests of the Peterborough Ski Club.

Arthur Long was the former operator of the skiing facilities. For the past two years he has been gradually building up the area until now it is one of the main skiing centres in the Peterborough area.

With the addition of Kempt's Hill to the Ski Club, it now controls the two best skiing areas in the Peterborough district. The club's main skiing grounds of about 250 acres are near Bethany.

Skiing hours on Kempt's Hill will be the same as under Mr. Long, Saturdays and Sundays 1-5 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday nights 7:30 until 10, and Wednesday afternoons 2-5.

"Super" was the comment from the crowd of skiers who attempted the slopes at Kempt's Tuesday night. It was the first night of skiing at night under the newly-erected floodlights. Skiing was supposed to stop at 10 but under pressure by the skiers the management allowed the tow to operate until 10:30.

A freezing rain met the crowd just at the opening hour 7:30 and continued for a half an hour. After that the skiing was fast on six to eight inches of snow.

Royal Canadian Mint Swamped With Designs For New Nickel

OTTAWA, Jan. 25—(CP)—With suggestions ranging from the Dionne quints to the Pope, the Royal Canadian mint is being literally swamed with entries in the Nickel - designing contest announced last week.

Last Wednesday the government offered a prize of $1,000 for the best design for the back of the Canadian five-cent piece. The new nickel will commemorate the 200th anniversary of the isolation and naming of the metal known as nickel.

Miss Muriel MacDonald, secretary to W. C. Ronson, master of the mint, estimated Tuesday that at least 500 designs have been received already.

"It's becoming almost ridiculous," she said. "Everybody and his uncle is having a go at it."

Files Designs

Miss Macdonald said her job is to file designs and answer the hundreds of requests for further information on the contest. She has drafted an answer sheet for such inquiries. In addition, receipt of each design has to be acknowledged.

Most of the designs thus far have come from Ontario and Quebec with others beginning to filter in from the West and Maritimes.

Along with such suggestions as designs containing figures of the Pope or quintuplets, there are a few favoring Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, former Prime Minister.

Still others suggest various kinds of typical Canadian fish, the salmon, for instance.

The largest number of designs are similar to the present ones, containing such things as maple leaves and beavers.

"I've never known Canadians to show such interest in anything before," said Miss Macdonald. "The stream is getting heavier every day."

In addition to the $1,000 first prize, there may be four others for honorable mention of $250 each.

Each design must provide space for the words "Canada," "five cents," and the figures "1751-1951."

Organize Club For Pensioners

A club for old age pensioners will be started in the Ashburnham Hall by the Peterborough Recreation Commission, Alex Sinclair, recreation director said today. The suggestion that such a club should be formed was made by A. E. Borland, chairman of the Adult Education Committee.

Under the Soroptimist Club and the Commission it is planned to have the club operated two or three afternoons a week at the hall. There the men will be able to read books and magazine and play games of chess, checkers, darts and cards.

A meeting will be held for old age pensioners Tuesday at 2:30 in Ashburnham Hall. The number there will determine whether the club will be started and how many days it could be open.

Cobalt Area Properties Now Opening Up

TORONTO, Jan. 25 — (CP) — R. W. Liversidge, managing director of Silanco Mining and Smelting Co., Ltd., and Cobalt Chemical and Refining Co., Ltd., stated today that the operations of the two companies have been co-ordinated to a degree which is leading to he opening up of several properties in the Cobalt area. He stated that four Silanco mines are being opened and also two mills which will provide 70 per cent of the Cobalt Chemical's requirements immediately.

The mines are the Aguanico, Beaver and Temiskaming, which now are making shipments, and the Penn-Canadian, for which a program is under way. The mills are the Colonial, now opened, and the O'Brien, which is being opened.

Mr. Liveridge said the Cobalt Chemical plant, opened in its first stages November 19, already has taken 150,000 pounds of concentrates from Silanco; 20 tons of high-grade concentrates from Silver Miller Mines, Ltd.; 16 tons of high-grade silver concentrates containing cobalt from Silanco; and 11 tons of cobalt concentrates from independent producers.

Opening Up District

He stated that an engineer now is in the Cobalt area to review other properties with a view to bringing them into production. He described the whole district as "opening up."

At the Cobalt Chemical plant the silver division has been in production for about a fortnight and the smelter section of the Cobalt division is operating 24 hours daily, on three shifts.

He said Cobalt Chemical will be spending $300,000 to $400,000 a year for chemicals for its various processes in treating ore.

New technical appointments to Cobalt Chemical include:

W. Arthur Wall, graduate of the University of Toronto, formerly with the Ontario Department of Mines, who did the research work in the leaching process for the production of cobalt metal for the Rhokana Corporation in Northern Rhodesia. He becomes chief technical executive of the Cobalt division.

Cobalt Chemical recently received a contract for cobalt from the United States Government. The amount has not been announced because cobalt is a strategic material, but before the award was made it was reported that it would be in the vicinity of $3,500,000.

Power, Canadian vice-consul in Detroit, has asked Canadian courts for a divorce from Eleanor Kuznetzova, Russian ballerina he married in 1945 when he was private secretary to the Canadian ambassador to Moscow. Blames Citizens For Destruction Of Wild Life

KENORA, Jan. 25 (CP)—Wildlife conservation problems spring from the resident hunter, not the tourist, D. Leo Dolan, director of the Canadian Travel Bureau, said Tuesday.

Addressing the annual banquet of the Northern Ontario Outfitters' Association, he disagreed with what he called a prevalent belief that those "promoting the tourist industry are in some ways concerned with the destruction of our game and fish."

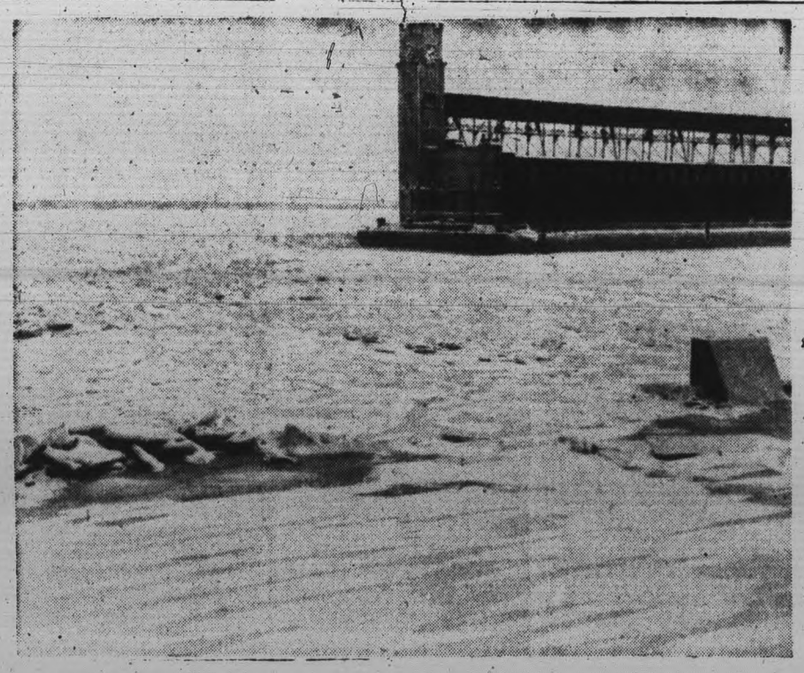
"I know of no tourist operator who is not sincerely concerned with the conservation of our wild life," he said. "To have any other policy would be to engage in a form of economic idiocy."

He said Canadian sportsmen, more than anyone else, are responsible for despoiling fish and game resources.

Game Department statistics indicated residents held by far the greater number of licences, and were convicted for most of the violations.

The figures indicated 283,000 hunting licences were issued to residents in 1949, as against 17,200 to non-residents.

"Surely no one in his right mind," Mr. Dolan said, "will tell me that 17,200 vistiing sportsmen will kill more game than 283,000 residents."



Total figures for all game in Canada in 1948 showed residents killed 105,788 animals and birds; non-residents 1,451.

Gov't Will Decontrol Steel And Timber

OTTAWA, Jan. 25 — (CP) — Primary steel and timber will be decontrolled when current legislation expires March 31, it was learned Tuesday.

It is understood the cabinet has decided not to seek renewal of government controls over these two commodities. Thus, authority over price and movement will return to industry and private trade for the first time in 11 years. Logs and pulpwood, only items under timber control, will become free.

The decision will mean that the offices of Timber Controller and Steel Controller will be abolished.

Lehman Plugs For Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (CP)—Senator Herbert H. Lehman (Dem., N.Y.) Tuesday plugged anew for the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

He told fellow senators he will fight for the project in every way he knows how.

Lehman, a former New York State governor, said it is his "fervent hope" that the Power Commission will not turn down, merely in anticipation of what Congress may or may not do, an application by New York State to develop only the power phase of the project.

Legislation before Congress calls for construction of both the seaway and power generation facilities.

Lehman said he asked the Power Commission to postpone its decision on the New York application "until the Congressional attitude on this matter is clarified."

A Commission examiner has recommended that the Commission turn down the New York proposal.

Nurses Save Indian Village In Grim Diphtheria Battle

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 25 (CP) —From a bleak northern camp, their food shared with pack rats, squirrels and weasels, two nurses fought a grim battle against an epidemic of diphtheria in a primitive Indian village.

Their courageous story—ending in victory—was told today in a report to the British Columbia Public Health Department.

Funeral Pyres greeted the nurses on their arrival at the primitive Indian village in Halfway Valley, 180 miles north and west of Fort St. John, deep in the wild mountain country west of the Alaska Highway.

The nurses, Miss A. Wilson of the Department of Indian Affairs, and Miss Aileen Bond of the British Columbia Health Department made the journey from Whitehorse, YT, by plane, truck, horse sleigh and finally snowshoes.

Before the battle was won there had been five deaths in the village in mid-December and all but four of a population of 52 had been ill.

Accompanied by Bill Boring, a teamster, Miss Wilson travelled a sleigh trail to establish her base camp.

Nothing Fancy

"It was an old log trading cabin built 30 years ago and now used to store grubstakes for trappers," she reported. It contained a rusty old cook stove, a sleeping bench, and a trading counter. She was joined some days later by Miss Bond.

The Indian village was four miles back in the mountains and it was first spotted through a funeral fire on a nearby hill.

"There had been another death that day," said Miss Wilson. "The forlorn camp presented an eerie sight. It consists of a collection of canvas teepees and a few squalid log shelters."

The first visit was at night, the nurse carrying her medical bag and flashlight.

"On the first inspection I found three sick patients. Two had almost complete membranes covering their throats and a third that day had his membrane removed by another Indian who had reached in with a pair of silver pliers and extracted the complete membrane. He was saving it as a souvenir."

60 Below Zero

The nurses spent three weeks in the camp, including Christmas Day when candy was distributed to the Indian children and snuff to adults.

During the long days it was never above zero and at times it was 40 to 60 below, followed by blizzards. Miss Wilson's first meal at the base camp was hardtack and frozen bully beef.

The nurses also made trips as far as 60 miles from the base camp to immunize other families in the district. They spent nights in a sleigh, warmed by hay and hot rocks.

Subsidies Only Help

MONTREAL, Jan. 25 (CP) — Government subsidies and low-cost housing construction appear the only possible help that federal authorities can bring to tenants, Mrs. T. Casgrain, national vice-president of the CCF party, said Tuesday night in a broadcast address.

Dance Plans Completed

St. Peter's Senior Sodality first meeting of the new year was held in St. Mary's School after the Holy Hour Sunday evening. Viceprefect Miss Mamie Sullivan was chairman. Business centred on last minute details regarding the "Snow Ball," the annual formal dance being held this Friday evening, in St. Joseph's residence auditorium. Prefect Miss Helen Strano asked for sodalists' cooperation in any task they might be given. Msgr. P. P. Butler was an honorary guest and delivered an address of which the main theme was "self sacrifice." He pointed out to the girls "If you expect to make any worthwhile gains, you must make some sacrifices. In the sodality there is an excellent opportunity to practice self-denial. There are choir practices, committee meetings and general meetings to which you can each give your time freely and unselfishly. Furthermore, you can back to the limit of your capacity any sodality function." Excellent papers were given by guest speakers, Misses Marion McTeague, Margaret Hanley and Agnes Sullivan.

Junior Red Cross Progressing In Local Branches

Splendid work is being done by the Junior Red Cross, which in Peterborough is in charge of Miss E. Dix, working under direction of the adult society. There are 66 branches in the city with 2,393 members.

The children work for health, service and international friendliness. The program is part of the regular school system and is conducted by the children, under supervision of the teacher. Each classroom becomes a unit, working out problems in civics through holding meetings and learning the place of service by dropping pennies in the Red Cross bottle for the National Service Fund or the Crippled Children's Fund. Last year $83,563 was contributed in Ontario.

Through combined efforts the Junior Red Cross has sent thousands of dollars worth of food, clothing and drugs to England, and Europe, books, musical instruments, school equipment and candy to unfortunate children abroad and the dental coach to northern Ontario.

Greatest motivation for health teaching in the schools has been the 12 Red Cross rules on a club card which have become a ritual to be observed by members of Junior Red Cross, and thus they unconsciously form permanent health habits.

Interchange of portfolios with other countries has given these children international knowledge and fostered friendliness.

Miss Dix reported progress of the local organizations at the annual meeting of Peterborough Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society, on Tuesday afternoon. She said the movement started during the Boer War at St. Marys, Ontario, and in 1915 the first charter for Junior Red Cross was granted. It has spread to 56 countries of the world.

Corinne Pearson Bride Of Constalbe John A. Conlin

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday when Corinne Yvonne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Pearson, Dublin Street, became the bride of Mr. John Alfred Conlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Conlin, Aylmer Street. Marriage vows in the double ring ceremony were taken before Rt. Rev. Monsignor P. P. Butler. Assisting as altar boys were brothers of the bride, Peter and Tom Pearson.

The bride, escorted by her father as she approached the altar, was lovely in a gown of ivory slipper satin cut on simple lines, fitted bodice with long sleeves coming to a point over her hands, long full skirt and train. A finger-tip veil of net fell from her Juliet cap of lace and pearls and she carried white calla lilies and red roses.

Four bridal attendants each wore a floor-length gown in pastel shade and carried a nosegay of mixed flowers. Miss Mary O'Brien, nursing school classmate of the bride, wore yellow lace with matching gloves and headdress, and Miss Wilma Floyd, a girlhood chum, was in pink. The bride's sister, Mary Pearson, in mauve taffeta with matching bonnet and hair ribbons, was junior bridesmaid, while little Margaret Pearson, in similar frock, bonnet and ribbons of lime green, carried her sister's train.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. James Conlin.

Ushers were Jack and Bill Pearson, brothers of the bride.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. R. Aman, who also accompanied Miss Helen Cummings as she sang during the service "On This Day" and "Mother Dearest, Pray for Me," and during the signing of the register, "Ave Maria."

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pearson chose a dress of hunter's green, with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. The groom's mother wore grey faille with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony 100 guests enjoyed dinner with the bridal party in the YWCA green room. Tables were attractively decorated with spring flowers. Cousins and friends of the young couple assisted in serving. Later many guests returned to the bride's home to view the wedding gifts.

For her going-away outfit the bride had a dress of dove grey faille, wine coat trimmed with grey fur, matching hat with soft grey ostrich tips and accessories in wine and grey. Her corsage was an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Conlin left by motor for Hamilton, Detroit and Lansing, Mich. After a short honeymoon they will live at 725 Water St. Mr. Conlin is a member of the Peterborough police force and his wife is a recent graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Parents Bear Brunt Of Child's Foolish Marriage

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 19 and my father and mother have been very good to me and at great sacrifice to themselves are sending me to college. I am in love with a boy whom my parents object to because he gets drunk and because he has no job and no way of making a living. I have told my mother that I am going to marry this boy instead of going back to college. Don't you think that if I want to marry this boy I have every right the world to do so?

Dorothy Dix

HOPEFUL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, if you can be hopeful of being happy married to a drunken boy who can't support you, you are certainly the world's greatest optimist.

Don't Throw Away Chances

Don't be a little fool and throw away all your chances of happiness in life just because you imagine you are in love. You have a chance of a good education and to make something of yourself and eventually to marry a man you can be proud of. Make the most of that chance. Have enough pride not to throw yourself away on a boy who isn't fit to marry any girl. No man has a right to ask a girl to marry him unless he has some way of supporting her and her children.

As for your saying that you have every right in the world to marry whom you please without regard to your parents' opinion, that is absurd. It isn't your own affair exclusively. It is your parents' affair just as much as it is yours, because they are the ones who will have to pay the price of your mistake if you make one.

You know well enough that their affection for you will not let them deal with you as you deserve if you defy them. They can't let you starve. They can't let you sleep in a doorway. It is the parents who are the victims when their children make unhappy marriages.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I know a woman who has been an ideal mother-in-law, but she is "shoved" out of her son's home by the wife's mother, who is a wealthy woman, but who must live with her daughter because she cannot bear to be parted from her. My friend does not wish to live with her son because she does not approve of old people living with young married ones, but she would like to visit him now and then. This she cannot do because the wife's mother occupies the guest chamber. What do you thisk of this? Is it not an unusual case?

A FRIEND.

ANSWER: On the contrary, it is what generally happens. In nine cases out of ten where there is an in-law in the house it is the wife's relatives and not the husband's. Probably 50 per cent more men are supporting their wive's parents than are supporting their own, which may make it break even financially, but not emotionally.

For men do not cease to love their own families when they get married, as their wives appear to think they do. A man doesn't forget his mother any more than a woman does hers, and he would like just as much to have her near him as his wife likes to have her mother near her, if the thing could be done in peace. But apparently it can't.

Wives should play fairer than this, and even when one has her mother live with her she should send her away part of the time and give her husband's mother a chance to come and visit with her son.

And she should make her feel that this is a pleasure and not a duty. For mothers love their sons and desire to be with them just as much as mothers do their daughters.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been secretly married to a man for four years who gives me his time and money and idolizes me. To protect my position I have suggested that both he and I go out with other people just as if we were single. He will not consent to this. Says it would destroy our confidence in each other. What is your advice?

J. B.

ANSWER: I think your husband is right, and that just because of the position you hold toward each other you need to be more discreet in your conduct than you would be if you were not married, and that you would be very likely to be filled with jealousy and suspicion if either went out with another.

Also, it would not be giving the man or woman a fair deal if you posed as single when married. Some worthy lad might fall in love with you and some girl set her heart upon your husband and be broken hearted when they found that their affectinon was hopeless.

Courage Brings Success To Timmins Family

TIMMINS, Ont., — (CP) — The future would have looked dark to anyone with less courage than Mrs. R. W. Copps, on that day 21 years ago when she was left widowed with six small children.

Today, she and five of those sons—one died in a mine accident years ago—all have achieved prominence in their chosen professions.

At 60, Mrs. Copps is still active as she has been for the last 20 years, as court stenographer here. Her sons have justified the faith and hard work of their mother.

Edwin is a writer with Time magazine, New York; Vic is a sports broadcaster in Hamilton; Cy publishes his own newspaper in Nipigon, Ont., Bill has his own radio show in Toronto and Lee is a Timmins merchant.

Shortly after her husband's death in 1928, Mrs. Copp took a business course. She and the six boys all left for school together in the morning. All pitched in and helped with the housework.

"The first one home did the housework" she said. "Sometime I would come home and find the whole six of them peeling potatoes."

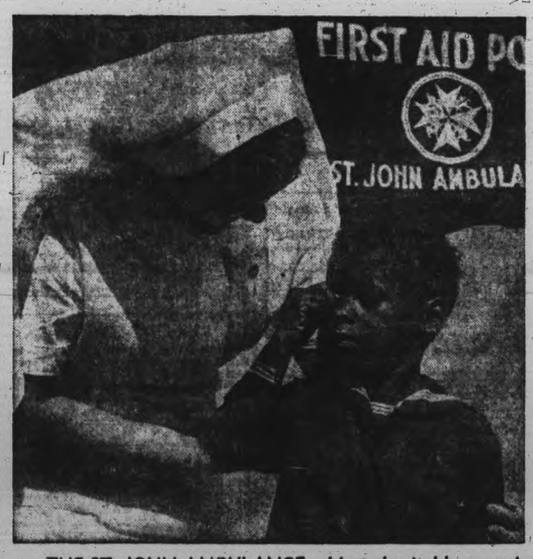
When her year's course finished she took the job of court stenographer and encourgaed the boys to continue their education.

Vic and Cy followed Edwin as sports writers for the Timmins Press. Edwin later became editor and was sent to Columbia School of Journalism by Roy H. Thomson, president of Thomson Dailies. He led his class and was made editorial director of the Thomson group. Later, he became managing editor of New Liberty magazine before moving to New York.

School To Aid Canadian Unity

LONDON — (CP) — Education in Canada must create a national tradition which preserves the country's humanist, Christian and industrial heritage, Dr. Anna Robinson told the Royal Society of Arts.

Dr. Robinson, former lecturer in history at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., delivered the Neil Matheson McWharrie lecture to the Royal Society. Her subject was "Education in Canada."



She said Canada faces three main tasks in education: creation of "a living culture," increase of understanding among people of different racial origin, and correcting the drain of talented people to the United States and Britain.

"Our education must in future provide classical schools with an appreciation of the contributions of science to our civilization, and provide students of science with an understanding of the richness and beauty which a study of the humanities can give to life."

Dr. Robinson said the problem of racial origins in Canada is essentially a matter of reconciling the English and French-speaking people, and "for survival as a nation we must continue to compromise and gradually build up understanding."

ISLAND PROVINCE

Prince Edward Island, formerly known as Isle St. Jean until about 1799, is the smallest but most densely populated province of Canada.

THE ST. JOHN AMBULANCE, oldest charitable organization in the world dedicated to the service of humanity, serves everyone, regardless of race, color or creed. Here a nursing sister in the organization sympathetically helps a young colored lad. To continue and extend its great humanitarian work the St. John Ambulance will conduct a public appeal for $70,000 in Ontario from February 6 to 25.

Help for Young People Main Work of WMS in 1949

Encouragement and assistance to younger groups in the church was one of the most outstanding aspects of Women's Missionary Society work in the Peterborough area during 1949, reports revealed Tuesday at the annual Presbyterial of the WMS in Knox church.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. A. Atchison, stated there were 19 afternoon auxiliaries with a membership of 738, seven evening auxiliaries with a membership of 181 and nine affiliated societies with a membership of 161; a total of 1,080, representing an increase of 92 members.

Increased membership was reported by 15 auxiliaries.

During the year the Mission Band was reorganized at Stewart Hall, a CGIT group organized at Millbrook and St. James' organized a new baby band, Mothers' Auxiliary, a junior Mission Circle, an explorers' group of CGIT and CGIT. Four auxiliaries have appointed vice presidents for younger groups, while all reports showed material assistance given to younger groups.

St. Andrew's celebrated its 60th anniversary, and Trinity auxiliary of Hastings, its 75th anniversary.

Addresses had been given at several group meetings by Miss Olive Sparling during her visit at sectional rallies in the Fall. All 26 auxiliaries were represented at the World Day of Prayer; 22 were represented at Presbyterial and 12 sent delegates to the School for Leaders. This record was an advance over previous years' attendance.

Jr. Mission Circle

Reporting for Mission Circles, Miss Jessie Martin stated that a new junior circle had been organized at St. James' Church.

The outstanding work of Mission Circles was the Circle Rally held in Mark St. Church, when Miss Olive Sparling was guest speaker.

Mrs. W. F Donaldson, secretary of Mission Bands, reported 15 mission bands with a total membership of 455 and seven new leaders. During 1949 there was an increased membership of 132.

The CGIT secretary, Miss Gladys Langton, reported there were five affiliated CGIT groups.

A new group of 16 members was organized at Millbrook. Miss Langton attended four of the five group meetings. Baby Band secretary, Mrs. E. Alton, reported an enrolment of 606 babies. One of the special activities of the mothers had been to send literature, layettes, etc., to hospitals in England.

The associate members' report, presented by Mrs. H. Tremain, revealed 132 members, 206 visits were made, and $279.56 contributed.

Less Aid For East

Mrs. F. C. D. Milburn, Supply secretary, reported there had been considerable falling down in the aid to China and Japan but the response was splendid for Canadian posts. A spring shipment is being sent to Home Missions Council, Toronto, and another complete missionary kit to Silver Craig Mission.

The five city churches responded to a call from Balcarras, Sask., for Christmas gifts.

The most noticeable improvement was the interest being shown by the younger groups..

Community friendships tasks were to welcome newcomers to the community, to visit the sick and lonely, to provide and encourage hospitality in church homes, to win people into the service of the church, to engage in social services and to promote racial brotherhood, were statements presented by Mrs. Jos. Stenton, Community Friendship secretary.

Temperance and Christian Stewardship was reported by Mrs. Melville Johnston. Bales of clothing were sent to various hospitals and schools, quilts to the Church of All Nations at Toronto, and gifts of food and clothing to newcomers. The need for total abstinence was stressed.

Mrs. W. H. Morton reported that sufficient donations had been given at the Presbyterial to purchase 20 new books. During the year 105 books were loaned and 69 had been returned.

Sell More Literature

Literature secretary, Gladys Elliott, reported an increase in the sale of literature, and Millbrook Auxiliary headed the list for highest average of books read per member. The figure was 2.7. The best read Mission Circle for 1949 was the Invictae of George St., Peterborough, with an average of 2.2 books per member.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe reported a decrease in the number of subscriptions in the Missionary Monthly by 80 and in World Friends a decrease of 20 in the past two years.

The Press report given by Mrs. Harold Lewis stated that four newspapers printed 133 reports of regular meetings and 13 special meetings were published.

Hollywood Stars Go Cosmopolitan

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., — (AP)— Foreign stars seem to be lending a cosmopolitan air to Hollywood's social life. At a recent party Florence Marly, imported from France, met 16-year-old Frances Kato, newly arrived Japanese-Canadian beauty.

Miss Marly graciously addressed Miss Kato in Japanese. But Frances had to explain that she grew up in Canada, never learning the language of the Samurai. Miss Marly drifted on, greeting other guests in Spanish, French Portuguese and German. Once she was overheard to say:

"In Prague I read Aleksis Kivi's 'Seven Brothers' in Czech. It's a wonderful book. Does anyone know if I can get it in English?"

Miss Marly may have come here from France, but she's Czech by birth. She made many films in Germany and France and she picked up Spanish and Portuguese in South America, where her husband, Pierre Chenal, produces films and plays, chiefly in Buenos Aires.

FARMS NEED LEADERS

DEBERT, N. S. (CP).—Energetic rural leaders are in great demand in the Maritimes, Nova Scotia's agriculture minister A. W. McKenzie told students of the agricultural college here. Students should return to their communities as "spark plugs" to raise living standards.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"UNDER THE SPREADING CHESTNUT TREE . . ." In the fiftieth year of this automobile century, the village blacksmith still holds forth. You will find him near the race track, in the rural communities, and occasionally even in the big city. The village smith was, and probably still is, the most rugged of free enterprisers. In his unfloored shop there is the clang of hammer on anvil, the wheezing of the hand bellows and the roar of the coal fire, the acrid smell of burning hoof, the hissing of cold water when a red-hot horseshoe is plunged into it. The brawny blacksmith—not so numerous as he once was; perhaps not quite so prosperous as his dad and granddad who did their smithing in the very same shop—is still a nostalgic part of the Canadian hometown scene.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
And as dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.

To see the face of husband dear,
Come smiling through the door.

Power Lines Cut In Brantford District

BRANTFORD, Jan. 25 (CP)—Power and communication lines were cut for several hours in sections of Brantford and district Tuesday night as a result of one of the worst freezing rainstorms in years.

Repair crews of the city, township and rural Hydro Commissions and the Bell Telephone worked all day Tuesday and through the night to restore services.

Power and communication lines were cut when branches of trees overloaded with ice, broke off and crashed across them. In a few sections of the city, large trees, which apparently could not take the weight of the load of ice, fell across streets and blocked traffic.

Public Works Program Needed

OTTAWA, Jan. 25 (CP)—Percy Bengough, president of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, said Tuesday night the creation of a public works program to give full employment for Canadians at a proper wage scale is the only assurance that Canada will not be plunged into a depression.

Speaking before a meeting of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, Mr. Bengough said that unless every effort is made to put every employable person to work at a decent wage, Canada will lose its buying power and be plunged into a depression.

"There are more than 323,000 unemployed in Canada at present. If they cannot be put to work, many more will soon be joining the ranks of the unemployed.

"Canadians will no longer accept the excuse that money cannot be provided to pay for projects that will mean full employment. If a war broke out tomorrow the money would be readily available to build ships, load them with supplies, ammunition and soldiers."

Sherman Top Admiral

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 (AP)—The Senate Tuesday confirmed Admiral Forrest P. Sherman as the United States Navy's top admiral after hearing Republican's demand for the impeachment of navy secretary Francis P. Matthews as "completely incompetent." Sherman, at 53, is the youngest chief of naval operations in U.S. history.

Wm. Hewie, Cameron Merchant 90 Years Old, At Work Every Day

The village of Cameron, Fenelon Township, can claim one of the most active nonagenarians in this part of Central Ontario.

He is William Hewie, postmaster and general merchant in Cameron, about eight miles north of Lindsay. Stil lin the best of health and possessing excellent eyesight, Mr. Hewie has given no indication hethinks of retiring, although he has been in business in the same store for 42 years.

"Haven't had a holiday in years," Mr. Hewie told an interviewer, "not even on my birthday." He turned 90 two weeks ago today.

The elderly postmaster comes of hardy Scottish stock. He was one of a family of 10, six boys and four girls, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Hewie. His mother was Agnes Renwick. Only three boys are now living of the 10—Robert, Peter and William—and all of the trio live at Cameron.

The family farm, now occupied by his son Peter, located a mile and a half north of the village, was cleared by his father. As a barefoot farm lad Mr. Hewie recalls helping burn away the brush and then sowing wheat between the stumps. These were so thick narrows could not be used and the seed had to be planted with a hoe.

Of late years a son Clayton has been managing the store, but Mr. Hewie clerks during store hours, listens to the sales talk and neighborhood news, and generally caters to the public.

Plan May Never Be Duplicated

OTTAWA, Jan. 25—(CP)—One of Canada's foremost airmen said Tuesday night that the big Commonwealth joint air training plan —one of this country's major contributions in the second world war—may never be duplicated.

Air Vice-Marshal Sully, RCAF director of personnel during the war, told the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association that the atomic bomb and jet-propelled aircraft may make a scheme on such a vast scale impracticable in another war.

But, he said, the flying clubs must be kept solvent to help ward off the danger Russia presented to world peace.

First president of the association when it was founded 21 years ago, Air Vice-Marshall Sully was guest speaker at the organization's "coming of age" banquet last night that ended the annual two-day association meeting.

"The advent of the atom bomb has enabled the isngle airplane to carry the same destructive potential as a 1,000-bomber raid of the past war," he said.

He said Canada's flying clubs should not be dependent on government subsidy with its attendant control and restriction on individual initiative . . .

"The RCAF and the Defence Department can, and I am sure will help, but the clubs must retain their independence and vitality through their own efforts".

Search A Joke

Mr. Gordon suggested that the whole search was a joke. The Game Overseer said he thought it was a wild goose chase, but if it had been intended for a joke, was a poor one.

But said he had never seen the meat which was introduced in court as the meat taken from his home. He said he had bought some meat from a Bancroft store the previous Wednesday including a roast and some stewing beef, but did not think the meat in court was either of those.

Bunt added that his search for venison through the bush with Officer Trotter was a joke. He said his first words to the Game Overseer were "I suppose you're looking for venison." But he had meant the remark jokingly, he said.

Watson testified that before Officer Trotter arrived that morning, he had taken the piece of stewing beef from a metal meat box on the verandah and washed it before putting it on a plate in Mrs. Bunt's kitchen cupboard.

He said it was the same meat Officer Trotter took from the house. But the meat produced in court by the game overseer was not the same meat taken from the house he declared.

Asked by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw whether or not there was some bad feeling between him and Officer Trotter, Watson replied, "Not a particle."

Are you suggesting Mr. Trotter fraudulently substituted this meat for what he took from the house? the crown attorney asked Watson.

Watson denied he was suggesting that Officer Trotter had switched the meat, but implied the meat had been switched by someone.

Magistrate Philp reserved judgment on the argument by Mr. Gordon that the regulations defining the time of the open season and the areas affected should be produced in court. He said an officers description of the regulations was not sufficient for the court to rely upon. The magistrate said he would announce his finding Jan. 31.

Sudbury Cut Off After Bad Storm

SUDBURY, Jan. 25 (CP)—Sudbury slipped and slithered to work today as the first lengthy spell of "real" winter weather came to an end. During the night the mercury rose to 45 degrees as it moved over the freezing mark for the first time in 10 days. Subzero weather prevailed most of last week.

A thunderstorm, accompanied by unusual midwinter lightning broke during the night.

Sudbury was isolated from the rest of Northern Ontario as far as bus service was concerned most of today. Eastern Canadian Greyhound Lines, serving points from Sudbury to North Bay and Sault Ste. Marie, reported all runs cancelled today due to hazardous driving conditions.

The Dominion Meteorological Station here said this district was the only area in Northern Ontario that reported thunder and lightning during the night.

Being Brother Of Film Star Tough Break

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 25 (AP)—"That's Bob Mitchum's brother, John—no talent."

Those were the hard words heard by young John Mitchum as he toured the talent agencies looking for film work.

"Having a famous brother practically closes the door in your face," sighs John, who has been struggling for the last few years to escape the shadow of his noted brother. He is finally making some headway, but it hasn't been easy.

Changed Name

"It seems to be a popular opinion that if one member of a family is talented, all the others must be dumb. People advised me to change my name, and I tried that, too. I was Craig Morris, and introduced myself that way to an agent, 'why, Hello, Johnny,' he said.

"Now it doesn't do any good to change my name; everybody here knows me."

The younger Mitchum is no Johnny-come-lately to the entertainment business. It had held his interest since he was six. He has done four more or less bit roles in pictures since 1947. He drew his first real attention in a television show.

Pet Project

M. G. M. scouts spotted him. He was given a screen test and a role in a picture. And a studio talent coach told him: "You're the best actor I've seen in five years."

John isn't letting his new career interfere with his pet project—directing six choral groups for the city of Los Angeles. One of his groups in a bunch of scrappy Mexican kids.

FROM THE FARM TO THE MUSEUM? —Rep. Reid Murray (R., Wisc.), shares his grief with crepe-shrouded Rosie, over congressional repeal of oleomargarine taxes. The dairy state congressman claims the new tax relief, plus large government subsidies on oleo ingredients, will possibly destroy the cow as well as the dairy business.

Ontario Province Backs Rent Controls

TORONTO, Jan. 25 (CP)—The Province of Ontario will support the validity of federal rent controls when the Supreme Court of Canada next week takes up the federal application for a ruling, it was indicated Tuesday night.

Landlords and the Quebec government claim the federal government has no jurisdiction. Tenants will argue the federal controls are valid.

Ontario Attorney-General Dana Porter, who will represent the province at the hearing, said Tuesday night that Ontario will argue that the Dominion has the power over rents until such time as rents are decontrolled in an orderly way.

Mr. Porter indicated that Ontario's stand in the emergency from which the federal government derived its powers still exist in regard to housing, and that the central authority should retain control through the machinery already established until the situation corrects itself.

University Of Sydney, Australia Plans To Teach Child Health

SYDNEY, Australia, — (CP) — The first university department of child health in the southern hemisphere will be established soon at the University of Sydney.

Prof. Lorimer F. Dods, noted Australian pediatrician, will direct a course designed to improve teaching methods and promote research in pediatrics — the study of children's diseases.

Students will be medical undergraduates in the university. Four 10-week courses, each with 100 students, will train 400 medical students each year. Teaching will be done in the Royal Alexandra Children's Hospital largest children's hospital in N. S. Wales.

Australia already has one of the lowest infant mortality rates in the world. In 1948 the rate stood at 27.76 deaths under one year of age per 1,000 births. The new instruction aims at extending the health record to older children.

Tartan Ties All-Year Wear

AUCKLAND, N. Z.,—(CP)—A male fashion note from New Zealand concerns an experiment conducted by a young Aucklander who throughout 1949 wore the same tie every day of the year. He says no one at any time made any comment on his choice of neckwear or his lack of sartorial variety.

He chose one of the more sober tartans for the experiment. It was a tie able to pass muster at either funerals or weddings.

One of his chief fears was that people who gave him ties for Christmas or his birthday might take offense at the non-appearance of their gift. If they took any interest in what he was wearing they said nothing about it.

The experimenter, J. B. Page, claims his experience shows that people just don't notice ties unless they are particularly startling.

Men might just as well choose ties for their own satisfaction rather than for any effect they may have on other people, he says.

But as for himself, he says that toward the end of the year he came to dislike intensely what had seemed an attractive tie. He developed a craving to wear a new tie every day.

The tie itself came through the ordeal better than the wearer. With occasional cleaning and pressing it was almost as good as new at the end of the year and ready for more use.

It is unlikely to get it.

Film Mating Dance Of Prairie Birds

REGINA — (CP) — The first showing in Canada of a colored sound motion picture depicting the mating dance of Saskatchewan's sharptailed grouse has been screened here.

The pictures was "shot" last spring on E. M. Morgan's farm at Viewfield, 35 miles northwest of Estevan. It shows in detail all phases of the dance performed by the birds in the early hours of the morning.

E. M. Queeny of St. Louis, Mo., shouldered the considerable expense of making the film and directed the work.

Mr. Queeny and a group of assistants erected "blinds" and prepared the cumbersome sound layouts in such a way as not to frighten the birds.

With the stage set, it took two days of constant, breathless watching in the blinds to get exactly what Mr. Queeny wanted.

The dance itself, world-renowned among naturalists, has been seen several times by Canadians. But it had never been filmed in color and sound detail until Mr. Queeny took on the job.

The birds will gather just at dawn on a patch of open ground well protected by thickets of brush. Then, as if at a signal, they will stiffen their wings, arch their necks close to the ground and begin to dance in a stiff-legged fashion.

On still mornings, the sound of their clawed feet thumping the ground can be heard for a distance of half a mile. The film was screened under the auspices of the resources department of Saskatchewan, with the help of Ducks Unlimited.

Floor Price For Eggs 30-32 Cents

Retail Cost Likely To Be Increased A Few Cents More

OTTAWA, Jan. 26—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner today announced that the government will buy up all surplus eggs in storage at the end of the current year at 38 cents a dozen for Grade A Large and 36 cents a dozen for Grade A Medium.

He anticipated that this egg buying program will stabilize the price to producers at egg stations at between 30 and 32 cents a dozen.

In some places, he said at a press conference, poultry producers have been getting only 16 and 18 cents in the current egg-market slump.

In announcing this government price-support program—third in the 1950 period for food products—Mr. Gardiner said that its effect likely will boost the retail price of eggs a few cents a dozen higher than at present. In Toronto, the jump is reported to be seven cents.

The egg-buying program follows previous announcements that the government will support the price of cheese and bacon this year.

Under Consideration

Mr. Gardiner said similar support for Maritime potatoes and for apples still is under Cabinet consideration. The government did not want to get into the business of buying either apples or potatoes in 1950.

Mr. Gardiner said the government's action on eggs will take the "risk" out of the egg business but it likely will not stimulate production beyond current rates.

If there had been no support, he said, the egg-price depression would continue through the surplus-producing period in the first half of 1950.

"This could lead to an extreme liquidation of laying flocks, followed by a shortage of eggs and a prolonged period of high prices."

Aid Adjustment

The action was taken to "assist the poultry industry in the adjustment to conditions created by discontinuance of British egg-buying in Canada."

Under the program, the government will not participate dicertly

Canada To Feel Chrysler Strike In Week

UAW Expects Long Strike Before Getting Their Pension Plan

WINDSOR, Jan. 26 (CP)—A continuing United Automobile Workers (CIO) strike against the United States Chrysler Company will begin to affect the company's workers in Canada within a week, officials of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited announced today.

In a statement, the company said:

"If the strike....is not over within a few days, production in the passenger car and motor plants (here)....will probably be forced to a stand-still by Feb. 10 to 15 and the truck plant production will be stopped during the first week of February."

The company issued the statement after "a preliminary survey of the material situation" conducted since the U.S. workers walked out of the parent Chrysler plants Wednesday. Some supplies including mainly metal body stampings come here directly from Detroit.

Chrysler of Canada employs about 5,500 men here and at Chatham the company statement said and added "a shutdown of production will affect a very substantial number of these employees."

Expect Long Strkie

DETROIT, Jan. 26 (AP) — The United Auto Workers (CIO) faced up today to a possibly-long strike for the kind of pension law they want from Chrysler.

Some union sources say the strike, which started Wednesday, may last at least a month. It immediately made 106,000 workers idle.

State and Federal labor mediators, however, express hope that bargaining talks may be resumed this week.

At a dead stop is daily production of 7,000 automobiles by Chrysler, one of the motor industry's three top producers.

Basically, the company-union fight is over the form and administration of $100 monthly pensions.

The walkout has affected 85,000 Chrysler production workers, most of them in Michigan. The company makes Chrysler, De Soto, Plymouth and Dodge cars.

Meat, Fuel Shortages In B.C.

By The Canadian Press

The worst weather in a half-century has plagued Western Canada this winter. The most varied in as long a time has harassed the east. There was no indication today that the pattern would change much. For the west, no immediate respite was in store. In the east colder air is expected to replace the mild, record-making temperatures of Wednesday. It wasn't just snow and frigid weather that bothered British Columbia residents. The threat of meat and fuel shortages posed another problem as a storm moved from the North Pacific. Winds reaching a velocity of 40 miles an hour were forecast.

Early today a snow storm that swept in from the Pacific and over the southern and central sections of Vancouver Island today brought lower mainland area its heaviest snowfall of the winter Vancouver residents awoke to find about nine inchest of fresh snow on the ground.

The heaviest snowfall was reported at Comax, on Vancouver Island, which had 19 inches. Victoria had five inches and Estevan, on the west coast of the island, six inches.

Packers said fresh meat will be scarce by next week if snow keeps falling—and the weatherman says it will. Thousands of head of cattle are isolated in snow-bound railway cars near Kamloops, about 150 miles from Vancouver.

Railway officials said they hoped to get a cattle train into Vancouver by Friday if there are no more snow slides.

Cold Kills Cattle

Bone-chilling temperatures killed cattle in some Alberta districts More serious losses are feared if the weather continues.

Temperatures ranged from 31 below in Southern Alberta to 58 below at Banff, and 65 below at Grouard, on Lesser Slave Lake 231 miles northwest of Edmonton

Huge snowdrifts, whipped up by gale-like winds, blocked rural roads and some main highways in Manitoba where a fall of seven inches was recorded.

It was a different picture in Southern Ontario. The sudden "heat wave," which saw temperatures soar to 59.7 in Toronto and 65 in Windsor, was due to come to an abrupt end by Thursday night They were expected to drop to around 25 above. The Toronto temperature broke a January high mark that had stood for 109 years

In sharp contrast with Florida-like weather in Southern Ontario northern sections were gripped in one of the coldest waves this year Temperatures in the White River region ranged from 10 to 15 below. Colder weather was expected.

Ask Oakwood Man Whipped For Beating Wife Badly

LINDSAY, Jan. 26—(CP)—Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan Wednesday suggested that Earl Clarkson, 31, of Oakwood, be whipped for brutally beating his 28-year-old wife, Mrs. Clarkson, her face almost unrecognizable, told of being thrown to the floor pummelled with fists on the body and kicked in the head.

"There have been cases of assault in this court before, but I have never seen such evidence of injury as this!" Jordan said.

She was in court Wednesday with both eyes blackened, and closed to blood-rimmed slits, her face swollen and bruised. She told the court that her neck and shoulders were also scratched and bruised, and that she had been subjected to a brutal hair-pulling which had drawn blood. She had required medical attention after the beating.

Describes Beating

The wife told a tale of returning to her farm home late Monday afternoon from her father's farm, which she had visited to do the family washing. She had prepared supper and attended to the farm chores, when her husband returned from a curling match and proceeded to pick a quarrel both with herself and with his brother, who boarded at the home.

The husband became actively abusive, and the brother left. After his departure, the husband threw his wife to the floor, sat on her stomach and proceeded to pummel her about the head with his fists.

Meanwhile, the three children of the couple were awakened, and became hysterical. An eight-year-old daughter tried to come to her mother's assistance by striking her father with a small chair. The father seized this and proceeded to belabor his wife about the head with this, then got to his feet and kicked her in the head. The arrival of the wife's father put an end to the beating.

The brother of the accused, testified that he had been involved in a brief skirmish with his brother, but had left.

Polio Epidemic In Quebec Area

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Jan. 26 (CP) —RCAF Norsemen stood by today at Goose Bay, Labrador, for a break in the weather which will enable them to pick up a score of poliomyelitis victims on the rugged shores of the Strait of Belle Isle. Wednesday, the Deputy Ministers of two provinces —Newfoundland and Quebec—reported an infantile paralysis epidemic ranging from St. Augustin, Que., to Blanc Sablon, Que.—hamlets near the Labrador border.

One person was reported dead and 19 stricken in the second wintertime epidemic ever reported. The first broke out in the Arctic last February when 13 Eskimos died around Point Chesterfield inlet on the west coast of Hudson Bay.

Dr. Jean Gregoire, Quebec deputy health minister, said Wednesday that "immediate arrangements" were being made to fly the victims the 1,000 miles from St. Augustin to Montreal.

But even the rugged Norsemen aircraft—known as the workhorse of the north—were unable to fly effectively Wednesday. One ski-equipped Norseman took off for St. Augustin but was forced down on an ice-covered lake 40 miles north of Goose Bay. Another Norseman is ready to take off from the RCAF's big station at Goose Bay as soon as the weather moderates. Other aircraft are standing by at the RCAF station at Greenwood, N.S.

Dr. L. A. Miller, Newfoundland's deputy health minister, viewed the epidemic with concern and he said that Newfoundland Rangers are segregating the Labrador area adjoining the affected Quebec district.

Creek Bursts Banks Into Streets

Ice Cakes Hurled Against Houses Water 6 Feet Deep

NORTH BAY, Jan. 26.—(CP).—Spring-like floods, born of a winter rain, struck North Bay to-day Firemen rescued dozens from flooded homes after Chippewa creek burst its banks in the east end of the city.

At noon, although falling temperatures checked the flood, the rescue work went on. Men in hip waders were using small boats to bring families to dry land.

There was no accurate count of the number rescued but firemen estimated that by 6.30 a.m. they had removed about 32 persons. Many had crawled along extension ladders, placed against the houses from fire trucks, as the raging waters swirled up around ground-floor windows.

There was no estimate of the property damage.

Fear New Freeze-up

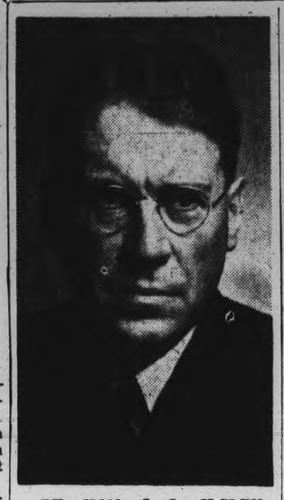
Although colder weather started the water levels downward, it brought a real threat: home owners feared that a sharp drop in temperatures might freeze the flood waters which filled basements and first floors.

The city has every available worker out in an effort to clear an ice-jam at the mouth of the creek so the water can get into Lake Nipissing before a cold snap sets in.

The creek, swollen by a torrential rainfall following a record high January temperature of 55 degrees Wednesday, overflowed about 2 a.m.

Water and ice rushed with startling fury through the east end section of the city, rising to a depth of six feet in some cellars and dousing furnace fires.

Firemen worked throughou the night rescuing residents of the stricken area. Dozens were transported to safety by boat.



Wade Waist-Deep

In the hardest-hit section—Homer Avenue, near Amelia Park — firemen waded waist - deep through the turbulent waters and cakes of ice to rescue marooned residents.

At times they found it difficult to retain their footing because of a glaze of ice beneath the torrents of flood water.

Fire Breaks Out Again In Thornhill Ruins

THORNHILL, Jan. 26 (CP)—Fire broke out early today in the ruins of a disastrous fire which 24 hours earlier caused an estimated $150,000 damage and for a time threatened to wipe out this community a few miles north of Toronto.

George Middleton, appointed to watch the ruins, kept the flames under control with buckets of water until firemen arrived from nearby North York, a Toronto suburb.

Middleton was appointed fire guard after residents crowded the street, refusing to retire until a guard was set up.

Falling Brick Wall Injures 3 Ottawa Firemen Fighting Business Block Fire

Seven Stations Battle For Nearly Six Hours To Subdue Fierce Blaze Raging In Heart of City, Blame Wiring

OTTAWA, Jan. 26—(CP)—Firemen from seven Ottawa stations battled for nearly six hours today before subduing a fierce blaze in a three-storey Bank Street business block. There was no official estimate of damage. Unofficial estimates placed the loss between $300,000 and $400,000. Three firemen were slightly injured when a brick wall collapsed at the height of the fire. Nine persons—one of them with minor burns — were driven from apartments in the building. The fire blocked traffic for hours on Bank Street, the main artery to the south of the city. The blaze broke out shortly before 2 a.m. EST.

Destroyed in the blaze were the ground floor business premises of the Canadian Tire Corporation, the United Refrigeration Sales and Service and the Colonial Art Glass Company, the National Labor Hall on the second floor, three top-floor apartments, and an adjoining garage.

The fire is believed to have started in defective wiring on a neon sign in the Canadian Tire Corporation offices. Shortly after firemen reached the blaze, a heavy explosion shook the building, smashing windows and spreading the flames to the other two firms.

Series of Explosions

A series of smaller explosions followed the first, sending long tongues of flames shooting more than 60 feet into the air and showering surrounding buildings with sparks.

The explosions were believed to have originated in drums of gasoline, paint and oil reported to have been in the building.

Bravery of police constable King Ackland was credited with saving the lives of the third-floor occupants, all asleep when the fire broke out.

He raced into the blazing building, roused all the occupants and carried Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Cole, an aged couple, to the street.

Four firemen were overcome by the dense black smoke and taken to hospital, but all were reported in good condition.

At the height of the fire, police and firemen cleared a nearby three-storey apartment block housing more than 12 families.

The fire was still burning four hours after the first alarm had been turned in, but was believed well under control.

Hospital authorities reported mother and children were doing well Wednesday night. The quads' averaged 3½ pounds each in weight. The quads' four grandparents all were twins.

Citizens Trap Thief Suspect Fleeing Bullets

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP) — Fleeing a hail of bullets fired by a rookie constable he almost ran down, a theft suspect was finally trapped by a taxi driver and a street cleaner early today and arrested at gunpoint by police.

A gang of teen-aged youths forced cab driver Ben Graham and street cleaner Victor Graham to release Thomas W. Young, 28, when they were holding him for police after cutting off his escape with their vehicles.

The chase started when Constable Douglas Germain saw a car travelling at a high rate of speed and its lights out along downtown Queen Street. He attempted to flag down the vehicle but had to jump out of its path when it veered towards him. Three shots he fired struck the vehicle.

The shots attracted the taxi driver and the street cleaner, who overtook the car and trapped it, forcing its driver to flee on foot. The two caught him but said they were forced to release him by a gang of youths.

Two policemen who arrived on the scene arrested Young at gunpoint in a downtown lane.

Police said Young admitted being driver of the car but said he was abducted at the uptown intersection of Bloor Street and University Aveaue by a man who forced him to drive the car. He told police he was not aware the car was stolen.

RCMP Denies 8,000 On List

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 (CP)—Commissioner S. T. Wood, head of the RCMP today denied a Washington report that the Canadian government has a list of between 8,000 and 11,000 subversive persons in this country.

The report was given to a Congressional hearing by W. F. Kelly, assistant commissioner of immigration for the United States.

Commissioner Wood, whose force investigates subversive elements, said there was no such list as far as the RCMP was concerned. He suggested that, if there was a list of such magnitude, it must be a U.S. list of persons who are denied entry to the U.S.

In the last couple of years, U.S. border officials have barred a considerable number of Canadians on the grounds of political leanings.

An official of the justice department said Canada has no subversive problem at present.

"Certainly, we have no such list as the Washington report indicates," he said.

Gunfire Rocks Jakarta Capital

JAKARTA, U.S.I., Jan. 26 (AP) —A gun battle involving Indonesian troops broke out today in the centre of Jakarta.

This uneasy capital of the United States of Indonesia had been on the alert for a possible guerrilla raid similar to that staged at Bandoeng, Java, earlier this week. But first reports did not give the cause of the shooting.

Military police and Indonesian army troops blockaded two busy streets in the middle of the retail shopping district and cleared the area of all automobile traffic.

Army patrols in jeeps and trucks rolled into the trouble area where the shooting started.

Police Constable Beaten By Trucker

THORNHILL, Jan. 26—(CP)—A police constable who told a truck driver to reduce his speed on the highway near here early today was beaten up in front of his family.

County Constable Aubrey Fleury of Aurora, Ont., was driving with his family when he noticed the truck being driven too fast and dangerously. When the truck stopped, Fleury went to speak to the driver but was knocked down and beaten. He managed to grab the driver's keys, however.

Louis Colombo, 36, of nearby Oak Ridges was arrested a short time later by police from Toronto, a few miles south of here, and charged with assaulting a police officer.

Labor Government Risks Report On Price Jumps

LONDON, Jan. 26 (CP)—With the Feb. 23 general election less than a month away, the Labor government today risked its popularity with an announcement that prices rose twice as fast as wages last year in Britain.

The Ministry of Labor's report in the January Gazette gave ammunition to union workers who have been arguing for raises despite the government's two-year freeze appeal on most pay scales.

But political experts believe leaders of the 8,000,000-member Trades Union Congress will manage to keep pressure to a minimum to avoid embarrassing the Labor Party in its campaign for re-election.

The Ministry's report showed: Between December, 1948, and December, 1949, the index of wage rates increased two points to 109 per cent of the June, 1947, level.

At the same time the retail price index went up four points to 113 per cent of the same base level.

The food price index rose 12 points to 120 per cent, partly because devaluation of the pound Sept. 18 increased the dollar price of wheat from North America.

Increased pressure for more pay was seen Wednesday when fire unions decided to claim a "substantial increase" for some 150,000 automobile repair men.

Despite the wage pressure in some of its unions, the TUC on Wednesday formed a committee to support the Labor Party in the election by preparing a manifesto calling on all trade unionists to vote Labor.

Gray Threatens To Resign Post

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP)—City Assessment Commissioner A. B. Gray told Board of Control today that if they attemped to prevent him from making money on his own time by aiding other municipalities with ther assessment problems he would have no alternative but to resign.

The Board was considering a request from the town of Cornwall to have Mr. Gray advise them on assessment.

In a previous controversy on the matter some time ago, Mr. Gray was finally permitted by Mayor Hiram McCallum to aid the town ow Timmins.

Majority of the Board agreed today Mr. Gray should be permitted to sell his services if it did not interfere with his duties here.

Housing Shortage Perilous—CCL Reports

Menace To National Life In Canada, Supreme Court Judges Told

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 (CP)—The housing shortage has grown so acute that it now has become "an extraordinary peril" and a "menace" to the national life of Canada, the Canadian Congress of Labor said today.

It made public a statement of legal argument which the Congress has filed with the Supreme Court of Canada and on which it will base its stand at Monday's Federal rent-control hearing.

The court has been asked to test the validity of the controls. The Congress will argue, along with the Federal Government, counsel for tenants generally and the Canadian Legion, that the controls are valid. Governments of Quebec and counsel for Canadian property owners will argue that the controls are illegal.

Ontario, whose factum was released Wednesday, will argue that the regulations are valid because of the power vested in parliament to make laws for peace, order and good government.

National Emergency

Because the housing shortage has become a "national emergency" parliament is "fully justified" in maintaining rent controls and ceilings, the Congress said in its statement of argument, or factum.

"The general housing shortage, both rural and urban, now is more acute than it was four years ago. The backlog (in building to meet demand) is bigger. The deficit is worse. Overcrowding is worse."

While housing in general was short, there was an ever greater shortage in rental housing. There was a great need for low-cost housing and low-rental housing was "practically non-existent."

"These shortages are nationwide," the Congress continued. "They affect at least a third of the population. They are critical shortages of an absolute essential of life."

On National Basis

This acute problem could only be coped with "effectively" on a national basis and by uniform legislation.

An emergency "so serious and pressing" is "utterly beyond the control of any province," said the 400,000-member Congress. It has "attained such dimensions as to affect the body politic of the dominion and to justify the Dominion Parliament in passing laws for its regulation or abolition."

Thus, Parliament had the jurisdiction to continue to control rents under the wartime leasehold regulations.

Will Stand By Hiss Acheson Says

U.S. State Secretary Rouses Wrath Over Championship

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP) —State Secretary Acheson's suddenly-famous statement that "I do not intend to turn my back on Alger Hiss" stirred opposition wrath today.

A number of those Republicans who have been arguing that the Roosevelt - Truman Democratic administrations have been "soft" toward Communism prepared to follow the lead of Senator Karl Mundt (Rep. S.D.).

Mundt directed a three-hour attack on Hiss, Acheson and administration foreign policies late Wednesday in the Senate.

Of Acheson's statement that he wouldn't turn his back on Hiss—an old friend and state department associate who has been convicted of perjury in a New York trial that linked him with Communists—Mundt had this to say:

"The important thing is.... how far Dean Acheson has permitted Hiss to influence his mind."

Where Does It Lead

Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) wanted to know whether Acheson's statement "might be an indication that the Secretary of State is also telling the world that he will not turn his back on any of the other Communists in the state department."

There were some informal expressions of admiration for Acheson on Capitol Hill, based on the theme of personal loyalty, but there was no apparent rush to his side.

One Democrat, representative Donald O'Toole of Brooklyn, critized the state department chief. O'Toole told a reporter:

"If Secretary of State Acheson has been quoted correctly, I feel that he has done the greatest disservice to due process process of law and the democratic way of life that has ever been done by any high American public servant."

Acheson's remark, at a press conference, came within a few hours of the sentencing of Hiss to five years.

Will Cut Farm Prices If Industry Does Too

NAPANEE, Jan. 26 (CP)—The Lennox and Addington Counties Federation of Agriculture Wednesday decided it would cut farm produce prices if the rest of Canadian business instituted equivalent reductions in consumer costs.

The offer was contained in one of four resolutions adopted at a meeting of 400 federation members. The meeting was called to consider plunging produce prices.

Urging federal government subsidization of a farm produce to counter price recessions caused by diminishing United Kingdom markets, the federation recommended several minimum wholesale prices for farm products. They included 36 cents a pound for bacon, 30 cents a pound for cheese fob factory, 42 cents a dozen for eggs at Montreal, and $2.70 a hundredweight for concentrated milk.

The group entered a strong bid for price support and marketing legislation which would give farmers more control over consumer prices and distribution.

Other Occurrences

The father-in-law of the accused testified that there had been similar occurrences before, but none so serious as that which had occurred last Monday night. He told of endeavouring to straighten the accused out and get him to settle down. While agreeing that there should be a penalty imposed, he asked that it be something less than the maximum.

Both Magistrate Gee and the Crown Attorney voiced the opinion that the penalty should probably include a whipping for the accused, but ordered a remand in custody for one week before passing sentence.

By 6:30 a.m., firemen estimated they had rescued 32 persons most of whom found refuge with relatives or friends in other parts of the city. Many families decided to stick it out in their homes until flood waters receded.

Flood waters were four feet deep across the city's main thoroughfare in the east-end where the creek empties into Lake Nipissing. Motor vehicle traffic was paralyzed in the area.

An ice-jam at the creek's mouth caused the water to back up. At some spots along the creek city workers used dynamite to break up ice-jams.

Snake-like Chippewa Creek has its source several miles north of here and enters the city at the north-west end.

Ice Cakes Hit Houses

Firemen said that North Bay residents got their first warning of the flood when cakes of ice, some of which were about 15 feet wide, rammed against the walls of their homes.

James Gould, a main street home-owner, said the rush of cold water against the lighted oil furnace in his basement, caused the furnace to explode.

At 3 a.m., North Bay was wide awake—roused by dynamite explosions as city workers broke up the terrific pressure of ice as a precaution against the sweeping away of bridges over the creek.

The east-end of power-rationed North Bay was a scene of weird activity, with firemen, the police and city workmen toiling away with only the headlights of trucks and automobiles to guide their way in the darkness.

Dollars Vanish ECA Report Puzzles Ottawa

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 (CP).—Unless the trade department is under a misapprehension, a lot of dollars are mysteriously disappearing into the realm of the unknown.

The mystery arises out of Marshall aid allocations for off-shore purchases in Canada. In the last 21 months, $1,027,000,000 has been allocated and by far the fattest share—about 82 per cent—covers Canadian shipments to the United Kingdom.

Economic Co-operation officials disclosed in Washington Wednesday that United States dollar purchases in Canada under the Marshall plan approximately totalled the $1,027,000,000 figure at the end of 1949. This amount represents roughly one-eighth of all U. S. dollars spent in the reconstruction of Europe.

By rights, under Economic Co-operation Administration bookkeeping, Canada should have obtained about $850,000,000 during the 21 months from Britain through ECA spending.

Didn't Get Total

But departmental officials say Canada did not get more than $400,000,000 or $500,000,000—perhaps not that much. They say the crux of the mystery of the disappearance of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 lies in the balance of Anglo-Canadian trade.

Usually, each year Britain ends up in the red in trade with Canada. The deficit normally amounts to roughly $300,000,000; that is, Canada sells about $600,000,000 worth of goods and buys only $300,000.

Officials say that Britain makes up the deficit in two ways: through use of the Canadian loan and through funds provided by ECA.

The Canadian loan, which runs out at the end of this year, provides Britain with $120,000,000 annually, at the rate of $10,000,000 a month. Applying this to the deficit, Britain cuts the unfavorable balance from $300,000,000 to $180,000,000.

That, say officials, is where ECA comes in. They estimate that Britain uses about $180,000,000 worth of ECA funds to meet the deficit—but what becomes of the remainder of the ECA funds allocated?

Can't Unravel It

The officials say they don't know. The money may be used by Britain to build dollar reserves or to pay other dollar-country bills. All they know is that Canada gets payment from Britain only for the goods this country sells to her. Part of that payment is made through sales to Canada part through the Canadian loan and part through ECA.

And so they question the $1,027,000,000 total allocation figure for off-shore purchases in Canada. The figure, they say, as it appears on ECA books likely is accurate, but whether all of it actually was spent in Canada is a question—and a mystery which they probably never will unravel.

PROBABLE ROTARY PRESIDENT—Arthur Lagueux, 48, of Quebec City, has been nominated for president of Rotary International. It is unlikely there will be other nominations and the Quebec busines man probably will head the world-wide fraternal organization.

Oil Stove Is Blamed For Fire In Basement

Fire that started from an oil stove in the basement caused about $100 damage Wednesday afternoon at the home of Jack Carpenter, Kenneth Avenue.

Mrs. Carpetner was doing a large wash. She had the stove on to warm the wash water while her washing machine was going. She went upstairs for something, and about 10 minutes later saw smoke coming from one of the hot air registers.

When she got downstairs she found the stove in flames and the fire was spreading.

Firemen doused the blaze with a handpump and garden hose.

The stove was destroyed and so were some clothes on the drier, as well as others about to be rinsed. The basement ceiling was burned, though not seriously.

Flames shot up through two hot air registers into the house, but were quickly snuffed out.

in the egg business. Storing and merchandising of eggs will remain in the hands of the industry.

It was anticipated that a farmer bringing his eggs to the egg-grading station now would receive about 30 or 32 cents for his eggs, instead of the unprofitable 16 to 24 cents he was previously getting.

Assurance of a government price is expected to make it more attractive for packers and other cold storage plants to accept eggs for storage.

At the end of the year, any eggs which the plants have left over would be bought by the government at the 36 and 38 cent prices plus added costs of storage.

Mr. Gardiner said the government was ready to pay another four or five cents a dozen to meet storage costs.

He expected the whole price-support program will cost the government "very little, if anything at all."

Altogether, he estimated that the price-support for eggs, cheese and bacon likely would cost the government $5,000,000 this year. With subsidies for cheese and bacon estimated at about $4,600,000, this would mean that the egg program would cost the government no more than $400,000.

Believe Floor Will Relieve Egg Producers

Comment from the local poultry trade this afternoon on the announcement from Ottawa of the 30-32 cent floor on eggs was hesitant in the lack of time to study the details.

"It is a hopeful step in the direction we have been trying to go," said G. A. Brethen of Norwood, by telephone from Belleville where he was attending the convention of the Central fairs association.

"If the prices are for nest run eggs it would be fairly good," Mr. Brethen said, "but I would not like to express my opinion yet if it is for the A-grades."

Fred McIndoo of Cavan said the floor as fixed by the government would relieve the industry of the deep concern caused by the slump in prices at local points to 16 and 18 cents a dozen. In that respect, there was an immediate advantage.

"It might come fairly close to what producers have been requesting," said R. M. Peirson, manager of Co-Op Services. "I would not like to discuss the terms until I have a chance to look into this news."

In a quick computation, Mr. Peirson said the U.S. floor on eggs from the central states was around 40.7 cents as compared with approximately 38 cents in Canada.

That was a difference of 2.7c a dozen in favor of the U.S. eggs, but on the other hand their quality generally was not so high as and uniform as the Canadian grades.

Immediate sentiment of the industry was that the gain of a floor should have a stabilizing effect, with probably some reflection in the retail market now.

Western Oil Stocks Chalking Up Gains

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP) — Western oil stocks rebounded from recent declines as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Gains ranging up to 30 cents were chalked up Western Oil issues. The remainder of the market bucked steady selling pressure.

Volume for the first three hours was 521,000 shares.

The strong advance in western oil stocks came at the halfway mark. Buying was not heavy but price changes were comparatively wide. Calgary and Edmonton added 25 cents at $7.75 and Federated Petroleum rose 15 cents to a new high at $2.80.

Industrials attempted a recovery movement of losses suffered in a three-day decline this week. Papers firmed on fractional advances and gains began to replace losses as the session progressed. Massey-Harris continued recent strength, gaining ⅜ at 27⅝ following release of the annual report.

Magnet Consolidated Mines again featured the gold list, advancing to a new high at 57 cents but settling at 49 cents, up four cents. The stock traded more than a fifth of the total market turnover. Drill news from the company's property in the Little Long Lac area sparked the move.

Sherritt Gordon slumped nine cents at $2.06 in a weaker base metal list.

Makes A Comeback

QUEBEC, Jan. 26 — (CP).—W. B. White of Oshawa came from the brink of defeat today in a third round game of the Holt-Renfrew international competition in Quebec's 37th international bonspiel. He edged George Hawkins of Charlottetown 8-5. Going into the eighth and last end White was trailing 5-4, but came back to put two rocks in the house for his victory. The win put Oshawa into quarter-final play.

India Made Full Republic In Ceremony

Prasad Installed First President, Have Many Problems

NEW DELHI, Jan. 26 CP) — India today became a full-fledged republic within the Commonwealth with the inauguration of its new constitution and the installation of its first president.

At solemn ceremonies in the former throne room of Britain's Viceroys, the retiring Governor-General, Sir Chakravarti Rajagopalachari, read the official proclamation of the republic.

India, a dominion since Aug. 15, 1947, now becomes a voluntary economic and political member of the Commonwealth.

After the reading of the proclamation, the Governor-General conducted 64-year-old Rajendra Prasad to the president's chair. Prasad, a disciple of Mohandas Gandhi, was sworn in as India's first president by Chief Justice Harilal J. Kania.

As the Governor-General's flag was lowered from the flagstaff of government house and the president's banner was hoisted, a military band blared India's newly official national anthem, Jana Gana Mana. A 31-gun salute boomed in the courtyard.

Today is the anniversary of the passage by the all-India Congress party Jan. 26, 1927, of a resolution declaring its goal to establish a sovereign independent republic.

The cold war over Communism rages on all sides. The age-old dilemma of how to feed a population growing by the millions yearly is still here. Britain owes the country a large war debt and India's own capital is on virtual strike.

She has a feud over Kashmir and other issues with Pakistan, the Moslem state which won dominion-hood at the same time as India, Aug. 15, 1947. Pakistan is continuing her dominion status as India steps out as a republic.

Not only is there division between Moslem and Hindu but animosity among geographical areas, provinces and many peoples of differing caste and language. Independence has encouraged movements from which might spring dictatorship.

The government is beset by a shortage of trained, capable and unselfish leaders and administrators.

Both the retiring Governor-General and the new president are veterans of the revolutionary struggle, both close associates of Mohandas Gandhi, father of independent India. Just off stage is Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru the dynamic idealist who wears the political leadership inherited from Gandhi.

The record for 1949 shows GROWTH—
—in BENEFITS PAID
—in PROVISION FOR POLICYHOLDERS
—in ASSURANCES IN FORCE

Service and Growth keynoted Imperial Life operations in 1949, in keeping with the good general level of business and employment in the country. The 53rd Annual Report, now available, shows:

1. Benefit payments in 1949—death, pension, etc. $ 9,399,000
2. Held to meet future obligations $162,229,000
3. Premiums and interest received during 1949 $ 22,704,000
4. New assurances and retirement annuities in the year $ 67,976,000
5. Total assurances now in force in the Company $568,597,000

Significant of the growth which life assurance as a whole is experiencing is the fact that it represents voluntary effort on the part of people to meet their future money needs. Security is best won through individual initiative and enterprise.

Ask Ambassador From Canada Sent To Vatican

COBOURG, Jan. 26.—(ENS).—The Knights of Columbus passed a resolution Wednesday at the annual dinner, calling on the Government to appoint an official representative to the Vatican.

Robert W. Keyserlingk, president and general manager of the Campion Press, was guest speaker, and among those present were clergy from various parts of the district and Knights of Columbus from Cobourg, Peterborough, Port Hope, Grafton, Lindsay and Oshawa.

National socialism, Mr. Keyserlinkg said, had been conflict between two opposing forces, fundamentally the same cleaveage as formed th eadvent of the power of communism. It was the concept of man for the state as opposed to man as a divine creation, the essence of man's purpose being to obtain salvation through his own free will, as expressed in various ways.

Follow Logic

Alfred Rosenberg had once said that when a horse became too old to work it was shot and the hide sold and the money used to help buy a new one. If logic was to be followed, Rosenberg said, the only objection to slave labor and concentration camps was that based on what he called the "myth of the 20th Century—Christianity."

Unless one believed in the soul of man, why should there be any distinction between a man who had outlived his usefulness and the horse that was also beyond use?

Recalls Hitler's Word

In 1946, Rosenburg had visited Europe again, and it was depressing to recall what Hitler had said in 1944, when he had declared that even if national socialism were destroyed, its ideas and concepts would still conquer.

In its place was the red concept of man. A lack of interest by the people here was responsible for the rise of communism in Western Europe right after the war, although it was rectified later.

In Western Europe a political and economic no-man's-land in which people lived in fear from the proximity of the Red army. The Reds had extended their sphere of influence to 23 millions in Czechoslovakia, to Poland where Russia had a base 600 miles closer and to 450 millions in China.

Catholics' Function

Catholic Canada had a function to perform, he said. While Tito was being elevated into a position where he might be regarded somewhat as a friend, the slaughters of priests and nuns and the stamping out of religion still went on within his borders.

It was not the old-fashioned war of armaments in which the lines of battle were more or less clearly defined, but a propaganda war and a war against the spirit of man that was being waged today by the forces of communism.

DOLL CAUSES TROUBLE—Here is 21year-old Lois Fulton, five-foot-four blue-eyed blonde from St. Thomas. McGill co-eds were said to be piqued over selection of the drum majorette because she is a student at University of Western Ontario in London.

Reverse Conviction

BERLIN, Jan. 26 — (AP)—United States courts have reversed a conviction against Curt Riess, American journalist who was charged with illegally transporting German marks from Berlin. Reiss was tried in Berlin summary court on a complaint that he sent some thousands of marks to Hamburg by British pouch against regulations. He pleaded that he obtained the German currency legally through payments for newspaper articles.

Square Dance Group

CALGARY, Jan. 26 — (CP)—With the intention of "strating something in Calgary that will sweep the country," representatives from 16 community and service clubs Wednesday night formed the Canadian Square Dance Association. The organization's aim is "to reserve for its mebers and for all future generations the right of mankind to seek rest from the burden of its daily cares through indulgence in old-fashioned dances."

Plan Modernize Sunday School

Knox United church appointed a committee to consider modernization of the Sunday school Wednesday at the annual meeting of the congregation. This step was taken after Harold Murduff, superintendent, spoke of difficulties under which the Sunday school was operating.

Mr. Murduff reported a new ated and other classes of the nursery class had been inaugurschool had made satisfactory achievements.

An exceptional financial report was presented and Thomas Taylor presented a report on the pension fund and read a letter of congratulations from the national fund treasurer.

A report from A. Pritchard on behalf of the session revealed 53 new members exceeded the total of transfers and deaths, bringing the total membership to 619.

In order to meet the quota for missions and maintenance, the 1949 fund is being left open to include special givings next Sunday.

All organizations of the church presented reports. The minister, the Rev. H. G. Douglas was chairman and A. Pitchford, secretary of the meeting.

Life membership of the board of stewards was voted Herbert J McCannan and Howard Clegg, who have served many years as members of the board.

A vote of thanks to the minister was proposed by V. Grainger.

A Narrow Escape

LINDSAY, Jan. 26 (CP) — These two dogs almost got their goat. Attacked by the dogs as they crossed a bridge over Fenelon Falls, near here, two stray goats made a frantic bid for safety by leaping into the river. The other landed on a concrete abutment. Both were rescued by workmen nearby.

Invite Groups To Assist In Centennial Year

James Hamilton, W. G. Ovens and Robertson Davies have accepted appointment by the council to a special co-ordinating committee for the general program that will develop for the celebration of Peterborough's municipal centenary.

Their preliminary meeting on Tuesday afternoon, with the reception committee of the council, surveyed the prospective events for the year, and left the ideas of patterning and proceeding to simmer until another meeting within a week or so.

It was suggested that citizens might be invited to a general meeting for the discussion of separate affairs likely to fit into the centennial program. As an alternative it seemed more efficient to call in representatives of several groups a day until they have all been consulted.

Indications are that an interesting series of centenary events will gradually appear out of this method of scanning the possibilities. Invitations are going to be sent to every group that might be considered as likely to contribute to this summer program.

"We are still in the preliminary stage," said Ald. Sands, chairman of the reception committee, today. "Everybody we have spoken to so far appears to be friendly and keen to help. The Red Patch Club is one group that has evidently reached decision for a centennial year reunion."

Nobody puts in a word for the Old Home Week idea: Recollection of all the work and worry of the old boys' gathering in 1929, and it was a memorable affair, remains with the elders who had a part in it. Some other generation may stir up enthusiasm some day for the revival of OHW, but it won't be for the centenary.

St. Andrew's Congregation Reviews Activities of Year

The 118th annual meeting of St. Andrew's United Church was held last evening with a good attendance and reports telling of a properous year in 1919 were heard.

The meeting opened with a devotional period conducted by the pastor, Rev. M. J. Aiken. Mr. Harry Northrop was at the piano and Mr. Jack Richardson was elected secretary.

The session report which was read by E. F. Reid said that four communion services had been held during the year with good attendance at each; also four communion services held at Anson House with an average attendance of 30 of the older folks. There were also two communion services held at the Civic Hospital nurses' residence at Christmas and Easter with an attendance of about 40. These services are held at 6:30 a.m. and are also appreciated by those who are privileged to attend.

The 117th anniversary was celebrated on May 1 with Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon, first Moderator of the United Church of Canada as guest preacher. Trinity and St. Andrew's combined as usual for summer services and there was a great feeling of Christian fellowship between these two congregations.

The thanks of the session and congregation was tendered to Mr. Northrop for his ministry of music and to Mrs. J. A. McColl for her continued interest in the junior, intermediate and boys' choirs which have a membership of 60. Also to all members of the senior choir for their interest and loyalty.

Regret at the passing of Mr. Thomas Petrie, a member of many years standing on the session, and also of the removal of Dr. and Mrs. A. Moir to a neighboring town, was expresed in the report, also a message of sympathy to the family of the late Rev. J. G. Potter in the death a few days ago in Montreal of Mrs. Potter, mother of Mrs. D. T. Diplock of this city.

The statistical report showed an increase in membership, also 12 baptisms, 10 marriages and 11 funerals. Names of the departed members were read and a minute's silence observed, with a short prayer by the pastor

The Sunday School report read by Mrs. Gordon Ham, showed increased enthusiasm and good financial standing.

The Guides and Brownies under Miss Moira Whalon had a good year and all these children were enlisted as power-savers during the recent power shortage.

The junior congregation under Mrs. Albert Hutchinson in the first half of the year and Mrs. C. W. Holman in the latter half also had a good report. Two Sundays of the month are given over to missionary talks by Miss B. King.

The choir report showed increasing interest among the members and appreciation to all those who had assisted during the year.

The Women's Association under Mrs. Harley Keefer had a fine report and showed finances raised during the year of $2,592.00, which was used in the purchase of new choir gowns and kitchen equipment, with a nice cash balance.

Miss Hazel Batten reported for the bowling club which also is in a healthy condition.

The WMS under the presidency of Mrs .F. W. K. Harris, had an excellent year and although the membership is not large the amount raised for missions was $879.00. Ten bales of new and used clothing were made up and sent to clearing house in Toronto.

The Alpha Mission Circle report was read by Mrs. Clayton Andrew and although the members are of the younger group the sum of $81.64 was raised. The Mission Band also had a good year and showed increased activity among the children.

Motions of appreciation to the minister, Rev. M. J. Aiken and Mrs. Aiken for all their efforts during the year was passed unanimously, also to the church treasurer Mr. Roy Morrow who reported $18,674.00 raised for all purposes by the congregation.

Mr. V. S. Foster reported that the pension and capital fund started in 1946 had been almost totally paid-up.

The following were elected members of the board of managers for a period of 3 years: Messrs. J. G. Wharry, Eric Baggs, W. A. Richardson, G. A. Gillespie, C. C. Pilon and Ken Kingston, and Mr. Robert Maybee for two years. New members of the session are: Mr. B. L. Barnes, Mr. Rod McNabb, Mr. Herb Hawley, Mr. Charles Brown and Mr. Kenneth Petrie (who succeeds his late father).

Messrs. W. G. Read, D. F. Drummond, Dr. A. Moir and Mr. Alpine McNabb were elected honorary life members of the session.

An enthusiastic and happy meeting was brought to a close by the pastor's benediction

Jet Planes Getting 80% Of Money For Air Defence

CALGARY, Jan. 26.—(CP).—Eighty per cent of the money the federal government is spending on aircraft is going on jet planes, "a higher percentage than any country we know of," Defence Minister Claxton said yesterday

He told a press conference that $50,000,000 is being spent on contracts for aircraft which puts Canada fourth or fifth among the nations of the world.

"Assertions as to adequacy of our defence must be considered as to the likelihood and scale of attack," he said. "No defence is ever adequate in the minds of those who are in charge of it. A population of 13,000,000 is not big enough, even if all the money was spent on defence, to defend alone against greater powers."

On recruiting, the minister said the navy now is at about 9,300 officers and men against a quota of 9,047. Other services were approaching their quota.

The minister, visiting western Canada to arouse greater interest in the reserve army, is scheduled to go to Edmonton tonight.

India's Transition Completed

Today India takes on the status of an independent sovereign Republic. While the Commonwealth bonds have recently been contorted so that India may still be included within the British Commonwealth, in fact the new Republic of India is no more closely connected with it than are the United States of America.

* * *

As a Republic, the word "Royal" is anathema. So it is being obliterated from the red mail trucks of India; gangs of workmen are brushing out or chiselling off royal crests from town halls, schools, Government buildings and a thousand other places. The time and number of men it is taking to do this work of effacement are an outward indication of the extent to which the symbol of the King-Emperor had permeated the country.

* * *

Independence has not brought prosperity to India, nor any great change in the way of life of the millions. There is some disappointment that a new heaven and a new earth have not become immediately manifest, after so many years of hope, striving and passionate devotion to the cause which has today been fully realized. Some are even complaining that things are worse now than they were under the British rule.

* * *

India has her post-war economic troubles. It has also been hit by the partition of the continent, for Pakistan has much of the rich wheat and cotton lands. The antagonism between the two new countries, leading to open warfare, has multiplied the troubles and problems. And now that independence has been achieved, factions within the country, and personal jealousies, have developed.

* * *

No nation comes into being full-grown. A nation that is born out of tribulation cannot expect her earliest ways to be smooth and her first years painless. It will be many years before the best fruits of independence are tasted—and the losses realized. But India does enter her new life surprisingly unified politically, and with an encouraging prospect. Her most distinguishing assets are a core of extraordinarily able, devoted and highly educated leaders, and a noble tradition of struggle for the independence which she has now attained and will be jealous to preserve.

Pass B.A.

There are two kinds of Bachelor of Arts courses at most universities: the pass and the honours. The honours course usually takes a year longer, is more restricted in its curriculum, and leads to specialized knowledge of a limited field, for instance, economics, history, modern languages or physics. During the last several decades, and in some universities more than others, the pass B.A. has come to be looked on as a poor brother of the honours B.A. The reasons are that usually the academic requirements for registration in an honours course are higher, the course is more expensive because it takes longer, students who flunk out of an honours course are allowed to slip into a pass course, and many students (or their parents) seeking merely a "college education" favour the pass B.A. as being less demanding.

The poor estate of the pass B.A. is to receive attention at the University of Toronto. The degree, in distinction from the honours B.A. has special merit now too frequently lost to it. The pass course is potentially more liberal than the honours course, for it does not restrict the field of study as severely as does the honours course. Instead of an undergraduate's spending most of four years on one or two subjects, he can spend three roaming more generously. The trouble has been that the field has been too open in some universities, and students get a smattering of a dozen subjects and an intimate, challenging knowledge of none. President Smith of Toronto, announcing changes in the pass B.A. course there, says: "The new general course will provide those elements most conspicuously lacking in the pass course: a coherent pattern and a genuine intellectual discipline". This is a good step towards rescuing the pass B.A. from the shades into which it has fallen.

It is true that many brilliant students, achieving high honour standing in individual subjects of the pass course, have had coherence and intellectual discipline in their studies. Their pass B.A. ranks above the honours B.A. of some other students who have not achieved a truly liberal education. It is the run-of-the-mill, the lazy and the hangers on, who have degraded the pass B.A. The new Toronto course will either direct such people into better and sterner ways, or usher them out of university. The new course for the pass B.A. at Toronto (where sixty per cent. of the undergraduates are now taking the pass course) will raise the whole level.

The latitude now given pass students at Toronto is not found at all Canadian universities. Some of them already insist on a grouping of subjects, which gives coherence with a maximum of freedom of studies. The pass course will come back to respectability everywhere when matriculation standards for it are as high as for the honours courses, and when the practice of "dropping" from an honours course to a pass is not more common than transferring from a pass to an honours course.

Dr. Prasad

The first President of the Republic of India is Dr. Rajendra Prasad, M.A., LL.D., a graduate of Indian universities, a former professor of English, an author and journalist, a lawyer, an authority on agriculture and the life of peasants, and an alert, passionate patriot with a well-developed political sense. His election to the Presidency last Tuesday by unanimous vote was a political victory for Prime Minister Nehru as well as a tribute to Dr. Prasad.

The new President, being sworn in today, forsook law and regular pursuits in 1920, when he joined forces with Gandhi in the non-cooperation movement. During the next quarter-century he was, like so many other present Indian leaders, more frequently in jail than out of it. In Lord Wavell's interim Government in 1946 and in the first Indian Government after partition he was Minister of Food and Agriculture. He now brings to his office as head of the state, in succession to Mr. Rajagopalachari, former Governor-General whose office has now been abolished, great personal gifts, the affection of the people, and, most important quality in discordant India, a skill in persuading rival factions to agree.

Import Ice?—Ridiculous!

In this wet mild winter skiers and skaters may talk whimsically about bringing down ice from the North Pole, or Victoria, B.C. (Canada's erstwhile 'evergreen playground'). But it's a pack of nonsense, isn't it? The incredible fact is that last year Canada imported $110,000 worth of ice from the U.S.A. Our Lady of the Snows actually paid out $110,000 in scarce American dollars to import ice.

The explanation given by officials at Ottawa is that the ice was of course, refrigerated, and that most of it went into refrigerated railway cars which were passing briefly through the northern states, or were coming back from border jaunts. Some of it passed between border towns such as Windsor and Detroit, during heat waves when the Canadian-made supply was not enough to meet the demand. We hear that even Cobourg has been known to buy Rochester ice. Whatever the reasons, the fact is that Canada bought thousands of tons of ice from her southern neighbour last year.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The Brandon Sun mentions an Indian girl whose name is Pretty Bear. A slight alteration in spelling and that name would apply to lots of girls.

An odd footnote to Peterborough's winterless winter: the snow-clearing contracts let by the city for clearing other than the central district are costing $4,985,—$675 more than last year.

We read yesterday that Caledonian cooks were on their toes for Burn's birthday. Sounds as if they had been dancing a fling in a tub of haggis that was too hot. Burny, burn!

Another commercial activity suffering from the unusual weather so far this winter is the ski resort business, much of which is located in Quebec. Operators there are said to be praying for two feet of snow, but even if their prayers are answered they will still have to make do with a curtailed season—an unprecedented development, we should imagine, in the Laurentians and the Ottawa Valley.

The Hydrogen Bomb

By TREVOR I. WILLIAMS, B.A., B.Sc., D.Phil.

(Ed. Note: This timely article was written specially for the London Observer and Peterborough Examiner by Trevor I. Williams, an Oxford scientist, a member of Sir Howard Florey's research team investigating penicillin, and a keen interpreter of science through his books and articles.)

It is reported from the United States that President Truman is considering authorizing the development of a hydrogen bomb, said to be a thousand times more destructive than the original atomic bomb derived from uranium. As one has come to expect, however, these reports are not accompanied by any direct indication of what the hydrogen bomb really is, how it would work, or why it would be so powerful.

Although the question is admittedly very difficult, this hush-hush policy is probably mistaken, for it inevitably promotes the wildest speculation and public anxiety. Moreover, any attempt at complete secrecy is misplaced, for the recent literature of science—freely available throughout the world—affords many clues to the nature of the new weapon. These clues are to be found not only in the publications of ordinary atomic scientists but also in those of astrophysicists, detached beings who look far beyond the confines of our own earth and study the changes which go on in the sun, stars and other bodies billions of miles away.

It seems clear that the hydrogen bomb would attempt to reproduce on a limited scale the sort of atomic transmutations believed to occur within the sun, transmutations which yield such unimaginably vast quantities of energy that instead of cooling steadily, the sun has continued to radiate trillions of horsepower of light and heat for millions of years past and shows every sign of continuing to do so for millions of years to come. Dotted about throughout space are thousands of other suns, many of them far more powerful than our own, in which similar energy changes occur. The cosmic rays which constantly shower down on the earth may be the products of these tremendous atomic transmutations.

All available evidence points to the conclusion that at the immense pressures and temperatures existing in the interior of the sun—temperatures of perhaps 20,000,000 (degrees Centigrade) and pressures of 5,000,000 tons per square inch—matter as we know it cannot exist at all. The imense forces tear even hydrogen atoms apart, so that only the simplest particles, such as protons and electrons, can exist at all except for brief periods.

A SPECIAL study of these extreme conditions has been made by Professor Hans Bethe of Cornell University, among others, and he has concluded that the sun's energy is derived almost entirely from the combination of whirling protons into atoms of helium, the next simplest element after hydrogen. Helium is, as its name implies, the "sun element", for it was known to exist in the sun long before it was discovered on the earth.

When uranium 235 is transmuted into other elements, such as barium and krypton, a small amount of matter disappears, and it is this disappearance of matter which provides the energy of the explosion. The rate of exchange between matter and energy was calculated by Einstein many years ago; it is so prodigious that the destruction of a tiny quantity of matter provides an enormous amount of energy. When hydrogen is transmuted into helium some matter also disappears; the disappearance of matter is relatively greater than in the uranium transmutation and the consequent liberation of energy is also greater.

Calculation shows that the step from a uranium to a hydrogen bomb is roughly the same as that from an ordinary block-buster to a uranium bomb.

HOWEVER, to know with reasonable certainty, the nature of the changes which produce the heat and light of the sun is a very different thing from being able to reproduce them on the earth. It is certain that the transition from theory to practice will be a huge undertaking.

The first essential would be the production of pressures and temperatures comparable with those of the sun; and at present the uranium bomb alone offers the possibility of achieving these conditions. One must surmise, therefore, that the uranium bomb would be used to "trigger" the hydrogen bomb.

It may be that even the uranium bomb will be unable to produce even momentarily the extreme conditions needed for the hydrogen-helium transmutation, though local temperatures within the explosion are said to exceed 100,000,000°C. However, there are other possibilities. At a considerably lower temperature, perhaps as low as 200,000°C, an almost equally powerful transmutation takes place, from heavy hydrogen (deuterium) to helium, and it may be on this that American physicists are working.

THE recent denial that the explosion of a hydrogen bomb would involve a risk of setting off atomic explosions in the earth's atmosphere is indirect evidence that in the hydrogen bomb scientists propose to reproduce energy processes such as those of the sun and stars. For Professor Bethe suggests that the transmutation of hydrogen to helium in the sun did not proceed directly, but through a chain reaction involving isotopes of carbon, nitrogen, and oxygen. All three of these elements are present in the atmosphere, the last two together making up almost the whole of it and carbon being present in traces as carbon dioxide. But we need not fear for the general stability of the atmosphere, for it is only at temperatures and pressures almost immeasurably greater than those found normally in the atmosphere that the carbon-nitrogen-oxygen chain reaction could take place at all.

It is also possible that in the hydrogen bomb some intermediate nuclear transformation might be utilized. For example, when in the laboratory atoms of lithium are bombarded with protons—the central cores of hydrogen atoms—helium is formed, again with the release of energy. Under laboratory conditions the amount of energy released is negligible, but under stellar conditions it would be very large. Within the rather cool stars known as "red giants" such transmutations are in fact believed to take place, and the explosion of a uranium bomb could create the conditions necessary for them to occur on earth.

All these transmutations have one vital common factor. They are based on substances — hydrogen, deuterium, lithium, or other light metals such as boron or beryllium —which, unlike uranium, are either abundantly available or at least obtainable without great difficulty. Hence there need be scarcely any upper limit to the power of an atomic bomb made from them.

Letters To The Editor

SHACK ON THE OTONABEE

Sir: Would like to express myself on an item which appeared in paper this week. I am referring to the shack on the Oontabee River. One just cannot understand how such a terrible condition could exist right under the nose of the Health Inspector who is paid for the job. One would think he could hardly help knowing that such dirt and filth and disease exists. What is the City Council going to do about it? It's very easy to tear down lovely homes, pay good money for them, just to place another building on the land. Surely they can find a home for this woman and her children. People are apt to make the remark, no need of it, money coming in etc. Stop and think who would have them or let them rent a home. When you think of that one child five years old not even able to walk. Oh how can people who have children of their own go to bed at night with such a picture before them. Skunks keeping children awake, afraid of them. Cut out so much time on Summer Theatre, get busy and do something about this vital matter. If the Rotary Club is as fine as I think they are I'm sure they will do something for the children. What will the other organizations do about it, there are plenty in the city. Forget your bingo games for a while and do something. What will all the churches in the city do about it. Surely they will come to the front. I don't suppose anyone even knows what denomination they belong to. Think of the children in a shack these cold days and it is cold right now and windy. The ones who have the good warm homes, children nice and warm, well fed and clothed, able to walk and run about. What if it were your child of five years who could not even walk. I pray with all my heart that something will be done and that soon.

For God said inasmuch as ye do it unto one of these my children you do it unto me.

Signed,
DEEPLY INTERESTED.

NOTE: This dwelling is not in the area governed by the City Council. The County Council is the responsible body.

BRINGING LIGHT TO BEAR

Sir: Last Sabbath a parson when broadcasting made a statement to this effect: not always does a parson find high intellect in his audience and not always is a parson highly educated.

Is it not true that those who take the place of giving light to men become, to a certain extent, responsible for the moral state of people? Therefore all ministry is a very serious thing in view of the moral result in those who are ministered to. A carnal ministry could produce only fruit after its kind; a spiritual ministry of Christ would produce spiritual results.

While each person has responsibility of his own soul yet more responsibility attaches in a special way to those who takes the place of having light and of bringing it to bear upon others. Do the ministry realize that the strength of a nation depends on the moral life of the people?

Another parson in this town has said, "You can't change people". What, then, is the work of a minister? We know that not one of us is the same at the end of a day as at its dawn. Have parsons not studied psychology?

SEEKER AFTER TRUTH.

DON'T SUBSIDIZE THEATRE

Sir: I have been following with interest the numerous letters from the citizens of Peterborough who are clamouring for the retention of the Summer Theatre, although I take leave to doubt that many of them visited it at all last year.

In my opinion it would be a gross injustice to have this enterprise subsidized by the city in general, and suggest that, if the actors (and others) who take part in the presentations cannot see their way to accept a cut in their salaries, then let those who have no more healthful way of spending their summer evenings pay twice or three times last year's admission fee.

Meantime those of us who have un-important matters such as housing, work, health, etc. to worry about will follow the outcome of this struggle, with bated breath.

Yours, etc.,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

MARRIED WOMEN RESPECTED

Sir: I would like to elaborate on the editorial appearing some two weeks ago, regarding married women working.

I agree whole-heartedly with the writer to the extent that if a married woman is actually doing a young girl out of a job, then there should be something done about it.

However, and may I stress 'however' — have you ever stopped to realize that much of this condition has been brought on by the 'younger set' themselves, and that the entire blame should not be thrust upon the married women alone.

I have heard many employers say that girls who have been employed by them for sometime, and have then married and continued working, are, in the majority of cases the more steady and reliable employees in comparison to the younger ones of today.

So many come into the offices and shops today with the idea in mind of having a wonderful time, and getting paid for it. There are, of course, exceptions here, but in the majority of cases, this is the impression they leave with us.

A few years ago when young girls came to our plants for their first job, they were only too happy to be taught their job, and accept advice willingly and earnestly,—but not today! Instead, many come in with the idea that they 'know the score' and that's that! Instead of taking orders from their superiors, they endeavour to hand them out, and if things don't go their way—having no responsibilities whatsoever, they boldly ask for their release.

So do you really think it is fair to pin the blame on married women alone? What about the attitude and effort of many of the younger ones of today?

A MARRIED WORKING WOMAN.

Hydro Puckists Gain Win In Rough Fray

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 26 — (ENS). — The 600 fans who paid to see the TVL game here last night were not disappointed. Campbellford beat Norwood 4-2. The game was studded with penalties to both teams, and during a free-for-all in the second period, Fennell of Norwood and Douglas Free of Campbellford drew match misconduct penalties for fighting. While the abovementioned players were instigators of the melee, there was not a single player on the ice, except the two goalkeepers, who did not take part to some extent. Tanner and Peak of Campbellford and Clements of Norwood also went off in this mix-up and the referees had a real headache in trying to figure which four men of each team would have to remain in the play.

With 43 seconds of the second period remaining, Allan Taylor, Campbellford defenceman, received a severe body check and went down for the count. The referee called the period and the remaining 43 seconds was added to the third period. Taylor was not hurt seriously, but had his wind knocked out when he was wedged against his stick and the boards.

Norwood—Goal, Morrison; defence, G. Payne and G. Fennell; centre, B. Kelly; wings, V. Clements and D. Evans; alternates, B. Webb, J. Brown, N. Rogers, H. Smith, J. Peterson.

Campbellford—Goal, Laverne; defence, Tanner and Al. Taylor; centre, Blake; wings, Hay and Hendricks; alternates, Robinson, Peake, Doherty, Smith, Doug Free, Don Free, Pace, Hopping spare goal.

The summary:

First Period
Campbellford—Smith (Pace) 4:09
Penalties— H. Smith, G. Fennell and Tanner.
Second Period
Campbellford—Smith (Don Free) 2:37
Campbellford—Blake 10:30
Norwood—Rogers (Kelly) 14:01
Penalties—J. Brown, Fennell, Doug Free, G. Payne, Tanner, Peake, and Clements
Third Period
Norwood—Kelly (Clements and Payne) 1:53
Campbellford—Blake (Hendrick) 10:55

EFFICIENT SEEING IS A VITAL PART OF EFFICIENT LIVING

One of the most difficult things to understand about seeing is that a large part of seeing is not done with the eyes at all! Vision draws heavily from the other senses, particularly the senses of feeling and hearing. To many people, this is a curious fact about vision.

You say, "That looks too heavy to lift" yet nothing ever really looks heavy. It is a figure of speech, but it has its foundation in past experience in trying to lift something. In just the opposite direction, other senses borrow from vision—much of what you hear is composed of watching the speaker's lips and facial expressions.

All the incoming sensations are correlated in your mid-brain and since in all the ordinary affairs of everyday life, the perceiving of things is participated in by almost all of our own sensory-motor functions, we must think more in terms of the unity of the senses.

Thus, any cancellation or reduction of your visual skills — depth perception, color perception, sluggish recognition, etc., is a detriment to your entire personality, rather than just to your vision and becomes just that much more important to you. You see more than is viewed by your eyes —and also it is possible for you to see much less, because you suppress the non-essential.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Detroit's Ted Lindsay continues in top spot of the National Hockey League scoring parade with 50 points—17 goals and 33 assists —closely followed by teammate Sid Abel who boasts 49 points. Abel, Red Wings team captain, last night accounted for one goal and an assist to move into first-place deadlock with Montreal's Maurice (Rocket) Richard in goals. Both have 25. Richard's goals and 15 assists put him in third place of the scoring list, nine points behind Abel. Boston's Paul Ronty, Roy Conacher of Chicago, and Gordie Howe, Detroit, are tied in fourth position with 38 points apiece, with Doug Bentley of Chicago following with 37. The leaders:

	G.	A.	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	17	33	50
Abel, Detroit	25	24	49
Richard, Montreal	25	15	40
Ronty, Boston	17	21	38

Can't Give Address

MONTREAL, Jan. 26—(CP) — The Rev. Clarence Duff said Wednesday he will be unable to address scheduled public meetings in Montreal and Quebec because the owners and operators of rented halls have cancelled the leases. He favored a "co-operative system based on the teachings of Christ."

Swashbuckling Spitfires Blast Kroehlers 8-1

By The Canadian Press

Windsor Spitfires did it Wednesday night.

Their spirited drive to regain second place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A loop paid off when they defeated Stratford Kroehlers 8-1 in Windsor.

Today they're in second place—the same position they held in mid-December before the OHA executive lopped off nine games because they used two ineligible players. The four-point win gave them 47 points, seven behind the leading Toronto Marlboros, idle Wednesday night.

In the only other OHA game, Oshawa Generals gained a 3-1 victory over the eighth-place Galt Black Hawks in Oshawa. The victory left the Generals in seventh place of the nine-team loop, 30 points behind Marlboros.

The Spitfires racked up their victory Wednesday night in the same manner as seven of the other eight—in swashbuckling style. They lost only one, that one a 6-3 decision to Guelph Biltmores last Friday.

Get 24 Penalties

A total of 24 penalties—including seven majors—were meted out by referees Doug Young and Dave Parson, both of Detroit, Mich., as the Spitfires went ahead 1-0 in the first period, blasted in seven unanswered goals in the second and then split two in the last period.

High sticking and hot tempers exploded at 9:21 of the second period when six players swung into a brawl.

Glen Skov and Bob Bailey paced the Windsor squad with two goals each. Earl Reibel, Mike Delich, Erwin Grosse and Earl Johnson followed up with one apiece. Williams spoiled netminder Glen Hall's shutout in the third period, on a shot that caught the corner.

At Oshawa Ted O'Connor put the Generals into the lead early in the second. Less than five minutes later Peter Conacher tied the count.

Ben Chapman broke the 1-1 deadlock early in the final and Lou Jankowski got the clincher.

Play 10 Euchre Tables

NORWOOD, Jan. 26 (ENS)— Ten tables of euchre were played at S.S. No. 4, Highway 7, Friday. Winners were Mrs. C. Coughlin, Mrs. Wm. Heffernan, Dick Kerr and Lillian Elmhirst of Indian River. Lunch was served.

Night dances at school were banned because of the coal strike, but the students each lugged 10 pounds of coal from home to build up a stockpile for the big dance.

Togs Gain Win By 34-22 Over Belleville

Towne Togs defeated Belleville girls 34-22 in a league basketball fixture at the YWCA last evening. It was one of the fastest frays seen here so far this season, starting in a hurry with the local lasses going up six points before the visitors got settled. The score at the half was 15-6 for the home team, but the Quinte colleens later found the range to make it a nip and tuck scrap. Togs got all their points on baskets, while the losers got half their points on foul shots.

Togs scored but two of seven free throws while Belleville got eight of 11 with nice shooting. Jean Vass, Dot Callan and Ruth Hewitt shone for the visitors on the attack, while Marg Freeman was strong on defence. S. McLeod, B. Holloway, and M. Marinoff were the pick of the losers. Togs play Port Hope here next Wednesday, February 1, at 7:15 p.m. Teams:

Belleville — B. Ruttan, S. McLeod 6, M. Marinoff 3, B. Holloway4, S. Bunnett 3, D. Bell 1, B. Gibson 3, M. Tomaso 1, B. Zebedee 1, J. Mathews, D. Pappas, M. Niblock.

Togs — D. Callan 6, M. Kennedy, J. Dunk 2, M. Freeman, J. Vass 11, R. Hewitt 7, D. Saunders, B. Stewart 2, J. Castle 2, P. Stewart 4.

Referees — E. Smith and J. McIlraith; scorer, E. McIlhagga.

U.S. Team Of Huskies Goes After Silver Cup

OTTAWA, Jan. 26—(CP)—A United States huskie team from Canada's own Labrador has thrown down the gauntlet to Canadian dog-racing teams.

Nine huskies from the U.S. Air Force base at Goose Bay, Labrador, have been entered in the three-day, 90-mile international sled dog derby to be held here starting Feb. 9.

The team has been specially selected from among the four dog teams used by the USAF Sixth Rescue Squadron on rescue expeditions out of the remote air base situated at the southern end of Lake Melville and some 200 miles northwest of the northern tip of Newfoundland.

The Air Force entry will be running in its first race when sled driver Staff Sgt. Charles O. Laine, 28, of Norwich, Conn., sends the dogs racing over the 30-mile course for the $1,750 prize money and a silver cup.

2nd Lot Of Canadians Arrive At Auckland

AUCKLAND, Jan. 26 (CP) — The second batch of Canadian contenders for the British Empire Games arrived tonight at nearby Ardmore Camp after an air trip from Canada during which they were delayed five days in San Francisco by bad weather.

Gerard Cote, beaming marathon runner from St. Hyacinthe, Que., appeared as fresh as a daisy and his only worry seemed to be that the delay had caused him to run short of his beloved cigars.

However, he had conveniently borrowed some from Svein Sigfusson, Winnipeg discus thrower and another cigar smoking member of the team.

The newcomers on their arrival at the Ardmore "Empire Village" were surrounded by their teammates of the first contingent, who have been here more than two weeks.

Last Night's Stars

A Technicality

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP).— Under an ancient British legal maxim a man may not be placed in jeopardy twice for the same offence, and Magistrate Thomas Elmore therefore Wednesday "reluctantly" dismissed a charge of careless driving against Cameron Martin. The magistrate noted that a summons was mailed to Martin, who had moved from that address, and ordinarily the same summons is served peronally on the accused. In this case, however, another summons was issued without the formality of a time extension.

Dairy Cow Valuable

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP).— Large areas of land in Canada can be used only for rough pasture, and the dairy cow is the most efficient means of transforming these areas into valuable land for human use, said Dr. G. E. Hall, president of the University of Western Ontario at London, in an address Wednesday. He spoke to the fourth annual meeting of the Associated Milk Foundation of Canada. B. J. Wright of Kitchener-Waterloo, was elected president.

BREAK UP THE YANKEES—That long was the cry in the American League, and they're doing it in a measure with the departure of Charlie Keller, left, to Detroit. With Joe DiMaggio, center, and Tom Henrich, Hong Kong formed one of the all-time great outfields.

Lindsay Rink Wins In Quebec

QUEBEC, Jan. 26 — (CP). — A Western Canada rink and another from the Maritimes today were eyeing each other as possible opponents in the final for the Chateau International Award after suffering surprise setbacks in the Lieutenant-Governor's competition, blue ribbon event of Quebec's 37th international bonspiel.

With the defeat of Arthur McF. Limerick of Fredericton, and Dr. G. M. Beall, of Birch Hills, Sask., in the first round Wednesday, the race for the Lieutenant-Governor's award, emblematic of the 'spiel's international championship, became a wide open affair.

A flock of games in the Holt-Renfrew international and the Omega international events also were played.

The two "sleeper" rinks which pulled down the mighty favorites were A. G. Joyce of Arvida, Que., who defeated Limerick 6-4 in the eighth and final end, and A. J. Ross, Jr., of St. Johns, Que., who took an extra end to edge Dr. Beall 6-5.

In grand aggregate quarter-final play, E. N. Gregory, Lindsay, bowled over C. H. Cote, of Quebec Jacques Cartier, 13-2. Earlier Gregory defeated J. Roy of Montreal 9-4.

Legion Clinches Top Spot With 4-3 Win Over Petes

Edging out the Petes 4-3 here last night before 2,000 fans, the Legionnaires clinched first place in their OHA senior "B" grouping, pretty well confining the Petes to the fourth slot, back of Kingston and Belleville. The jockeying for playoff spots is likely now to be strictly between Nylons and Diesels for second and third place.

While the score was close, play fairly even and exciting, it wasn't the best of hockey last night. A lot of sloppy work crept in—actual shinny at times—and there were many stoppages to slow it down. Otherwise, both sides hustled and the Petes appeared to have more of the play most of the route in a rather clean contest. Several fights threatened but didn't develop and the nine penalties were minor ones.

Finished Strong

Once again the scrappy Legionnaires showed their stuff by ramming in hard in the third period to break a 2-2 deadlock after a scoreless second inning to make it 4-2. With half a minute left in the game, the Petes got one goal back, but even with their goalie out in the dying seconds it was too late to sew it up. The losers had more close-in shots on Ross Nicholls in both the first and second periods, but Legion rallied to have an edge in the third till the final few minutes.

Dootch Vitarelli and Bill Crowley were the main snipers for the winners, Bill scoring three while Dootch got one and aided on two more in a smart showing. Rochetta and Godfrey each got an assist. Bill McMasters, Jim Conlin and Ron Horton each tallied for the Petes, with Jack Mortimer and Fred Garvey getting an assist each. Both goalies were good, with Nicholls busier than Harding. Gus Leonard and Johnny Godfrey went best on defence, though there were no real standouts on either side this game.

Some Thumps

Some solid bumping was seen at times and the odd bit of high-sticking or elbowing, but it was fairly clean. Three times fights threatened, Nicholls nearly tangling once with McMasters and again with Horton, but it was stopped in a hurry by competent referees. A boy was hit in the face with a puck and given first-aid treatment early in the tussle. The fans were fairly evenly divided in their vocal support throughout.

Crowley got the first early from Vitarelli and they made it 2-1 after McMasters' solo tally when Crowley got another in close from Rochetta and Godfrey on a play built up by Vitarelli—yet only two assists are allowed. Conlin got that back from Mortimer to make it 2-2 in the first. Neither side could click in the hot second frame but Vitarelli got a lovely lone one early in the third and Crowley made it 4-2 from Vitarelli in a hot battle in close. The Petes kept fighting back and finally got one, Horton from Garvey in a scramble in the final minute of play.

NEAT EFFORT — Dootch Vitarelli turned in a neat effort for Legion last night here in their 4-3 puck win over the Petes, scoring one goal and assisting in two more.

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Horton and Leonard; centre, West; wings, J. Mortimer and Garvey; alternates, McMasters, Jopling, Coughlin, Fife, Creighton, Griffin, Conlin and Collins.

AT THE BROCK TONIGHT—Pat Flanagan, above, who takes on Steve Stanlee in the semi-final bout of tonight's wrestling card at the Brock. This one should be a classic. The main event brings together the fast-moving Seelie Samara and the powerful lumberjack, Yukon Eric. In the opening match Toar Morgan will get a stiff test when Jim (Goon) Henry and he tangle.

Silk Grattan Dufferin Winner

TORONTO, Jan. 26—Silk Grattan, owned by C. W. Hodgson, of Haliburton, stood best in the summaries of Tuesday's Dufferin Park harness feature after two gruelling heats in deep mud.

The first dash was nip and tuck between Silk and Josedale Scotland, Baker preserving enough to to get the nod. The effort of this dash apparently took too much out of the Haliburton mare, as she was a tired but game second in the repeat to Bad Boy, from the Harry Wilson Stable of Cass City, Mich. Bad Boy was driven by Gerald Payne, of Muncie, Ind.

The balance of the card was raced off in very slow time, with form finishing a poor second in the mud.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Oshawa Bees swarm into Civic Arena at 8.30 tomorrow evening to try to put the sting on the local Oddfellows. An OHA junior "B" fixture betwixt the top two teams in their grouping. It should be a right rousing struggle, especially as the IOOF-ers will be out to avenge that reverse in the Motor City earlier this week. Bun Kingdon's boys were a bit below form in that one, as they should be able to take Oshawa, even if they have to hustle plenty in the process. No dull moments in these sizzling junior puck jousts, and this one isn't likely to be an exception. A hot tilt all the way, we expect, and it rates a crowd.

* * * * * *

It is rather remarkable that a city this size can come up with two OHA senior "B" clubs operating in the same group. And doing well, too. Just think how strong one Peterborough entry, made up of the pick of these teams, would be in the playdown picture! We had two in last year and one of them went right through to take the provincial title. Also, if there was but one club here we could let go with more publicity on it, whereas one must spread the blah around 50-50 when two are battling it out. Indeed, the rival clubs watch like hawks the space we allot each team, practically counting the printed words. Ah, wurra, wurra!

In Front Of 2,000 Fans

That 4-3 win for Legion over the Petes here last eve sounds like a swell scrap, yet it wasn't as good (in our opinion) as a lot of their other tilts. Too much shinny and not enough good hockey. However, it was close and exciting for some 2,000 fans, so maybe we're wrong. Wouldn't be the first time! A 2-2 tilt the first frame with no count in the second and then Legion struck hard to make it 4-2. The Petes finally got one but it was with less than half a minute to go and that was too late to expect to tie it up. But it shows (a) that Legion are really missing Coombs and Fryia, and (b) that the Petes are coming, and will be tough about playoff time.

* * * * * *

Dootch Vitarelli and Bill Crowley played good hockey for Legion, and were easily the pick of their forwards. Godfrey on defence and Nicholls in goal were good, too, the latter having a busy evening as he handled more hot shots than Ray Harding. The Petes' goalie gave away nothing, and Gus Leonard lent him a lot of support on defence, none of the forwards being particularly outstanding over the whole route. McMaster is one big guy who gives it the old college try every time. Montgomery does, also, but he should stickhandle back of his blue line less and pass more, we'd say. Pro coaches now say: get it out of there fast. But he's a comer.

Re Lights At Riverside

Progress toward arcs in Riverside was made at a meeting under Ald. Herb Young yesterday, members of the council, Utilities commission and the recreation commission lending a sympathetic ear to the baseball delegates. As it stands now, the council will be asked to advance $15,000 toward the project and the senior ball club—through a committee appointed by the recreation commission—will try to raise another $15,000 for the lights. Utilities will help where possible and CGE Co. equipment will be used if the deal is okayed. It is pointed out to taxpayers that the $15,000 the council may grant would be repaid in about five years, or less, through a charge of maybe 25 per cent to clubs using the lights.

* * * * * *

This is sound civic business, as the Mayor and other civic officials indicated yesterday. The city will keep complete control of the park and the lights, the money will be returned in full ere long, there will be future profits for the city, and the lights are always available for any purpose, including minor sports. The operating cost of the lights at senior games will be borne by the senior ball club. The recreation commission, quite properly, will have a direct hand in allotting use of a city sports park. All that remains is for the council to pass it, and then the ball starts rolling. The Petes will be accepted, along with Oshawa, into the Toronto senior Viaduct League.

PCVS Cage Lasses All Ready For Season

After hearing and seeing nothing but boys' basketball for the past two weeks, the Collegiate's girls' squads, senior and junior, tangle with Cobourg lasses in the opening games of the Lakeshore Girls' Basketball League here Friday night.

Something new has been added to the teams this year, a new set of teachers. Miss Doreen Pemberton is piloting the senior crew while Miss Eva Scott is the guiding light for the juniors. Miss Pemberton has lined up for the Friday night tussle 11 experienced girls, all either with the seniors or juniors last year. Up front with the forwards are Mary Braund, Mary Craw, Carol Raper, Betty Jacquith, Peggy Estlick and Lois Hutchinson.

Roaming in the defensive territory for the seniors are: Marney Hollingsworth, Nancy Mason Catherine Graham, Marilyn Jackson, Jane Tivy and Donna Howson.

Lack Experience

Miss Scott is sending a fairly inexperienced quintet against the Cobourg girls Friday. Only three of last year's squad are in the lineup this year, Pat Nixon, the captain, Marg Clarke and Audrey Magee. A few of the girls are playing this year in the Girls' City League.

With Miss Nixon on the forward line are Rosy McInroy, Lorraine Derry, Joan Krogh, Marg. Lang and Ida Holland. Miss Scott's guards are Marg Clarke, Anne LaPointe, Audry Magee, Eleanor White, Shirley Leggott and Phyllis Peryer. Last year the teams went through the Lakeshore league successfully but were downed in the semi-finals C.O.S.S.A. games in Toronto.

Choose Jesse Owens Greatest Track Man

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—(CP)—Jesse Owens, who in one blazing afternoon broke five world records and tied a sixth, and then went on to win four Olympic gold medals, emerged today in The Associated Press's mid-century sports polls as the greatest track athlete of the era since 1900.

The tall Negro sprinter received 201 votes from American sports editors and broadcasters. Jim Thorpe, the versatile Indian who won the Olympic Decathlon in 1912 only to lose his honors on professionalism charges, was second with 74. Thorpe has already won the AP poll as the greatest football player.

Third place was close between Paavo Nurmi, Finnish distance runner, with 31 votes, and Glenn Cunningham, American miler, with 30.

Peterborough Curlers Score Victory

AYR, Scotland, Jan. 26 (CP).—Canada's visiting curlers celebrated Robert Burns' birthday in fine style Wednesday, the B team defeating a combined squad of English province and Dumfriesshire curlers 119-115 in a match at the birthplace of the great Scottish Poet.

Wednesay night the Canadians were entertained to a banquet of haggis by their opponents at which all speeches honored the Bard.

But in Edinburgh, the Canadian A team didn't fare so well, dropping an 113-106 decision to the team of Scottish rinks from Peebles, East Lothian and the Border shires.

Winning Canadian skips on the B team were: Percy H. Skitch, Lindsay; Richard DeBoo, Toronto; Emmett Smith, Bourlamaque, Que.; A. McCracken and B. J. Moore, Montreal; Garth Braund and W. M. Cruthers, Peterborough; and Corlis G. Keyes, of Ottawa.

Winning Canadian skips on the A team were: A. F. McDowell, Timmins; James E. Jeffries and Jack Hutton, Calgary; Wilfrid J. Edgar, Innisfail, Alta.; J. E. Armstrong, J. B. Francis, B. S. McNeice and L. Richardson, all of Regina.

"The A team is now meeting stiffer opposition in provincial games," said Walter Bain, an official of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, who was a member of the Scottish touring team which toured Canaa last winter.

"But they are putting up a fine show," he added.

Toronto Meteors Leave Lindsay

LINDSAY, Jan. 26—Manager Greg. Currie announced Wednesday that the Toronto Meteors, entry in the OHA Senior "B" Big Seven League, will play no more home games on Lindsay ice.

Currie said poor attendance at the local arena had run the club $900 into the red and forced them to make the decision. Meteors, who have been sponsored by Norm McIntosh, of Lindsay, have played here for two years. They expect to make Collingwood their home for the remaining six games. The club was undefeated on Lindsay ice, being in third place, two points behind Orillia Silver Bombers.

The move leaves Lindsay with two OHA entries to support, Hank Goldup's Kinsmen Juniors, who have drawn fans in large numbers, and the intermediate "A" players.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

The committee would like a few more rinks for the W. G. Morrow Trophy bonspiel on Saturday.

Mrs. D. Clarke, Mrs. J. Fanning, Mrs H. Dulmage and Mrs. V. Selkirk are skipping rinks today at Lindsay in the ladies' bonspiel.

Playing in the vice-skips bonspiel yesterday, Mrs. J. Watts' rink scored the possible eight-end. This is the first one this season and just off-hand, we believe it's the first for many seasons.

Next Monday, C. Giroux and Dr. R. Clark are skipping Tankard rinks at Lindsay.

Tonight we continue with the schedule—Groups No 8 and 9 playing.

Toronto Leafs Trounce Injury-Riddled Rangers

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

A team on the way up, and another on the way down, collided in passing Wednesday night.

Toronto Maple Leafs defeated New York Rangers, 5-1 and there was a volume of National Hockey League lore in the result. For the Leafs, it was the seventh victory with one tie and one defeat, in the last nine games that have pulled them out of the depths into a solid hold on third place.

For the Rangers, it was the seventh straight loss, giving them a bare toe hold over the fifth place Boston Bruins after their December climb that was halted by injuries.

The night's only other game demonstrated again the jinx that the Boston Bruins have over the league leading Detroit Red Wings It was a 4-4 tie at Detroit.

10-Point Margin

The single point gave Detroit a 10-point margin over the second place Montreal Canadiens. Toronto is only a game behind Montreal in third place. Today's standing gives Detroit 57 points, Montreal 47, Toronto 45, New York 40, Boston 39 and Chicago Black Hawks 34.

A crowd of 13,393 fans at Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens saw their Leafs whip into an early lead, 4-1 in the first period, getting another in the last frame. Wild Bill Ezinicki scored two goals and the others went to Vic Lynn, veteran Max Bentley and rookie Johnny McCormack.

Tony Leswick spoiled a shutout for goalie Turk Broda, sinking a rebound.

Bruins Keep Lead

At Detroit the Bruins had a 4-2 lead going into the last period, including two goals scored while a short handed Boston team was eluding Detroit power players. Milt Schmidt, Ed Harrison, and Phil Maloney, with two, were the Boston scorers as Harry Lumley returned to the Detroit nets after missing seven games because of an ankle injury.

Jim McFadden, Gord Howe, Lee Fogolin and Sid Abel did the scoring honors for Detroit as Ted Lindsay, the league's leading scorer, added two assists to bring his season's total points to 50.

The Wings dashed across the border to Windsor to board a chartered plane for a fast flight to Montreal—scheduled at two hours and 40 minutes. Tonight the Wings battle the Canadiens, and the Bruins are at Chicago.

At Pittsburgh Rollins will replace rookie Gil Mayer for the odd game to keep in condition. Rollins saw National Hockey League action only in one game, when the Leafs were beaten 8-4 by Boston Bruins Christmas Eve.

Barons Crush Hershey 8-4

By The Canadian Press.

Three teams are deadlocked for second place today in the Western Division of the American Hockey League, a long 21 points behind the leading Cleveland Barons.

The Barons Wednesday night scored an easy 8-4 triumph over the injury-riddled Hershey Bears.

A three-goal effort by Fleming Mackell last night gave Pittsburgh Hornets a 7-2 decision over St. Louis Flyers and enabled the Hornets to move into the three-way tie.

Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Indianapolis have 48 points each.

Trailing the big three and on the bottom of the section are the Cincinnati Mohawks who last night won their first mid-week victory of the season on home ice. They downed Springfield Indians 5-1.

In the eastern division Buffalo Bisons strengthened their lead to three points by thumping second place Providence Reds 3-1.

CITY CARPETBALL

Schedule for the week of Jan. 30 is:

Glens No. 10 vs. Quakers No. 4; St. George's No. 2 vs. Legion No. 6; Treasurer's No. 9 vs. LOL No. 8; SOE No. 3 vs. Legion No. 7; Legion No. 5 vs. Big Ben's No. 1.

The postponed game of Legion No. 7 vs. Treasurer's No. 9 must be played next week.

The Old Soldiers had as their delayed guests St. George's No. 2. And the Anglicans swept to victory in both games by scores of 13-5 and 11-8.

Those staunch warriors the Glens visited with the Big Bens and after conceding them a 5 end romped home in both games 17-7 and 10-6. It looks like the Bens will have to go into the factory for complete overhaul.

The Bakers went to the washrack to see King Billie and took the first game 13-12 even though the Orange-squeezers finished ahead in the last two frames. The shoe was on the other foot in the second game when King Billie finished ahead 12-7. Two swell games.

Legion No. 5 were at home to the Sons. Those Guardians are a money team at home or away and again they showed their merit by sweeping both games by scores of 17-9 and 14-6.

Quakers had as their guests the Anglicans and for some reason did not bring along their "Full-O-Pep" as they had done in the last few games and lost both games by close scores 11-8 and 10-9.

The schedule for the Memorial Doubles for Tuesday, Jan. 31, is: A. Price and G. Palmer vs. A. Robinson and G. Brown, at 7 p.m.; E. Nicholas and G. Fullbrook vs. C. Panter and A. Rusaw, at 7 p.m.; E. Amyotte and H. Clapham vs. V. Read and J. Douglas, at 9 p.m.; L. Jackson and A. Pilling vs. C. Thackery and D. Pilling, at 9p.m.

The results of the second heat of the first round of the doubles: P. McLean and G. Groombridge went down to defeat before the attack of N. Lowes and H. Lundy 11-2 and 9-6 in two straight although the winners had to come from behind in the last two ends, first to tie it up and then to go on to win.

R. Whitehead and A. Sims in two close games also lost out to F. Bell and W. Gracie by the scores 6-8 and 7-8.

A. Wagstaff and G. Gimblett, Sr., swept to two straight victories by scores of 14-5 and 7-16 over J. Harrison and R. King although the second games could have very easily gone into overtime.

R. Ralston and A. Bromley also turned back their opponents in two straight scores 9-5 and 14-2 against G. LaPlante and A. Jackson.

Standing up to Jan. 23:

LIGHTER AND HIGHER — Bobby Smith, San Diego State's 20-year-old NCAA pole-vault champion, is campaigning on the winter indoor circuit with a new spun-glass pole. It weighs only three pounds as against six for an ordinary bamboo stick, and with it Smith expects to improve on his present 14-foot three-inch mark. The new product collapsed with Smith attempting 14-6 in Philadelphia.

Purchase of major league outfielder Stan Spence from St. Louis Browns was announced on Wednesday by Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League. President Don Stewart of the Angels said it was a straight cash deal but did not disclose the price.

The Ayr Curling Club Wednesday marked its centenary celebrations with a 75-68 win over curlers from eight other western Ontario centres. In the first match J. W. Currie, Ayr, defeated R Dodds of Guelph 11-6, and J D Patterson of Ayr followed up with a 7-3 win over R. Malone of Kitchener. In another match E Edgar gave Ayr a victory by defeating E. Codling of Fergus 8-7.

Ottawa Rough Riders announced Wednesday that Bill Santon, an outside wing with the professional Buffalo Bills last season, will line up in Riders livery this fall.

Team-manager Jim McCaffrey said the six foot, three inch, 215-pound end had signed a contract to play with the capital city entry in the Big Four Football League He will report here in mid-July.

At North Tonawanda, N. Y., Stan Rojek, Pittsburgh Pirates shortstop, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday.

Stan, 29, former Montreal and Brooklyn star, and his younger brother, Ted, 21, were delivering milk this Wednesday morning when their truck caught fire.

"I had just jumped out of the truck to deliver some milk," said Ted, "as I walked back to the truck, I noticed smoke seeping through the doors. The doors close automatically when you hop out.

"On coming closer I could see Stan slumped over the wheel and smoke and flames pouring from the motor. I crawled back into the truck. I just grabbed Stan, who was unconscious, and pushed him right out the door and let him fall to the street."

At Hamilton, Mike Zaduk of Guelph won a decision over Danny Saunders of Hamilton in the main bout of an amateur boxing card Wednesday night. They were billed at 145 pounds.

In the semi-final at 154 pounds Russ Barko of Hamilton and Tommy Reese of Niagara Falls fought to a draw.

Despite temperatures in the mid-50s, officials of the jumping phase in the world ski meet next week decided Wednesday the jumps definitely will be held at Lake Placid, N. Y.

A sudden heat wave Wednesday turned the streets of the snow-starved village into miniature rivers and forced officials to close the jumping hill. Ice crushing machines will be used to provide a surface for the hill.

An international exhibition is scheduled for Sunday, Jan. 29. The jumpers in the combined class are slated to do their stuff Jan. 31 [illegible] world's best jumpers will compete Feb. 5.

Hold Transports Big Need Of U.S. Sea Fleet

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—The National Federation of American Shipping reported Wednesday that the privately-owned merchant fleet of the United States had reached a numerical strength of 1,206 ocean-going vessels of 14,300,000 dead-weight tons.

However, the Federation's annual survey stressed the following "critical deficiencies" in the fleet:

A serious shortage of passenger vesels to transport American travelers, and suitable for conversion into troop transports.

The once-important coastwise and intercoastal fleets are but shadows of their former size.

In 1949, only two contracts for merchant ship construction were awarded and, unless new contracts materialize, only four commercial ocean ships will be building in the United States at the end of the year.

Tanker Fleet Declines

During 1949, the dry cargo and passenger-cargo combination fleet increased by 600,000 tons, while the tanker segment of the fleet declined by about 300,000 tons, according to the report. The overall fleet reflected an increase of about 300,000 deadweight tons over the Jan. 1, 1949 level, and 4,100,000 over the 1939 fleet.

In the last twelve months sixty-five dry cargo and passenger vessels of 703,000 deadweight tons were added to the privately owned fleet, of which forty-eight ships were by purchase from the Maritime Commission, fifteen by conversion of Liberty tankers to dry cargo use, and three from other sources. In the same period, twenty vessels were removed from United States flag documentation. The net increase was, therefore, forty-six vessels of 558,000 deadweight tons, according to the report.

In the tanker fleet, only four ships, of 96,000 tons, were added to the privately owned roster in 1949, three by new construction and one by purchase from the Maritime Commission. Fifteen were converted to dry cargo types.

The decline of overseas bulk movements of relief and rehabilitation cargoes, and the increased competition from greatly expanded foreign-flag merchant fleets, has resulted in a drastic reduction of ocean-going vessels chartered by private operators from the Maritime Commission, according to the report.

Private Charters Drop

The monthly average shows 738 such vessels in 1948 and 300 in 1949. On Jan. 1, 1950, there remained on charter from the Government 101 such vessels. Congressional authority to charter ships from the Government, except in unusual and special circumstances, is expected to end June 30 of this year.

The National Defense Reserve Fleet increased in 1949, from 1,901 vessels of about 19,000,000 tons to 2,135 of about 22,000,000 tons, of which 1,524 are Liberty and 272 are Victory type vessels.

The summary stressed that, while total United States seaborne trade increased last year by a monthly average of 400,000 tons above the 1948 level, the participation of United States flag ships in such commerce declined from about 50 per cent in 1948 to about 50 per cent for the first eight months of 1949. On this, the Federation commented:

"We have carried 50 per cent of all United States foreign commerce, primarily due to heavy United States tanker participation in our petroleum trades. In the dry cargo trades January-August, 1949, United States ships have participated only to the extent of about 40 per cent."

Doctor Raps Chiropractors

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP) — A doctor Wednesday attacked Ontario Government legislation providing that injured workmen may be treated by a chiropractor under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Dr. Robert T. Noble, registrar of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, said such legislation paved the way for two standards of medicine in Ontario.

He was speaking before Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, sitting as a commissioner in review of the Act.

The legislation permits a chiropractor to treat an injured workman for six days before the Compensation Board requires a report from a qualified medical practitioner. Dr. Noble said chiropractors were urging that the period be extended to 14 days.

Picton Fair Shows Deficit For 1949

PICTON, Jan. 26.—Picton fair operated at a loss in 1949, it was revealed at the agricultural society's annual meeting. The financial statement shows a deficit of $1,526, of which $884 was spent on improving the buildings. The fair's operating loss in 1949 was $249, but the society has a balance of $3,344 on hand to meet such emergencies.

President Dwight Reynolds said the deficit could be attributed to unfavorable weather, greater overhead for a three day fair (previously the fair had been a two-day exhibition) and the amount spent improving county buildings on the grounds.

Ernest W. Henderson was elected president of the society. Harold E. Spencer and Willis Sills are vice-presidents and directors are: D. O. Reynolds, Joe Cook, H. J. Lewis, Warren Chase, Brian Dodds, Harold Herrington, Geo. Cockburn, Herbert Kerr, Phil Dodds.

Believe Italy Now At Crossroads Reform Plans Will Decide Issue

By WILLIAM BOSS

ROME, Jan. 26—(CP)— Italy is at the cross-roads. On either hand, experienced political observers say, are paths that will lead to rebirth of revolution within two years.

The western democracies are concerned about Italy as a vital link in their cold war against Communism and are nursing her with dollars. But the road Italy eventually will take is far from clear.

She is right back to her prewar economy and her currency is among the strongest in Europe But it is obvious that the government, and the Marshall Plan executives who are lending a financial hand, aren't satisfied with present standards, although the fact is, that they may be forced to be satisfied—for a time at least—because of difficulties peculiar to Italy.

Italy is over-populated and suffers from unemployment. There are 2,000,000 registered unemployed, mostly farm laborers, and annual population increase of 500,000. There probably are almost 2,000,000 unemployed who are not registered—not to mention the large numbers unproductively employed.

Too Many on Staffs

Italian industry is prevented from competing successfully abroad because of exorbitant production costs. Antiquated techniques and excessive labor forces—industries are obliged to employ five men when two would do—throttle industry. The Civil Service is over-staffed; for instance, almost 5,000 persons are employed in the ministry of colonies to administer territories Italy no longer has.

The government has launched vast agricultural and financial reforms, taxation revision and industrial redistribution. The greatest transfer of real estate west of the Iron Curtain is in the books: from the "haves" to the have nots," 3,500,000 acres of arable soil are to change hands. A beginning is to be made this year in the depressed south where the peasant's way of life has not changed in 2,000 years.

Financial and taxation reforms will change methods which have varied little since the days of the Caesars. In direct and indirect taxation, Italians pay an average of 29 per cent on their average $220-a-year income.

A land which 75 years ago supported 25,000,000 inhabitants today must feed, clothe and shelter almost 50,000,000. And Communism, which thrives on conditions in which Italy abounds, attracts Italians by the millions.

The opinion is freely expressed in Rome that should the government hesitate in its land-reclamation and land-reform policies, and landless peasants remain unappeased much longer, uprisings worse than those of last autumn when six persons were killed would sweep the south. But if the government can convince the masses that substantial reform is indeed under way, it is felt that Italy will be saved for the west

Yugoslav Earns More Than General Laying 8,000 Bricks A Day

NEW YORK, Jan. 26—American union bricklayers may look with jaundiced eye upon a report from Belgrade that one of their Yugoslav counterparts lays 8,000 bricks a day and thus has become one of the wealthiest men in Tito's country.

Borivoje Radosavljevic, 45-year-old "shock worker," makes more than a general and doesn't even have to worry about secret police, the report says.

In a story distributed by the North American Newspaper Alliance, the Yugoslav is described as "making more money than those members of the new aristocracy, the intellectuals, artists, writers and ballet dancers."

It is explained in the article, however, that Yugoslav bricklayers merely "slap them into place," and that "needless to say the results of this high-speed operation are hardly the kind of brickwork known in Britain and America." The bricks in this Yugoslav rushwork, it was added, are later covered with facing.

Nevertheless, the high speed bricklayer, Radosavljevic, not only brings home as much as £33 a week but he has the curious distinction of being "left alone by the jackbooted secret police," the article asserts.

An official of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union, AFL, in Washington estimated that the general current average for bricklayers in the United States was from 1,200 to 1,500 for an eight-hour day. A non-union commentator thought that before the war the average was 1,400 to 1,500 for the same period. It fell to 800 after the war, he said, and rose again to its present level of 1,200.

Many Offers To Adopt Orphan

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP) — More than 150 Jewish families have offered to adopt Amya Singer, 4, left an orphan by last Friday's garment-factory fire.

But the Canadian Jewish Congress insists that the attractive brown-eyed child, whose parents were among the nine persons to whom the fire brought death, is not available for adoption at the present time.

She is being cared for by Mr and Mrs. Jacob Friedman, friends of fire victims Mr. and Mrs Isadore Singer.

Anya came to Canada with her parents from a displaced persons' camp in Breslau, Poland.

This week, too young to realize that she has been left alone, she keeps asking "where's mummy" as, in the Friedman home, she watches the "Yahrzeit" candles burn for the dead.

Midland Sailor Wins Acquittal On Threats

GODERICH, Jan. 26 (CP) — Michael Hornak, Canadian Seamen's Union member from Midland, was acquitted Wednesday on two charges of attempted intimidation with threats of violence, as the result of an incident aboard the freighter Altadoc here Dec. 4.

Hornak, who had been free on bail, elected summary trial before Magistrate D. E. Holmes. He pleaded innocent.

Complainants were Alfred Simmonds, a crew member and his wife, Marion, who was second cook on the ship.

Glare Resistance, Recovery Tests Show Defects In Drivers

So you think you are a competent driver? How is your glare resistance? How soon do your eyes get back to normal after having a bright light pointed at them? How steady is your hand? How fast is your reaction- How good is your judgment of distances?

Pretty good, you will say. Basil Dean writes in The Calgary Herald. But if you really want to know the answers, Larry King, who runs the Alberta Motor Association's current series of driving-aptitude tests, can tell you a lot of things about your driving of which you were ignorant up till now.

Exacting Test

The AMA's testing centre is busy putting drivers employed by several large Calgary concerns through this exacting test. And there's no doubt that it is exacting —too exacting, if anything. A lot of ordinary drivers, who think they are reasonably competent (and probably are) would be scared off the roads by some of the things the test would show.

Take me. I didn't know before that my "glare recovery" (the ability to see clearly after facing a bright light, such as a pair of oncoming headlights) is zero in the AMA's book. Fortunately, this doesn't mean I should not drive at all, but it does mean I ought to be extra careful at night.

Glare recovery is only one of the many aspects of your driving which the test shows up. I subjected myself to all the gadgets used, in company with Larry King—who, incidentally, talked all the time in a low voice to make sure I wasn't unknowingly deaf.

Color Blindness

The first thing you do is answer a general knowledge test about traffic laws and general safety precautions. Then you are introduced to the color-blindness test (exactly like the one the RCAF used during the war.) This tests your ability to distinguish between red, green and amber on the traffic lights. It's surprising how many people have trouble "Normal," said Mr. King, after he had checked me.

Night vision is next—looking through a peephole at sight-charts which are very dimly lit. After we had played around with this for a while, Larry King came up with a figure of 55 percent, and explained that 50 percent counts as "normal." Glare resistance—the ability to make out dim shapes with a bright light shining in your face—is checked in the same machine, and the answer was 60 percent. On the third test in this gadget—glare recovery—the figure dropped to zero.

Steadiness Check

Across the room, there was a small stand on which was mounted a vertical metal scale, with a slot cut down the middle which was perhaps three-eighths of an inch wide at the top and running into a point at the bottom. To check your steadiness, you have to take a metal pointer and run it down this slot without touching the sides. Silently thankful that this wasn't the morning after New Year's Eve, but horrified at the way my hand trembled, I was gratified to make 83 percent.

And ten the final check: the reaction test. You sit in a driver's seat with a mock-up steering wheel, brake pedal, clutch and accelerator. In front of you are light sockets which may show red or green, or left and right arrows. When a red light comes up, you must lift your foot off the accelerator and slam on the brake; a green light calls for the clutch; a left arrow, throwing the wheel over to the left and so on.

Can Get Confused

The time it takes you to react is checked on a dial. In the first part of the test, when the red light comes on, it's straightforward enough (On this, my average reaction was a quarter of a second.) But then Larry King throws the works at you, calling for perhaps brake and left steering at the same time, or clutch and brake, or clutch and steering. It's easy to get confused—but then it's easy to get confused in an emergency on the road as well.

After all this, you go out on the road test, and here I quarrel with some of the findings. I was docked two points for failing to check the headlamps (we were going out for perhaps half an hour at noon) and for getting into the car on the offside; 10 points for following a truck at about 25 feet up the Centre street hill (should have been 50 feet, said Mr. King); 15 points for straddling traffic lanes (in this case for driving too near the curb). From it all, Mr. King came up with a mark of 57 percent—a bit better than average, but far from perfect. Even at that, it was better than some Calgary traffic squad officers have made out, I'm told.

Impersonates Police

MONTREAL, Jan. 26—(CP) — Taxi driver Arthur Matte told police a man hailed him early Wednesday, displayed a shiny badge and asked to be driven to No. 1 police station. On the way the man ordered Matte to stop, told him he had committed a traffic offence and would have to pay over $40 or his taxi permit would be cancelled. When Matte refused the man drew a gun and took $20 from him.

Planes Raid Shanghai

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 26 — (AP)—Chinese Nationalist heavy bombers attacked Shanghai again Wednesday, reporting direct hits on seven ships. The Air Force said returning pilots reported there were no planes on Shanghai air fields. This suggested that the recent aerial pounding has made the fields too dangerous for the Communists to use.

Withhold Grants

A Strange Romance

WINNIPEG, Jan. 26 (CP) —Alec Lum, 27-year-old Chinese, is leaving Winnipeg Friday night on a 20,000-mile trip to Hong Kong to marry a girl he hasn't met. His bride-to-be, Yee Mae Wong, 18-year-old high-school girl, doesn't know he's coming He told her he'd be there in March, but he'll be three weeks early. The long-range marriage plan began about 10 months ago when Alec started writing to the girl. Then they exchanged photographs and "fell in love."

Scholars Offer Revision Old Testament

NEW YORK Jan. 26 — A picked group of America's foremost Biblical scholars and religious educators has just completed the first draft of the Revised Standard Version of the Old Testament, it was learned yesterday.

Huge stacks of mimeographed "texts" containing changes and corrections agreed upon by the scholars after twelve years of painstaking debate and detailed discussion are now being distributed to individual group members for final revision.

According to a time-table established months ago, the last page of the completed manuscript will be in the New York office of Thomas Nelson & Sons, publishers, on Oct. 10, 1951. Publication date has been set for September, 1952.

The revised version of the Old Testament will be a companion volume to The Revised Standard Version of The New Testament, completed in 1945 by the same group of scholars and published the following year. More than 2,000,000 copies of the revised New Testament have been sold.

The present effort to revise existing translations of the Bible took form back in 1929 when the International Council of Religious Education, an interdenominational agency representing forty major Protestant church bodies in this country and Canada, appointed a committee of scholars to study the situation.

Committee is Authorized

In 1937 it authorized this committee to proceed with a revision of the American Standard Version.

The act of authorization asserted that the revision "should embody the best results of modern scholarship as to the meaning of the Scriptures, and express this meaning in English diction which is designed for use in public and private worship and preserves those qualities which have given to the King James Version a supreme place in English literature."

Lest the work of the committee of scholars be misunderstood, its chairman, Dr. Luther A. Weigle, dean-emeritus of Yale University Divinity School, emphasized in an interview that he and his colleagues were not "revising the Bible."

The Scriptures, he explained, were written in Hebrew and Greek and have come down to the present through the preservation of ancient manuscripts.

"What we are revising," he pointed out, "is the English translation of the Bible—the English words, phrases and sentences which are used to express the meaning of the Hebrew and Greek."

The aim of the committee, he continued, "is to recover the Bible for the English reader at those points where our present authorized English versions do not accurately convey its meaning."

Week Spent in Discussion

In describing how the committee of scholars functions, Dean Weigle explained that the group spent an average of six weeks a year in "face-to-face" discussion sessions where the Scriptures were gone over verse by verse. This is in addition to carrying on a heavy correspondence.

The six weeks are usually divided into two-week work sessions in June, August, and December. Special week-end meetings supplement the work periods.

Most of the get-togethers, he said, have been held at Yale Divinity School, Union Theological Seminary, and East Northfield, Mass. One particularly appropriate site, he recalled, was Paradise Island in Northern Wisconsin.

The committee has labored thus long on the Old Testament, he said, because it involves three times as much translation as the New Testament.

The work is further complicated, according to Dean Weigle, by the fact that many new archaeological and manuscript discoveries recently have been made.

BLOCKADE PRELIMINARY?—At a Russian checkpoint in Helmstedt, Germany, a line of trucks is held up as the Soviet guards go through lengthy formalities before letting the trucks pass. Similar tactics preceded the Russian blockade of Berlin. British officials estimated this line of delayed trucks was a mile long.

Need Better Salesmen From British Firms

LONDON, Jan. 26 (CP)—The need for better individual representation of British firms in Canada was stressed at Wednesday's meeting of the Anglo-Canadian trade committee.

Sir Graham Cunningham, former head of the dollar exports board, told the committee that this was the most important lesson he had learned during visits to North America in 1949.

"In business what gets or loses orders is the man who does the selling," he said. "First class salesmanship is just as vital as prices and delivery dates."

The Anglo-Canadian trade committee comprises a group of representatives of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and their British counterpart. C. Gordon Cockshutt of Brantford, heads the 12-man delegation to the present talks.

North Bay Cut-offs Reduced To Hour Daily

NORTH BAY, Jan. 26 (CP).—Hydro cut-offs in North Bay and that part of the district serviced by city power lines, will be reduced to one hour daily, starting today. The reduction—from three hours to one hour daily—was the outcome of a meeting between members of the North Bay Hydro Commission and Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Wednesday night.

Mr. Saunders suggested to the North Bay group that the one-hour cut-off would be in order as a temporary measure. However, he expressed hope that results of a Northern Ontario-wide survey of hydro resources, now under way, would show that a longer cut-off period for North Bay was not necessary.

202,000 Arab Refugees Crowd Gaza Area, Have Little Shelter

CAIRO, Jan. 26 (AP)—Some 202,000 Arab refugees in the Gaza strip of southwest Palestine are shivering through the winter with a minimum of fuel and shelter.

Despite such conditions, E. Kellogg Peckham, Cairo representative of the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers) in charge of relief work in the area, said in a report that health conditions are holding up well.

Refugees who crowded into the sandy coastal area in May, 1948, are without wood or fuel. They used up all the few trees in the area last winter. They get a small allotment of fuel oil for cooking purposes only.

For housing they are a little better off this winter. Some 6,000 tents have been provided, but these are badly crowded. Last winter there were no tents and the refugees lived in holes in the ground, under trees and wherever some kind of shelter could be found.

Until recently, the general demand of the refugees was to be permitted to move back to their homes in Palestine. Peckham reports now, however, many refugees recognize the political difficulties involved in any such return. In the last few months, he said many refugees had expressed willingness to be transferred to Jordan. Such a step would make work relief an easier problem to solve.

Criticizes 'Politics'

KITCHENER, Jan. 26—(CP)—Annual meeting of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce Wednesday was urged by Robert C. Pettigrew, representing Puslinch township Board of Trade, to use its influence in removing the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph from "politics" and placed under independent government-appointed commission. C. A. Pollock, of Kitchener, was re-elected president.

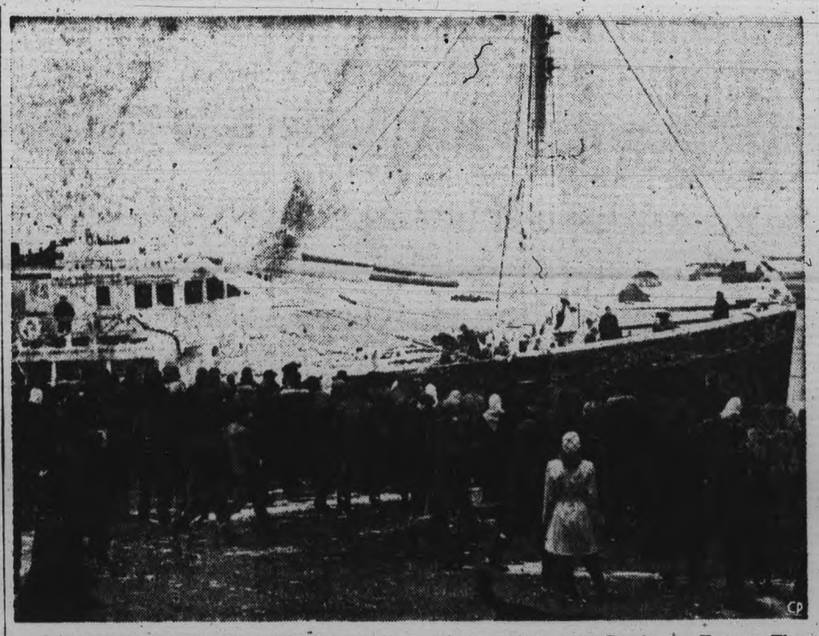
York Producers Urge Breeders Sell Own Hogs

TORONTO, Jan. 26.—Support was given by York County Hog Producers Association Wednesday to a proposal for an organization under which Canadian swine breeders would market their own produce in Great Britain and other countries.



The resolution which passed at the Newmarket meeting, was what many hog producers called the first step on a long road. What it actually would mean, if adopted on a national scale, is that swine men would handle their own export markets, and set up a board or representative, in Britain and other countries to push the sale of Canadian pork products.

Members of the association turned out 120 strong for the annual meeting yesterday, just double the number which put in an appearance a year ago. Angered by drops in prices and slipping markets, farmers sought some line of action whereby they could keep Canadian pork moving to markets throughout the world.

As most swine breeders have done, they endorsed a plea for establishment of last year's floor price on bacon, 36 cents a pound as the minimum. This suggestion will go before the Canadian Federation of Agriculture next week.

But they also got into the matter of export markets, and decided the day was coming when producers would have to handle export sales of their product.

A. L. Loveless of Agincourt was re-elected president of the organization, and Percy Doner vice-president. James Fraser of Agincourt is the new secretary-treasurer.

WELCOME SIGHT—The "Miquelon" is the French supply ship which has a regular schedule of sailing from Canadian and Newfoundland ports to St. Pierre. Here she is, coated with ice, arriving after an 11-day return voyage from Bordeaux, France. The arrival was a big event at St. Pierre. All school boys and many of the port's adults turned out to see the Miquelon, main sail and supply link with the outside world.

Approve Course

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP).— The Ontario Barbers' Association, a group composed of employers and employees, Wednesday reaffirmed its support of a plan by the Board of Education to introduce a course in barbering at the Central Technical School. The International Union of Barbermen (AFL) has opposed the plan because, it is contended, it would open the way to a flood of cheap labor.

Urge Science Brought To PEI Farms

By DAVE MCINTOSH

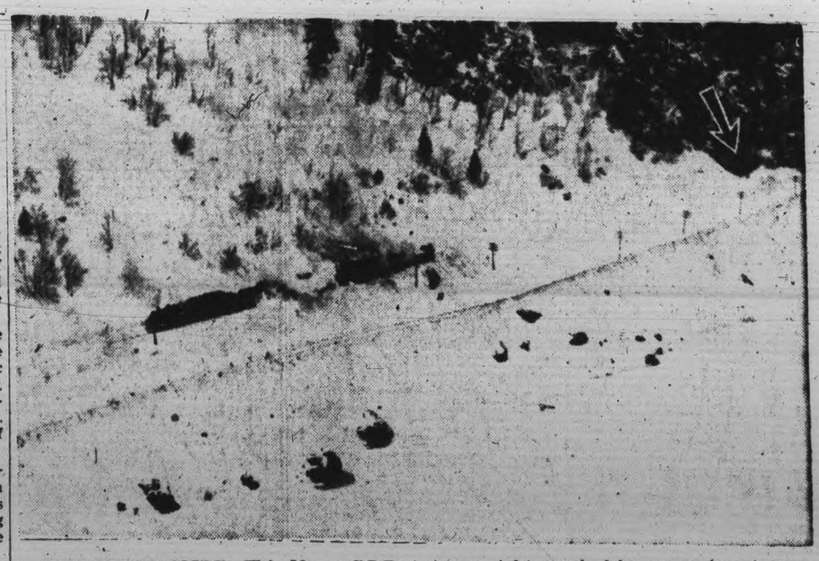
CHARLOTTETOWN, Jan. 26 — (CP)—Science should be brought to the farm to improve the lot of rural people, the Prince Edward Island government told the Massey Commission today.

More scientific knowledge should be made available to those engaged in the Island's two basic industries, farming and fishing, and to the young people considering making them their life work, the government's six-page brief said.

The brief was the first presented here as the Royal Commission on Arts, Letters and Sciences settled down to a one-day sitting in the island capital to conclude its two-week maritime tour.

"Our two basic industries are fishing and agriculture," the brief said. "If these two industries decline or fall on evil days, unrest and discontent and the exodus of our youth to far and more promising horizons will inevitably follow.

Depend on Themselves



Largely because of Prince Edward Island's geographical position and, at times, its relative isolation, islanders had to depend more than other parts of Canada on their own resources in the development and enjoyment of cultural influences, the brief said.

Yet the province had made a "substantial" contribution to national progress and achievement in education, literature and general culture.

"It is doubtful, however, if our own people have in general benefitted from that contribution to the same extent as the United States and the other parts of Canada to which the products of our educational system have gone. . ."

No Longer Consider Canada As The Senior Dominion

OTTAWA, Jan. 26—(CP)—By her own wishes, Canada no longer is officially considered the senior dominion of the Commonwealth, it was learned Wednesday.

The government has signified that Canada feels the doctrine of complete equality among Commonwealth nations is not compatible either with recognition, as such, of a mother country or of seniority among what are often likened to sister countries.

Another stage in the evolution of the Commonwealth, it means that Canada has voluntarily surrendered any right to speak first among what have been known as the Dominions but which now are known formally among themselves merely as "members of the Commonwealth."

The country which now speaks first at a Commonwealth parley is the country with the most direct interest in the subject under discussion.

Other straws in a wind that has been a long time blowing up from the statute of Westminister of 1931 are these:

The government no longer officially refers to Canada as the Dominion of Canada but merely as Canada or the Government of Canada.

The U. K. — no longer formally known as Britain—some time ago changed its office for Dominion affairs to one for Commonwealth affairs.

It was the statute of Westminster which officially recognized the full autonomy of Canada and other sovereign members of the Commonwealth.

Another sign of the times in Commonwealth relations is the fact that it has apparently been left with each member country to refer to the Commonwealth as it wishes—plain Commonwealth or British Commonwealth. Canada seems to adhere to Commonwealth of nations.

Mayor Swanston Opens 7th So-Ed At Normal School

The seventh year of So-Ed in Peterborough sponsored by the YWCA and the YMCA was officially opened by Mayor Max J. Swanston in the auditorium of the Normal School Wednesday night.

Featuring nine subjects from which interest group may be chosen, So-Ed has a six week program.

Registration at the first meeting was 151, somewhat lower than the previous year, but Registrar Miss Esther Thornton believes there are quite a large number who will be enrolling next Wednesday night.

Each weekly meeting features a prominent speaker after which the men and women attend their classs. J. Alex Edmison KC, national organizer of the United Nations Association in Canada was Wednesday night's guest speaker. The speaker next Wednesday will be P. K. Banerjee, secretary to the Canadian High Commissioner for India.

Some of the interest groups are quite well filled. A large number has turned out for square dancing. But the bridge and canasta groups can accommodate more.

The committee which has organized the activities of So-Ed is under the chairmanship of Quirt McKinney, a member of the Normal School teaching staff.

Investigate Government Spending If Elected, Churchill Promises

LONDON, Jan. 26 (CP)—Winston Churchill will order an official investigation into government spending if the Conservatives win the Feb. 23 general election, it was learned Wednesday.

The Conservative leader with his eye on the April budget, would make this his first step in a war against waste—with lower taxes as the objective.

Parliamentary circles believe Churchill would aim at a 10 per cent cut in the national expenditure, now running more than £3,000,000,000 a year.

It is expected that the Conservatives will try to cut departmental expenditure sharply.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Attlee and the full executive committee of the Labor Party met on Wednesday to approve final election arrangements, which will include national tours by Attlee and members of his cabinet.

Political sources predict that Labor's battling left-winger, Health Minister Aneurin Bevan, and War Minister Emanuel Shinwell, another provocative party spokesman, will tour industrial areas.

How Times Change

Many newspapers commented on the Conservative manifesto. This is The Road which gives broad approval to some Labor policies and emphasizes some differences.

The independent Times commented:

"To many Conservatives, not long ago, this manifesto would have seemed a Socialist document itself."

The Liberal Manchester Guardian observed:

"The Conservatives have never in their history produced so enlightened a statement of social policy—from full employment to education and the social services."

The Conservative party declaration is more detailed and precise than a corresponding Labor Party manifesto entitled "Let Us Win Through Together."

Differ Sharply

The parties differ sharply on the issue of centralization. Socialist planners obviously seek to keep most controls in London. The Conservatives would have the nationalized coal industries administered largely by regions. Similarly, they favor splitting up the nationalized railways into several systems to improve regional service.

The Conservatives declare they will stop nationalization, set aside legislation nationalizing the steel industry, and try to restore civil aviation and road haulage to private owners. The Labor Party proposes to extend nationalization to sugar and cement industries and bring wholesale meat and cold storage enterprises under public ownership.

Recent polls have indicated an upward surge of support for the Labor Party. The 10 per cent advantage held by the Conservatives at the end of November has now narrowed to a 2 per cent superiority, according to a survey published last week in the News Chronicle.

"DOWN THE HOOCH."—This was Billy Sunday and some dry-crusading associates in Memphis, Tenn., during prohibition days under the 18th Amendment. But it might have been Izzy Einstein and Moe Smith, prohibition's most famous raiders, or just a group of "drys" out to lick "Old John Barleycorn" wherever they found him. Prohibition lasted from 1919 until 1923, and among its memories—besides the dry crusaders and 'revenooers"—are the bootlegger, the speakeasy, the big city gangster, bathtub gin and the hip-pocket flask. In its place today is government-taxed and controlled liquor, and local option. But the battle for and against nation-wide dryness still rages, with people of strong and honest convictions aligned on both sides.

107 Members Congregation Raised $21,323

Total receipts of $21,323.07 were reported at the annual meeting of the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church. Of this sum $5,000 was used for home and foreign missionary work. The church membership is 107.

The church's attendance was reported to be increasing. About 50 new members are expected to be taken into the church in the near future. The attendance of the Sunday school reported a fair gain over 1948's figures. Mr. P. Scriver, superintendent of the Sunday school, said that much of the success of the school is due to the fine group of teachers.

The young people are planning a large project for March when they expect a thousand visitors to a convention which will be held in the Summer Gardens. Under the leadership of Roy Howard the young people undertook such projects as the distribution of tracts and placing cards in buses and other active participation in church work.

The Women's Missionary Council have aided local cases among the needy and missionaries, home and foreign.

The Rev. W. B. Greenwood is now in his fourth year as pastor of the church. The board of the church for 1950 is: W. Davidson, T. Hatley, William Andrews, A. Johns, D. Foster, Donald Kennedy and Ray Bishop who is the church secretary.

Mrs. A. Harrison Celebrates 85th Birthday

HAVELOCK, Jan. 26 (ENS)—Mrs. Albertha Harrison, a resident of Havelock for more than 50 years, quietly celebrated her 85th birthday on Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ellis, Concession Street, where she has lived since the death of her son, William Livingston, last October.

She received many congratulatory messages and gifts from friends in the village and also from a niece in Detroit, Mich.

Mrs. Harrison was born in Seymour township and was formerly Albertha Hardy, daughter of Edward Hardy and Jane Quackenbush.

When she was eight years of age, her parents moved to Blairton, where her father was employed in the iron mine. Five years later the family moved to Trent River, their next move being to Norwood where Mrs. Harrison met and was married to her first husband, Robert Livingston, who died in the U.S.A. in 1892.

Her second marriage was in 1899 to Joseph Harrison, who died about 23 years ago.

Although a shut-in owing to a health condition, Mrs. Harrison possesses a bright disposition and enjoys conversing with callers about by-gone days. Her special hobby is knitting lace and she can display very fine specimens of her handwork. She very much enjoys the radio.

Build Up Strength And Energy to Guard Against Colds -- Flu

Many Persons Taking Syntona Say They Have Fewer Colds, Rids System of Excess Acid and Poisons, Improves Action of Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Helps Throw Off Lingering After-Effects

If you are unable to throw off the after-effects of colds, flu or grippe, you are probably rundown and need a good tonic like Syntona to improve the action of the stomach, promote appetite, and elimination of excess acids and poisonous waste matter, and to purify the blood.

Here, for example, is the experience of Miss Alice Vincent, Gananoque, Ontario, as told in a recent report:

"Early last winter we had a series of severe colds in our family and in my own case I just couldn't seem to regain my former strength. It left me weak and rundown so that I continued getting one cold after another. I would become so easily fatigued and everything I tried to do was such an effort. My nerves were all on edge, my sleep was restless and I was coughing a lot at night.

"Realizing the need of a tonic I began taking Syntona and found it gave prompter relief than anything I ever tried. Then I offered it to other members of the family and they had the same good experience. Since that time we've had fewer colds than during any similar period. Also, I found that most other cold remedies upset the stomach and left me feeling weakened and drowsy, but on the contrary Syntona helped my digestion, gave me a better appetite and it wasn't long before my strength had returned and I was able to get more sound, restful sleep."

"I think people should know about this additional use for Syntona and that it would be helpful for them to guard against frequent colds and flu."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Economic Council Unruffled By New Russian Walkout

By NORMAN ALTESTEDTER

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 26—(CP) Russia's expected walkout from the coming winter session of the United Nations economic and social council may temporarily be a help rather than a hindrance, some western delgates believe.

"Ecosoc"— the short-form name of the 18-member council—opens its 10th session here Feb. 7. Raymond Eudes, Liberal member of the Commons for Montreal Hochelaga will lead Canada's delegation.

Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia will walk out at the opening meeting if they stick to the routine carried out already in 10 U. N. groups. Each time they walk out, the Soviet-block countries declare they will not return to that group until Nationalist Chinese diplomats are expelled. Walkouts are expected in some 200 U. N. bodies which are yet to have their first meetings of 1950.

See No Harm

Those delegates who see little or no harm in an unprotracted Russian boycott of ecosoc, can point to these factors to back their arguments:

1. Ecosoc work in the field has been confined largely to areas outside the Soviet bloc—by virtue of Soviet non-participation.

2. Russia refuses to take part in ecosoc's specialized agencies such as the world health organization, the food and agriculture organization, The International Bank, The International Refugee Organization and The International Civil Aviation Organization. The only specialized agencies where Russia is a member are the Universal Postal Union and The International Telecommunications Union.

3. The main role played by Russian in Ecosoc has been as a critic of western plans.

4. Russia refuses to give statistics on almost all components which go to make up a world economic and social picture.

Thus some informed opinion is that the only effect of a Russian boycott of this session will be to cut down on time-wasting propaganda.

The one outstanding exception where the Soviet bloc has voted with the majority in passing a top economic project, was on proposed aid to economic development of under-developed areas. This is one of the main items to be discussed by Esosoc.

Russia indicated during preliminary debate on the proposal in the General Assembly, however, she will be critical of western plans to carry out the aid idea. And Russia did not suggest she will be willing to contribute substantially to an aid fund.

Canada is returning to the council for a three-year term after a year's absence.

Roads Flooded Along Otonabee In Many Places

Minor flooding is reported south of Wallace Point on the Otonabee River.

A quick check made by the Examiner today showed that at the northern approach to Bensfort Bridge, spanning the river between Otonabee and South Monaghan, water was up to the running boards of passing cars.

The eight-inch deep pool of water covers about 300 yards of the northern approach. For the past two weeks the unusual weather has caused streams of water to flow over the road from time to time, but the sudden melting of the snow within the past 48 hours has aggravated the situation.

Usually a slow moving river as it approaches Rice Lake the sudden rush of water has caused it to flow at a rapid pace. The Otonabee is reported to be within two feet of the bottom sleepers of the Bensfort Bridge.

It was reported earlier that the ice was pounding at the bridge's piers, but by mid-morning the water was open; scarcely any ice could be seen.

Most of the hollows in that part of South Monaghan and Otonabee are filled with water and many of the township and county roads are covered in water too deep for anything but rubber boot-clad pedestrians. Motor traffic can use them however, though progress along many stretches is slow.

No Serious Damage

Cottages along the river bank have the Otonabee water lapping at their front doors but no serious damage is reported. The low lying land adjacent to the river is also covered.

T. J. Ryan, superintending engineer of the Trent Canal, reported that these minor flood conditions have been continuing "off and on" for the past month.

"We've had all kinds of downpours during the past month," he said, by way of explanation.

Only the storage facilities for holding back the sudden onrushes of water, or releasing it as deemed necessary, have prevented flooding in the Kawarthas similar to other parts of Ontario, he intimated.

Mr. Ryan said he was unaware of any damage.

Although Eel's Creek, a quarter of a mile south of Apsley, is near its top of its banks it has not yet overflowed onto the highway. About three weeks ago it blocked traffic as a huge pool of water for some hours prevented cars from getting through.

REUNITED with his wife, Peggy, after more than a year's service with the 32nd Infantry Regt. (USA) in occupied Japan, is Private William H. Parsons, Water St. Bill found the Japs courteous, hospitable and unresentful in defeat. He has been discharged from the Army but must remain on the Enlisted Reserve Corps for five years.

Bill Parsons With US Army Says Japs Want Democracy

"It seems to be the hope of every young Japanese to come to Canada or the United States." That is the judgment of 20-year-old William H. Parsons, a Peterborough youth who has returned home to visit his wife and parents after more than a year's service in Japan as a private soldier in the United States' army of occupation.

An American by birth, Parsons left Peterborough in the summer of 1948 to join the U.S. Army. It was a chance, he felt, to do his required military service, see a bit of the world and pile up a sizable bank account—probably faster than he could do in civvy life.

If the twinkle in his eye is any indication, he was successful on all three counts.

Defeat of their armed services and the destruction of many of their urban centres and industries have not left a legacy of bitterness in the hearts of the Japanese, Parsons says. Instead of being sullen in defeat they are amazingly cheerful, polite and eager to learn how to build a democratic community.

"It's amazing the way they look on General Douglas MacArthur who is in charge of the occupation. They consider him as a sort of god.

"Hardly anyone mentions the name of the emperor though he tries to model his conduct of state affairs on that of the British monarchy. It's MacArthur—all MacArthur."

Parson found the people incredibly hospitable toward their conquerors. While stationed in two small localities near Sendi in northern Honshu Island, he became intimately acquainted with three families.

He was welcome at their homes whenever he chose to go.

What might be a bit of surprise to some Canadians is that the Japs can indulge in winter sports, he pointed out. The climate varies from semi-tropical in the far south to a cold temperate climate in the north.

The younger generation avails itself of the winter weather to ski and skate, similar to Canadian children. Many of the boys enjoy a game of ice hockey and are reasonably proficient. For a three-month period—January, February and March—there is generally snow and ice.

Babe Ruth Fans

Even before the second world war baseball was a favorite game in Japan; Babe Ruth's name was better known there, it is said, than that of a star British soccer player in Canada. And Americans are pushing the love of sports among the younger Japanese, Bill says, as part of a normal education in a democracy.

During his stay Bill visited Hiroshima and was appalled by the devastation. But while conceding that he is no authority on the subject, he is of the opinion the destruction and consequent loss of life would have been much less if the buildings were of stone, concrete and steel similar to those in large North American cities.

Generally he doesn't think much of Japanese houses. The sliding doors and neatness are no substitute for adequate plumbing in his opinion. Sewage facilities, even in such large cities as Tokyo are poor, he says, and at no time did he see a Jap home with a flush toilet.

Fired Rifle In Home Man Is Fined $5

Pleading guilty to firing a rifle in his apartment home, John Boyle, 57½ Hunter St., was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court today.

Boyle was charged under a city by-law which forbids discharging a firearm within the city limits.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw told the court Boyle had been drinking and got in a fight with his wife. The rifle was fired but police were not able to find a bullet hole to tell whether or not it had been aimed inside the apartment or out the window.

Rev. E. C. Moore Inducted At St. George's

The Rev. E. C. Moore Wednesday night was inducted first rector of St. George's Anglican Church by the Ven. W. P. Robertson, archdeacon of Peterborough.

St. George's was founded in 1911, and until Wednesday night was officially considered a "mission"—the ecclesiastical title of the Church of England for the newer churches before they are financially self-supporting. Some 40 years ago it was begun as a mission church, and until the present has been aided in its growth by St. John's.

Mr. Moore has been the encumbent there for the past eight years. Formerly he was at the Stony Lake Mission for 12 years.

According to the long-established Anglican ritual of induction, the archdeacon presided, acting in the name of the Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, bishop of Toronto. And he was presented with the keys of the church by the rector's warden, Clarence Harloff.

Require Extra Seating

Every seat in the small church was occupied and sidesmen had to bring in extra seating accommodation for the large crowd of parishioners and visitors from other Anglican churches in the city.

Afterwards there was a social evening in the basement which serves as a parish hall. About 150 attended.

Mr. Moore was presented with a green stole trimmed with gold and his wife received a bouquet of red roses from a young parishioner, Sally Reynolds.

Archdeacon Robertson pointed out that besides himself there were three visiting clergy who had been associated with the parent parish of St. John's. They were the Rev. C. W. Balfour, present assistant to the archdeacon at St. John's; the rural dean, the Rev. Walter J. Gilling of St. Luke's, and the Rev. R. T. F. Brain, MC, rector of St. Mary Magdalene's, Toronto.

Mr. Gilling assisted in the induction ceremony, as did the people's warden, Arthur Green.

Mr. Brain addressed the congregation on liturgical matters of Anglican concern. His theme was the meaning of the words uttered by the 19th Century divine, John Henry Newman:

"When God appoints the means of grace, they are the means."

He touched on the significance of the Anglican sacraments, emphasizing the duties of priest toward parishioners and parishioners toward priest.

In some parts of the world, he said, the holy communion was under the ban; and his comment was: "A holy communionless world would be impossible."

World Needs the Sacrament

"There are those who would shut the door and shut out the blessed sacrament," he said. "But they will never succeed; the world needs it; it will always be found."

Archdeacon Robertson recalled that the present structure of St. George's was originally an Orange hall. And he said he hoped that the new parish would soon start work on a new church on the present site.

St. George's is the Anglican parish south of Lansdowne St. where a quarter of the city's population live. This presents "the greatest challenge to any rector and his congregation," he said.

Taxi Hits Pedestrian Skids On Patch Of Ice

Kenenth LeVasseur, 25, of 6 Cameron St., was knocked down and injured when hit by a taxi which was skidding on ice on Park St. Wednesday night.

LeVasseur received an injured right knee as a result. It was not known how serious the injury was.

Taxi driver Ernie Ferren, 511 Cross St., told Constable Gordon Trennum he was driving north on Park St. Just north of Parkhill Rd., he swung his car to the right to avoid a hole in the road. The rear wheels of the car skidded around on a patch of ice and hit LeVaseur walking on the road.

Car Runs Into Bus

A car ran into the rear of a city bus when the bus stopped on George St. just north of Hunter St. Wednesday morning. Only the car suffered damage.

The bus, driven by William Packer, RR5, Peterborough, was following another bus travelling north on George St. The first bus pulled into the curb and stopped. The second bus was unable to pull around it because of a pile of snow which had been plowed into the centre of the street. Packer stopped and the car driven by Frank Smith, RR 2, Freeman, Ont. ran into the rear of the bus.

No January Weather Record

Five Days In January 1906 Had Maximum Of 50 Degrees And Over With Record Of 58

Toronto's new weather record Wednesday for the Januarys of 109 years was not duplicated in Peterborough.

The official local thermometer rose to 55 degrees as compared with 59 in Toronto.

Peterborough's midwinter peak was reached at 58 degrees in 1906, as reported today by Mr. James Harrison of the waterworks staff of Utilities Commission.

Here are some of the dates of January thaws, as they are popularly regarded, for about half a century of local winters.

Five days in Jan. 1906 were 50 degrees or over. There was a whole week of mildness when the snow melted just as rapidly as it did yesterday.

On Jan. 15 and 16 of that year the thermometer climbed to 58 degrees. On the 17th it dropped back to 52, receded to 50 on the 21st and moved up again on the 22nd to 54 degrees.

The high for Jan. 1907 was 55 degrees on the 12th. On Jan. 28, 1916, the peak was 50 degrees. Another 50 mark was reached on Jan. 8, 1928.

January 1933 and again in 1937 are each credited with a high of 52 degrees; and Jan. 1946 recorded 54 points on the 6th of the month.

The midmonth of the winter of 1906, probably remembered by older citizens, still retains the Peterborough weather record when that week over[illegible] were just as bad[illegible] as they were Wednesday.

As for January thaws since New Year's Day, they have been inserting themselves into the accustomed pattern of winter almost everytime it snows.

Farm fields are snugly blanketed against the possibilities of deepening frosts, and just as they are tucked in again the weather snatches them off again with mild and melting lifts of temperature.

Canada's Problems Require Enterprise and Courage

If Canada can learn to tackle her problems with enterprise and courage, then the twentieth century can really belong to Canada as Sir Wilfrid Laurier prophesied, J. Alec Edmison, national organizer of the United Nations Association in Canada said at the opening meeting of So-Ed Wednesday night.

Once she has learned to overcome these problems, Canada will be able to take a leading part through the United Nations Organization in helping to prevent World War III' and maintaining peace in the world, he declared.

One of Canada's most pressing problems which represents a big obstacle in the country's taking its part in world affairs, is that Canadians are not internationally minded enough.

Some Dangerous Issues

He said the average person in Canada and the United States had no idea of the important events taking place in the United Nations. Yet if the UN fails, all the other preoccupations of men probably will not amount to more than the snap of a finger, he declared.

During 1949, Mr. Edmison said, the United Nations dealt expertly with several potentially dangerous situations. There was the Indonesian struggle which resulted just a few weeks ago in the formation of the Republic of Indonesia.

At Kashmir there was a very real danger that India and Pakistan might start an open conflict. In Palestine, despite many difficulties, the Republic of Israel was formed, described by Mr. Edmison as one of the finest accomplishments of the human race.

Too many people of Canada are unaware of the tremendous work of the World Health Organization, a branch of the United Nations, headed by Canada's Dr. Brock Chisholm.

As one of the 58 members nations of the United Nations, Canada signed the Universal declaration of Human Rights. But Canada had no right to think its declarations applied to some other countries only.

People assume that because Canada has inherited British justice, its judicial system has no weaknesses. People assume that the law treats everyone alike. But in fact, the everyday administration can mete out very unfair treatment. Two men rightly found guilty of the same crime and each fined $25 or 30 days in jail are not necessarily getting the same treatment. To one man the $25 fine may represent no more than a joke. To the other, it may be an impossible amount. He has no alternative but to serve 30 days and be branded after as a jailbird although his crime is no more serious than the other's.

Instalment Payment

In 1913 in England, the government introduced instalment paying of fines and immediately the population of jails dropped by more than one-third. Mr. Edmison said he hopes the same reform is introduced in Canada.

A person without money has no hope of having a lawyer defend him in Canada, Mr. Edmison pointed out, unless he is on trial for his life. But in England more than a generation ago accused people without money were provided with a lawyer by the state and the lawyer was paid a nominal fee.

Certainly one of Canada's most overpowering problems was the lack of unity in the dominion. The answer to this problem was in the people coming to know and understand the other parts of the country.

In the specialized problem of the split between English-speaking and French-speaking Canada[illegible] guage barrier he said. The answer to this he thought was in making Canada truly bi-lingual. For him this meant that in other provinces than Quebec, school children should learn conversational French. In Quebec school children should learn conversational English.

Transport Board Will Survey Ferry Service

A survey will be made into the car-ferry service between Cobourg and Rochester by the Board of Transport Commissioners, said Hugh Wardrope, assistant chief commissioner, to a deputation to Ottawa on Wednesday from Cobourg and Peterborough. James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Joseph Smith of Cobourg, and Dr. Fred G. Robertson, MP for Northumberland, appeared before Mr. Wardrope to discuss the discontinuation of the car-ferry [illegible] in April.

The commissioner explained that a request had been received by the Board for a survey. The Board will act as a neutral body and cannot take any definite action due to regulations.

Mr. Wardrope was chiefly concerned with the effect upon the industries of Cobourg and Peterborough. He asked if any industries received coal from the United States by way of the ferry and which industries used the ferry to carry freight.

Mr. Fraser explained that only one industry in Peterborough used the ferry to any extent, while another company in the district used it extensively. Mr. Wardrope asked Mr. Fraser to obtain facts and figures from the companies on the use of the ferry and report to the Board.

The tourist trade is affected by the cutoff. Mr. Fraser pointed out that the Kawartha area can accommodate 10,000 people. A greater use of the ferry would be made, he said, if the CNR would promote its use. He offered the services of the Resort Operators' Branch of the Peterborough Chamber.

It was agreed that the ferry is not fundamentally a car ferry but freight ferry. In order to attract the tourists to use the ferry they said some easier means of carrying the cars would have to be found.

Mayor Smith of Cobourg stressed the importance of the excursions on the ferry to Cobourg These have been falling off lately. Besides the revenue received by the town from tourists, he said, there is some revenue from supplying the boats with provisions as well as making repairs.

It is believed that an inquiry will be held shortly by the Inter-State Commerce Commission in New York State into the ferry cutoff.

Floodlights Are Proposed For Riverside Park, Cost Estimated At $30,000

Floodlights in Riverside Park for baseball appeared a real possibility following a meeting Wednesday afternoon in the city council's committee room. Representatives of the council, the recreation commission, the utilities commission and the senior baseball club met under chairmanship of Ald. Dr. Herb. Young of the parks committee.

Among those present were Mayor Max Swanston, Ald. Young, recreation chairman R. J. Bolton, recreation director Alex. Sinclair, Clare Collins, Ross Dobbin, Armar Butcher, Dit Clapper, Vern Dawson, George Clarke, Ed Murphy and Lloyd Grose.

It was agreed that floodlights should be installed in Riverside Park this year, but the question of finance created considerable discussion. Mr. Dobbin quoted a top price of $30,000 for CGE Co. equipment installed, pointing out that the order should be placed as soon as possible for posts, etc. He felt the utilities commission would co-operate as much as possible but stated that the commission did not have any money available toward financing the project.

Advance Money

Subject to approval by the city council, Ald. Young suggested that the council advance $15,000 toward the lights, as this money would be returned in time, with the senior ball club raising the other $15,000 through a committee appointed by the recreation commission. The park would be under control of the recreation commission with a charge — of perhaps 25 per cent—made for its use under floodlights. It was thought that the outlay would be repaid in about five years, with future revenue then raised for the city and the recreation commission. The operating cost for lights would be paid for by clubs using them.

Not Enough Money

Mr. Bolton inquired if the city shouldn't take over the entire charge and get its money back by charging for its use, making Riverside free for general community use, as well as for senior baseball. Mayor Swanston replied that this would be ideal except for the fact that the council just didn't have enough money for everything at this time, without increasing the tax rate further. He thought the council might go halfway for finances, which would be returned, through the recreation commission, with the senior ball club taking care of the other half.

The general feeling was that Riverside Park was the ideal place for baseball and it should be under control of the recreation commission. Necessary bleachers should be added. The present seating is about 2,000. The park must also be available for the youth of the city. If the council is agreeable, the recreation commission will go into further details on the subject with the baseball interests, and will then request early action from the Utilities Commission. Ed Murphy of the Peterborough Baseball Club pointed out that the senior Petes could get into a good league this year with Oshawa and several Toronto teams, of the Viaduct League, provided floodlights are installed in Riverside Park.

Car Thefts Link With Buckhorn Robbery-Police

Provincial Police are still searching for two stolen motor vehicles and the thieves who took some gasoline and a small amount of money from the garage and service station of Charles Flynn of Rockcroft.

The robbery and car thefts took place in the dark hours of late Monday night and early Tuesday morning.

Police have been checking a possible link between the theft of a Studebaker car (license C-41037) from in front of the residence of Earl Hall of Buckhorn and the break-in at the Flynn premises which netted the intruders about eight gallons of gasoline and less than $5 in cash.

The service station is about seven miles north of Buckhorn.

Another car, owned by Bob Dixon of Buckhorn, was tampered with, presumably by the same party, but nothing was taken.

A Ford panel truck (license K-5253) was stolen from in front of the residence of Jack Neish, who lives on Highway 28, about five miles north of the city.

Neither it nor the car has yet been located, and Provincial Police assume they may have been abandoned on some quiet side road.

Deep Slides In Fraser Canyon Trap Rail Rescue Plows As Fast As They Clear Tracks

VANCOUVER, Jan. 26—Railway officers were today forced to admit the first round to keep the railways open in the Fraser Canyon area of British Columbia had been lost to the weather. Snow slides have kept a 90 miles stretch of track between Hope and Spence's Bri[illegible]der continuous bombard[illegible]e the night of Thursday January 19.

The battle continues with TCA bringing in railway passengers from Edmonton, Calgary and Penticton. In anticipation of slide conditions the Canadian National Railway massed a sizeable army of men and equipment in the worst stretch of its Yale subdivision where, for 40 miles, the Canyon walls rise sheer above the rails. The army consisted of 300 men, four steel-nosed wedge plows, four 186-ton rotary plows and three snow spreaders. To keep its operation even more mobile it had nine bulldozers accompany the plows.

Rapidly rising temperatures created slides faster than men and equipment could move them. At the west end of the trouble area it rained. So steadily water submerged the track. At the east end wet snow fell at the rate of two inches an hour for twelve hours and turned to ice. Plow trains were sent out back to back with two and sometimes three locomotives between them so that if the front end held fast in a slide, the rear end plow stood a chance of fighting its why home.

With its equipment in danger of being buried, the railway Saturday decided to risk only its rotary plows operating west from Boston Bar to try to reach Stout. Two of the stalled plows and their crews were rescued and pulled back to Boston Bar by nightfall. Two more tries were made Sunday and were turned back. In six hours they plowed only seven miles by night the storm conditions had reduced visibility to a few feet in whirling snow and operations were impossible.

A New Threat

Tuesday a new threat appeared. Between Boston Bar and Stout are nine rock tunnels varying in length up to 700 feet. Storm winds carried snow as far as 20 feet into the tunnels, where rotary plows can not operate. Gangs of men and bulldozers set to work to clear the tunnel mouths, they were still clearing today.

There was some hope they would be through to Stout by nightfall but in expressing it, railwaymen had their fingers crossed.

Oldtimers who have spent 35 years railroading in the mountains said slide conditions had never been as bad as they are now and pointed to the spring of 1948 when flood conditions tied up the railways for 18 days.

Stalled by Slide

Only other passenger train on the CNR to become locked up in the Canyon was train number four, the second section of the "Continental Limited" which followed train number two by one hour. It was stalled in a slide near Hope at the entrance to Fraser Canyon early Friday. Ice on the tracks derailed the first plow to go in after it. By noon yesterday it had been freed but only with the aid of two more work trains and large gang of snow shovellers picked up at Chilliwack 30 miles away.

Typical of what happened was the story of train number two the first section of the Continental Limited which left Vancouver last Thursday night with a snow plow operated ahead of it in the event of trouble. The plow passed Yale in the Canyon section and reached Stout eight miles away, with no difficulty. The passenger train behind it however was engulfed by a slide midway between the two points.

In the fight to release this train a dozen plow outfits, each with its own engines and crews, worked for 48 hours. The first to reach the train succeeded in freeing only the leading five cars into which the fifty three passengers were loaded. It was able to proceed two miles before a huge slide blocked its path.

Plows Stranded

Confident it could get the stranded passengers to the railway terminal at Boston Bar, 18 miles east of where they were stuck, the CNR sent a special train from Kamloops to Boston Bar with coaches and dining car it has yet to meet its passengers. Three plows sent out for them got locked in slides, one after the other, by Saturday morning the 53 passengers were taken on foot to Stout, a mile from where they were stranded.

At Stout, the CNR has a new construction camp and in its prefabricated huts they are more snug than anyone for 25 miles, on either side of them. With them are the dining car crews and the porters from their train who carried fresh linen and food to camp. At the moment they have food for three more days and in the event the weather continues to generate slides and airlift is planned to drop them food.

Shovel Snow

Train four's passengers were kept warm and comfortable by its crew reinforced by sectionmen shovelling snow into the engine tender to provide water for steam. The snow shovelling was a continuous chore during the two and a half days the train was locked in. Just before it was rescued Tuesday the engines fuel oil was exhausted and it went dead.

Train four was moved a few miles west yesterday before it encountered ice conditions on the track that derailed heavy equipment. Buses were despatched from Vancouver to the point and they reached there Tuesday night and passengers were on their way east by TCA Wednesday morning.

At one time during the weekend the railway had six snowflighting trains locked in by slides, for the first two days of the emergency crews were returning to Boston Bar by late evenin gand leaving for work before daybreak, even the hardened mountain crews could not keep up the pace working in sodden clothing amid wet snow. When the storm hit Saturday night, both men and machines were ready for a rest.

Two Youths Steal Travelling Bags

BANCROFT, Jan. 26 (ENS) — Two youths, Joe Pappin, 17 and Mac Thomson, 20, of Kirkland Lake, pleaded guilty on Monday in Madoc police court to charges of theft in Bancroft and were each sentenced to three months in the Belleville jail. Suspicions were first aroused on Saturday night when Walter Mullett saw two men peeking into the windows of John Kelusky's home. Mr. Mullett called chief constable Roy Robinson who when questioning the pair received a report that the travelling bags of Mrs. Ellwood Plumley had been stolen from Mr Plumley's truck when it was parked in front of their home. The youths admitted to taking the bags and on the outskirts of the village slitting them open with a knife in order to search

Wool Prices, Demand Continue High

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

News from wool sources tells of near-record prices and prospects that demand will continue high.

Says "Wool News," published by Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Ltd.:

"The fact that world production in recent years has not come close to meeting world consumption should hold wool prices at least closer to prevailing favorable levels that can be expected in connection with those farm products and crops which are giving evidence of supply out-running demand.

"This is a situation that should be studied by farmers and ranchers all across Canada who, in recent years, have neglected sheep raising."

Anxious To Buy

And the Wool Bureau, Canadian division, quotes its Yorkshire correspondent:

"The world is buying wool with an eagerness unsurpassed since the war, and the situation differs from that which existed in 1920 when record prices were followed by a serious slump.

"On the former occasion there was big stocks in commercial hands on which heavy losses were sustained, but it is officially reported today that commercial stocks are for the most part as low as is consistent with the high rate of manufacturing activity which is in progress. . .

"Among the reasons for the present sharp lift in wool prices is that world pool consumption exceeds production at a rate estimated at 27 per cent, although wool output is practically back to pre-war level. . .

Not Reached Record

"Although price records have been set up in Australia on certain types of wool, the general price level has not yet reached an all-time record. There is considerable nervousness among operators and absence of speculation, but stocks are so low in many quarters that continued buying is a necessity."

What has this to do with the price of a suit of clothes?

Wool News says not a great deal. It made an analysis which indicates that in a man's two-piece suit retailing at $50, less than 11 per cent represents the actual cost of wool. More than 89 per cent of the price consisted of overhead that accompanies manufacture, labor, taxes and merchandising. In many cases, Wool News states, the wool cost is below 10 per cent.

Hotels In U.S. Fail To Awe European Folk

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 — Hotel men from Ireland, Belgium, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom and Turkey here under the auspices of the Economic Co-operation Administration, reported yesterday that they were not so sure they had much to learn from American hotels, except plumbing and fast service. As for these, they were a little afraid that the wide adoption of either might spoil Europe for the Yankee tourist.

Etienne Jean Vacher, French by birth but living in Glasgow and representing a large British hotel chain, admitted after almost a week here as part of a six-week tour that a bath with every room was an ideal to be sought. But he pointed to the many difficulties, such as European building codes that demand an outside window for every bathroom.

Michael Kevin O'Doherty, secretary of the Irish Tourist Board, said Ireland would come close this year to its goal of providing comfortable accommodations to Americans who are expected to spend $15,500,000 there. He described a government plan for the construction of tourist hotels.

Envies Meals

Albert Hanau, secretary-general of the Belgian Hotel Association, said he envied the ease of serving large numbers here and said his country's chief problem was in bringing currency restrictions to the point of complete liberty of exchange.

Frederich Albin Pfeifer, for the Netherlands, said a quarter of his country's hotel rooms had been wiped out in the war. He referred particularly to the bombing of Rotterdam, but described determined efforts to rehabilitate Scheveningen and other resorts for American and European tourists.

Marjorie Esme Harriet Moore, proprietor of Moor's Hotel near Hyde Park, London, insisted that the homey atmosphere of the small European hotel should never be replaced by the mechanization of the big-American hotel, however efficient. She envied, however, the flexibility of hours for meals and drink here.

Delay Judgment On Tax Appeal

LONDON, Jan. 26 — (CP) — The Judicial committe of the Privy Council today reserved judgment in an appeal to determine whether the income from funds left to charity by Senator Patrick Burns of Calgary, Alta. should be taxed.

The three-day hearing concluded with arguments in favor of taxation by R. P. Morison, K. C. and B. MacKenna, representing the Department of National Revenue.

The funds in question are administered to five Alberta charities by the Royal Trust Company, named in Burns' will as trustee for the Burns Memorial Trust. Burns died Feb. 24, 1937.

Since January, 1946, the Trust Company and Burns' executors have been appealing against income Tax Assessments made upon the income from these funds by the Minister of National Revenue.

Lord Greene, chairman of the five-man committee of Law Lords, said that the issues raised were "of considerable importance to charitable institutions in Alberta."

Burns directed his executors to make certain payments including a large number of legacies. Out of the balance remaining with the income and accumulations they were instructed to pay various annuities and to invest any surplus of the annual income as part of the capital of the Burns Memorial Trust.

Jack Beutel Hollywood's Forgotten Man

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP) — Hollywood's forgotten man may finally be remembered.

He is Jack Beutel, who seemingly had the leading role in "The Outlaw," but who got lost in the bountiful shade of Jane Russell. Under contract to Howard Hughes for nine years, he has worked in only that one picture.

But now he hears he may do another. He has been reported chosen to star in a football picture and a western. "All I know is what I read in the papers," he sighs.

The only real indication he has received was a telephone call from a Hughes executive New Year's eve.

"Mr. Hughes, wishes you a happy New Year," said the voice, "and wants me to tell you to get ready for some work. Mr. Hughes expects to make a lot of pictures this year."

Now or Never

If Beutel isn't ready for work now, he never will be. He has been taking dramatic lessons ever since he signed with Hughes in 1941. In fact, except for making "The Outlaw," and some appearances, that is all he has done for his weekly pay cheque.

That cheque has continued to come in, even during the 3½ years Beutel was in the Navy.

"I haven't seen him in four years," said the actor of his employer. "And I never talk to him on the phone except through his staff.

"I've been gone of to South America or Canada without telling him—and it doesn't seem to matter. Yet he seems to know everything I'm doing."

Wait And Wait

Beutel didn't even meet Hughes until after he had won the Billy The Kid role. After the picture was made, Beutel was rankled because the boss wouldn't allow him to take some nice picture offers. Then Hughes told him:

"Look, I'll make you a big star. I can promise you that. But you've got to do it my way. I can let you take these offers and you'll burn yourself out in a year. If you stay with me, you'll have to wait. If you don't want to wait, you can have your contract right now."

"Hughes was right; I was just a kid then," said the actor who now is 32.

Beutel chose to stay and wait. And wait and wait.

But now he would welcome a role, any role—except that of Hollywood's forgotten man.

Liberals Field More Candidates Than Used In Last 20 Years

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, Jan. 26—(CP)— The three major parties fighting Britain's Feb. 23 General Election—Labor, Conservative and Liberal—each have enough candidates in the field to form a government if successful at the polls.

While that is nothing new for Labor and the Conservatives, it is the Liberals' best showing in 20 years. With more than 400 candidates already campaigning, compared with the 327 nominated in 1945, the Liberals are hoping to increase substantially their parliamentary representation, which stood at 10 members in the last house.

The Labor party, bidding for a second turn of office, is fielding a candidate in every riding but one. Reversing its 1945 stand, Labor will allow speaker Douglas Clifton-Brown, a Conservative, to be returned by acclamation in Hexham constituency.

Contest all Riding

The Conservative party's official position is that all 625 ridings are being contested. But in one at least, Huddersfield west, the local Conservative organization has withdrawn in favor of the Liberal nominee.

In many constituencies, the candidature of splinter groups will enliven the campaign. The Communists, who elected two members to last house, have more than 100 nominees in mining and industrial ridings.

The Liberal nationals, a group which broke from the regular Liberal party to join the 1931 MacDonald - Baldwin coalition seem to be losing their separate indentity. In this election most Liberal national candidates are running also under the Conservative banner, with the designation "Conservative and National Liberal."

Labor splinter groups include the Independent Labor party, which at one time drew considerable strength on the Clyde but has petered out since full employment left it few talking points. But the I. L. P. still is running a candidate here and there.

Labor Independents, or "Pritties," are another dissident Labor group, led by Denis Pritt, the group is made up of left-wingers expelled from the regular Labor party.

Scottish, Welsh and Irish Nationalists are contesting a few constituencies in their respective countries. Other minor groupings include Christian Action, Independent Progressives, National Party, and Socialist Party of Great Britain.

Must Work Hard President Tells Philippines

BALTIMORE, Jan. 26 (AP) — "Much remains to be done" to achieve complete rehabilitation of the Philippines, President Elpido Quirino told hsi countrymen Wednesday in a State of the Nation message from 10,000 miles away.

The Philippine President recorded his message Saturday night at the John Hopkins Hospital, where he is recuperating from a kidney operation. It was flown to San Francisco for radio broadcast as the second Congress of the Republic opened in Manila.

"We have achieved notable progress in our constructive endeavors" despite "intense and bitter political controversies which raged throughout the nation," President Quirino declared.

"We have, no doubt, attained a goodly part of our goals in the field of economic rehabilitation and development since independence in 1946," he continued. "But much remains to be done to maintained our ecomony in a balanced state. "Internally, the most important problem facing us is the stabilization of our national economy."

President Quirino walked from his room Wednesday to the sitting room where he joined his staff in light, informal conversation. Just before, Dr. J. A. C. Colston removed the stitches and expressed complete satisfaction at the President's progress.

Many Problems Threshed Out At Paper Parley In Montreal

MONTREAL, Jan. 26—(CP)—Highly technical chemical problems were threshed out today by the 1,500 delegates to the 36th annual meeting of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association as their meeting swung into its second day.

E. J. Thom, chairman of the Association's mechanical pulp section, reported that the production of groundwood—the principal ingredient of newsprint paper—surpassed all previous records in 1949, reaching a total of 4,600,000 tons. Groundwood also is known as mechanical pulp and Mr. Thom is manager of the pulp department of the Howard Smith Paper Mills, Ltd., Montreal.

He said the 1949 figure represents an increase of about five per cent over the 1948 total. Higher production by Canadian newsprint mills was largely responsible for setting the peak, he said.

Remarks Coincide

Mr Thom's remarks tied in with what J. E. Rattray of Quebec told the delegates Wednesday night. The Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills official said that Canada now produces three-fifths of all the newsprint used in the world. Canadian newsprint is shipped to some 60 countries, he said.

Another paper presented today dealt with the problem of extracting useable materials from the waste liquor in the sulphite pulp manufacturing process. Curt Rosenblad of Rosenblad Corporation, New York, said that certain solids in the waste liquor can be used for fuel.

Runs Out Of Luck

DUNDALK, Jan. 26 — (CP) — After surviving a chase by dogs, menaced with a pitchfork, and twice shot at, a 28-pound grey wolf ran out of luck Wednesday. The wolf was bagged by Barry Dales, storekeeper at the hamlet of Keldon, after a posse of 15 men had flushed the wolf from West Luther township bush about 18 miles from here.

Help Ease Shortage

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP).—Th Civic Works Committee on Wednesday decided to supply adjoining North York Township with 2,000,000 additional gallons of water a day to help the township overcome a water shortage that has led to a halt in issuing of building permits.

DOG DERBY ENTRANT—Tony Landry, a trapper in the Sudbury, Ont., area, will compete in the Ottawa dog derby early in February. Landry will drive his seven-dog team of purebred Siberian huskies. He is seen here with his big lead dog that will compete against some of the best in Eastern Canada and the New England states.

Send 900 Troops To Guard Sault

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (CP)—United States army spokesmen disclosed Wednesday night that the army plans to station approximately 900 troops at Sault Ste Marie, Mich., for the protection of the Sault Ste. Marie river locks in that area.

A spokesman says there was no significance in the move but conceded that it was being made for the protection of the locks.

"It is normal procedure to station troops for the protection of a vital area," he said.

U.S. soldiers were stationed at Sault Ste Marie on the American side of the border during the war but were withdrawn when the conflict ended.

The spokesman said he did not know when the force would move into Sault Ste. Marie.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 26 (CP)—There's too much work and too little assistance looking after Korah township's deserted families. So, relief officer R. M. Moore is resigning—the sixth time.

Notice of Mr. Moore's latest resignation was posted in this Northern Ontario city recently. Asking for applications to fill the job, the notice read like this:

"... Failure of government departments to co-operate in the effective checking of husbands deserting their wives and children has made township relief list too much of a problem, socially and financially..."

FIRE HITS VILLAGE—Fire destroyed half the business district of Thornhill, a village about five miles north of Toronto. The blaze, of undetermined origin, broke out in the early morning of Jan. 25 and caused damage estimated at $150,000 as it destroyed the Thornhill Hotel, a landmark for 148 years, and four stores. This photo shows a fire hose being turned on one side of the street while flames wipe out buildings on the other side.

Ireland Will Send Ambassador To U.S.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 (CP)—John J. Hearne, Ireland's High Commissioner to Canada since 1939, probably will become the Republic's first ambassador to the United States, it was learned Wednesday.

At Washington the Republic of Ireland and the United States agreed Wednesday to raise the legation in each other's capital to the status of embassy. Acting on recommendation of the State Department, President Truman approved the proposal advanced by Ireland.

Laundryman Dies

STE. AGATHE, Que., Jan. 26—(CP)—Firemen late Wednesday discovered the charred remains of Samuel Kee, elderly Chinese laundry helper, in the ruins of Norman Lodge, gutted by fire Tuesday night. The lodge was a Laurentian ski resort at nearby Trout Lake.

It Is A Girl Snow Man Told

ROME, Jan. 26 (AP)—It snowed so hard in Capracotta last week that Armando Gaito of Jersey City didn't learn until today that he was a father.

As it happened, the baby daughter in New Jersey and the big snowstorm in the central Italian mountains came the same day.

Mr. Gaito, an employee of the Public Works Department of Jersey City, pulled through the mountain pass into Capracotta last Monday with the big snowplow the residents of Jersey City sent over as a gift to the village, which usually becomes snowbound in the winter.

There was only a powdering of snow in the pass when he got there, but in the surrounding fog-shrouded peaks a storm was brewing that burst in full fury the following day. In twenty-four hours a foot of snow fell, drifting and blocking the pass.

Mr. Gaito was busy until today, keeping the pass open and teaching Capracotta residents to operate the fourteen-ton plow. And it wasn't until he returned to Rome that he got the telegram from his wife in Jersey City saying the baby daughter they had been expecting at the end of this month was born.

"The baby looks like you," the telegram informed Mr Gaito She will be named Donna Maria.

Sentiment And Haggis Honor Burns' Birthday

EDINBURGH, Jan. 26 (Reuters)—With noble sentiment and steaming haggis, Scots through this old northern "kingdom" on Wednesday night honored the birthday of poet Robert Burns, born Jan. 25, 1759.

Undeterred by the "blast of Januar wind" which ushered the poet himself into the world, Caledonaisn poured from glen and hamlet, factory and office, from the high places of law, learning and commerce, to toast "the immortal memory" of Rabbie.

Park St. Church To Raise $3,000

The congregation of Park St. Baptist church launched a campaign at the annual meeting last week to raise $3,000 during the next two years, in addition to regular funds, to be used for redecorating the church and for denominational extension work.

The income during 1949 of $6,895, of which $809 was given for missionary work, had exceeded the budget, it was reported.

The clerk reported 18 new members who joined the church by baptism and profession of faith and eight by letter. The church had lost 10 members during the year.

The Rev. E. J. Whan, minister of the church, expressed appreciation of co-operation from all branches of the church.

Officers elected were: Deacons—M. Dunkley, G. Batley, J. Benson, H. Wall, P. Wicks (chairman), F. Edwards, N. Hamilton, C. Corbett and J. Halcrow.

Finance board—C. Dayman, G. Batley, L. Smith, Roy Rogers, G. Spicer, G. Herzog, J. Barry, Roy Springham and N. Hamilton. Treasurer, Ansel Taylor, clerk, G. Herzog.

IF BABY IS CROSS FIND OUT WHY

HEALTHY BABIES are not cross. Your baby should not be cross. If he is, then something in his little system is "out of order." Probably Baby's Own Tablets can promptly "put it right." Mrs. H——, of Pension Falls, had the experience. She writes: "My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick at her stomach—what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was."

Sweet-tasting—easily crushed to a powder, if desired. No "sleepy" stuff—no dulling effect. Promptly effective in simple fevers, constipation, teething troubles, upset stomach and other minor ills.

Never be without a full box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 20 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

Daring Bank Holdup

MONTREAL, Jan. 26—(CP)—Provincial police reported Wednesday night that three armed bandits held up a branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale at St. Scholastique, Que., Wednesday, and escaped with about $10,000. Police said two of the men walked into the bank around closing time and ordered five customers to line up against the wall. While one held the customers and staff at bay the other scooped up the money in the cashier's till.

WHAT'S THE SUIT SILHOUETTE FOR SPRING—slim or blousy? Let your personal preference supply the answer. Top-ranking designers offer fetching examples of both.

An outstanding example of the pencil slim line is Hattei Carnegie's satellite blue checked worsted suit (left). The close-fitting jacket minimizes the waistline with cleverly placed pointed appliques on the mid-riff. Pointed detailing is repeated in appliques on the small rolled collar. A slightly stiffened peplum gently rounds the hipline.

Typifying the blousy silhouette is the steel blue gabardine suit (right) designed by Nettie Rosenstein. The gold-buttoned jacket is tightly belted to exaggerate the bloused to pand the full peplum which flares out around the hipline. More build-up is given to the jacket by the navy silk taffeta lining which matches a tucked blouse. The skirt hews to a trim, straight line to point up the fullness of the jacket.

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

Of Interest to Women

As you know, John R. Crawford of Philadelphia and I consult each week for material for my Canasta articles. I keep telling you that he is one of the greatest card players in the country and the greatest Canasta player. Just recently Mr. Crawford's actions spoke louder than my words. He won the world championship masters mixed pair title for the second straight year, playing with Mrs. Margaret Wagar of Atlanta, Ga.

His record in this event is rather phenomenal. He finished first in 1945; third in 1946; second in 1947 and first in 1948 and 1949.

We are pleased to tell you that the National Canasta Laws Commission, which was formed at the suggestion of Mr. Crawford and myself, has adopted the Canasta laws of the Regency Club of New York. These laws have now been published with the commission's endorsement.

As Mr. Crawford and I are both members of the Canasta Laws Commission, we can assure you that there will be no changes in the Canasta laws during 1950.

Today we want to take a little time to explain a few important laws.

Penalty Cards

The official laws definitely specify that there are no penalty cards in two-handed Canasta. For example, suppose that your score is over 3,000 points and therefore your minimum meld requirement is 120. You meld 3 aces and a deuce and 3 kings. You or your opponent discover that your meld adds up to only 110. In four-handed Canasta all of these cards would be penalty cards and you would have to leave them face up on the table.

However, in two-handed Canasta you have no partner to gain illegal information from your insufficient minimum meld and you have not taken advantage of your opponent by showing him 7 of the cards in your hand. As a matter of fact your penalty is that he knows 7 of your cards, so you simply pick them up and put them back in your hand.

Here is another example. Suppose you have several melds down on the table, and require two canastas to go out, suddenly you meld the balance of the cards in your hand and your opponent calls attention to the fact that you have only one canasta—you cannot go out. You are privileged to pick up any or all of the cards that you placed on the table at this turn of play. You may not, of course, take back any that you melded on a previous round.

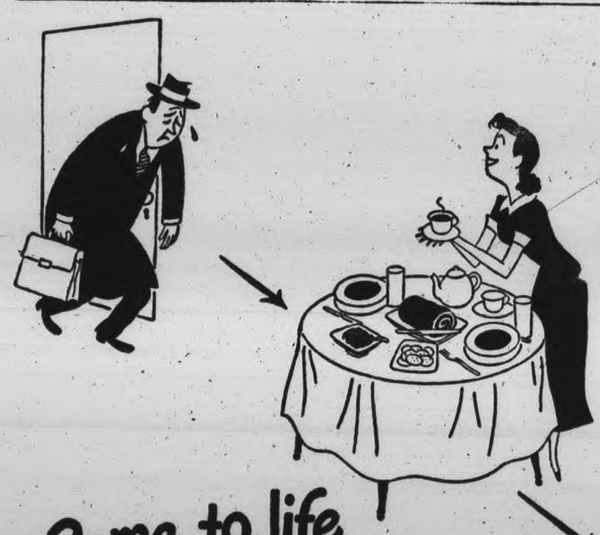
Black Treys

Some players are under the impression that a black trey freezes the pack the same as a wild card. This of course is not true and Law 20 of the official Canasta law book makes this quite clear.

It states that when a player discards a black trey, the next player may not take the discard pile at that turn, but subsequent plays are not affected.

A few days ago I received a letter from a player who said he had held 4 black treys and 3 deuces in his hand. He could meld all of his cards, including these, and go out. He wanted to know if he could count these cards as a canasta of black treys. The answer is no, they would not count for a canasta.

You can meld two black treys and a wild card, or three black treys, or four black treys, but only in the act of going out. Remember this is the only time that black treys may be melded. And once again, we emphasize they cannot be built into a canasta.



✧ ✧ ✧

You can rest assured that all of the confusion concerning the laws of Canasta will now be eliminated. The "Official Canasta Laws" are now published and on sale at local book stores.

These laws were prepared by the Regency Club of New York and have been adopted by the National Canasta Laws Commission, with an agreement that there will be no changes made in these laws during 1950.

Writers of books on Canasta may obtain permission from the

Canasta Questions

National Canasta Laws Commission to print the official laws in their books.

John R. Crawford of Philadelphia and I have gone through the law book and selected for today a few points on which there has been some confusion.

Going Out Concealed

If a player can meld out his complete hand at one turn, including one canasta, without adding any cards to melds previously made by his partner, this is called melding out concealed, and you receive an extra bonus of 100 points. In other words, you receive 100 points for going out and an extra 100-point bonus for going out concealed.

If you have a red trey in your hand and place it on the table, drawing a card from the stock pile to replace it, but make no other play, you may subsequently go out concealed. The placing of red treys on the table is not melding and does not affect your going out concealed.

Here is one important point to remember. When a player melds out concealed and meets his canasta requirements, he need not have any minimum initial meld count.

Minimum Melds

A great many players are under the impression that melding a canasta meets the minimum initial meld requirement. This is not true. The canasta bonus may not be considered in reaching the minimum count required for the first meld.

An interesting point was presented to us the other day. A player melded 4 sizes and 3 deuces. Her minimum initial meld requirement was 90 points. The cards she had placed on the table added up only to 80.

She had an extra deuce in her hand and wanted to add it to the canasta, which she was sure was perfectly legal. She would then have 100 points down.

This point is clearly covered in Law 21 (b) of the Official Canasta Laws, which states: A canasta must include at least 4 natural cards. It may include more than 3 wild cards only under the following conditions: If the count of the additional wild cards is not used in reaching the minimum count required for the first meld.

Giving and Receiving Information

Law 11 points out that a player during his own turn to play, and at no other time, may ask any other player how many cards he holds; and the player asked must answer correctly.

When a player gets down to one card, he has the right to announce that he holds only one card.

A player, at his turn to play, has the right to count the cards remaining in the stock pile, so long as this is done so that no one can see the face of the cards; but he has no right to count the cards in the discard pile.

Crisp and colorful glazed chintz makes the violet-patterned dinner skirt (left) and the fruitcup-patterned skirt (center) for resort clothes which look ahead to summer fashions. Unglazed plaid cotton pinafore (right) is stiffened at sides to give a crisp look to the shirred skirt.

Glazed Chintz Has Quality For Outdoor Summer Wear

NEW YORK — (NEA) — In the fashion fabric forecast of what will shine brightest in the springtime sunlight, decorators' chintz is an odds-on favorite to be one of the winners.

Resort clothes designed for outdoor entertaining point up the adaptability of glazed chintz for spring and summer casuals. The same qualities that endear chintz to the home decorator—its crisp texture, its gay patterns and its washability—meet with equal favor among fashion designers.

Full, gathered skirts of glazed chintz are a favorite with designer Dorothy Cox. The brilliant rays of the sun don't "wash-out" the clear bright colors used for patterns. Bunches of African violets and green leaves, for example, bloom on one white glazed chintz shirt and form a hemline border. A violet parchment cotton blouse with a deep V neckline is ensembled with the skirt.

Multi-colored butterflies and fruit are patterns on another skirt which promises to keep its non-wilting crispness and lively coloring intact through repeated washing. The strapless cotton top for this skirt is zippered up the back to insure a really smooth fit.

An unglazed cotton pinafore in navy, red and white plaid owes its perkiness to stiffening at the sides and shirring across the front and back. The halter neckline of this pinafore, which is worn over a full white pique skirt, bares back and shoulders to the sun.

GOOD FOR YOU — DIGESTIBLE AS TOAST!

After Forty: Stimulate Circulation

A FRICTION MITT makes a good aid for stimulating circulation. It is softened before use with a dash of refreshing skin lotion (left). Then it is stroked vigorously over the skin starting up from the toes (centre); and from fingertips to shoulders (right).

Circulation Slows Down When Women Become 40

By ALICIA HART

Many mature women look and feel older than their years because of a slowing down of circulation which is apt to manifest itself during middle age.

Because strenuous exercise is usually ruled out after 40, circulation may be stimulated by less drastic and equally beneficial means. One of the best ways is the friction rubdown after your bath. Best aid to a good rub down is a coarse-textured mitt of goat's hair or nubby terry cloth.

If you slip a friction mitt on your hand for the rubdown, pour a small amount of cologne or lotion into the cupped palm to soften up the fabric slightly. Then work the mitt over the skin in brisk, vigorous strokes starting upwards from the toes. In using the mitt on the arms, begin at the fingertips and stroke towards the shoulders.

Because this stroking speeds blood to skin surfaces, you'll be rewarded for your efforts by a glowing complexion instead of the former pallor. Better circulation of blood also helps to relax tense muscles.

Tea Held Making Inroads On Coffee Buying

NEW YORK, Jan. 26 — Due partially to increased coffee prices, tea sales are making definite inroads on coffee sales, officials of the Tea Bureau, Inc., contended here Wednesday. The bureau here represents the world's major tea interests.

National Hot Tea Week is expected to aid substantially in increasing the popularity of tea drinking. It is believed by the industry that heavy promotional efforts and growing acceptance of tea by Americans will result in a 10 per cent gain over last year.

"During the first nine months of 1949, there was an 8 per cent increase in the use of tea", Anthony Hyde, managing director of the bureau, disclosed here yesterday. "In the last three months, while coffee prices doubled, it was found that tea received more attention from the American housewife. In many sections of the country tea sales were up 50 per cent."

He said that the use of tea as a mealtime beverage is growing rapidly and credited this partially to staple prices. He predicted a continuation of this growing popularity in the home.

Although the estimated consumption of tea last year was only about 40,000,000 pounds in this country, as compared with approximately 2,000,000,000 pounds of coffee consumed here in 1948, (the 1949 estimate is not yet available), tea producers are confident it will continue to grow.

Plumage Steals the Show Hats Small and Demure

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — (CP) — The latest "night cap" topic in London is not the best liqueur. It's what madam will wear with her latest evening gown.

Women and fashion have won the battle with the restaurateurs. It is now fashionable, and allowable, to wear a hat with formal evening wear.

Taking their cue, milliners have allowed their imagination full range.

The hats themselves are mostly small, demure, head-hugging affairs. It's the plumage that takes the day.

They are embroidered with anything from sequins to seashells. Feathers may make the complete hat or be used in decoration as in one small velvet skull-cap set diagonally with four huge brushes of pastel feathers—somewhat like crossed sheaves of corn.

Tulle, net and organdie are used for small egg-shell caps decorated with flowers, leaves and fruit.

Crossed bands of sequins create small skull-caps sometimes finished with velvet brim to make tiny bonnets. Huge drooping ostrich feathers may cover one ear or a tall spray of osprey may curl high above the forehead.

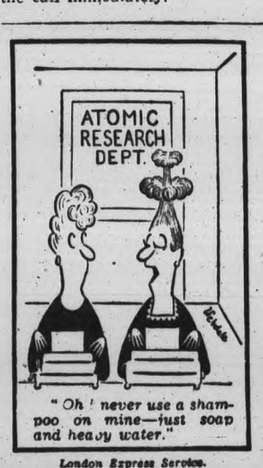
Sequined and figured veiling is the only decoration on some of the tiny velvet skull-caps, but they can be mounted by huge, decorative, jewelled hat pins.

The new hat fashion has given rise to sets of matching bags, gloves, hats and sometimes even shoes.

A hat of woven ostrich feathers in bright flame is combined with gloves and bag in suede and velvet stitched with bright beading.

Some of the prettiest evening hats seen in London for a long time are the white grosgrains set with gold, jet and crystal embroidery and sometimes finished with jewelled feather mounts. Grosgrain bag and shoes can be made to match. Gloves are suede.

To complement the tiny hats, short-hairstyles and low necklines, are many new designs in long, chandelier-drop earrings.



The Paris fashion of jewelled sequined and lacquered eye makes of net or lace has its British counterpart in jewelled spectacle frames and lorgnettes.

U.S. Women Given Equality of Rights

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—(CP)—A proposed United States constitutional amendment designed to guarantee women "equality of rights" with men cleared the Senate Wednesday by a vote of 63 to 19.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION SCHOOL

Rt. Rev. Msgr. P. P. Butler, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, was special speaker to an exceptionally large crowd at Immaculate Conception Home and School Association meeting this week.

The Rev. G. J. O'Sullivan, who introduced the speaker, pointed out Msgr. Butler was formerly of Immaculate Conception parish and was the first member to enter the priesthood.

Msgr. Butler described many highlights of his trip to Europe and eventually to Rome last year. His humorous account of the ocean voyage during which he refused to succumb to sea sickness, and some of his observations in Ireland roused gales of laughter.

He described in detail an Irish auction in which the buyer and seller barter verbally. They, after many minutes, arrived at a price by splitting the difference between $65 and $70 and sealed the deal with a mighty smack of the hands. No money was exchanged.

Travelling through England he saw results of German bombings and later in Holland and Germany mute evidence of the accuracy of Allied bombings.

Highlight of a brief tour in France was the visit to Lourdes, site of the famous Shrine of St. Bernadette. The speaker described the cave-like opening at which the Blessed Virgin appeared, and below which the Shrine is located. The stone was worn smooth from thousands of pilgrims touching it.

Last leg of the journey took him to the eternal city of Rome. Msgr. Butler was granted the opportunity of speaking with Pope Pius XII for a few minutes when he asked for and received special blessings, particularly for the children. During the latter blessing, His Holiness indicated a deep feeling for all youth.

At the close of the Monsignor's talk, he was thanked by Miss Hazel Guerin.

Piano solos were given by Joan Murray, and Joan Bourrie. Phylis Collis rendered two vocal selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Aman.

Following a roll call to determine the attendance prize, Sister Vincentia's room was declared winner.

A question box was placed in the meeting room for the convenience of parents and president Mrs. John Duignan announced it would be there at each meeting.

Refreshments were served by the executive in the absence through illness of Mrs J. Anthony social convener.

Ladies' Auxiliary Attentive To Human Interest Story By Bishop Gerald Berry

For those of the Roman Catholic faith who may never see Rome or Vatican City, His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry painted a satisfying word picture of the extraordinary sights he beheld during an 18-day visit last year; for those who plan such a trip his address Wednesday evening to the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Joseph's Hospital was an effective appetizer.

Though the purpose of his journey was an audience with the Holy Father, the Bishop was like all other tourists, covering as much territory as possible and taking in every detail of the surroundings. His superior knowledge of history made them all the more poignant.

No other city could be quite like Rome for there the Bishop saw indication of the transformation of many through 23 centuries. It was in St. Peter's Church and the burial grounds beneath, where the bones of St. Peter are believed to lie, that this span was revealed. The present church was built in the 16th century and is supported by the arches of the first church, built by Constantine in the fourth century. It was after the death of Pope Pius XI when a tomb was being prepared in the Christian burial ground beneath the church, that excavation was made in March, 1939, into the pagan burial place beneath. All of the dead have been buried in marble caskets and it is the scenes which decorate these that give evidence of man's progress and the transition of Rome from pagan to the most Christian of cities.

World's Largest Church

St. Peter's, the longest and largest church in the world, has a facade 437 feet wide. Markings in bronze on its beautiful marble floor show the lengths of other famous churches in the world, latest being the outline of St. Patrick's of New York. The ceiling is most gorgeous with paintings that have marvelously withstood the climate. The painter, Michael Angelo, made the original architectural plan, which was not followed for the nave, and Bishop Berry believes the church is perhaps not as impressive because the dome is not visible from all angles. In this place of fourth century mosaics to 19th century paintings, the opening of a door serves to transport from one century to another and some very great treasures are seen.

Attains Audience With Pope

On November 17 at a quarter to 10 o'clock the Bishop of Peterborough entered a small public audience room on the second floor of Castle Gondolpho in the Alban Hills summer home of the Pope. Twenty-two minutes sped by as one when he had a never-to-be-forgotten conversation with the sovereign of his church. According to royal etiquette he was in formal robes and he approached the Holy Father, seated at his desk, and kissed his ring.

Physically the visible head of the Roman Catholic Church is fairly tall, has grey hair, is somewhat pale, and has gray eyes through which he seems to peer. The Bishop found him a truly remarkable persons with a wonderful memory of happenings during almost 50 years of diplomatic service in the church, an accurate knowledge of current events in the world, and is a good listener—a fact that seemed remarkable for a man in his position.

"We are living in disturbed times and the Pope could not help being disturbed that day by reports of Russian moves, yet he talked with me about this diocese. His first question was 'What language do the people speak' and from then on he spoke in English." The Pope, so some beforehand knowledge how the faith is being preached here, gained from five-year reports that are compiled by the Bishop during that period, and prepared in Latin. Bishop Berry says he spends about six weeks in writing these extensive reports.

Clash Of Customs

End of the audience was signified when the Pope rose, extended his blessing and gave the typically European "accolade" on each temple. It was then that the door opened, and in typically Return Full Executive St. Joseph's Hospital Aux.

All officers who served the Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital last year were re-elected for 1950 at the annual meeting Wednesday evening Mrs. J. V. Gallivan and her executive assistants undertook several large projects with success, so they were asked to carry on in this year which offers many opportunities.

Incentive to greater effort is that the new hospital wing is soon to be opened, and the Auxiliary has given money for furnishing a room. Apostolic blessing has come from the Holy Father in Rome and a splendid year is forseen.

Financial success of the major projects, St. Patrick's tea and draw, tag day and Christmas bazaar, enabled the Auxiliary to pay the balance on a resuscitator, purchased the previous year, and buy an electric aid for the resuscitator at a cost of $60; also a nitrous oxide tank at $650; give a nurses' scholarship of $50; purchase a new rug for the residence and a sewing machine. Receipts were bolstered by a cheque for $100.02 from Michael Sadlier, director of the Peterborough Summer Theatre.

Treasurer Miss Madeleine Flynn reported a substantial cash balance on hand.

Acknowledges Outside Aid

Recording secretary Mrs. J. F. O'Brien in her annual report made note of the fourth anniversary of the inaugural meeting. She said eight monthly meetings and two executive meetings were held last year, and after each the Sisters served refreshments. At April meeting they were honored with the presence of Monsignor J. J. O'Brien who presented a substantial cheque. To Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan, and the Rev. Father MacDonald of St. Alphonsus parish she expressed the thanks for money raised to augment the bazaar funds.

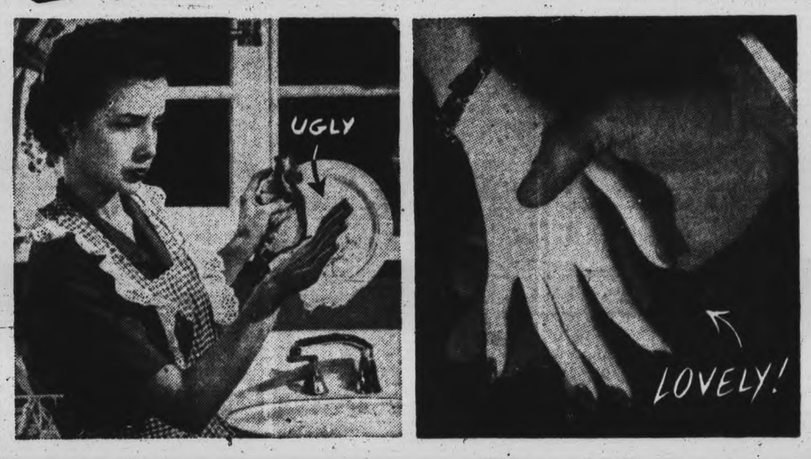
Mrs. Gallivan thanked local business men, the Knights of Columbus and the Canadian Legion for help with the tag day. She paid tribute to the loyalty of her assistants and co-operation of the Sisters.

[illegible] vice-president Mrs. A. E. Cauley, social convener; second vice president, Miss Louise Flynn, publicity convener, and third vice president Mrs. O. Hallihan, visiting convener, each gave a report of the work they handled. Fourth and fifth vice presidents, Mrs. O'Toole and Mrs. Allan Hayes, rural conveners, collected membership fees, and assisted on the projects. Miss Agnes Grant handled the Auxiliary's correspondence.

St. Joseph's cupboard conveners Mrs. N. McConkey and Mrs. J. Sullivan reported 73 articles on hand. Sewing convener Mrs. D. Emery said 1,609 articles were completed and distributed to the needy. A friendly rivalry which exists between the three parishes has perhaps increased this total as the sewers from each try to out-do the others.

House conveners Mrs. J. McCarney and Mrs. M. Roche saw to purchase of the sewing machine and rug and are to choose a table for the reception hall. Mrs. J. F. Lynch reported the membership increased to 1,256 and 3 new life memberships. Mrs. J. J. Crowley and her committee supervised six social events for the nurses in training. Weekly visits to the hospital by two ladies from each parish were arranged by Miss L. Hurley. Fruit and reading matter was given the patients in wards and semi-private wards.

Extension Organized



Hospital Aid Extension work was organized last year on the invitations of the pastors of Hastings, Norwood and Ennismore churches. Committees were formed among the women in each parish through visits by members of the Auxiliary, and they work to raise funds to assist the Auxiliary. Conveners in Hastings are: Mrs. Frank Coveney, Mrs. David Walsh, Mrs. Joseph Collins; Norwood: Mrs R. Walsh, Mrs. C. Coughlin, Mrs. Alex English; Ennismore: Mrs. James Gifford, Miss Agnes Sullivan, Mrs. Elmer Hickey.

Report of the nominating committee was read by Mrs. F. J. Hickey.

Preceding the meeting which took place in St. Joseph's nurses' residence, during which His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry gave a most pleasing address, more than 100 Auxiliary members enjoyed a turkey dinner at the Empress Hotel. All the executive members were seated at head table and were joined by the Bishop and the Rev. Jas. Greenan, chaplain of St. Joseph's Hospital.

During the dinner hour Miss Helen Hajnik entertained delightfully with two songs. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Aman who also played for a sing-song

DOROTHY DIX

Shall Widower Wed Widow With Children or Spinster

DEAR MISS DIX: Would it be wise for a widower of moderate means, who is in his early fifties and has grown children at home, to wed a poor young widow with several small children? Or would a spinster in her thirties make him happier"

Dorothy Dix

SERIOUS ANSWER: Generally speaking, widows and widowers are a preferred risk in matrimony, especially for the middle-aged. Because they do know what marriage is, and how it can be made a success, they are more apt to make a go of it than those who are experimenting with it for the first time. And because they have learned about women and men from their first wives and husbands they know how to handle their second ones.

Special Case

Hence, everything else being equal, the widow or widower is a better matrimonial bet than the spinster or bachelor. But in your particular case the widow is so heavily handicapped by her small children that it makes her a very bad risk for a man of your age and in your financial circumstances.

But, of course, if you are very much in love with the widow and have a philanthropic urge to support other people's children and if the noise of youngsters doesn't get upon your nerves, why, that is something else yet again that may justify you in marrying her.

Don't forget, however, that the old maid is the true husband-spoiler. She has been waiting for so long for someone on whom to lavish her pent-up affection of her heart. She has longed for someone of her very own she could minister to, and whose well-being lay in her hands, that she nearly always makes a wife who keeps her husband on his knees thanking Heaven for his luck in getting her.

If you consider your own individual good, marry a woman without encumbrances. But if you desire to do one of the finest and most altruistic things that any man can do, marry a widow with olive branches and be a real father to her children.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very much in love with a girl, but we are so ill adjusted to each other that I doubt the wisdom of marrying her. I am a Phi Beta Kappa. She is not at all bookish or of the student type. I enjoy writing letters—long, newsy and affectionate ones — when we are parted. She detests writing and her letters are short and uninteresting. Also her family is not what it should be in many ways. Of course, one doesn't marry his fiancee's family, but she is naturally attached to her people and there have already been many tense and unpleasant situations between us. She also lacks poise and calmness and is nervous and easily excited and seems to have no sort of spiritual insight or perception. What do yo uthink?

KIRK A.

ANSWER: I should certainly advise against it. I do not think that a marriage between two people so fundamentally different in type and character would have a chance of success.

What you feel for this girl is merely a physical attraction. That will wear off in time and when that is gone you will have nothing left. The thing that counts in the long run is mental and spiritual congeniality, being interested n the same thngs, being able to think the same thoughts, seeing things from the same angle.

The man who says that when he marries a girl he does not marry her family not only stultifies himself but he does a cruel and unjust thing to his wife. There is no getting away from that. It is one of the fixed facts of life. So if you do not approve of a girl's people; if you do not want your children to inherit their characteristics, don't marry her. And no man has a right to marry a woman and expect her to give up her family for him.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband and I have been very happy together until the last year, when I found out he has having an affair with another woman. My husband tells me that he is sorry for his wrong-doing and will not ever do it again. He never goes out now and seems to be trying to make amends and doing everythang to win me back, and I feel that I cannot bear to be parted from him, but my daughter begs me to leave him. What shall I do?

GERTRUDE.

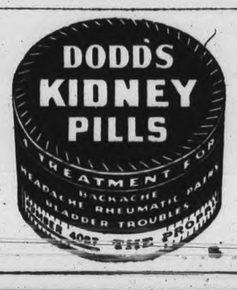
ANSWER: Stay. Your daughter is just a child. She is hurt and shamed by her father's conduct and she counsels you out of her anger. She knows nothing of the wreck it would make out of all your lives if you should break up your home.



Don't give up your husband because of just one slip. Forgive him and forget it. Meet him halfway and you can have many years of happiness together.

What's Right

Someone puts in a long distance telephone call to you.

WRONG WAY: Keep thinking of one more thing you want to say whenever the person starts to end the conversation.

RIGHT WAY: Let the person who is paying for the call end the conversation whenever he wants to.

Others elected were: first vice-president, F. S. Johnston; second vice-president, Joseph Hulsman; secretary-treasurer, J. F. Baker; board of directors: Harry Neal, Carl Heath, T. J. Bateman, J. F. Bill Parsons

Water was so unreliable that the troops were forbidden to drink it.

Two of the best points about the modern Japan are its excellent electric railway system and lighting. Unfortunately for the Jap housewife, however, she is unable to afford or procure such labor saving devices as irons, washing machines or vacuums as her American sister can.

May Fraternize

The ban on fraternization was lifted at the end of December and many of the occupying troops have availed themselves of this opportunity to mix with the ordinary Japanese and see what they are like first hand.

Most of the soldiers are very impressed with the courtesy and genuine hospitality of their hosts, Bill says. They may now go to private homes, theatres, government-inspected restaurants, dance halls and other places of recreation.

Some of the lads go out with Japanese girls and a few want to marry them. That seemed to sum up the boy-girl problem for Bill.

"Of course I'm speaking as a married man," he told the interviewer. "The single boys have a different story.

Glad to be back? Of course, was the reply.

Chief reason was his wife, the former Peggy Boddison of Wolfe St., who he had not seen since their brief honeymoon while he was on embarkation leave in the Fall of 1948.

The couple are now enjoying a second honeymoon; or continuing one that had been interrupted.

Bill was born in Milwaukee while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Parsons, Water St., were living there. He lived in Peterborough for about 10 years before he joined the American Army.

He graduated from Central School and continued his secondary school work in the army. For two and a half years he was a member of the naval cadet corps in Peterborough.

After three months basic training at For Knox, Kentucky, he was sent to Seattle with the 1st Cavalry. He was sent to Japan in the fall but had time to nip back to Peterborough and marry his fiancee.

Bill was then transferred to the 32nd Infantry Regt., and after a three month course to acquaint him and his comrades with the task at hand, he was sent to northern Honshu.

Occupation service generally lasts from 18 to 30 months, but on request, a married man may ask for a discharge in less than that time. Bill took this opportunity to get back.

His immediate plans are uncertain. He expects to cross the border once more, this time to get a job.

Obituary

AMERON HUGH FAULKNER

After an illness of four months Ameron Hugh Faulkner of 747 Chesterfield Avenue died Wednesday in hospital. He was in his 61st year.

Mr. Faulkner was a night foreman in the Armature Department of the CGE for the past 20 years. He lived in Peterborough nearly all his life, but was born in Emily Township.

His parents were Samuel Hugh Faulkner and the late Hannah Petty.

He leaves his wife, the former Florence Lillian Forsyth, two sons Ronald and Kenneth, and daughter Sherilyn, all at home. Also left are three brothers, Stanley of Vancouver, Roy of Simcoe, and Fred of Omemee; two sisters, Miss Mary, teacher on the Prince of Wales Public School staff, and Irene of Omemee.

During the First World War he was a sergeant of the Ambulance Corps (CASC). He was a member of St. Andrew's United Church.

The service will be at the Belleghem Funeral Home on Saturday at 2:30 p.m., the Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's United Church officiating.

Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Prince Rupert Suffers Acute Power Shortage

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Jan. 26 (CP)—An uneasonable winter —paradoxically, cold instead of rain—has brought an acute water and electrical power shortage to this northern British Columbia port.

Traditionally one of the rainiest spots in this rainy province, either in winter or summer, the community of 7,000 persons today looked back on a month of clear, freezing weather that has all but drained power reservoirs and played hob with water mains.

The northern British Columbia Power Company instituted power cuts when pleas for voluntary savings of electricity didn't get results. The cuts amount to 11 hours a day in staggered relays throughout the city.

Housewives have had to re-arrange meal schedules, business places their their hours and citizens their recreation activities. Because different areas are cut off at different times, lights blaze on one side of a street when they are off on the other. Then a short time later, the situation is reversed.

Some businesses are without power in the mornings, others in the afternoons. Schools remain open, there being enough daylight for them. Beer parlors and restaurants get no afternoon power but, along with bowling alleys and theatres, they can operate at nights until 11:30 o'clock.

Church Givings Down In 1949

ROSENEATH, Jan. 26.—(ENS). —A decrease in donations by envelopes was reported at the annual meeting of the United church in the township hall. Fred Lewis, church treasurer, reported Easter and anniversary givings had been satisfactory.

Total receipts were $2,226 and the balance was $368.

Archie Mouncey, treasurer of the M. and M. fund, reported total receipts $380.

Norman Sherwin, treasurer of the Sunday school, reported a balance of $44.37.

Miss Doris Robins reported a balance of $72.49 for the YPU.

Mrs. J. A. Nichol, treasurer of the WMS, said total receipts were $229.30 with a balance of $43.37.

Mrs. Fred Morris, WA treasurer, had a balance of $303.

Miss Helen Arnold, superintendent of the Missions Band, reported a balance of $40.13.

Votes of appreciation were tendered Rev. and Mrs. R. C. White, floral committee; treasurer, choir and officers of Sunday school.

Andrew Brown, Sunday school superintendent, is beginning his 20th year as superintendent.

The following stewards were elected: A. J. Campbell, Rae Brown and Fred G. Lewis.

Mr. Lewis was re-elected church treasurer.

Lunch was served.

P. Pace, Omemee Church Treasurer 29 Years Resigns

OMEMEE, Jan. 26 — (ENS) — P. Pace resigned the office of treasurer of the Board of Stewards of Trinity United Church on Monday at the annual congregational meeting, after holding the office 29 years.

A balance of $852.88, all obligations having been met, was reported by Mr. Pace. Missions treasurer S. D. Vaughan stated that $1,453.10 had been raised by the Omemee and Bethed pastoral charge, the allocation being $1,400.

The Trustee Board had a larger balance than that of the previous year and A. N. Weir, treasurer of the building fund, had received $1,906 cash and promises. Miss O. Wilton reported for the WA, G. Pogue for YPU and Church School, Mrs. R. Brooks and Mrs. G. Overholt for WMS, Mission Band and Cradle Roll; Mrs. H. Deyell for Baby Band and W. D. Weir for the choir.

The WA reported $667.17 on hand towards its objective to equip the kitchen of the proposed new church. The WMS had exceeded its allocation by $107.90.

Total Receipts $7,262

The YPU had donated $175 to M and M, and $100 to the building fund. The total amount raised for all purposes by the Omemee appointment was $7,262.

A grant of $50 was given the choir to assist in buying music.

The three retiring stewards, B. Pogue, T. A. McConnell and I. Connell were re-appointed, and C. R. Vaughan was added to the board. C. R. Vaughan was appointed treasurer of the Board of Stewards. Vacancies caused by the death of David Weir were filled by the following appointments: C. Best, Clerk of Session, and G. Bannon, trustee and treasurer of the Trustee Board. Miss M. Rea and Miss C. Connell were reappointed auditors. Insurance was discussed, and it was agreed to increase it by $5,000 on the church and $5,000 on the parsonage.

A vote of thanks was extended to the men who repaired the church tables, and a motion passed to charge rent when tables or chairs are lent to other than church groups.

Thank Minister

Appreciation was extended from the congregation to Mr. and Mrs. Zufelt; to the organist, Miss L. Race; the choir leaders, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Weir; and the choir members. Appreciation of the services of F. Johnson, who recently resigned as church school superintendent, was also voiced. Mr. Johnson was not present.

G. Bannon was secretary of the meeting.

Before the business was conducted silence was observed in memory of the following who died during the year: Joshua Eggleston, Rosemary Hoskins, Samuel McElwain, Lila Beatty, William Bannon, Samuel Deyell, Mrs. C. L. Morcombe, David Weir and Mrs. Robert Bannon.

C., Jan. 26 — Medical institutions across Canada were warned today by Resthaven hospital officials here of danger in what they describe as the common practice of applying glycerine to the lips of patients being administered oxygen. Dr. W. H. Roberts said a small explosion and fire occurred at the hospital Tuesday in which the doctor suffered slight burns and a patient suffered shock.

Dr. Jas. Semple Plans To Leave GeorgeSt.Church

The Rev. Dr. James Semple, minister of George St. United Church, Wednesday asked the congregation to arrange an exchange between himself and a minister in another congregation. Dr. Semple said he felt that no pastorate should exceed six or seven years and after six years at George St. Church, he considered it was time he sought another pastorate.

The minister said he had formerly served on a church commission of ministers and laymen which had laid down as approved policy, the recommendation that pastorates should be limited to six or seven years. He was convinced that this was to the ultimate benefit of both churches and ministers.

Dr. Semple said he announced his intention to seek another pulpit regretfully, but he was so settled in his belief that pastorates should be limited, that he had no alternative.

Appreciation of the minister's work in the church was expressed by E. L. Sackville, who has served as chairman of the settlement committee for many years, and P. M. McCarrell. Both also referred to Mrs. Semple's contributions to many activities of the church.

George St. church marked its 113th anniversary at the annual meeting.

The financial report of the board of stewards presented by W. J. Hamilton, chairman and Orville Roseborough, treasurer, revealed a balance of $411.43, despite a year of heavy outlay on special events and equipment.

G. S. Carlisle, treasurer of the board of trustees, reported assets of $273,218.52, with no liabilities and a substantial bank balance. Charlton McBride, recording secretary, said total receipts by all organizations amounted to $33,504.

100 Newcomers

P. M. McCarrell, clerk of session, said 100 people had joined the church during 1949 and total membership was 1,507. Mr. McCarrell like many other speakers, spoke of the congregation's appreciation of the work of the three choirs under the leadership of Charles Allen.

Members of the church who died during 1949 were remembered by the congregation and special mention was made by Dr. Semple of the late Dr. J. R. R. Cooper, who had given faithful service to George St. Church.

The election of new members to the session and committee of stewards was supervised by W. K. McGee, Charles Elliott and their committee.

Reports were presented by the following: Church school, junior church and nursery school, Lloyd Gilmour and Charlton McBride; Young People's Union, Lloyd Starke, president.

CGIT, Cubs and Scouts, Mrs. Leo Copp; Bible Society, Everett Hales; Woman's Missionary Society, Mrs. R. Powell; Women's Association, Mrs. A. Nelson; Evening Auxiliary, Mrs. W. Frise; Invictae Circle, Miss Mary King; Mission Band and Baby Band, Mrs. S. Rowe; benevolent fund, L. M. Richardson; missionary and maintenance fund, F. E Morton; treasurer who reported a new high in receipts of $5,516.22; Mr. and Mrs. Club, Lloyd Wells; bowling club, Everett Hales; senior choir, A. B. Burrows; pension fund, Charles Elliott.

At intervals during this evening solos were sung by Mrs. Dorothy Goldie and Mr. Henry Batten. A social committee under Mrs. W. Frise and Mrs. C. Elliott served refreshments.

Reject $200 Increase For Kingston Firemen

KINGSTON, Jan. 26.—A request of the Kingston Firefighters' Association, Local 498, for an increase in salary of $200 across the board for all members of the fire department except the chief and deputy chief has been rejected by the civic committee on administration and legislation.

The basic salary for members of the fire department in 1949 was $1,875, with an additional $250 for time served in excess of 56 hours per week. The department operates on a two platoon system with the men working a 72-hour week.

Ladies' Auxiliary

Canadian manner, Father Butler entered carrying the things he wished to have blessed and laid them on the Pope's desk.

Among the many interesting facts Bishop Berry accounted was that the Roman basilicas do not have stained glass windows, Color in the churches comes from light on translucent sheets of alabaster marble. Before his audience he was bound to make visits at the tomb of the Apostle Peter, and the tomb of Apostle Paul in the church without walls, Rome, for which he received certificates. He also went on a number of pilgrimages in Rome, and celebrated various feasts. Once he went to the small church among pagan ruins in which Tyrone Power was recently married.

Sees Original Painting

In Florence, perhaps the greatest art city of the world, he viewed many masterpieces, frescos that have lived since the 13th century, and also the original painting, "Last Pearl in the Crown of the Blessed Lady," by Fran Angelico, which had claimed his particular interest since the time of his ordination. There too he saw bronze doors eight panels wide with 30 to 40 faces on each panel, that were cast in the 14th Century. It is amazing how the pouring of such a metal was done at that time, he pointed out. A recent cleaning, which took more than two years, revealed gold flecking on the faces that had been hidden for centuries. Bronze doors that he saw in Rome were done with silver, and these were noticeably musical when opened. The Baptristy in Florence gave the story of the baptism from the beginning.

Bishop Berry also visited Assissi, which is famous in the church history as the place where the Franciscan Order was founded.

His homeward voyage began at Genoa in late November, and he had two wonderful days on the Mediterranean, one rough day beyond Gibraltar, and a pleasant time on the southern Atlantic, then gradually decreasing temperature as the ship curved toward Halifax where there was snow. The bishop spent another 30 hours on board and disembarked in New York.

The human interest throughout the bishop's talk appealed to his audience and this he climaxed with high praise on the expansion of their auxiliary during last year, in activities and financial returns. "Having done well, you must continue doing better," he said. "It is particularly important that you flourish during this Holy Year in the church and this centenary year in Peterborough."

Appreciation of the bishop's talk was expressed by Mrs. A. E. Cauley and extended by Auxiliary President Mrs. J. V. Gallivan.

UE Endorses Action Of Toronto Group

Local 524 UE has endorsed the action of the Toronto members of the UE-GE Joint Negotiating committee in rejecting the company's offer of settlement made recently in Toronto. Negotiations resume today.

The local has joined in the demand for a 40-hour week with increased take-home pay, seniority protection, strengthened position for day rate workers, increased protection for piece workers and equality for women workers.

CGE is not negotiating with Peterborough and Cobourg, claiming there is doubt as to the workers' choice of bargaining agent.

This was the subject of another resolution, recommended to Tuesday's membership meeting wheret it was endorsed, by the joint stewards and provisional committee.

"We demand the company recognize our legal right to participate in current negotiations for improvements in our 1949-50 agreement," the resolution stated, "and that our negotiating committee be a part of current joint negotiations as set out in our contract as recognized by the government and its conciliation board."

A third resolution demanded the company meet with the full stewards and personnel committee to discuss the withholding of the check-off money, why "the elected executive is not being recognized," and why the company is "assisting the IUE disruption."

The joint stewards and provisional committee was conferring all day Monday.

Montreal Police In Dither As 4 Big Hold-ups Within Last Two Days

Three Armed Men Get A $20,000 Haul From Jewelry Store, Three Banks Victims of Robber Gangs

MONTREAL, Jan. 27—(CP)—Three armed men today robbed Paul Rolland's midtown jewelry store of an estimated $20,000 worth of gems, rings and watches. The three men walked into the Mount Royal Avenue jewelry store shortly after it opened this morning, held up a clerk and took the loot from a safe where it had been placed for safekeeping during the night. The jewelry robbery followed a wave of bank holdups in the Montreal area. Wednesday $10,000 was taken from a branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale at St. Scholastique, 30 miles northwest of here.

Thursday a lone gunman robbed a bank branch at suburban L'Abord a Plouffe of $800 and almost at the same time another pair of bandits took $1,691 from a Provincial Bank of Canada branch at Yamaska.

Make Five Arrests

Meanwhile, police announced they had made five arrests in connection with the bank robberies and had cleared two other men of suspicion.

The two men cleared are winfield W. Martin, 26, and Leo T. Gibbons, 26. They were picked up Thursday by police investigating the L'Abord A Plouffe holdup but the bank manager failed to identify them in a police line-up.

Later they were found to have escaped with a third man Wednesday from the county jail at Bennington, Vt. During the night the third man, George Patrick, 22, was arrested when he asked for a night's lodging at a police station.

All three are being held for return to the United States.

Detective Lieut. Marcel Patenaude, chief of the hold-up squad of the Provincial Police, announced Thursday night that three men and two women had been arrested in connection with the Yamaska bank robbery. Two were captured by police shortly after the hold-up when their automobile ran into a pole and they were forced to take to the woods. A Montreal taxi driver was being held, Patenaude said. He did not give the names of the suspects. Yamaska is 80 miles southwest of Montreal.

Overseas 6 Yrs. Rule Soldier Must Pay Tax

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 (CP)—The Income Tax Appeal Board ruled today that a Canadian soldier was "ordinarily resident" in Canada even when serving overseas during the war.

The board rejected the appeal of George E. Beament, an Ottawa lawyer and former Canadian army brigadier commander of the Canadian Army University Overseas, for exemptions on his 1946 income tax.

He returned to Canada in May, 1946, after nearly six years overseas and claimed he was not a resident of Canada from January to May, 1946, and therefore not liable for tax during that period.

In a majority judgment, Mr. Justice R. T. Graham ruled "with some regret" that overseas service did not change the fact that most Canadian troops were "ordinarily resident" in Canada while overseas.

Mr. Beament appealed to the board after a similar ruling had been made by the income tax department.

"No evidence is before us that, during the period overseas, the appeallant had made ties or commitments in the United Kingdom that would indicate a change in the settled order of his life or an intention to live his life at the conclusion of his military duties elsewhere than in Canada," Mr. Justice Graham said. Board member Fabio Monet concurred.

Dakota Begins Mercy Mission

GOOSE BAY, Labrador, Jan. 27 (CP)—A ski-equipped RCAF plane left here early today for the Quebec-Labrador border hamlet of St. Augustin to carry victims of a polio epidemic to hospital in Montreal.

RCAF officers expressed belief that the plane, which stopped at Harrington Harbor, Que., to pick up a nurse and doctor, would be on its way to Montreal with five stretcher cases by noon.

The RCAF Dakota left here at 5.29 a.m., EST, and by 7 a.m. had picked up the doctor and nurse at Harrington Harbor. Harrington Harbor is 100 miles west of St Augustin.

RCAF officers said the job of landing and taking off on humpy ice at St. Augustin would be a hazardous one with such a large plane as the two-engine Dakota.

Reported Car Stolen To Escape Accident

TORONTO, Jan. 27 (CP)—Police today charged Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Humby with public mischief and accused them of inventing a story that their automobile was stolen to escape blame for their part in an accident.

Suburban Scarboro township police said Herbert Banning of Toronto told them his parked car had been struck by another car, Mrs. Humby reported the couple's car stolen. They added that the Humby car, recovered soon afterwards near the couple's home, was damaged on one side.

Police charge that the car was driven by Herbert Humby when involved in the accident.

Says Windows Barred On Inspection Visit

TORONTO, Jan. 27 — (CP)—Repair man Sam Mendelsohn said today that in March, 1949, he put bars on the basement windows of the Phillips Garment Company plant where fire last week brought death to nine persons.

A Fire Department inspection of the premises was made April 5, 1949. Deputy-Chief Albert Steen said Monday he would take the word of his inspector, W. Schoales, that there were no bars on the windows when inspection was made.

E. H. Gilbert, chief Ontario factory inspector, said Tuesday that his men inspected the building last October and "had bars been in place when our men inspected the building, they would have recommended their removal." There was no such recommendation.

Raise Power Quota

TORONTO, Jan. 27—(CP)—Power quotas in northeastern Ontario have been increased 10 per cent, Chairman R. H. Saunders of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario announced today. Mr. Saunders said this move restored power quotas to those in effect before Jan. 16. It was made possible by heavy rainfall this week in the Abitibi canyon area which produces 70 to 75 per cent. of the power used in northeastern Ontario.

17 People Flee Flames In Toronto Fires

TORONTO, Jan. 27 — (CP).—Seventeen persons escaped to the street and three firemen were overcome by smoke and gas early today in fires in a house and a combined store-apartment building.

The three firemen were overcome as they groped through the fume-filled basement of the Dover Sportswear in East Central Toronto. They were revived with inhalators and later sent home.

A passer-by who noticed smoke pouring from the basement of a D'Arcy Street house roused the tenants and residents of adjoining houses. The six residents of the house fled to the street in their night attire before flames leaped through the front portion of the building.

Eleven occupants of the three apartments above the Sportswear shop fled to the street as smoke and gas filtered through the building. The gas was escaping from a burned-off meter in the basement.

Firemen blamed the Sportswear fire on a faulty electric connection in the basement boiler room. The house fire was blamed on a faulty chimney.

Rustling Sheep 3 Plead Guilty

GUELPH, Jan. 27 (CP)—Three youths pleaded guilty today to five offences, which included the first cases of sheep rustling heard in court here in many years.

Norman Bell, 23, RR 3, Moorefield, was sentenced to five years concurrent in Kingston penitentiary on each of five charges. His companion on three of the raids, including both sheep thefts, William Brimicombe, 23, of East York, near Toronto, and David Joseph Quigley, 22, Toronto, who admitted one housebreaking charge, were both remanded one week for sentence.

Bell pleaded guilty to the Dec. 24 theft of two sheep from Bert Andrews of Maryboro township, and stealing eight sheep on Jan. 2 from Arthur Keating of Nichol township. He also admitted breaking into the Guelph township cottage of William Parker, Guelph contractor, and stealing some $5,000 worth of furniture during September, the theft in December of an extension ladder valued at $35 from Bert Andrews, Maryboro, and also with the Jan 2 break-in in Nichol township where a canvas stage curtain and a first aid kit were stolen.

Fly 1,000-Mile Mercy Trip As Boy Mauled By Husky

SUDBURY, Jan. 27—(CP)—Flown 1,000 miles from a Hudson Bay outpost, three-year-old Johnny Garvey is being treated here for a deep head wound inflicted by a vicious husky sleighdog.

At his home at Port Harrison, Que., on the northeastern shore of Hudson Bay, his wounds were dressed by Dr. V. H. Harper, who flew 500 miles northeast to Port Factory, Ont. Now, with further treatment since his arrival here late Thursday, the boy is recovering.

The boy was accompanied on the flight by his mother, Mrs. J. Garvey, formerly of Medicine Hat, Alta., and his eight-month-old sister, Cory.

Mrs. Garvey said she would have some of the stitches removed before boarding a train to Winnipeg, where she will stay with her husband's parents until Johnny fully recovers.

"Johnny was playing outside when he was attacked by a husky a week ago Thursday," Mrs. Garvey related. "He ran after a playmate and passed too close to the dog. The sleigh dogs are vicious dog jumped at the boy and succeeded in knocking him down."

The boy was bitten about the face and head before he was rescued. He suffered deep gashes to the back of his head, face, cut lower lip and a cut right eyelid.

The boy was treated by Dr. V. H. Harper at the Port Harrison base and flown here by Pilot Thurston Blakey.

Find Jewels Outside Police Office

$420,000 Loot Back For Aga Khan After Anonymous Tip

MARSEILLES, Jan. 27 (AP)—Half of the Aga Khan's stolen fortune in jewelry—$420,000 worth of gems—turned up mysteriously on a police-station doorstep Thursday night. French police, looking for the last six months for tommy-gunners who held up the Moslem leader on a Riviera Highway last Aug. 3, found the valuables in a package outside the Ninth Police Brigade station here after an anonymous telephone tip-off.

The police first estimated the find at $280,000 in value. Three experts, hurriedly summoned, raised the appraisal to $420 000.

Investigators announced no theories as to who tossed the mysterious package. Presumably it came from one of the hold-up gang, possibly alarmed by a series of arrests recently.

Nine Men Arrested

Nine men were arrested last week for alleged participation in the daring highway hold-up in which the fabulously wealthy Moslem potentate and his wife lost gems worth between $700,000 and $850,000.

A widespread police search has been under way for other members of the gang believed to have hidden the loot.

Investigating authorities have said they knew the jewels still were in France, probably in the hands of a Corsican named Paul Leca. A hunt has been under way for Leca.

The Aga Khan, and his wife, the Begum, were robbed as they drove away from their Riviera estate near Cannes.

Up To Neck In Mud Boy 6 Saved By Pals

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—(CP). — Hysterical and submerged almost to his neck in a six-foot mud bank, six year old Willis Newton was rescued Thursday by two school mates attracted by his screams to a suburban Weston field.

Lionel Chetwynd, 9, and Lorne Blanton, 11, heard the lad's cries while on theeir way to school. They were unable to lift him from the mud until a 12-year-old boy arrived with a plank and two builders working nearby came to their aid.

Lewis Agrees To Renew Talks

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 27 (AP) —. John L. Lewis Thursday agreed to review contract negotiations at the invitation of the strike-plagued United States soft coal industry.

It is the first concrete development of the year toward ending the frequent coal walkouts which have pestered the country for months and cut fuel stockpiles to the danger point.

More than 88,000 diggers now are idle in a "no contract, no work" strike in six states. Unemployment in allied industries like steel mills and railroads has reached 18,000.

Lewis said he will meet northern and western operators in Washington, Feb. 1. That's the date he must reply in Washington Federal District Court to a National Labor Relations Board petition for injunction against his three-day work week.

[illegible] for a court injunction against Lewis on charges of unfair labor practices.

Robert N. Denham, NLRB general counsel who filed the action, commented:

"If Lewis and the operators can sit down and work out a legal agreement, nobody will support 'em faster than I will."

BACK TO WORK — Iron ore workers are shown entering the Wabana mines at Bell Island, Nfld., for the first time since New Year's. Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation shut down the mines after a contract disagreement with United Steel Workers of America. They were re-opened earlier this week, pending union ratification of a proposed agreement.

Bank Hold-up, Kidnapping Net 6-Year Terms

KITCHENER, Jan. 27 (CP). — Two men accused of bank robbery and kidnapping were each sentenced today to three concurrent six-year terms.

George Hughes 25, and Arthur George 28, pleaded guilty to a charge of armed robbery of the Dominion Bank of Canada at nearby Elmira and to two charges of kidnapping—all on January 14.

They were charged with kidnapping a Toronto taxi driver, James Gane, before the robbery —in which $5,799 was taken — and with kidnapping Elmer Schoope of Kitchener in their attempt to escape.

They were sentenced by Magistrate H. R. Polson.

Hughes, a native of Glace Bay, NS, had been living in Toronto recently. George, who comes from Newfoundland, had lived in Toronto and Salem, Ont.

Kidnap Cabbie

Police said Gane's taxi was commandeered in Toronto. Gane was herded into the Elmira bank during the holdup, but was left behind as the bandits fled in his car. The cab was abandoned seven miles south-west of Elmira. Then the bandits kidnapped Schoope and forced him at gunpoint to drive them 50 miles to London, Ont.

Hughes and George were arrested later the same day, one at Brantford, 25 miles south-east of here, and the other at Thamesford in the London area.

Find Missing Man, Car Under Trent River Ice

TRENTON, Jan. 27.—Searchers probing beneath the ice in the Trent River north of Trenton on Thursday found the body of Bernard Regan, 57, Stockdale. He was in his car.

Regan, who has been missing for a week, is believed to have lost control of the car and skidded off the road into the river.

There is a 20-foot embankment at the spot where the car left the road Regan was proceeding north on No. 33 highway and was one mile from the centre of Trenton, but still within the city limits.

In Regan's hand was a cigarette lighter. Police believe it may be connected with the accident.

Japanese Astronomer Sees Terrific Explosion On Mars

TOKYO, Jan. 27—(AP)—A young Japanese astronomer who never went to College says he sighted the "terrific explosion" on Mars which has excited astronomers the world over. Tsuneo Saeki, 32, has been keeping an optical eye on Mars for 17 years. He is highly regarded by two of Japan's greatest astronomers, Tadao Murayama of Tokyo's Science Museum, and Dr. Hideo Hirose of Tokyo's Astronomical Observatory.

Saeki said in a telephone interview from Osaka, where he watches Mars, that he is not certain the explosion he saw was of volcanic origin.

"There are no accurate data on such phenomena," he said.

Volcanic Origin

Saeki said he "presumed" the greyish cloud was of volcanic origin because it was of a different color from clouds usually observed around the planet.

Saeki said he was alone Jan. 16 when he sighted the cloud. The surface where Saeki reported the blast was turned away from astronomers in the United States and Canada.

Saeki said he saw a huge cloud bulging on the south side of the planet. His report to Walter Haas, Albuquerque, N.M., who is World Director of the Association of Lunar and Planetary Observers, said the cloud was about 900 miles wide. It extended an estimated 60 miles above the surface of Mars.

Free Palechuk On Murder Count

WELLAND, Jan. 27 (CP) — Michael Palechuk, 19, was freed today of a murder charge in the Dec. 22 buldgeon-slaying of Arthur Gough, 27-year-old St. Catharines taxi-driver.

A grand jury considering an indictment against the suburban Grantham township youth returned a decision of "no bill," thereby deciding that Palechuk would not be required to stand trial.

Gough, who left his stand to answer a call from a person at a midtown St. Catharines beverage room Dec. 22, was found dead in a ditch on the outskirts of Welland, Dec. 23. His cab was abandoned nearby.

$100,000 Loot Taken From Rose

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP) — Bandits carted off a safe and furs and jewelry valued at $100,000 Thursday night from the fashionable east-side home of columnist and cafe owner Billy Rose.

Police said three men entered the four-storey residence while Rose and his wife were away, tied up a Negro butler, and carried away a small safe containing the jewelry.

After Rose and his wife, the former Eleanor Holm, one-time swim champion, returned home, a check disclosed that a number of fur pieces also were taken by the robbers.

Rose said the loss might have been much greater had it not been that his wife wore much of her jewelry to a play premiere they attended last night.

He said the bandits left undisturbed a $500,000 collection of paintings, and $75,000 worth of antique silver.

Communist Batteries Fire On UK Freighter

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 27. — (AP).—Officers of the British freighter Wingsang reported today that Communist shore batteries fired on the vessel from the mainland Wednesday.

The ship was attacked at a point about 60 miles northeast of Red-held Amoy as it was heading for Keelung, the port of Chinese Nationalist Taipei, from Hong Kong.

Ship's officers said about 12 big shells splashed uncomfortably close to the Wingsang but caused no damage or casualties.

The attack was the first incident of its kind since Britain recognized the Communist government of China. A strong British protest is expected to be filed in Peiping.

Pose As Bogus-Money Men Secret Police Crack Ring

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—(AP)—Secret Service agents, posing as traders in the bogus-money market, cracked a counterfeit ring Thursday night and today, and seized $200,000 in bad bills.

Four men were arrested after their operations were traced from Los Angeles to New York, where they allegedly planned to put the fake money in circulation.

United States Secret Service men, who had pretended to be prospective buyers of the bogus money, told of outsmarting three of the suspects who tried to pass off $200,000 worth of counterfeit bills as $300,000 worth.

The three claimed the larger amount was in two suitcases, and sought to sell the faked $10 and $20 bills for $60,000, the agents said. The purchase price for the actual amount of the fake bills —at 20 cents on the dollar—would have been $40,000.

Midway in the negotiations, the Secret Service men and city police began their roundup, confiscating the two suitcases of counterfeit in a well-furnished Queens apartment.

The prisoners were booked as Anthony Chiarella, 33, Manhattan hotel clerk; Vincent Palmisano, 35, Brooklyn salesman; Anthony Pietaraniello, 36, Manhattan butcher; and Joseph Nardone, 49, Manhattan taxicab driver.

No Report Of Aircraft For 24 Hours

RCAF Standing By To Aid Search For US Air Transport

EDMONTON, Jan. 27—(CP)—A United States Air Force C-54 with 36 passengers and eight crew members aboard has been unheard from since Thursday, R.C.A.F. officials announced today.

The four-motored plane was en route from Elmendorf Field at Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont., and last reported its position at 6.09 p.m. EST over Snag, Yukon. Snag is 1,300 miles northwest of Edmonton.

RCAF said a sweep would be made today of Amber Airway No. 2 from Northway, Alaska, to Fort Nelson, B.C., covering an area of 20 miles on either side of the air route. The sweep was expected to get underway about 11.30 a.m. CST.

Officials at the RCAF station at Edmonton said that weather conditions "are not too good" at the moment for air search work.

Find No Trace

An RCAF Dakota stationed at Whitehorse, Yukon, made a night search but found no trace of the missing plane.

Air force officials said the 10th Rescue Squadron USAF at [illegible] Field, Alaska have 12 aircraft either in the area or moving in and the RCAF have a Dakota and a Norseman and a helicopter already in the search district or ready to fly in.

The aircraft was identified as belonging to the strategic air command, USAF, at Omaha, Neb.

Ready To Help

At Winnipeg an RCAF source said that the station had been "alerted" in the event that additional planes were needed to carry out a search for a United States Air Force plane missing in the north with 44 persons.

"We have been advised by Edmonton that the plane is unreported and we have been asked what aircraft we have available," this source said. "We anticipate that we'll be called upon for aircraft if search planes don't turn up anything on their first sweep."

Rooming-House Yields Loot

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 27 (CP)—Four persons charged with possessing stolen goods were remanded today until Feb. 2, while police continue examination of thousands of dollars worth of furs, jewellery, household appliances, clothing and baggage seized in a raid on an east-end rooming-house.

Charged are Mr. and Mrs. James Bray and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Morrow. Police say the couples are formerly of western Canada.

Detectives say some of the articles seized have been identified as stolen from a home at Cooksville, near here. Officers from Toronto and Kitchener are expected here today to help check the loot.

Red Blockade Seen Severe Blow To West

BERLIN, Jan. 27.— (AP). — Gloomy Allied officials today saw little chance of an early end to the Soviet "creeping blockade" against Berlin's highway traffic with western Germany.

Two formal protests by Allied commandants within a week have failed to protect the city's truck commerce from drastic restrictions by Russian frontier guards.

A jam-up of 400 trucks at Helmstedt, main Soviet checkpoint on the [illegible] Autobahn today was the worst since last [illegible].

Some cargoes were stalled as much as 40 hours by the Russian slow-down, enforced equally against trucks attempting to enter or to leave the east zone.

West Berlin's basic supplies—food and fuel—were reported ample despite strangulation of the city's road communications.

Canada's Poultry Industry Welcomes Effect Of Egg Price-Support Plan

Gardiner Believes Price Sufficient To Keep Efficient Producers In Business, Won't Get Rich, But Won't Suffer Loss

OTTAWA, Jan. 27—(CP)—Canada's poultry industry today welcomed the stabilizing effect of the government's new egg price-support program. Early reaction from agricultural experts and poultrymen across Canada appeared generally favorable to the plan whereby the government guarantees packing plants and other cold-storage operators 38 cents a dozen plus cost of storage on all unsold surplus eggs at the end of this year.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner, announcing the program at a press conference Thursday, said the 38-cent price will be paid on all eggs stored as Grade A large. Grade A medium eggs will be supported at 36 cents.

He estimated that the cost of storage may amount to about four or five cents a dozen, bringing the cost to the government as high as 42 or 43 cents.

This price of 42-43 cents a dozen compares with an average price of 47 cents obtained under the United Kingdom egg contract in 1949.

Keep In Business

He said the price is "sufficient" to keep the more efficient producers in business.

Agricultural experts in Ottawa estimated that the retail prices of eggs likely will climb five and six cents a dozen within the next few days as a result of the price-support announcement.

Mr. Gardiner estimated the price-support program will have the effect of nailing down a floor price for the producer of between 30 and 32 cents. Since the recent break in prices egg farmers have been getting from 16 to 24 cents a dozen from the egg-grading stations.

Dr. J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for British Columbia, appeared to sum up the average reaction to the new floor price with the comment that egg producers will "not get rich but they won't suffer a loss."

He added that he thought the program "excellent."

C. F. Luckman of St. Williams, Ont., chairman of the National Poultry Council, said the program is "much better than the guessing that has been going on. Actually, although the price is low, it's not too far off what we asked.

Mr. Luckman suggested that all flocks be reduced by 10 per cent "in keeping with the limited export market of today."

Will Break Even

Frank Ellis, president of the Hatchery Association of Ontario, said he believes the producer "would at least break even." Farmers, he estimated, would get between 28 and 30 cents a dozen.

"Even at that price it is a considerable improvement in the situation."

Two B.C. poultrymen however questioned the value of the price-support program. L. H. Carr of Buckerfields, Ltd., Vancouver, one of B.C.'s biggest egg and feed dealers, said the guaranteed price would mean continuing contraction in the industry.

Barry Creelman, secretary-manager of B.C.'s Surrey Co-operative, said marginal producers —those just getting by—will not be helped by the government measure.

F. Waldo Walsh, Nova Scotia's deputy minister of agriculture said the program should be of long-range benefit to domestic consumers.

Guelph Woman Agrees To Drop $5,000 Suit

HAMILTON, Jan. 27 —(CP)— The $5,000 breach of promise suit of a 24-year-old Guelph beautician, Miss Jennie Sobol, against Allan M. Duffield of Sault Ste. Marie, was withdrawn today after more than an hour of negotiations between counsel, the litigants and Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven.

The suit was withdrawn during what was supposed to have been a 10-minute court recess after the judge had reserved judgment on the defence's motion for non suit at the conclusion of the hearing of the plaintiff's case.

The plaintiff had brought action against Duffield alleging that he would not keep his promise to marry her after his divorce became final last May. They had corresponded with each other and kept company, she said, from early in 1947 to late in 1948.

Gives Testimony

This morning, after a full day of giving testimony Thursday, Miss Sobol was again on the stand, undergoing cross-examination by P. S. Fitzgerald of Sault Ste. Marie, counsel for the defendant.

He had made his motion for non suit on the grounds of the plaintiff's own admission that she had never requested the plaintiff to keep his promise and had never set a definite time for the marriage to take place.

Another ground, he contended, was that the plaintiff, in writing had released the defendant from any promise.

In releasing the jury from further duty, His Lordship said that certain matters of law had led to negotiations between both parties and their counsel.

"Im very happy to tell you," he said, "that there has been an adjustment made, satisfactory to both parties."

Find Frozen Body at School

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 27—(CP)—Police are investigating the death of Cecilia Boyer, 29, whose frozen body was discovered in a west Korah Township schoolyard. But they decline to comment on the possibility of murder until an autopsy Saturday. The woman's body was found Thursday propped against a wall of the township elementary school by 10-year-old Evelyn Turco. The head bore bruises. Blood was on the wall and in surrounding snow. It is believed the ice-encased body had lain a week in a corner formed by two wings of the school. Children play daily at a nearby skating rink. But the body was hidden in snow until revealed by overnight rain and thaw.

Directly above the propped-up body, a window of a washroom was broken.

Lightly clothed, the dead woman wore a thin sweater, skirt, three-quarter length coat and rubber overshoes.

Worked as Waitress

Miss Boyer worked as a bookkeeper and a waitress. Police are investigating her whereabouts during the two weeks she has been reported missing.

When Evelyn Turco noticed the body she ran into school to tell others. Older children went out expecting to find the carcass of an animal.

"It was a terrible thing to see," said Evelyn. "The body was frozen just like a fish. It was awful."

Mrs. Sophie Boyer, 52, the dead woman's mother, said:

"I can't understand what happened to my girl. It's terrible. I hope they get to the bottom of everything."

Miss Boyer attended elementary school and later took a business course here. As a 'teen-ager she was active in softball, basketball and athletics.

200 Go On Strike

Eight Countries Sign Up For US Arms Aid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP) —Eight Western European countries sign on the dotted line today for $1,000,000,000 in American arms aid.

About three months behind schedule, ambassadors from Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Norway and Denmark are to put their signatures to separate arms agreements in ceremonies at the state department.

These documents give in detail the conditions under which the United States will ship guns, tanks, planes, ships, raw materials and machinery to its Atlantic pact allies to bolster their defences against possible Russian attack.

President Truman's formal approval of a master defence plan for the North Atlantic area is expected a few hours later. This plan was worked out in private last month by military chiefs of the 12 Atlantic Pact countries.

Must Approve Strategy

The United States Congress specified last October when it approved plans to rearm Western Europe, that the administration must approve the strategy outline before the full $1,000,00,000 in arms could be made available.

Britain, whose objections to American terms delayed the negotiations, was listed as first to sign.

France is to get the biggest chunk of American military help because in any Russian attack on Western Europe its army would be expected to bear the brunt of the initial defence.

While terms of the agreements were kept secret before the signing, officials said in advance that these are the main provisions:

1. Each country pledges to use American military help only for the purposes specified — to strengthen the total defence of the North Atlantic area.

2. All promise to bolster their own defences and to aid other allies with any weapons and supplies deemed necessary. This is known as the self-help and mutual-aid provision.

Golds Climb Slowly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 27 (CP) — Golds climbed slowly upwards against an otherwise downward trend on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Gains ranging up to 15 cents were chalked up among junior producers and several individual issues moved briskly on their own.

Volume for the first three hours was 606,000 shares. About 85,000 shares more than Thursday's similar period.

Senior golds were stronger with McIntyre gaining ¾ at 62½ and Lake Shore, ⅜ at 13½. Hard Rock Gold Mines, with property in the Little Long Lac area of northwestern Ontario, was brisk and ahead four cents at a new high at 40 cents. Newlund, Pickle Crow, Madsen and Chemical Research also advanced.

A handful of key industrials slid fractionally lower, continuing the declines of earlier in the week. Liquors eased and Massey-Harris backed down in agricultures. Papers tended slightly firmer and utilities were mixed.

Western oils encountered profit-taking on Thursday's gains. Foothills lost 15 cents at $3.70 and Pacific Petroleum were down five cents. Anglo-Canadian held against the trend for a gain of five cents at $4.25.

Waite Amulet attracted demand in base metals, gaining 25 cents at $9.20. Quemont slipped a fraction and Steep Rock and East Sullivan lost five cents.

Quebec Won't Release Film Board Movies

QUEBEC, Jan. 27 — (CP) — L'Evenement-Journal in a front page story today says that the Quebec Film Bureau has suspended distribution of National Film Board movies.

The newspaper says it has learned that the provincial government bureau is refusing all demands made for films.

The newspaper says that Alphonse Proulx, chief of film distribution for the Quebec bureau, stated that the National Film Board in Ottawa has not been advised of this government decision.

Joseph Beauregard, assistant regional director of the provincial body declared that the provincial film bureau has received no official notice to suspend distribution of the National Film Board pictures but that the Montreal branch had stopped distributing them.

Youths Admit House-breaking

Two Lindsay youths, Kenneth Hayes 17, and Norman Campbell 16, were placed on two years' suspended sentence after they pleaded guilty to charges of breaking, entry and theft before Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC,, in Police Court today.

Terms of the sentences were that they report to the Salvation Army officer in Lindsay at least once a month during the two years.

They broke into the home of Mrs. A. Bennett, Buckhorn, January 19 while the house was unoccupied. With an air rifle they broke several windows in the house and a rear shed.

Magistrate Philp asked the boys what they were doing in Buckhorn. One of them said they were "just anxious to get away from home," and went to visit an aunt of one of them in Buckhorn.

The only thing taken from the house was a ship model in a bottle. Major C. G. Everitt of the Salvation Army told the court from questioning the boys he learned they had not had a very good upbringing.

Cold Wave Has Ended Flood Threat

Butterflies, Crocuses Make Appearance, Fooled By Weather

By The Canadian Press

The weather pattern in Eastern Canada, butterflies one day and earmuffs the next, had Canadians guessing today. But no more so than had the deep freeze in the West.

In the East, the question was whether today's freezing temperatures would put a permanent end to the balmy freezes that have caused pussy willows to bud and crocuses to sprout. The weather Bureau predicted temperatures in the low 20s in southern Ontario and Quebec—but it wasn't making any long-range forecasts.

The weatherman threw up his hands over the West's prolonged sub-zero spell. The public weather office in Winnipeg Thursday night gave this synopsis of the situation: "From the Rockies to the Great Lakes Canadians are getting the deep freeze."

The colder air in Ontario ended the threat of flood damage from rivers swollen by warm rains.

Mild Spell Over

Ended, too, was the mild spell that brought out a few hardy golfers at Goderich, Thursday. Pussy willows and crocuses were reported at the village of Harrow in western Ontario — months ahead of schedule.

The butterfly was seen in Toronto, where the mercury hit 59 above Thursday. Nobody seems to know what's happened to it now that the temperature has dropped steadily. A low of 25 was expected today.

Flood waters caused damage. Hardest hit was North Bay, where the Chippewa Creek burst its banks while the city slept. Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused before the creek was dynamited and an ice blockade removed. Flood waters also took heavy toll at Stratford, Woodstock and Pickering.

The damper was put on mid-50 temperatures in Ottawa and Montreal when cold air and snowflurries moved in late Thursday. The mercury was expected to drop to 20 or 25 today.

Some 50 families wearily returned to their water-soaked homes near Montreal Thursday as the swollen St. Lawrence River receded.

Troops Crush Revolt In Java

By KENNETH LIKES

JAKARTA, USI, Jan. 27 (AP) —Indonesian federal troops, seeking to crush a West Java rebel movement, shot it out with an armed band of deserters from Dutch service in downtown Jakarta Thursday and hauled off two truckloads as prisoners.

Seven persons were killed and a number wounded, it was announced. A witness said five of the dead were federal soldiers; two were members of the rebel band.

Armored patrols rumbled through the main thoroughfares The curfew was advanced three hours, from 1 a.m. to 10 p.m. Dozens of sentries stood guard at the flood-lighted federal army headquarters behind newly erected sandbag fortifications and barbed wire.

The clash came as soldiers of this month-old state combed the capital for Indonesian deserters from the immobilized Royal Netherlands Indies Army suspected of throwing in with the guerrilla force of a tough former Dutch captain, R. P. (Turk) Westerling, a Canadian-trained Commando.

Mobile police officers reported the action was set off by an attack of the rebel band on a police post in the shopping district.

Police said the men wore the green caps and the red caps that distinguish Indonesian parachute troops and commandos in the service of the Netherlands, which gave Indonesia independence under the Dutch crown December 28.

Britain Trying Out Motel On U.S. Plan

PORTSMOUTH, Hampshire, England, Jan. 27 (CP) — The country's first "motel," designed on North American lines, is to be built at nearby Hayling.

Last autumn Undersecretary Cornelius Vanderbilt of the United States Department of Commerce told British travel authorities during a visit that a vast American tourist potential lies untapped because Britain has not motels.

Told that such roadside camping hotels for motorists could accommodate the travellers and their automobiles, feed and sleep the guests and service their vehicels, all at half the normal hotel and garage charges, British authorities sponsored the idea.

The Hayling project, now awaiting only formal approval from the Board of Trade and the ministry of works, is expected to be the first linking up the ports with tourist centres such as London, Stratford-on-Avon, Oxford and Cambridge.

Farmers Off Balance

The loss of a good part of the British market, the U.S. cut in E.R.P. buying in Canada, and the low prices which Britain is offering for some dairy and agricultural products have hit the farmers a staggering blow. Only the wheat farmer, protected by long-term contracts, does not seem to be reeling. Farmers may not be sufficiently adaptable in their methods, or they are less sensitive to straws in the wind than other industrialists; at any rate, judging from the cries of shocked distress now being raised, they have been taken by surprise—despite the auguries of a year ago. Save Canada's most important industry, protect the farmers, put floors under prices, subsidize. These are the demands, and undoubtedly the Government is going to heed them. It has done so already in cheese. No one, least of all any Government, wants to see farming decline. Further, the constituencies across Canada are so apportioned that the farmers still have a voting influence out of all proportion to their numbers.

• • •

Therefore cheese, eggs, beef and other agricultural products will be subsidized, either directly, or through "floor" prices, the government guaranteeing (as it has done in butter and potatoes) to buy if the free market price falls below the floor price. A floor price was put on eggs Thursday.

• • •

Farmers cool enough to take a long-range view may ask themselves if subsidy is the best policy. It sets a pattern of state patronage (and control) which may prove irksome later when prices rise and consumers want ceilings so as to check the rises—and farming profits. If the Government subsidizes the farming industry, why should it not on demand directly subsidize the automobile industry, the electrical industry, the farm implements industry? Is it healthy that agriculture should be subsidized? Certainly it oddly fits the individualism and free enterprise of most farmers.

• • •

In contrast with the mood and talk of such meetings as that at Port Perry last week, when 1,500 farmers from Ontario and Durham counties met to air their grievances and urge Government intervention, are the voices of such men as W. B. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner and Louis Bromfield, celebrated American author and farmer who spoke earlier in Toronto. Mr. Bromfield says that it is efficiency and science which are the remedies, not subsidies. He says that no one but a bad and inefficient farmer wanted subsidies, and thinks that a farmers who has to depend on subsidies is due to go out of business in a couple of decades. Is the method of subsidy analagous to the way some farmers used to grab at the ready money of road work instead of giving their time and all their thought to their farms? Some such farmers were building roads in summer, and the farms declined.

• • •

Mr. Watson thesis is that farming can pay well if the farmer is sufficiently keen about markets, and prepared to act like a business man and adapt his crops and farming methods as conditions change. He says, for instance, that a farmer now can make a dollar on a bushel of oats by feeding them to the hogs, and that poultry dealers have only to reduce their flocks ten per cent. in order to make them pay well again.

• • •

The farmer who putters around blindly [illegible] no more likely to make a success of his farm than a grocer who does not know when to buy, how to sell, and does not take periodic stock of his shelves and his margins of profit. Farming is many things, but it is most important as a business and a scientific process. Mr. Albert Seiling of Elmira, who spoke to local poultry men on Tuesday emphasized this when he talked in terms of breeders with 2,500 to 12,000 birds. Can the farmer not save himself, without resort to subsidies, as industry and business do by their careful assessment of futurities, and by their readiness to adopt the most efficient methods and newest mechanical and scientific aids? Farmers whose eyes are glued to agricultural pamphlets and market reports as often as to furrows seem to be the most successful.

Toot For Canadian Engines

Canada has been manufacturing railway locomotives for a hundred years. One firm, Canadian Locomotive Company of Kingston, [illegible] itself and its predecessors, spanned the whole manufacturing century. It has turned out more than 2,000 steam locomotives in the hundred years, and now, like the only other existing locomotive firm, Montreal Locomotive Works, is producing diesel engines, though still continuing with steam locomotives, especially for the export market.

It is the export market developed by the industry which is particularly interesting. Canadian-built locomotives are in operation all over the world. Since 1943 the Kingston plant has had orders for 340 steam locomotives for the Indian State Railways. The types now being built are large (276,000 pounds) and sleek.

An astounding method of shipment has been devised. These monsters for Calcutta are loaded, fully assembled and ready for operation, at Kingston on special depressed flat cars which take them to Montreal. There they are lifted off the flat cars by a huge gantry crane on wide tracks, and towed to the docks. Ship's cranes lift the locomotives to a special cargo ship. Montreal Locomotive Works has also a recently developed large export market, and ships to India, Belgium, France, Nigeria, Rhodesia, and Egypt. Both firms, of course, supply most of the locomotives for the C.N.R. and the C.P.R.

It is a great distance in time and engineering design from Grand Trunk No. 88, of 1856 (the first locomotive built in Kingston) to the C. N. R. 9,000, an experimental diesel-electric locomotive of two units, 1300 horse power each, built in 1929, and to the present plans for a huge three-section diesel-electric, now on the drawing boards of the Kingston company.

It is a tribute to the Canadian industry and native engineering skill, that not only are two of the greatest railways in the world serviced by Canadian engines, but also that railway companies on five continents order locomotives from Canada.

Gambling In Canada

Two Canadian churches and a group of movie operators are asking for a federal regulation which would prohibit bingo and other gambling games on the radio. The curious thing is that such a request should be necessary. We have always been under the impression that gambling of all kinds is very strictly regulated by both provincial and federal laws.

Nevertheless, gambling continues and it sometimes reaches large proportions. There is a great deal of racetrack betting in Ontario, from which the Government gets a certain degree of benefit—our contemporary the Kingston Whig-Standard crudely calls it "a straight rakeoff". But it is well understood that nothing a Government benefits from is really wrong, though it might be wrong for private persons. Bingo, however, has on several occasions been dropped on in Ontario, as have also car lotteries. The only trouble is, the provincial government does not seem to keep its enthusiasms for the suppression of gambling at white-heat.

We do not feel that gambling is necessarily an evil thing. In reason, and under honest circumstances it is a pleasant pursuit for those who like it. We take no stock in the notion that it rots the moral fibre because it encourages people to expect something for nothing; that expectation is deep in human nature and cannot be uprooted. We quite see, however, how commercial gambling can become a racket. Even sport tends to develop rackets when it becomes commercial. Anything which is rooted in hope and human credulity is open to abuse by crooks.

But, as we said before, the interesting thing to us about the appeal for a law against radio gambling is the evidence it supplies that the present laws against gambling are capriciously enforced.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The British Labour Party plans broadcasts to carry its appeal to the wavering middle class vote. But, as the Brantford Expositor observes, the middle class is completely sunk!

A contemporary observes that Queen Victoria was slow to approve of the emancipation of women. Well, after all, a queen occupies a fairly emancipated position, and she may not have noticed what was going on down below.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Although I have been in Peterborough a dozen years, I feel like a newcomer when the native-born start talking about old times and old families. For instance, what about the Halls? That family seems to have been in every enterprise since Adam was a pup.

ANSWER: Halls have been prominent in Peterborough since 1850. There were forty Hall families, most of them unrelated, in the district some years ago. There are half a dozen Hall families all important in the city, and strangely enough either not related at all, or only distantly. As far as I can untangle the Halls, here they are, very sketchily.

(1) Sheriff Hall. There have been three sheriffs Hall; father, son and grandson: James, James, and Mr. Fred Hall, now in retirement. Sheriff Fred Hall was succeeded after the first Great War (though the appointment was made at the outbreak) by the present Sheriff Harstone.

(2) R. R. Hall, a lawyer, and a very able one. He was at one time proprietor of The Examiner. He originated from Eldon township in Victoria County. His home was the present convent annex for music teaching and the like, on the west side of Reid Street, north of the Hamilton house. (It is between Brock and Murray Streets.)

(3) William John Hall, of Anglo-Irish family, who came to this district first in 1826, and later returned to retire at Buckhorn. He was engaged in saw milling and the lumber business. Buckhorn was called Hall's Bridge after him, and until very recently that was the Post Office designation of Buckhorn. He was a friend of Sir John A. Macdonald. He was married three times. A son William Hawkins Hall carried on similar pursuits to his father's. Mrs. W. J. Stacey (widow of a former principal of May's School) is a daughter of W. H. Hall. The eldest son of W. John, was George Barton Hall, who became county judge. Another son, and full brother of Judge Barton Hall, was John J. Hall (born in Brooklyn, but schooled in Peterborough) who for more than thirty years was successively Clerk of the Division Court and Inspector of Inland Revenue (Customs House). There are few surviving Halls of this family in Canada.

(4) Richard Hall, of Hall's Store. Mr. Richard Hall was one of three sons of John Hall, a stone mason in his early days (this takes the family a way back in the nineteenth century). This John Hall was a brother of William Hall, who was in partnership in Peterborough's first general store with Robert Nicholls, whose wife was Charlotte Jane Nicholls, Peterborough benefactress. This William Hall was a bachelor. The three sons of John Hall were William A., a farmer in Smith, Richard of the store (Hall and Innes, Hall and Gilchrist, Richard Hall's were the successive names of the store), and John Hall, also a farmer in Smith. The late Mr. Dickson Hall, son of Richard Hall, went into partnership with his father. Mrs. Dickson Hall still lives in Peterborough. A son is Crawford Hall, now of Toronto. This Hall family home is now the annex to the nurses' residence on Water Street at Argyle. Miss Edith Hall and Mrs. Edward Elliott are of this family.

Another brother of the original William Hall was Adam Hall.

(5) Adam Hall, a stove-manufacturing and foundry family. He was the second Adam Hall, son of the Adam a stonemason. This Adam's sons were William, Adam, Robert, Andrew and Thomas, all but Adam being farmers. The Adam Hall foundry was at the corner of Aylmer and Simcoe Streets. Their camp stoves and the like were known all over eastern Canada. Terry Hall, now of Toronto, belongs to this family.

(6) E. H. D. Hall, a prominent lawyer, whose son, Mr. Basil Hall, carries on the family practice. Major Pat Hall, of the Canadian Army, is a grandson.

If there are errors or cardinal omission in this catalogue, will kind readers please inform me? I shall, of course, be glad to have amplifying information.

ALPHA: Why are ordinary bricks red?

ANSWER: Because there is red iron oxide in the clay from which they are made.

◇ ◇ ◇

SIR: Some of us have been arguing about who was the greater soldier, Alexander or Montgomery. What do you say? We've a bet on which you will decide, so please don't be shy and say both, for in that case all of us lose and the money goes to A.A.

ANSWER: How can a person be definite in public on such a question, unless he is a real military expert and will venture a dogmatic opinion? Let your money go to A.A., where, I am sure, it will be put to good use. Both are (not were only) great soldiers, but in different ways. I believe Alexander to be the better strategist, Montgomery the better tactician on the field. I hazard a guess that it is due to no family whim or nostalgia for the Old Country (in Alexander's case, Ireland, his native land), that our Governor-General goes to Britain so frequently during his term of office here. As one of the great military figures in Britain's history, and among the greatest of contemporary soldiers, and a man who is still in his prime, his military knowledge and experience are too valuable not to be used during his five-year term here (which ends next year). I would guess that he is in pretty close and constant touch with the British War Office.

DEAR ALPHA: [illegible] bowling alley each night until 10:30. Obviously he is making little or no progress. Is there no law or regulation against such practice.

ANSWER: No. All you can do is to beat the parents over the head.

◇ ◇ ◇

SIR: I was reading in The Examiner last week an article reprinted from an American paper which was a plea for untaxed books. Surely books coming into Canada are untaxed? If they are taxed, is that not scandalous?

ANSWER: Books imported into Canada are taxed, with exceptions. The tax rate varies. There is no tax on Bibles (and no sales tax); similarly text books authorized by the Department of Education of any province are free from tariff and sales tax. Books on the curriculum of any university, college or school in Canada for use as text books (and including dictionaries and the like), also books for the shelves of public libraries are admitted into the country free. Likewise any books originating in New Zealand—a special, reciprocal arrangement. Embossed or grooved books for the blind are admitted free.

A book printed or manufactured more than twelve years comes in duty free. Books donated for charitable purposes are admitted free and no sales tax is extorted.

It is rather strange in this bilingual country that books, periodicals or pamphlets in any other language than English are admitted free. This seems to indicate that Quebec publishers of books in French have not the same strong influence with the government to get the special protection Canadian publishers of books in English (mostly Toronto firms) have.

Ordinary books for ordinary private use and sale—novels, works of fiction, or literature—are admitted free of duty from Commonwealth countries under the British preferential Tariff; from other countries duties are exacted ranging from ten to 25 per cent. of the price.

◇ ◇ ◇

FOR THE RECORD: The unusually mild winter—for instance, the high temperature on Wednesday was 55, the lowest Wednesday night, 44—has not brought to my ears the song of robins, to my eyes crocuses, sprouting roses or greening grass. Would readers noticing any similar unseasonal indications please drop me a line about them, so that I may publish the oddities abroad?

Letters To The Editor

STOP AT LANSDOWNE

Sir: I wish to add my whole-hearted support to the very urgent suggestion put forth by J.H.M. in your column of January 24. In fact, I have been wondering for some time how such a necessary, yet inexpensive, improvement could have been overlooked in the present intensive campaign to improve our city.

The corner at Park and Lansdowne is, in my opinion, a definite hazard for pedestrians too,—especially during the rush hour with so many factories in the vicinity. The constant stream of traffic on the "through" highway allows very little opportunity for vehicles from Park Street to keep moving, and in this continuous cross-current from four directions what provision has been made for those on foot? I have often waited 15 to 20 minutes before I considered the crossing safe enough to set an example to my children; and, even yet, I will not allow my daughter (who has attended school for three years) to attempt that intersection alone.

A further annoyance is, that invariably the view is completely blocked by large trucks and other vehicles lining the curbstones, which necessitates several false starts out to the lane of traffic itself to ascertain if the way is clear.

Yes, I agree that the installation of a stop light at this corner is essential to the safety of life and limb, and I hope the matter will be seriously investigated, and acted upon, before the city coffers are drained dry for 1950! Yours truly,

A PEDESTRIAN.

CITY HALL SHOWS ARRESTED DEVELOPMENT

Sir: It seems pointless, now that the die is cast, to even express an opinion on the new City Hall. Coming from an absolute novice in the realms of architecture it would be based purely on personal reaction to the external appearance, and would not presume to have a bearing on the efficiency of the building itself. However, that is the way most of us will view it for many years to come, and a city survey on the impressions of the man-in-the-street should prove highly interesting, judging by the frequent comments overheard in public highways and byways.

It struck me, upon first observing the submitted sketches, that a definite effort was being made to preserve good old George Street in all it's antiquated glory, and is certainly in keeping with the present 19th century stage effect. Of course, this could very easily be a ruse to fall in with the nation-wide scheme of bringing tourist dollars to Canada at any cost to our own sense of fitness, so the Council should be highly commended on their far-sightedness in seeing the pictorial value of their building on a glorified post card to send home to the folks. How quaint! Yes—"how"? a suggested added feature could be a Honeymoon Hotel in the offing, complete with wrought-iron balconies, where pre-modern grandma and grandpa could recapture their youth in the proper setting. Can science reproduce tall and ancient elms to shade the walks, and soften the blow? Additional landscaping should be the careful planting of one or two smoke-begrimed factories to hasten the mellowing of this raw and glaring replica, and to further the illusion that this, my dears, is the original Peterborough. I do hope provision has been made for a pigeon sanctuary somewhere in all that amazing mess of headgear!

All in all, the final choice is quite representative of the reluctance of Peterborough's old school to accept the fact that this city is mushrooming into an ever-increasing metropolis, despite their discouraging efforts to keep it within limited boundaries. To the population as a whole, that building will stand out as a permanent indictment against our aversion to change, and our unwillingness to accept the decided beauty and simplicity of line, as well as functional improvement, offered to us by advanced modern architecture. An obvious sign of arrested development if there ever was one.

However, it is no use crying over spilt milk, and, fortunately, some of our preferences are being reflected in other buildings throughout the city. After all, we did elect the council to represent us, didn't we?

"NEWCOMER".

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when Jesus passed over again by ship unto the other side, much people gathered unto him: and he was nigh unto the sea. And, behold, there cometh one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name; and when he saw him, he fell at his feet, and besought him greatly, saying, My little daughter lieth at the point of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be healed; and she shall live....

And he cometh to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and seeth the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly. And when he was come in, he saith unto them, Why make ye this ado, and weep? the damsel is not dead, but sleepeth. And they laughed him to scorn. But when he had put them all out, he taketh the father and the mother of the damsel, and them that were with him, and entereth in where the damsel was lying.

And he took he damsel by the hand, and said unto her, Talitha cumi; which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say unto thee, arise. And straightway the damsel arose, and walked; for she was of the age of twelve years. And they were astonished with a great astonishment. (Mark 5: 21-23, 38-42.)

Men's Clothes

Men have pretty well stopped demanding anything when it comes to the clothes they buy. Instead, the trend is to accept almost anything rather than make a scene, putting down the foot and demanding what they want. The decay of the vest is but part of the story of male surrender to demand, originating no one knows where, that men should dress more and more as if they expected to hide behind a potted palm.

Few people now living can remember when the soldiers wore red jackets. The trend toward self-effacement in men's clothes started about the same time that khaki took its place. In the course of a lifetime men have faded from fine birds with variegated plumage down to sober suits of brown and gray.

And now no vest. A vest is not needed any more, what with steam-heated buildings, heated cars, and an artificially warmed existence that is now the rule at all seasons. The chances of survival of the vest are not good, and its gradual disappearance and final extinction seem inevitable.

Ontario Farmers Showed Resource Of Leadership In Demand For Egg Price Cushion — Holstein Breeders Get Special Rate For Convention In Toronto, Wed., Feb. 1 — Victoria Townships Plan Warble Fly Campaign — Folk School Memories.

The experience of Ontario farmers in their Federation of Agriculture during the last 12 years appears to have been a training ground in vocal leadership for just such an emergency as the recent collapse of the export egg market.

Local meetings across the province since Christmas have disclosed a force and fluency of expression as reported in various newspapers that suggested more than the inspiration of the occasion and its necessity. There was also in the form of their separate petitions a common quality of clear and concise drafting that indicated an influence of schooling in organization.

That is an asset farmers have been acquiring in all the branches of their Federation and in the commodity groups associated with it. Their meetings give evidence of that gain in ability and confidence, in the method of summarizing their case, apart from their sense of unity and its advantage in action.

They seem to be well equipped with capable advocates of their cause from within their o n ranks, and with a disposition of reasonable approach to a problem as its affects themselves and other groups of the community. The bitter taste of the threatened omelette was in the shift to farmers of an economic loss which was benefitting so many other people.

The prospect today is that egg producers will get 30 to 32 cents a dozen at grading stations instead of 24 cents, and that eggs bought at fire-sale prices are not to be stored for later unloading on the market.

Government postwar financial settlements with other industries, and the flaunting of labor demand for higher wages above a scale already at a new all-time national peak, forced farmers to asesrt themselves in the face of heavy capital and income losses to themselves. That lopsided turn of economic event touched off the resentment of disparity that has long been an irritant in their organized thinking.

Farmers have been asking for a temporary cushion, not permanent supports, at least until the market for their product shakes down to something like normal level and conditions of business.

In this recent egg price crisis, Ontario farmers, strongest unit in the Canadian Federation, have learned that they had to get up and speak for themselves. The interesting observation is that they were fully competent to do the job reasonably and well in spite of the heat of their agitation.

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

To all those who contributed to the success of the first Folk School in Peterborough district warm appreciation is extended by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stewart and by the Coldsprings and Stewart Hall Forums. The school was an experience which made a deep impression upon those who took part in it.

500 FARMERS AT FINCH

W. J. Major, M.P. for Glengarry said at Finch last Monday that an omelette in a railway dining car meal recently cost him the price of nine dozen eggs sold at his farm.

This protest meeting 35 miles from Ottawa was attended by 500 farmers from Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry counties.

Their resolutions asked the government for 30 cent cheese FOB the factory; price support for eggs sufficient to ensure cost of production for at least a year; price support for all farm products until the leveling of all prices gives farmers a parity of income with other members of society; a floor price on hogs equivalent to the price prevailing in 1949.

They also appealed to the government to maintain support prices for farm commodities commensurate with the cost of production at all times. This resolution was drafted by war veterans.

Finally they proposed that "an international agency and fund be established through which exporting countries could sell surpluses after paying a fair price to producers and importing countries would buy at whatever they could pay, the difference between the prices to be made up by the fund."

The meeting also requested the Ontario government to restore the hog subsidy at once.

Present price objectives of the eastern farmers is 30c a pound for hogs at the abbatoir; egg prices the same as in the last egg contract; butter 58c and cheese 30c. They request that the Price Support Act be extended beyond the end of March, and that the prices it covers be reviewed six months before the end of every year.

The Finch meeting was a resounding echo of the remonstrance of the western Ontario farmers at Palmerston several weeks ago.

Alvin Rintoul, Carleton Place, vice-president of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, said he was selling hogs at $9 less than in 1949. In contrast it was emphasized that Ottawa plumbers were on strike for $1.85 an hour.

And in further contrast, Chas. McInnis of Iroquois, president of the Ontario Hog Producers, said: "We have suggested 75c an hour. Labor would call that starvation wages."

"Producers at the moment are mad at the government," said Wm. Legault, Moose Creek. "Next year the consumers will be mad in turn when producers have gone out of poultry."

Apprehension at Finch and elsewhere is felt by egg producers that cold storage plants may be filling up with cheap eggs that would be unloaded on the market when prices have stiffened.

✦ ✦ ✦

FARMERS AT MITCHELL

Perth County farmers at Mitchell a week ago, another Western Ontario meeting, called on the Dominion Government for subsidies to cover cost of production. They unanimously endorsed a resolution requesting provincial and Federal government action to implement legislation enabling farmers to market their own products.

The meeting approved a motion for an increased levy of five dollars on Perth farmers to support their county Federation.

J. N. Corry, MP, said that farmers should undertake some united action to specify British-made goods when buying manufactured articles. It was in their own interests as a means of providing dollar credit in Britain.

Mr. Corry warned that "if we are going to insist on floor prices we must be prepared to submit to some kind of production control."

Dr. Elwood Roe, Atwood hatchery owner, advised that Canadian poultry men must still look to the United Kingdom as their greatest potential export market. The United States don't need us and don't want us. The surplus market is the UK. If a solution to the dollars problem can be found, that will be the solution to our producers' problem."

✦ ✦ ✦

DISHING IT OUT

Here is an enviably frank comment in the London Free Press on a meeting of concentrated milk producers in that section of the province. "The members ought to be ashamed of themselves. The attendance was scarcely worth mentioning. Certainly with current problems facing the industy it would seem to be the logical time for members to get the facts as they were made available at their annual meeting." The provincial president Frank Way, referring to the three-cent cheese subsidy, said Canadian cheese carried a ten-cent consumer subsidy when it is sold to the British consumer. He strongly advised that the four branches of the dairy industry should get together in one group to find any solution to dairy problems.

IMPRESSED BY FOLK SCHOOL

On the recent Folk School at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stewart, Otonabee, Wm. Ritchie, of Co-Op Services writes that its community value could not be appraised in dollars and cents.

"Nor could it judged by the number who participated in this experiment, for it looked rather discouraging in the early registration.

To the faith and efforts of a few people credit must be given for something that cannot be measured materially. To those who heard Mr. John Madsen of Unionville, Ont., a practical and successful Dane, not only in Denmark but also in Canada, his story of the struggles and failures and successes of the Danish Folk Schools was a vital, living reality."

Mr. Madsen said Canada was entering a 'golden age' just as certainly as was the golden age of Denmark more than 100 years ago.

"Of this there was little doubt in those who were fortunate in hearing Mr. Madsen's challenging story . . . Credit for the first Folk School in this district should be given to the people of Stewart Hall and Coldsprings Farm Forums, and others in the rural district of Peterborough who took time out of their busy lives to assist in organizing and conducting the School."

TO ASSIST EXECUTIVE

W. W. Dawson of Otonabee; Alex Davidson, Agincourt; and W. J. Schneller, Waterloo, were appointed from the directorate of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association to sit in with the executive on matters pressing for discussion and action during the summer. Mr. Dawson was chosen to represent Hastings, Northumberland and Peterborough counties. Grassland Days to receive support of the Ontario Department of Agriculture were allocated to Gray, Haldimand and Frontenac. There will also be one Wheatland Day in Middlesex.

WARBLE FLY CAMPAIGN

Leroy Brown, agricultural representative in Victoria, he begun a preliminary survey for a campaign against the warble fly in five of the southern townships in that county.

Spraying was carried on in Fenelon township last year. The present survey is under way among the farmers of Eldon, Mariposa, Ops, Emily and Verulam townships. If two-thirds signify their approval of the work, it will be sanctioned by bylaw of the townships who give the required assent. The surveys should be completed in time for the February meetings of the councils. Spraying for warbles should be done around the last week of March and first week of April. Two applications should be made, and preferably three

SUPPORTS MARKETING BOARD

Of interest in the field of farm marketing boards in Canada was the recent dismissal by the Supreme court of Ontario, of the attempt of an Ontario canning company to prevent the Ontario Farm Marketing Board to act in the interests of a group of vegetable growers in a dispute between the growers and the company which arose out of the action of the company in attempting to cancel out a contract previously made with the growers.

The decision upheld the farm marketing board in its efforts to investigate the actions of the canning company in the interests of the producers, the court declaring the marketing board had full power under its legislative authority to act on behalf of the growers in this way. The trouble arose due to over-contracting by the company, and its efforts to settle with each individual grower rather than with the marketing board on behalf of all the growers.

CANADIAN FEDERATION

Public sessions of the convention of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture at Niagara Falls, Ont. will be Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

The Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, is expected to speak at the afternoon session Jan. 31. Two other speakers will be Prof. Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard University, an expert on farm marketing and economic problems; and Andrew Cairns of IFAP, Washington, D. C. Both are former Canadians.

H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation, is also president of the international farmers' organization, IFAP, this year.

The program indicates that special attention will be directed to the situation in prices of agricultural products.

✦ ✦ ✦

H. H. HANNAM'S PLEA

Pleading the case of the farmer and his adequate income in this period of shuffling of prices of agricultural products, Herb H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said recently:

"There is no question of the prosperity of industry and labor The Bank of Canada report shows that 663 leading Canadian companies had a return of approximately 14% on their net worth during 1948, and it is expected that the figure for 1949 will equally good or better. Net income to shareholders from these companies was 571 million dollars for 1948, practically double their average net income for the years 1941-45.

A recent report of the Dominion bureau of statistics indicates that the average weekly pay rate in eight major industrial groups—not including farming—was at an all time peak of $43.78.

Prompt action should be taken by our government to prevent a collapse in our agricultural industry. It has the authority under the prices support act, and it has the funds voted in 1944."

Yukon Eric Beats Samara To Gain Crack At Whipper

Yukon Eric won himself the doubtful honor of having to meet Whipper Billy Watson here next week when he defeated Seelie Samara in the main pro mat bout at the Brock Arena last night. A big crowd saw a fine three-bout card, and it was announced at the start that the main bout winner would meet Watson before the latter leaves on a six-week tour of Western Canada the end of next week.

The main go was put on in the second spot last night as Yukon Eric had to catch a plane late in the night for a bout in St. Louis tonight. He scaled 272 pounds against 245 for Seelie, but the latter took the first bout in 12 minutes with two head butts—one from outside the ropes—in a clean, hard scrap. Both huskies played it clean, and it was a case of a fast, scientific grappler in against a heavier and much stronger one. Eric shed all Seelie's tricks and lifted him over the ropes and back again casually to the crowd's delight, while Referee Ernie Powers had an easy time of it.

The Back-Breaker

Eric won the second fall in slightly less than 11 minutes with his shoulder back-breaker hold after two slams and a toss into the ropes to bounce the colored chap hard off that big chest. That slowed Samara up and he was a setup for the fall, though earlier he had made a hot tussle of it, despite a hard toe-hold by Eric. The huge Alaskan was more popular but Seelie also had his supporters, and he played it cleanly, too. His mixture of grips and speed prolonged the bout, but he couldn't really hurt the powerful lumberjack.

The end came suddenly in three minutes when the bout was awarded to Eric as Seelie lay sprawled with a badly strained shoulder—thought at first to be dislocated. He was partly thrown and he partly ran into the corner turnbuckles, trying a flying tackle off the ropes after a mixup in the centre of the ring. But Seelie hit the corner instead of further out, and he went down hard, twisting on the injured shoulder. The referee waved Yukon Eric back and checked carefully, finally awarding the fall. Earlier Seelie had twice tossed Eric, once picking him up as he came off the ropes and slamming him, but he couldn't keep the husky down. The final fall wasn't too satisfactory.

Nifty Struggle

Pat Flanagan, 230, and 232-pound Steve Stanlee, staged a swell opening bout, which went to the time limit as a draw. Steve came out of it with several swelled fingers and Pat later limped with a groin injury. The latter proved more popular toward the end as Stanlee started to rough it up plenty, with Pat doing a bit of hard stuff himself. It was a fast crowd-pleasing tilt that was packed with open action, including Steve's airplane spin after catching the speed Flanagan coming off the ropes.

Jim (Goon) Henry, 270 pounds of rough stuff, won the other bout over 230-pound Toar Morgan in 19 minutes by throwing Toar into the corner ropes with a hammerlock several times and then slamming him hard to the mat. It wasn't a popular fall as the big Goon played it extra rough throughout. He had trouble at times, too, when the scrappy Toar came back to slam him about the ring and throw fists and elbows, but weight and villainy finally paid off for Henry. For a time it looked like Toar might take it as he had Jim groggy with quick flying tackles off the ropes, but the cagey Goon caught him once with a knee, and then it was just a matter of time. Henry gave referee Powers a busy time of it in this struggle.

Late Arrivals Waste No Time

AUCKLAND, N.Z., Jan. 27 (CP)—The late arrivals on Canada's Empire Games team buckled down to strenuous training today to make up for lost time.

Team manager Jack Davies said they'll work through the week-end without letup in their preps for the games which are only eight days away. Davies said some of the athletes looked "worn and wan" on their arrival last night.

The second division, comprising 35 athletes and officials, was delayed five days by bad weather in the flight from Vancouver.

But despite Davies' fears all the new arrivals appeared in tip-top shape as they went through training paces this morning.

After watching the other team in action here, Davies thinks the Canadian squad has an excellent chance of winning their share of titles in the big meet. Canadian training methods and technique, patterned on the United States style, generally are superior in comparison with other squads, he thought.

Unknown Horse Clips Citation

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 27 (AP) Citation, for only the third time in 31 starts, has come off the turf second best. Citation's return was marred Thursday by Miche, an unheralded little grey horse, from the Argentine.

The small one, ignoring the greatness of his rival, outgamed Citation and whipped him by a neck in a six-furlong thriller at Santa Anita Park.

The race was Citation's second trip to the post after a 13-month layoff due to leg injury, and it was a tune-up for the Calumet cannonball for the $50,000 San Antonio handicap Feb. 11 and the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 25.

It was a full scale race for Miche, however, as he took Citation's measure in 1:10 4-5. The winner paid $30.20. Citation was 1 to 4.

The distance favored Miche, a sprinter, and his 114-pound weight assignment couldn't be compared to Citation's 130-pound package.

Trinity And Grove Fight To 3-3 Tie

PORT HOPE, Jan. 27 — In the Prep School Conference hockey opener Trinity College School and the Grove fought to a 3-3 deadlock. Bill Hinder led the TCS with two goals, while Wilkes and Clarke sparked the Grove.

Both teams played conservatively through the opening period which resulted in no scoring. Hinder started the scoring early in the second period on a pass from Cook, but Arnoldi of the Groves evened the count on a breakaway pass from Burns shortly after. Little tallied for TCS on Emery's pass, but once again Lakefield knotted the score as Wilkes scored from Clarke.

Action slowed down in the third period as both teams lost their edge. The Grove went ahead when Wilkes tallied from Clarke. Hinder netted his second goal from Church to finish the scoring.

Praying For Snow

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., (Jan. 27 (AP)—With one eye on the bare ground and another on the sky which hints of welcome snow, top officials of the Federation Nationale De Ski are wondering about the world ski championships scheduled to open here on Monday. The jumping events will be held on Intervale Hill as scheduled, with artificial ice if necessary. But the slopes are bare for the cross-country events.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Hoop action by the girls on two fronts this evening. Cobourg colleens play the junior and senior PCVS lasses at 6.30 and 7.30 in the Collegiate gym, group fixtures. At the YWCA, Black's meet Neill's at 8.15, followed by Normals against Nurses Srs. in loop contests. St. Peter's are at Port Hope and PCVS boys go to Lindsay tonight in junior "B" scheduled games, while the senior PCI-ers trek to the Scugog centre, also. Outboard Marines are in Toronto to tackle West End "Y" in a return exhibition tussle, and two City League jousts are billed for Saturday eve in the YMCA. A fullish week-end for local basketeers.

Those touring OLA seniors from around St. Kitts and Hamilton who play winters across the line are doing pretty good financially. So it sounds from this item in the St. Catharines paper: "Since hockey and modern sport is what it is, who can blame the boys for indulging in the winter boxla loop around Rochester way, since big crowds enable the sponsors to pay off properly and $25 to $50 a game is not to be sneezed at? Or, for a touted star, the payoff can run as high as $75, as to Bill Isaacs. They tell of the elusive redskin going over and enjoying a big night with half a dozen goals. When he stepped on the floor he saw the rival goalie was Doug Favell of this city, who netminded for Isaacs and Tigers in '49."

Finding A New Loop

It is expected that both the Petes and Oshawa, top two COBL clubs last year, will be accepted into the Toronto Viaduct League for 1950 senior baseball. The acceptance may have occurred at a meeting last p.m. If this is done, a COBL intermediate setup may comprise Belleville, Batawa, Picton, Trenton and Napanee. Other Toronto teams likely in the Viaduct League are New Toronto Fords, the Uniques, and Pete Hastings' Bruins. According to Bunny Morganson in the Tely, Hugh McLean will probably go in as president. But we'll get the straight dope on the circuit in a day or two. The Petes want in the loop, provided they get lights in Riverside Park.

Only one of the prize donors and none of the prospective racers has informed us so far that Babe Fontaine's proposal of puckists skating against time was okay. We don't know the feeling of the others, but then we're not worrying. Fred Scates comes up with this suggestion: "Unless the Petes are ordered to play in Gananoque on Feb. 1, both local senior teams are idle. If the sponsors of the race agree, let the boys race at the junior game that night, Kingston vs. Oddfellows." Well, now, that's a thought, too, huh?

* * * * * *

Oshawa And IOOF-ers

Oshawa plays the local Oddfellows at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA junior "B" fixture. These appear to be the best two "B" squads in the grouping and they'll be playing for keeps this time. The IOOF-ers have been going swell all season, though they were a bit off in the Motor City last start to lose out. They should be back in form this e'en and we think they'll pick up the marbles. Though not before some slambang typical junior hockey is dished up for 60 exciting minutes. No fooling, the husky juniors serve up more action in a period than most senior "B" clubs do in three. It deserves a big Friday night crowd.

Powerful Yukon Eric last eve beat Seelie Samara — though it was a rather unsatisfactory finish—to earn a crack at Whipper Bill Watson here next week in the main pro grapple bout. These two, mat fans, haven't met in Toronto as yet, though such a bout is building up and will take place likely after the champ returns from a western tour. And it'll pack in some 12,000 fans into Maple Leaf Gardens. So, we're getting a preview. Eric is quite a character, a 272-pound tough hombre who beats most of his experienced competitors handily, though Seelie had tough luck last eve in nearly dislocating a shoulder in a dash into the ring turnbuckles. A swell scrap. Henry took Morgan in one bout and the opener between Flanagan and Stanlee went to a draw in a good all-around show before a real big crowd.

Freddie's manager, Ted Broadribb, said at London Thursday a surgeon has taken five pieces of splintered bone from Mills' jaw and made several stitches in his torn gums. Mills was ordered to stay indoors for several days.

Hogan, Demaret Renew Battle

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 27 (AP)—Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret renew their Phoenix golf battle today with a fellow named Johnny Palmer given a good chance of fooling them both.

The opening round in the $10,000 Ben Hogan open tournament went to Jimmy Thursday by a single stroke as he tied the competitive course record with a 64. He also dropped the first hole in one of his competitive career, as his high No. 3 shot on the 13th hole rolled into the cup.

Demaret had left the clubhouse when Hogan finished with a 65 to tie Palmer in second place Ben, who said his putting was "the best I've done in my life," stroked a 30-foot putt into the hole to score an eagle three on the long, par-five 18th hole.

Hawks Plaster 5-1 Win On Bruins In Chicago

By HARRY ECCLES.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

With the teams hovering on the two-thirds mark of the long National Hockey League schedule, you can't put the whammy on two clubs and say they're likely to miss the playoffs. Chicago Black Hawks showed Thursday night that they're not ready to be counted out yet.

The tail-end Hawks plastered a 5-1 defeat on the fifth place Boston Bruins in a fighting game at Chicago. The league leading Detroit Red Wings were held to a 1-1 tie by the Montreal Canadiens.

Detroit retains a 10-point margin over Montreal, with Toronto holding third place. But the fourth place New York Rangers are only a point ahead of Boston and the Bruins have only three points over Chicago. And anything can happen before the final league games of March 26 send two clubs into the discard.

Keep Lead

Only 10,706 fans turned out at Chicago to see the Hawks on top throughout. Gaye Stewart, Doug Bentley, Bep Guidolin, Jim Conacher and Jim Nattrass were the Hawk goal getters, while Paul Ronty spoiled a shut-out for Hawk goalie Frank Brimsek. The Hawks had scored four goals before Ronty broke the whitewash late in the second period.

Bill Quackenbush, veteran defenceman with the Bruins, served his first penalty in 138 consecutive games, including his entire season's stint with Detroit last season when he won the Lady Byng Trophy for sportsmanship. Thursday night he was called for tripping Jim Conacher at 8.58 of the final period.

At the Montreal Forum Canadiens scored first with Floyd Curry's unaided goal in the second period. Gordie Howe tied it in the final frame after taking a forward pass from Red Kelly.

Canadian Curlers Get High Score

DUNFERMLINE, Scotland, Jan. 27 (CP)—Canadian curlers chalked up the highest score of their Scottish tour Thursday when the A team defeated West of Fife Province 181-92. But for the second straight day the Canucks had to settle for a split, the B team losing 128-107 to Ayrshire Province in another friendly match at Ayr.

A. J. Parkhill and E. Louis Beaton, Ottawa, Walter B. Cowan, Toronto, Fred Gerrard, Oshawa, were winning rinks on the A squad.

Northern Ontario winners on the same squad were C. E. McEwan, Port Arthur, A. F. McDowell, Timmins, Sam Rothschild, Sudbury, William Somerville, Pamour.

Winning rinks on the B squad today included (skips listed first)

Royal Caledonian Curling Club—Percy H. Skitch, Lindsay; Corlis G. Keyes, Ottawa, B. J. Moore and A. McCracken, Montreal.

Norman Ralston, of Saint John, N. B., the B team's captain, endeared himself to Ayrshire folk Thursday by entertaining Gavin Stratherd, 75-year-old blind farmer, at lunch between games. Stratherd, a noted curler before his sight failed, has been following the matches by sound.

He was overjoyed by the gift of a much-coveted Canadian curlers badge.

Ramblers Take Bisons To Town In 5-3 Win

By The Canadian Press.

New Haven Ramblers are moving ahead in the American Hockey League at the expense of the eastern and western division leaders.

Thursday night the Ramblers took Buffalo Bisons, head of the eastern section, into camp 5-3. And in their previous game turned back Cleveland Barons, leaders in the western loop.

The victory, fourth straight for the Ramblers moved them into third place in the eastern division one point ahead of Springfield who lost 4-3 to Indianapolis Capitals in the only other game played last night.

Lop $50,000 Off Maryland Preakness

BALTIMORE, Jan. 27 (AP) — Value of the 74th Preakness to be run May 20 at Pimlico will be reduced to $50,000, the Maryland Jockey Club announced today.

The club lopped $25,000 from its contribution to the purse for the second straight year. The Kentucky Derby thus is the only one of the three classics for three-year-olds to retain the $100,000 value reached during the war.

The Belmont dropped its added value to $75,000 along with the Preakness last year and will offer the same amount this year.

Business Tries For Clarity In Statements

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Many business houses are making great efforts today to make their reports simple enough to be understood by the average person.

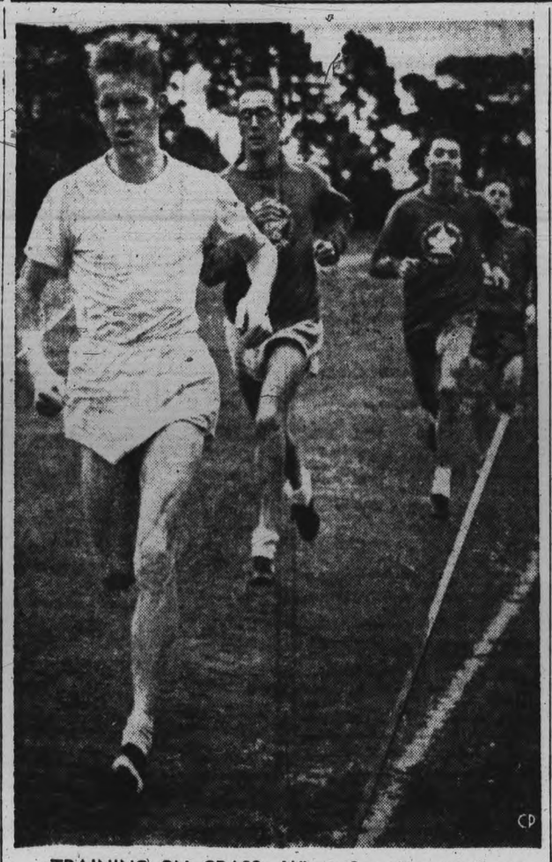
Most of the progress in this has been made in recent years. However, the problem was recognized in nCanada at least 100 years ago, for we find this quotation in the introduction to the report and proceedings of the third annual general meeting of the Canada Life Assurance Company, dated August 6, 1850:

"In the publication of the accompanying report and statements, the directors have been most anxious to render them as clear as possible, so that although a party may be ignorant of the mathematical process which governs all life assurance calculations, he may nevertheless be enabled to form a correct opinion as to the present position and the future prospects of the company."

Canada Life apparently tries to follow this early precept, for its current annual report is illustrated with "At-glance" graphs and figures to show where the company stands, and where the policyholder stands.

One Grim Side

There is one grim bit, an analysis of death claims. These show that 40.5 per cent of policyholders who died in 1949 died from heart disease, while other circulatory diseases accounted for another 14.4 per cent of deaths. Additional causes were cancer 15.6 per cent, respiratory 8.6, digestives 7.3, and "other causes" 13.6.



On the brighter side, more than 60 per cent of the $25,600,000 paid out, was paid to living policyholders.

The report shows where the company gets its money and where it goes. Of each income dollar in 1949, 76 3-5 cents came from policyholders and 23 2-5 cents from investments.

It was used as follows: 84 3-5 cents for payments to policyholders and beneficiaries in 1949 and subsequent years; 13 2-5 cents for operating expenses; 1 3-5 cents for taxes; and 2-5 of a cent for shareholders.

AUSTRALIAN INDUSTRY

It was not until 1865 that sugar was commercially produced from Australian-grown cane.

TRAINING ON GRASS—When Canadian track men compete in the British Empire games in New Zealand in February, they will be running on grass instead of cinders. To get the feel of a grass track, they are training at Papakura Military Camp near Ardmore, NZ. William Parnell of Vancouver is shown leading the way for Ezra Henniger of Vancouver and John Hutchins of North Vancouver. The fourth man was not identified.

Won Father's $250,000 Ranch In Poker Game At 12 Years-Hart

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27 (AP)—Bill Hart says that at the age of 12 he won a $250,000 ranch from his father in a poker game.

"It was in 1934 when I was 12 and Dad set out to teach me to play draw poker," he testified yesterday in suit for share in the $1,000,000 estate of his father William S. Hart, the cowboy actor.

"He explained the rules, then dealt the cards and asked what I wanted to draw.

"I said I'd stand pat, but he shook his head and said, 'You're supposed to draw, son.' When I wouldn't draw he said:

"'I'm going to teach you a lesson. Go ahead and bet'."

Young Hart said he bet his stamp collection and finally his coin collection. Finally his father said:

"Tell you what, I'll bet you the whole ranch if you'll throw in your Scotty dog, Penny."

"So I called him with the dog," Hart said, "and dad laid down two pair, 7's and 10's. But I had a full house—three jacks and two deuces.

"Dad shouted: 'You win. But you'd have the ranch anyway after I'm gone, so I guess it doesn't matter'."

The late cowboy actor willed most of his estate, including the ranch, to the county for a public park.

Communist Programs

LONDON, Jan. 27 — (AP) — Lord Craigavon charged Thursday nigh that communists on the BBC staff are introducing programs "tending to foster discontent and class hatred and pave the way for communism." Lord Craigavon is president of the non-official BBC Listeners Association which at its annual meeting hit chiefly at BBC's decision to give communists radio time for an election broadcast.

5 Jump To Safety

LONDON, Jan. 27—(Reuters)—Five men jumped to safety when the 200-ton Netherlands motor vessel Delta sank in the Thames near the heart of the City of London early today, after a collision with the 1,495-ton British collier Colonel Crompton. Darkness and fog shrouded the river at the time of the collision, which took place near Tower Bridge. The five—four Netherlanders and British pilot—leaped at the last moment on to the launch which had just brought the pilot out to he Dela.

One More Try

Barney McCosky, baseball's forgotten man, mailed in his signed contract to Philadelphia Athletics Thursday and announced he's going to give baseball one more try.

The 31-year-old outfielder, who built up a .320 lifetime average with Detroit Tigers and the Athletics, missed the entire 1949 season, suffering a back ailment.

He told Earle Mack, assistant manager of the A's that he has undergone extensive surgery to get back in playing shape and that he'll be ready to head south for spring training March 1.

McCosky wrote that he underwent a three-hour operation last month to "relieve pressure on a pinched nerve at the base of the spine."

He came to the A's in 1946 in a swap that sent third baseman George Kell to the Detroit Tigers. Kell won the league batting title last year.

Decision Pends In Test Case Of Work Hours

Magistrate W. R. Philip KC reserved judgement Thursday in the trial against Hugh J. Davis, proprietor of Capitol Taxi, charged with permitting an employee, Wilf Gedge, 548 McKellar St., to work more than 48 hours a week between Aug. 1 and Dec. 10.

Only once before has there been a prosecution under the working hours section of the Hours of Work and Vacations with Pay Act of 1944. The charge is regarded by the Ontario Department of Labor as a test case for the Act.

Davis was charged with four offences, all similar, involving four of his taxi drivers. One charge was dismissed more than a week ago. Since then the remaining charges were withdrawn and slightly amended charges laid.

Department of Labor Inspector Ronald Bradley testified he visited Davis several times informing him what the regulations were and telling him he would have to cut down the hours of work of his employees.

Seized Records

He said Dec. 10 he seized the taxi company's records of the hours its employees worked. The prosecution submitted a form which was signed by Davis stating that his employees worked two 12-hours shifts. The employees themselves changed the shifts to make the day shift 11 hours and the night shift 13 hours. The statement also reported that Davis said he could not stay in business if his employees worked three eight-hours shifts.

Gedge, called as a crown witness, said his average daily hours of work had been 12 hours a day, six days a week in August and in December. He said there were often times when he was not out on a call, but sitting in the office waiting.

He said he assumed he was not allowed to leave the office when he was not driving, but felt it was his duty to stay in the office.

He said he had been hired by a foreman, from whom he took directions, but was paid by Davis. He added that he was agreeable to the working hours and conditions.

The records taken from Davis' office indicated that from August 1 to Dec. 10 Gedge worked a total of 647¾ hours overtime.

Regulation under the Hours of Work and Vacations with Pay Act give taxi drivers special permission to work 100 overtime hours a year.

Defence Asks Proof

T. J. Carley, KC, defence counsel, argued that there had been no evidence presented to show that Davis even knew that Gedge was working for him and such knowledge was necessary for him to be charged with "permitting" Gedge to work excessive hours.

He added that there was nothing in the act to prevent an employer putting a man down for more hours than the man had actually worked and paying him for all the hours indicated in the records.

He said that it was up to the prosecution to prove that there had been a violation each and been a violation each and every day as the charge implied because it was a continuing offence.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw argued that the act of employeeing a man and paying him implied the employer had knowledge of the man working for him and what hours he was working.

Ask One-Cent Boost

HALIFAX, Jan. 27 (CP)—Imperial Oil Company requested a one-cent boost in the price of gasoline in Nova Scotia at a special hearing of the Board of Public Utilities here Thursday. The hearing was adjourned for decision. F G. Hall, of Toronto, representing Imperial Oil, said his company asked for the increase to allow a similar margin of profit for other oil companies buying from Imperial Oil

DR. HEINRICH LEUCHTGENS (right), banker, listens as his colleague, Franz Richter, makes a point during a meeting in Kassel, Germany, of the newly founded "Deutsche Reichsparte," which they head. The new party flaunts the black, write and red flag of the Kaiser's Reich and appeals frankly to nationalists and militarists with the use of the word "Reich" (empire) in its name, German Reich Party. It was formed by the merger of Richter's National Democratic Party (DRP) and German Right Party (NDP), headed by Leuchtgens.

Missing 20-Cent, 5-Cent Pieces Worth $4,500,000 To Mint

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 — (CP)— A good-sized fortune in silver coins is "missing" from the Royal Canadian Mint, it was disclosed Thursday.

The coins, minted years ago and subsequently superseded by others, are 20-cent and five-cent pieces. Altogether, they would amount to $4,500,000.

The mint hasn't made a 20-cent piece since 1865, and ever since then officials have been trying to take these coins out of circulation. It's a long, slow process.

In the last 10 years the mint has recovered 3,802 of the rare pieces, Some 82 were returned in 1947 for example. But figures released by the mint show there are still 41,310 20-cent pieces somewhere.

The steady trickle of the old coins back into the coffers of the mint indicates to officials that considerable numbers still are being held by collectors or as souvenirs.

In Odd Corners

The 20-cent pieces turn up in all sorts of odd corners. Many, tucked away in old boxes or dresser drawers, come to light when estates are being auctioned. Some have turned up on church collection plates.

But the silver 5-cent piece makes up the bulk of the missing treasure. According to the mint's figures, these are worth $4,461,138. A large number are presumed lost, since only a relatively few turn up at the mint each year.

Another problem will be the recalling of the "tombac" or bronze 5-cent coins minted in the early years of the war. A total of 14,601,284 are still in circulation and gradually being recovered.

Some 30,404,191 steel 5-cent pieces are still in circulation. These have not been recalled, but no longer are being minted. Only 5-cent coins made of nickel are being minted at present. There now are 122,551,079 in circulation and this number is expected to increase substantially as the bronze coins are recalled.

Neil Carmichael, Toronto coin dealer, said the old-time small five-cent pieces were now valued at anywhere from 20 cents to $35. A coin minted in 1921 had the top price. He was not certain of the value of Canadian and Newfoundland 20-cent pieces, but said some of the older ones would bring fairly high prices.

War Bride Loses Support Cheque

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 27 (CP)—Magistrate T Y. Wills Thursday upset an English magistrate's ruling that a Canadian veteran must pay for the support of his English wife.

Mrs. George A. Madden, by refusing to come to Canada, has in effect deserted her husband, Magistrate Wills rules. She therefore was not entitled to support.

Madden, who comes from Winnipeg is stationed at nearby Trenton with the RCAF. He met his wife while overseas with the army during the war.

Mrs. Madden recently obtained a provisional order from an English magistrate requiring Mr Madden to make regular payments to her.

Canadian Helping British Beat Production Targets

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Jan. 27—(CP)— Sir Charles Goodeve, Canadian scientist who helped beat the German magnetic mine and the U-boat at the height of the war now is helping the British iron and steel industry to beat its production targets.

As head of the British Iron and Steel Research Association, his aim is to help increase steel output, to reduce production costs, to keep Britain ahead in quality.

Industrialists believe he is succeeding in all three.

The first job of science, says this tall, quiet-spoken man of 46, is to provide the tools for the job so that the native skill of the workers can be used for its proper task of making and working the product.

A proud son of Winnipeg where he graduated in science at the University of Manitoba, Sir Charles is a staunch supporter of Anglo-Canadian trade.

"Fundamentally the economies of the two countries are closely linked," he said in an interview "and it is particularly important to Canada that she should have a large and balanced trade with Britain.

"I do not believe Canada will ever find a market for her raw materials in the United States comparable with what she has in Britain. Her future depends so much on marketing the raw materials she produces that she will be hard hit if her trade with Britain does not flourish."

Sir Charles said Canadian importers must be prepared to do their share in facilitating a proper trade balance with the mother country. One way in which they could encourage British manufacturers would be to offer them longer contracts.

Although he has adopted Britain as his home, Sir Charles said:

"If I had my time over again I would still choose to be born and raised in Canada and come to England to finish my training as a scientist.

"I am all in favor of an interchange of technical men between the two countries. At the moment there is a lack of enterprise on both sides. Canadian students are too ready to finish off their training at the nearest American University. . .

Guelps Blasts Irish 6-0, Tie Teepees

GUELPH, Jan. 27 (CP)—Guelph Biltmores Thursday night rallied all their scoring power and blasted St. Michael's College 6-0 to climb into a tie with St. Catharines Teepees for third place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race.

Guelph walked all over the outclassed collegians in three periods of bruising hockey which cuminated in a third-period rhubarb between Bill Dineen of the Irish and Herb Dickenson of Guelph.

The two were thumbed to the penalty box with majors. Then Will Marshall tangled with [illegible] Plumb. The two received roughing penalties.

Guelph took a 2--0 first period lead over the collegians and added another in the second before sawing away the supports from under the Irish in the third. Lorne Howes starred for St. Michael's in the violent third, he alone keeping the score from soaring to double figures.

Don Oberholtzer was top man for the winners, potting a pair of markers and assisting on another. Singles were sniped by Andy Bathgate, Walt Clune, John Ashley and Ron Plumb.

Cattle Prices Strong During Week

TORONTO, Jan. 27 — (CP).—Cattle prices were strong on a lighter run at the Ontario Stock Yards this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today. Calves gained $1 a hundredweight, while hogs, sheep and lambs held steady.

Cattle receipts of 7,017 head were down 900 from last week, but were 1,900 more than for the same week in 1949. Both export and domestic demand were keen.

Report Jewish Migration Nearing End Overseas

PARIS, Jan. 27 — European officials of the American Joint Distribution Committee, a major relief agency affiliated with the United Jewish Appeal, announced today the virtual completion of the largest human salvage operation ever undertaken by a private philanthropy.

Since the end of World War II, these officials said, the agency has moved 385,317 Jewish survivors of persecution and war to Israel and to other permanent havens of resettlement. Countless other Jewish victims were restored to health and productive life. In carrying out this vast program, the committee spent $270,000,000.

It was reported that in 1949 alone, airplanes, steamers and trains chartered by the agency had moved nearly 250,000 Jews to new homes. In the same period, 30,000 heads of families were able to get off relief and back on their own feet thanks to the agency's reconstruction and aid programs. As the committee moved into the new year, its assistance operations were cut drastically in the displaced persons camps, and were suspended altogether in Cyprus, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Difficult Job Remains

But a peculiarly difficult job still remains to be done. Moses W. Beckelman, acting head of the American Joint Distribution Committee in Europe, described the agency's efforts to relieve the plight of a "hard core" of Jewish survivors who, by reason of age or infirmity, remained in need of institutional care and could not easily be moved.

This "irreducible minimum" of some 75,000 helpless persons, Mr Beckelman said, are still in the committee's relief rolls and are likely to remain there for some time to come. He indicated that the agency's work in behalf of these people would become particularly important if the International Refugee Organization were to close up shop, as planned, by the end of next June.

At present, the IRO provides basic care and maintenance for most, but not all, Jewish "hard core" survivors, while supplementary food, clothing, medicines and other assistance are provided by the committee. The program of the committee includes support of sanatoria, homes for the aged, hospitals, clinics, rehabilitation centres and other installations.

Negotiations on "Hard Core"

The IRO is conducting negotiations with a number of Western European countries with a view to obtaining maximum coverage by national social security systems for its "hard cores" cases. Officials of the IRO and of the Joint Distribution Committee feel that the governments should have ultimate responsibility for such persons.

German Debt To States May Be Settled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—John J. McCloy, United States High Commissioner for Germany, said after conferences at the White House and State Department that he hoped soon to produce a method of settling that country's pre-war indebtedness to lift the ban on private foreign investment there.

The United States High Commissioner spoke of "our desire to lift the present bars to investment in Germany" and of a solution of the German debt as a prerequisite to such action. The question that had to be worked out in talks with the State Department and other agencies was how best to handle the situation to permit liquidation of frozen assets and permit new money to come in, he said.

Asked about a reported plan of the Western Allies to cancel pre-war German and Government guaranteed bonds seized by the Russian Army in Berlin at the end of the war, Mr. McCloy said that no such proposal had yet been acted on by the High Commission but that it might well be "a proposal from below."

Most Important Objective

None interested in the problem was under any illusions about the amount of new private capital from foreign sources that might be attracted to Western Germany even if the present ban could be removed, Mr. McCloy said. The more important objective was to make frozen foreign assets in Germany available for reinstatement on a long-term basis, he explained.

However, any new capital invested in Western Germany today would be considered a significant contribution and would greatly help its rather stringent economy, he added.

Mr. McCloy indicated he was not greatly disturbed over the latest Russian blockade restrictions on road and rail traffic in and out of Berlin. He called it "one of those flurries one has to expect in Berlin."

Mr. McCloy said he talked with Major Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, United States commander in Western Germany, on the telephone, and was informed that the blockade situation was "improving somewhat." He said he had the greatest confidence in General Taylor and his staff to cope with the problem, and added:

"I don't know what's in the Russian mind. It's an enigma. I don't know why they are going through this armtwisting manoeuver."

Gray Allowed Outside Work

TORONTO, Jan. 27 — (CP) — Board of Control Thursday gave tentative approval to a request by Assessment Commissioner A. J. B. Gray that he be permitted to carry on outside work in his spare time.

The Board met with Mr. Gray to discuss a request from Cornwall that the Toronto assessment expert be permitted to advise town on re-assessment.

Mr. Gray recently was criticised for signing a two-year contract to advise the town of Timmins in its re-assessment program. The contract called for a payment of some $17,500. At that time, the Board finally approved Mr. Gray's completion of the contract, but expressed strong disapproval of any further outside work.

Mr. Gray told the Board Thursday he would have no alternative but to resign if the Board confined his activities to city business.

Dublin Very Pleased Have Ottawa Embassy

DNUBLIN, Jan. 27 — (CP) — Morning newspapers today hailed the announcement that the Republic of Ireland has raised the status of its mission in Ottawa from the office of a High Commissioner to an embassy.

"High Commissioner" is a term unknown in diplomatic usage, said the Irish Independent, and could only be regarded as a "survival of the Colonial era." The Independent called it a "significant development."

Wallace Testifies Uranium Kept Secret

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace Thursday denounced implication that "as a wartime vice-president I could not be trusted with certain confidential informaion regarding the atom bomb."

Testifying at his own request before the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities, Wallace swore under oath that he was "neither responsible nor aware" of uranium shipments to Russia during the second world war.

Uranium is a basic ingredient in A-bombs.

Exercise Sweetbriar Costly Army Training

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 — (CP) — Exercise Sweetbriar, preliminaries already started, may well constitute just about Canada's biggest peacetime training effort for no more profound reason than expense alone, informed officials said Thursday.

Nobody at Defence Headquarters has figured the cost to Canada for her share in what Defence Secretary Johnson of the U.S. Thursday called "the first joint (Canadian - American) manoeuvre and the largest ever held to test logistic facilities and to provide tactical training under [illegible] conditions in the sub-Arctic."

15 Miners Killed

ST. ELOY, France, Jan. 27 — (Reuters)—Fifteen miners were killed and 21 were severely injured by a fire-dump explosion Thursday. Police said danger of asphyxiation made rescue work difficult. About 50 miners were at work when the explosion blew out the props of a new gallery, 1,000 feet below ground.

NOBEL PRIZE POSSIBILITY —Dr. Hans Selye, director of the Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery at the University of Montreal, has been mentioned as a possible winner of next year's Nobel prize for medicine. Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the World Medical Association Bulletin, said several scientists believe Dr. Selye is entitled to the award for his work in development of the wonder drugs ACTH and cortisone.

Defence Key Issue At Ottawa-Claxton

EDMONTON, Jan. 27 — (CP). —Defence Minister Claxton said Thursday night evidence of Communist Russia's unlimited ambitions has made defence a matter of major government policy and national interest.

Addressing the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, celebrating its 60th anniversary, Mr. Claxton said that the Dominion Government does not "regard the iron curtain as inevitable or necessarily permanent." But it believed Canada should play its part with other nations "in organizing a force for peace so that peace can one day be preserved without force."

Salom Agreement

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27 (CP) — Sydney Rosenberg, executive of the Canadian Fishing Company, Ltd., said Thursday night tentative arrangements have been made between Britain and Canada for the purchase of between $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 British Columbia canned salmon.

Heading For Home

VANCOUVER, Jan. 27 (CP) — War-torn China behind her, the freighter Lake Canim Thursday is homeward bound. John Rosene, president of Western Canada Steamship Lines, said the ship has left Hong Kong and is expected to make the trans-Pacific trip in about 25 days. The Lake Canim was the first Canadian ship to run the Nationalist blockade.

Rap Gangster Tactics Against Sudbury CCL

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 — (CP) — Gangster tactics apparently are being followed by opponents of the Canadian Congress of Labor in Sudbury, CCL secretary-treasurer Pat Conroy said Thursday in a statement.

He was commenting on report that a gang of 50 men toured Sudbury beverage rooms Tuesday night in a hunt for representatives of the CCL of the United Steel Workers of America (CCL). The Congress recently gave the USWA jurisdiction formerly held by the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, expelled from the CCL last fall.

"Gangster tactics, such as apparently are being adopted by some people in Sudbury, are not going to block the will of the majority," Mr. Conroy said.

Christians-Jews Plan Week Of Brotherhood

Peterborough will be one of the hundreds of cities throughout Canada and the U. S. celebrating Brotherhood Week February 19-26 inclusive. During those eight days a program embracing men and women of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths will be launched by Mayor Max Swanston, who will make an official declaration of Brotherhood Week on the opening day.

Tentative plans for the program were laid Thursday at a meeting at the Empress Hotel of representatives of the three religious bodies, service clubs and other organizations in the city.

Subject of church services on both Sundays during the official week will be brotherhood and the most spectacular event will be a mass meeting on the Wednesday of all sections of the community, at which guests of honor will be Rabbi Harry Stern, of Montreal; Dr. E. Crossley Hunter, Toronto and Father Michael Ahern, S. J., of Weston College, Weston, Mass.

Tea parties will be held in the afternoons and if arrangements can be made, speakers will address various groups during the week.

It is probable that some ministers will exchange pulpits for Sunday services and exchange visits of congregations during the week may be a feature of the program.

Third Canadian Year

Brotherhood Week, although established for many years in the U. S., was inaugurated in Canada three years ago. This week will be the second in Peterborough. The Prime Minister, Louis St. Laurent, is honorary chairman of Brotherhood Week in Canada and it is supported by leading members of church and laymen's organizations.

Purpose of Brotherhood Week is "to promote justice, understanding and co-operation among Protestants, Catholics and Jews and to analyze, moderate and finally elimmate intergroup prejudices which disfigure and distort religious, business, social and political relations, with a view to the establishment of a social order in which the religious ideals of brotherhood and injustice shall become the standards of human relationships."

Representatives Attend

Those who attended the meeting Thursday were: Pat Anglesey, representing the Mayor; Rev. Dr. James Semple, Ministerial Association; Rev. F. M. Grant, Catholic clergy; Rabbi J. Mayer, Jewish community; W. J. Hamilton, Service Club Council; Douglas Vaisey, Junior Chamber of Commerce; Harley Weir, Kinsmen; Mrs. C. S. Thompson, Soroptomist Club; Mrs. W. Addyman, local women's groups; Jim McCulloch, Lions Club; Rufus Payne, Kiwanis; Fred Overend, Businessmen; Isadore Black, B'nai B'rith.

Mrs. R. Moldaver is acting secretary, Rabbi Mayer, Dr. Semple and Father Grant were appointed to be hosts to the three visitors and W. J. Hamilton will be responsible for entertainment arrangements at the mass meeting.

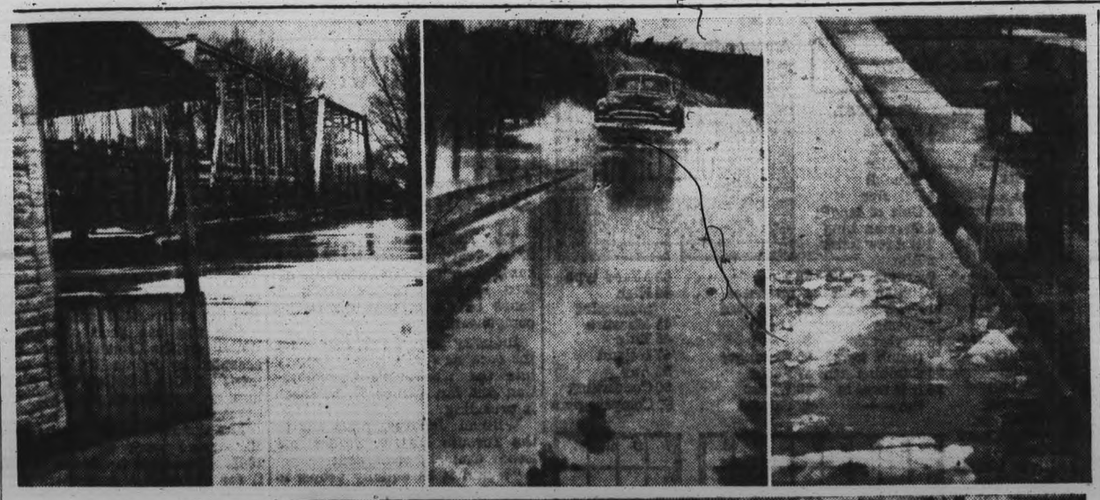
Skiing Goes Out Skating In-Thin

Skiing conditions in the Peterborough district are no exception in Ontario. Collingwood and Huntsville report the slopes washed clean by the latest thaw which swept Ontario Wednesday putting skiing on the shelf for the week-end. Haileybury boasts of some snow.



Bethany and Kempt's Hill skiing slopes are bare. Skiers managed to slip in a night's skiing Tuesday during the rainfall. J. D. Cumming, secretary of the Belmont Ski Club near Havelock, said today his slopes haven't a spot of snow. Belmont lake was glare ice for six miles, a splendid sheet for skating.

Front Of Car Smashed As Fuel Truck Pulls Up

A car came out second best when it ran into the rear of a fuel truck on George St. near Simcoe St. Thursday night.

Charles Wellman, RR 1, Omemee, driver of the truck, was driving south on George St. Approaching Simcoe St., he had to brake suddenly. A car, driven by Neil Huggins, RR 1, South Monaghan, behind the truck, was unable to stop in time and smashed into the rear of the truck.

The truck suffered no damage, but the car had a damaged radiator, hood and grill. Constable Ernest Beatty investigated.

IUE Capture Cobourg Plant Big Majority

For the second time in a week the IUE-CIO has captured a union from its left-wing rival UE in government-supervised votes.

On Thursday workers at the CGE plant at Cobourg voted nine to one in favor of the right-wing IUE as their bargaining agent.

A. M. Brunskill, returning officer for the balloting ordered by the Ontario Labor Relations Board, announced that the production workers voted 156 to 17 in favor of the IUE. Two days before Leyland Electric at Guelph, formerly a UE-organized shop also, balloted 238 to 57 for the right wingers. Thirteen abstained.

IUE union officials are jubilant over the decisive results of the voting and predict that a government supervised election here in Peterborough "will spell a complete rejection of UE and the certification of the IUE-CIO."

"Spontaneous Movement"

"This is the result of a spontaneous movement within the electrical industry to get better representation along honest and sincere trade union lines," said Fred Hannah, CCL representative, who has been active in IUE organization in both Peterborough and Cobourg.

Mr. Hannah predicted a third victory for the IUE when voting takes place soon at Copper Wire Products, also in Guelph.

Neither victory was unexpected. It was well known that the right wingers were overwhelming choices in the two plants. A more critical test of strength between the UE and the IUE will come here in Peterborough where some 3,000 production workers are involved if the OLRB orders a vote.

Peterborough Key

The situation in Peterborough remains obscure with both sides claiming a majority of the workers. It is generally conceded by both the left and right wingers that Peterborough is the key to the IUE's immediate future in Canada.

If it fails to capture Local 524 from the UE the IUE's chances of capturing the bulk of the Canadian UE membership (estimated at the time of the union split at 24,000) are slim.

Right wingers here are confidently awaiting an OLRB decision to hold a vote in Peterborough. They have not yet applied for certification at any of the Toronto plants in the CGE chain where some 1,500 workers are involved.

First For IUE

Cobourg is the first CGE plant in Canada, a member of the UE-CGE Joint Negotiating Committee, to fall to the right wingers. Because of doubt as to the legitimate bargaining agent in that town and Peterborough, the CGE has refused to include either in negotiations on the new contract.

The IUE has consistently denounced C. S. Jackson and the UE organizers as Communists or Communist dominated. This was the reason given last fall for the expulsion of the UE International from the CIO at the annual CIO

Lecturer Frys Bacon and Egg On Clothes Iron: Point Made

Vernon E. "Sam" Vining caught his audience by surprise at the Sales and Ad Club lecture in the Collegiate Thursday. He fried an egg and bacon, toasted bread and made coffee with an electric clothes iron to illustrate that merchants should tell their clerks every detail about the merchandise they sell.

Mr. Vining, merchandising consultant of the Westinghouse Electric Corp., Mansfield, Ohio, said one of the most important things in making a sale was the two to three minute story to the customer about the merchandise.

The biggest complaint about clerks in the United States, he said, was that he didn't know the details of the merchandise they sold. He recommended to the merchants that they take their clerks, department by department, to tell them the details of the merchandise. He illustrated his point with the iron incident, and cited a housewife who had bought an iron from a clerk who didn't know his wares well enough to give her good advice on the correct one to buy.

Selling meant having fun helping the other fellow get what he wants, Mr. Vining said. The people, he explained, have to be sold, not the merchandise.

Selling Easy

Sales courses (which he professed he didn't believe in) are based on the idea selling is hard, he said. Ninety per cent of selling was easy and was the most fun in the world. Salesmen who have years of experience told newcomers to wait until the hard times arrived. In this way, he said, the old timers were implying that the youngsters would never make the grade and were thus driving many good men out of the business.

In order to sell the people the clerks must have a complete knowledge of the merchandise. A national survey in the United States indicated that people visit three stores before making a purchase. Mr. Vining said that the one clerk in the three who knows his merchandise will make the sale.

To be able to sell people, Mr. Vining advised learning how to handle them. This could be done easily by studying themselves, because all people are customers. Learn how to produce the "comeback" feeling in the customers as well as to like people well enough to wish to do something for them, he advised.

No sale is complete unless something is added "besides the mere cold-blooded transaction," he said. Such things as suggestions on other merchandise in the store tend to build up the feeling in the customer that the store is a good place to deal with. In this way, he explained, a start is made on the next sale.

Jack Hayward introduced and thanked Mr. Vining. Percy Dallin, president of the Sales and Ad Club, welcomed the people to the lecture.

Entertainment was supplied by the Lift Lock City Four prior to Mr. Vining's address.

Record High Reached

Record high temperature in Peterborough for January of 58 degrees in 1906 was repeated Wednesday. The thermometer rose to 55 degrees by noon and crept up the additional three degrees during early afternoon.

A cold wave from the west, which hit the city gradually, stopped any new high record, and lowest temperature before midnight was 28 degrees. During the early hours of today the mercury fell as low as 13 and had climbed to 17 by noon.

Wet Lindsay Fair Had $4,000 Surplus

Although Lindsay Exhibition last September had been "rained out" two days, Bert L. McLean reported a surplus of $4,000 at the annual meeting of the members Wednesday. Had the weather been favorable, he estimated the probable surplus, $10,000-$15,000.

W. B. Graham of Oakwood was elected president, succeeding W. E. Stewart. Vice-presidents are Dick Butler of Lindsay and Everett Mark. Life membership was conferred on Dan Murphy and D. W. Terrill.

Mr. Stewart advised nominees for the board positions not to stand for election unless they were prepared to attend at least 70 per cent of the meetings during the year.

Club Gives Care To Vallee Child Several Years

Attention was given one of the children of Mrs. Bessie Vallee by the Peterborough Rotary Club, said a Rotary Club official today in reply to a letter which appeared in Thursday's Examiner. The story of the Vallee family's existence in a shack was reported in last Saturday's edition of The Examiner.

The writer of the letter said: "If the Rotary Club is as fine as I think they are I'm sure they will do something for the children."

The club official pointed out that assistance has been given for the last several years to one of the children, who has a foot ailment. In conjunction with the Peterborough Department of Health the local Rotary Club's committee for crippled children sent the child to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto for attention. All expenses for the mother and child were paid by the club as well as the equipment necessary for the treatment of the child's feet. The child has been in and out of the hospital since then several times at the expense of the club.

In November a nurse from the Ontario Society for Crippled Children visited the home and examined the child's feet. She was satisfied with the recovery the child was making.

Confidence Men Fleecing County Folk On Outings Losses Run To Thousands

By HARRY THEOBALD

Four or five instances of late reporting the operations of confidence men suggest not only their activities but also considerable success. For example there was a Hastings county farmer; one of the pillars of the Quinte District Seed Fair. He was strolling along a corridor to his room in the King Edward Hotel after the adjournment of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association convention. Two fellows approaching him said "hello", or something like that, and far too casually and informally and pleasantly the one word of greeting bloomed into a conversation. You hardly notice the manoeuvre so agreeably and innocently does it proceed.

The convention was over and the men were talking about getting along home. Mr. Belleville remarked that he thought his friends had already gone and left him, but may be someone else would turn up eastbound in the morning.

One of the strangers said "Why not come with us?" They were heading for Odessa or Bethany, any place like that.

Friendly Touch

They were very friendly chaps, and ingratiating. Mr. Belleville said he would be glad to go along with them, and said he would meet them after breakfast.

In the conversation they mentioned lack of bed for the night, what with convention crowd and so on. When that topic recurred, Mr. Belleville said there was an extra bed in a room and they could sleep there, and in the morning they'd be sure of taking off together.

The "con" men did not like trespassing or putting anyone to trouble, and were hesitant. However, they finally agreed to put up in Mr. Belleville's room. They had a very pleasant chat before turning out the lights.

"But, in the morning! Great Scott, the morning." Mr. Belleville was met by another friend from the east down on the rotunda.

Mr. Hope Township said: "You haven't got started yet, I see?"—just a bright greeting in the new day.

Mr. Belleville: "I haven't had breakfast yet."

Mr. Hope: "How's that? Not hungry?"

Mr. Belleville: "Oh, no; I just haven't any money."

There he was as the confidence pair had left him, without a nickel for the morning paper. And his gold watch was gone. "I wouldn't have taken $100 for it." And the accommodation of transport was gone . . . but not the memory of those friendly and obliging lads from Odessa or maybe Shuter St.

That is a sample of the "conman's way of fleecing folks who are too easily deceived. Mr. Hope lent the Belleville man $20 to pay his hotel bill and get home.

Other Cases

Then there was the story in the Examiner several weeks ago of the man who was taken for $900 here in a Peterborough hotel.

Another story that did not get into type or general circulation was the experience of a man who lives south and west of this city who months ago was clipped for $3,000. It is said by friends of his that he even drove to his village bank and drew out $2,000 to stay in some game which they had started. The details of that trimming are not quite so clear as the minor extraction in Toronto last week after the Louis Bromfield address.

Youth, 19, Gets Reform Term For Entry, Theft

Nineteen-year-old Kenneth Robinson, 1178 Monaghan Rd., was sentenced to 15 months definite and eight months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory after pleading guilty to three charges, two of them of breaking, entry and theft, before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today.

The third charge, to which he pleaded guilty, was of carrying a revolver without a licence. Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw suggested a "term in the reformatory of sufficient length for Robinson to learn a trade."

The Crown Attorney also said Robinson was something of an alcoholic. If given a sufficiently long sentence he could receive proper treatment for the disease.

Asked by the magistrate if it were correct that he was an alcoholic, Robinson answered yes.

Revolver Reported

Detective W. A. Clarke told the court he had learned that a young chap answering Robinson's description was walking about town with a revolver in his pocket. He said Sergeant Leo Murphy later arrested Robinson in a downtown hotel Jan. 23 with the German revolver in his pocket.

A scarf which was found outside the window through which entry had been gained into Bond's Clothing store was traced to Robinson and identified by his mother.

About $15 in cash and several pairs of gloves valued at $17 were taken from Bond's. When Robinson was arrested he was wearing a pair of gloves with Bond's price tag and an identifying serial number still attached.

Foreign Coins Missing

A small bag of foreign coins had been taken from the office of Fanning's Laundry when it was broken into Jan. 1. When Robinson's room was searched, Detective Clarke found a Belgian coin in a coat pocket. Damage had also been done to a soft drink dispensing machine.

Detective Clarke also said Robinson had told him he had bought the revolver in a Toronto pool room. It was later found that the revolver had been stolen in Toronto.

PROCLAMATION

G.E. Built Atom Smasher Dedicated at Queen's

KINGSTON, Jan. 27 (Special) —Unity of purpose in scientific research, in military preparedness, and in national policy is needed by the English-speaking peoples, if freedom is to be maintained, Dr. Willian D. Coolidge said here today.

He spoke at Queen's University in ceremonies dedicating a 70-million-volt synchrotron, a type of atom smasher, built by the General Electric Company for use by the University in special high-energy X-ray research.

Inventor of the X-ray tube now in general use in medical and industrial applications, Dr. Coolidge is director emeritus of the General Electric Research Laboratory at Schenectady, N. Y.

The scientist said that our civilization will not decline and fall unless we let it. "But it is only through constant effort on our part that the continuation of our way of life can be maintained," he continued.

Started Work in Canada

Pointing out that the 70-million-electron-volt synchrotron is the most powerful machine of its kind ever to leave the United States, Dr. Coolidge traced the nuclear research of the pioneer Sir Ernest Rutherford, who began his work in Canada and carried it to conclusion in England.

Dr. Coolidge said that further exploration in the field of nuclear research, whether it is conducted in Canada, England, or the United States, will of course be pooled for the good of all, in both war and peace.

"I am especially glad," the scientist continued, "that this machine, built in the United States, will aid in the nuclear research of Canada."

Dr. Coolidge pointed out that the X-rays first used by Roentgen, their discoverer, in 1895, had a voltage of perhaps 30,000 or 40,000. These would penetrate a considerable amount of matter such as a human hand, he said. The usefulness of X-rays, however, depends upon their penetrating power. This, in turn, depends upon their energy and the voltage used to produce them, he said.

"The medical diagnostic field now makes use of X-ray ranging in voltage from about 40,000 to a little over 100,000," Dr. Coolidge stated. "For the medical treatment of lesions deep within the body, voltages from a couple of hundred thousand up to a million are now employed, and experience may later show the desirability of using still higher voltages."

Higher energy is needed for industrial radiography, as used in the inspection of metal parts for their internal soundness, he said. The greater the thickness and density, the higher the voltage should be he said, and for steel a foot thick ten million volts is desirable.

"For physical experimentation," Dr. Coolidge said, "one is interested in the entire X-ray spectrum, and there appears to be no limit to the X-ray [illegible] one can advantageously use. Much is being learned through the study of cosmic rays, which range in energy up to many billions of electron volts."

The new synchrotron, is installed in a special underground chamber to protect personnel from possible exposure. Nuclear experiments with the new machine will be conducted by Prof J. A. Gray and his collaborators, Dr. H. M. Cave and Dr. D. T Roberts, together with other Canadian scientists.

May Unify Services

TORONTO, Jn. 27 — (CP) — Premier Frost said Thursday that some unification of services in the greater Toronto area may take place by the end of the year, but he warned mayors and reeves of the 13 municipalities in the district that until they solve their differences there is little prospect of overcoming the housing shortage.

Falls Off Couch, Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 27 (CP) — A five-month-old child died Thursday shortly after falling 19 inches from a studio couch to the floor of a suburban Scarboro house. Police said that the baby, Derrick Mulley, was being cared or in the home of Mrs. Frank Page. An inquest is likely, police said.

Arranges Own Funeral

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 27 (CP) —Andrew Oja, 47, completed arrangements Wednesday for a funeral with a Port Arthur undertaker, paying the $440 fee. A few hours later police received a call to a rooming house and found Oja's body, a bullet hole in the chest. A rifle was lying nearby.

Prefer Newsreels

LONDON, Jan. 27 (CP)—Newsreels are tops with British television viewers. This was disclosed in a BBC poll of 24,000 viewers. Not far behind newsreels in public preference came plays preented in the studio.

Charges Labor Trying Run Radio Propaganda

CHARLOTTETOWN, Jan. 27—(CP). — Col. Keith S. Rogers, president of radio station CFCY, Charlottetown, said Thursday "there has been an obvious attempt by labor forces and farm organizations to get a large measure of control over the propaganda medium of radio broadcasting."

Testifying before the Royal Commission on Arts and Sciences Col. Rogers said that radio control, in private hands, would be less subject to "pressure groups" than it now was under control of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

In line with the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, the CFCY brief said it advocated an independent regulatory body to govern Canadian radio. This function now is performed by the CBC.

Seek Canadian Wheat

WINNIPEG, Jan. 27 (CP) — Grain trade circles said Thursday that beleagured Chinese Nationalists are negotiating for substantial supplies of Canadian wheat, apparently with the hope of holding out on Formosa against the Communists.

Urge Workmen Share Cost Of Compensation

TORONTO, Jan. 27 — (CP). — J. P. Pratt, counsel for railway companies, said Thursday organized labor should be asked to share in the cost of workmen's compensation.

Industry can no longer bear the cost, he told a public inquiry into the Workmen's Compensation Act. Mr. Justice W. D. Roach is presiding.

William Jenoves, president of the Toronto District Trades and Labor Council, remarked:

"Would it be equally proper to ask that labor be asked to share in the profits of industry? It is only fair because labor is creating the profits."

Frank Wilkinson, counsel for steamship lines, backed up Mr. Pratt.

Earlier, Mr. Jenovese said serious injuries have been aggravated because "over-zealous" doctors induced workmen to return to duty before their injuries healed properly.

On the burden of compensation, Mr. Pratt said: "Labor wants all these benefits and more. But the burden is too great for industry to bear alone. If industry is to take all this responsibility, it is time labor made some contribution."

Chief argument was on the question of compensation for the workmen temporarily disabled, but fit for light duties. T. P. Delamere, counsel for International Nickel Company, said that seniority clauses in union agreements made it difficult for an employer to find suitable light duty for such a workman.

Technical Reports

MONTREAL, Jan. 27—(CP)—Delegates to the 37th annual convention of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association Thursday heard reports of technical developments in the industry and the association's technical section named E. G. Kirby as chairman. The head of the section, which includes some 1,150 members, is formerly of Ottawa, but now is connected with Price and Pierce, Ltd., Montreal.

Queen Mother Makes Rug To Get Dollars For Britain

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Aging Queen Mother Mary sought today to help stitch up Britain's dollar gap by offering to sell a needlework rug she worked on for eight years.

The condition: dollars only, please.

The 1,000,000 - stitch floor-covering, 10 feet 2 inches by 6 feet 9½ inches, still is unfinished.

The rug has been offered to Britain by the Queen Mother and accepted by Prime Minister Clement Attlee, Britain's dollar-hungry exchequer will get the proceeds.

The Queen, who will be 83 May 26, started work on the rug in 1941. It was her own idea to sell it for dollars. A committee will take dollar-bids and pick the buyer.

The rug is done in gros point, a form of cross-stitch on canvas long favored in France and Venice. Each of its 12 panels contains a complicated bird-and-flower design in pastel colored stitches.

It's not Queen Mary's first venture into the battle of the dollar gap.

In 1948 six gros point chair-seat covers she made were bought by Mrs. Edward S. Harkness, an American, who presented them to the Metropolitan Museum in New York City. The price: $10,000.

However, Queen Mary doesn't want her gay bit of handicraft gracing the dining room floor of some U.S. magnate's home. He'll have to agree to turn it over to a public institute where all comers can admire it.

Killed By Rifle

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 27 (CP)—Twelve-year-old Frank Allen was killed Thursday night when a .22 calibre rifle discharged while he and a younger brother, were playing "hunting lions" in their bedroom. The brother, Jim, 10, told police he had pulled the trigger several times before it went off.

Ask Traffic Rights

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (CP)—The United States Civil Aeronautics Board took under advisement Thursday a request by Trans-Canada Air Lines for traffic rights at Tampa, Fla., on its flight from Canada to the British West Indies.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

Wings over ice!

Swifter than the wind, Canadian ice-boats race with the world's finest!

A bank of white sails flashed on the frozen surface of Lake Ontario's Burlington Bay. It was a sunlit January 17th, 1948. For the first time the world ice-boat championships were to be held on Canadian ice. Five Canadians—new to "Skeeter" racing—were matched against 40 of the world's finest ice-yachtsmen.

The frail, one-man craft streaked around the six-mile course . . . skidding past the markers at 60 miles an hour. The crowd strained forward as one Canadian boat crumpled rounding a turn. The fleet swept into the stretch and past the finish . . . a Canadian among the winners.

Ice-boating is returning to thrill Canadians. The skill and speed involved in it appeals to our sense of sportsmanship. And together skill and sportsmanship keep our opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

The Dominion Open Ice-Boat Championships were started in 1940 by the Royal Hamilton Yacht Club, and are contested every year.

Head-Counting Expedition Beginning April 1 In U.S.

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—(CP)—They're going to embark on a head-counting expedition in the United States come April 1. It will be the government's general census, with 180,000 census-takers knocking on doors throughout the country and seeking to determine the growth in the U.S. population since the last count in 1940. There has been a general census every 10 years since 1790.

Census officials say they expect to find a population of 150,000,000, nearly 20,000,000 more than the 131,669,275 reported in 1940. The 150,000,000 figure is based partly on a preliminary estimate of 148,500,000 persons in the country at April 1, 1949.

The increase is attributed to a "tremendous" upsweep in the birthrate during the war and post-war years. Immigration and a heavy influx of displaced persons also contributed to the rise.

Political Implications

A political tempest already is swirling around the government's census-taking plans. Republicans have lambasted a proposal to require the individual to disclose his income. One Republican said the information would provide "priceless sucker list" for replenishing the Democratic party's treasury.

But the census bureau, contending the information will be statistically useful, isn't backing down. It plans to put the income question to every fifth householder canvassed. Those earning more the $10,000 a year will be permitted to give merely that fact; those earning less will be required to give more specific information.

Ahead of Canada

The United States will be a year ahead of Canada in its count. The Dominion, with a population of about 13,000,000 now, plans to take its enumeration in 1951.

The census here is expected to take two weeks in cities and towns and four to six weeks in country districts. Progressive totals will be released and, when the count is completed, the big figure will be made public.

The bureau already has some idea of what it will be up against. It has received letters from scores of persons who want to make sure their names are correctly spelled. They include people named Ak. Hiteodomiskockley, Puh and Zyzz.

Coal Supplies Sufficient For Canadians

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 (CP)—Despite fears of a coal emergency in the United States, Canada will have enough fuel to get through the winter without restrictions on domestic or industrial use.

Government officials outlined the situation that way Thursday as the U.S. picture worsened under a partial strike of John L. Lewis's coal diggers that has left that country with only about 28 days' supply of coal on hand.

Canadian stockpiles are so good, these officials said, that only a complete shutdown of U.S. mines plus a major tie-up of Canadian collieries could put the squeeze on coal users in Canada. Neither of these eventualities is in prospect.

"We don't know of any industries that will have to curtail production, and there is no fear that any householder will not be able to keep warm for lack of coal," said a government fuel official.

Use Different Kinds

He admitted some areas might not always be able to get the type of coal to which they are accustomed, but he added there would be enough, of one kind or another, to go around.

Only exception to the general trend is the Canadian National Railways, which on Jan. 9 curtailed coal-burning passenger-train services by 25 per cent because stocks were low. Other railways were not affected. Informants here said there is no indication of when the CNR might return to normal service.

The favorable Canadian position in relation to that of the US —on which the Dominion is heavily dependent for supplies — has come about this year largely as the result of an extension of the sales areas of western and Maritimes coal.

With the help of federal subventions—subsidies to cover part of shipping costs—western coal particularly has been moving into wider eastern markets, displacing US coal as part of a policy toward a measure of self-sufficiency for fuel in Canada.

Coming East

During the last year western coal has been selling further east than at any other peacetime period, moving into Ontario as far as the Quebec border.

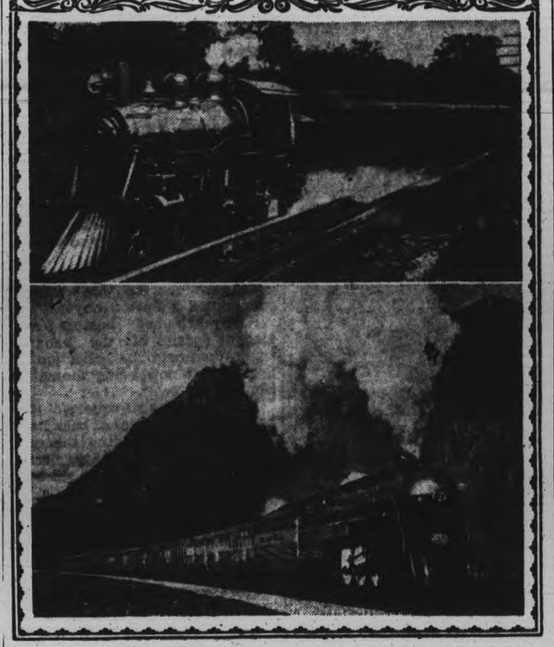
Meanwhile Maritime coal has been helped into the Quebec market by subventions. At present, little Maritime coal is going further west than Quebec, with all of the peak production of that area being absorbed without it going into Ontario.

Result of the heavy east-west movement is that the government in the fiscal year ending March 31 next probably will have paid out a record sum in subventions.

In previous years these have been running to some $1,500,000 a year. For the current year officials estimate the coal movement aid will absorb the whole of the $4,500,000 voted by parliament last year.

Discover New Drug

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Discovery of a new drug of the same general class as penicillin and streptomycin was reported Thursday by a team of Brooklyn researchers. A scientist here declared "you can't tell yet whether it is a hot one." The new drug is called "terramycin." It is derived from a living organism that was found in a sample of soil.



Trials In Vancouver

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 (CP) — The 1950 trials for the Webster Trophy —awarded annually to the best amateur pilot in Canada—will be held at Vancouver Sept. 9-10, D. W Buchanan, secretary manager of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association, announced Thursday. The Aero Club of British Columbia will be host for the final competitions.

Holiday Remnants

NEW WESTMINSTER, B C.—(CP)—The holiday season left a reminder in the home of W P Counsins here. Turkey grease, left in the oven, exploded when the sove was lit again. The blast blew the door open and flaming grease spread over the kitchen The blaze was quickly put under control.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

OLD "NUMBER 999" was the wonder engine that had tongues wagging and heads shaking at the turn of the Twentieth Century. No wonder; for the old steam engine, used to haul the incredibly fast Empire State Express, had a few years before barreled down the tracks to set a world speed record of 112.5 miles an hour on a run between Batavia and Buffalo, NY. Below is today's Twentieth Century Limited, hauled by a modern counterpart of old 999, a Hudson-type steam locomotive costing about $140,000. Engine 999 cost about $13,000. At the beginning of the century, railroads were still using many old-time locomotives with fancy stacks and cow-catchers. Today, steam power is giving way to electric and Diesel-electric power, along with other refinements in railroading.

No One Accepts WA Presidency

MILLBROOK, Jan. 27 (ENS)—Unable to find a member of the Woman's Association willing to take the office of president, a rally of the women of St. Andrew's Church Wednesday persuaded the 1949 president, Mrs. A. R. Payne to continue in office until the new group system is organized.

Officers are as follows: Acting president, Mrs. A. R. Payne; secretary, Mrs. P. I. Bentley; treasurer, Mrs. J. T. Crowley; group leaders, Mrs. Percy Stinson, Miss C. Sutton, Mrs. W. Elson, and Mrs. Laurence Winslow.

It was decided the electric wiring in the kitchen and bathroom of the parsonage should be replaced immediately, that minor repairs should be made to the wiring in the study, that cupboards should be built in the kitchen and that an electric heater should be installed for the water tank since the present jacket heater had proved unsatisfactory.

It was decided also that the executive and group leaders should meet at the home of Mrs. Payne on Tuesday to divide the women of the congregation into their respective groups.

The next meeting of the society as a whole is to be held at the home of the Misses Clarry on February 7.

Light refreshments were served by members of the executive.

Say Picketing Prank

TORONTO, Jan. 27 (CP)—The "picketing" of a downtown Anglican bookshop by eight theological students was termed Thursday night a "student prank" and "a storm in a teacup." That was the description given by Miss Emily Keeley, whose dismissal as manager of the bookshop on Yonge Street was said to be the cause of the student demonstration.

Health Week

Health Minister Calls On Public To Back Program

Need for continued public co-operation to enable such measures as the national health program to ensure the health and happiness of Canadians, is emphasized in a special National Health Week message from Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of National Health and Welfare.

Inviting all Canadians to support the Health League of Canada in focusing attention on the country's health needs, during the period January 29 to February 4, the federal minister pointed out that the past year has witnessed great strides towards the national goal of maximum health and opportunity for all.

In its initial stages, Mr. Martin said, the historic $31,000,000 a year National Health Program helping the provinces to develop their health services, already has given Canada more than 15,000 new hospital beds, trained additional health workers, stimulated research, intensified the attack on crippling conditions and on the communicable diseases, extended diagnostic and treatment facilities and revitalized public health forces everywhere.

Emphasis was placed on the role of voluntary agencies and public-spirited citizens in backing up official measures, and the minister commended the Health League on again sponsoring National Health Week to point up the part of lay people in the crusade for higher health standards. Directly or indirectly, he said, everyone benefits from improved facilities for maintenance of well-being, and complete success for government measures in this field could come only if all supported and took advantage of them.

Town Looks West

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—This northern mining town, without a highway link to southern Manitoba, is looking west. Mayor Frank Bickle said the Pas will press for a road link with Saskatchewan through the Carrot River valley.

Happy Gang Forum Favors Free Trade

WARKWORTH, Jan. 27 (ENS)—The Happy Gang Forum was held Monday at the home of Miss Jean Anderson. Forty were present and the topic for discussion was "Should tariff barriers be abolished?"

Three of the four groups were in favor of free trade with Britain and the Commonwealth, and Group 4 thought there should be trade for all.

After a recreation period lunch was served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yabsley when the discussion will be on Milk and Milk Products.

Writ For Damages

LONDON, Jan. 27 (Reuters)—The Admiralty announced Thursday night it had issued a writ for damages in the British High Court against the owners of the Swedish ship Divina, which was in collision with the British submarine Truculent in the Thames Estuary Jan. 12. The Truculent sank with the loss of 64 lives after the collision.

Old Fort Bigger

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 27 (CP)—New discoveries indicate that the area of Fort Ste. Marie, ancient citadel of the Jesuits near Midland, Ont., is well over an acre Wilfred Jury said Thursday. The curator of the University of Western Ontario Museum, in charge of the work, believed further excavations will show the fort to be six times the original estimate of its size.

Fire In Housing Unit

UPLANDS, Ont., Jan 27 (CP) Fire Thursday sent 100 occupants of an emergency housing unit out into freezing rain. The blaze, confined mainly to the ceiling of the first floor and the floor of the second, resulted in heavy smoke and water damage at the unit, located about six miles south of Ottawa.

Order Clergymen Ignore Politics

YORK, England, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Archbishop of York today ordered Anglican clergymen of his diocese to keep politics out of their sermons when they deal with the general election scheduled for Feb. 23.

"No sermons should be preached in support or criticism of any of the parties," said the archbishop, Most Rev. Cyril F. Garbett, in a diocesan leaflet.

"Prayers should be offered for God's guidance to the elector and the elected," the leaflet said.

Labor party circles previously had interpreted recent political remarks by some clergymen and prelates as anti-labor.

Dr. Garbett said in his statement that "much of the hostility to the Roman Catholic church on the continent is largely due to its active intervention in party politics."

A Church of England spokesman in London said the archbishop's order would be "highly persuasive," even for clergymen outside his diocese.

Fashion Flashes

SEEN EVERYWHERE, in every price category, is the flower-trimmed hat. Straw cloth, satin and felt in pastels with matching flowers brings a bright touch to dark outfits. Small pillboxes and caps of white or off-white fur felt, trimmed with one luscious rose, is another winter millinery favorite.

✧ ✧ ✧

LOTS AND LOTS of fine linen in resort fashions, with blouses of fine black handkerchief linen already selling for wear with suits or separate skirts in cooler climes. A smart blouse of black handkerchief linen has fagotted detail down the front, tiny ocean pearl buttons, and a soft neckline that ties in a generous self scarf.

✧ ✧ ✧

CHUNKY HUNKS of stones is the theme for spring costume jewelry, with simulated and quartz stones both employed. Amethyst quartz, shaped like large uneven nuggets, is used for a handsome necklace separated by tiny, fine rhinestone rondels. Matching bracelet.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT'S ONLY LOGICAL that the neat, very short hair-do would bring with it the elaborate earring, mostly of the shower or chandelier type. Done in brilliant rhinestones and simulated gem tones, or with tiny faceted teardrop brilliants suspended from pearl chains, or in real diamonds and stones ,one sees this type of earring everywhere under the bright lights, often with matching fill-in bibs for deep or strapless necklines.

✧ ✧ ✧

A SOLID FAVORITE, the ankle-length evening dress, is haying a gay season. Black net, embroidered with sapphire sequins in a small, scattered flower design, makes up into a charming dress, with a net scarf attached to one side of the strapless, curved bodice. The skirt flares below a tiny waistline.

✧ ✧ ✧

ENCHANTING little evening caps sparkle atop well-groomed, sleek heads. Pink satin is used for a little coolie-cap detailed with jet-embroidered tip and a rim of pearl beads.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE'RE grateful, as are so many women, that the softly handled shirtwaist dress is tops again. Rich silk surah in a beautiful bittersweet shade is made up into a soft shirtwaist dress, the bodice softly bloused in back. Double pleats, stitched to the hips gives the skirt animation. Sleeves have wide, pointed, turnback cuffs, and fake amber links, to match the button-studs that fasten the bodice.

✧ ✧ ✧

JUST WATCH yellow, especially in sunny tones! Jonquil-yellow marquisette is used for a charming daytime outfit for Southern wear. A strapless bodice and moderately full skirt makes up the dress, over which is a softly bloused lumber jacket of the fabric, its little collar finished with a narrow long bow of black velvet, and a black velvet belt.

✧ ✧ ✧

CHECKS ARE GOOD for Spring and range from tiny, almost pinpoint, designs to big bold numbers. Tiny red, white and blue checks for a smart woollen coat, a full-length design. The softly rounded, rising collar is faced underneath with plain blue woollen which continues down the coat front, and also forms big turnback, split cuffs.

Shady Brim Hats Set Squarely Shown for Spring

PARIS, Jan. 27 — (AP) — It'll take a new type headgear this spring to look fashionable in the Easter parades, say American buyers in Paris for the Spring showings.

"The rather flattering off-the-face styles and helmet shapes which have been in fashion so long are definitely out," said Mrs. Louise Brooks-Fry, New York buyer.

"The new models sit squarely on the head and have brims that cover the forehead—I'm afraid that they are not nearly so youthful looking."

"It's sad for the women, but good news for the hat trade," commented a Boston buyer.

Shady-brimmed boaters and elegant species of the panama shape dominate the collection of Spring hats now being shown by Simone Cange.

Both varieties sit square on the head and reveal a lot of back hair.

Mannequins parading the new models had either Eton crop, raga-muffin or short-bobbed hair styles.

The boaters have flat or small pinnacle-shaped crowns. Their brims start from nothing at the back and widen gradually to project horizontally in front.

The Panama shapes have brims turned at the back and shrunk to hug the shallow crown. They unfurl gradually and curve down over the forehead.

Colors are pretty. Absinthe, sulphur and deep lemon are favored, but anaemic shades are sometimes introduced, as in a natural paillason straw boater garnished with black and chocolate roses.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Pick-up Bits of Marriage Betrayed Woman Advised

DEAR MISS DIX: Although my husband and I have been married nine years, and have three children, we have never in any respect ceased being sweethearts. We are well mated physically, spiritually and mentally. I had been sublimely happy with him until not long ago when I discovered he had been unfaithful to me. He swears that he must have been insane to do it, that he has no feeling whatsoever for the woman, and he has been sweeter and more attentive to me than ever before, but I just can't respond. He has killed something in me that has left me numb. If only I could hate him, maybe it would not be so hard, but I am afraid I shall never do that. It has stunned me so that I have no feeling at all, which will probably make him eventually hate me. Can nothing be done? Is there no way to achieve the happiness that you have lost?

ONE WHO HAS LOST FAITH

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Certainly no blow that ever comes to a woman is as terrible as finding out that the man she loved and trusted has betrayed her. It is a dagger thrust in her heart and it is one from which she never wholly recovers for, while in time the wound may heal, it always leaves its hideous scar.

Can't Forget

It is foolish to say that she can forgive and forget and wash the slate clean with her tears and go on with her life as if nothing had happened. The bond between her and her husband has been broken, and, however you tie it together, the knot will still be there.

But when one's palace of happiness has been wrecked by a cyclone, one can still build out of its ruins a house in which one can find warmth and comfort and security and more happiness and content than there is elsewhere. And I think the woman is wise who does this instead of in her despair fleeing from it into a cold and lonely world.

This I particularly advise you to do because, loving your husband as you do, you will be miserable without him, and because it is literally true that half a loaf is better than no bread at all. And because, in spite of his one step off the strait and narrow road, he is no follower of the primrose path. He is no philanderer, but just a mere human man who has yielded to a sudden gust of passion.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: How does a man tell for certain whether he is in love with a girl or not? There is a certain girl whom I find myself thinking about dozens of times each day. Everything I do somehow links back to something we have done together. Every song I hear makes me think of her. I can go to the most brilliant party and if she is not there it seems dull and I am so bored I am in a hurry to get away, or I can go to the most commonplace affair and if she is any place in the room, just so I can get a glimpse of her now and then, I have a glorious time. Is this love?

UNCERTAIN

ANSWER: It is. It is the real genuine blown-in-the-bottle kind of love that lasts and satisfies, and you need have no hesitation about marrying any girl that you feel that way about.

There are many varieties of near-love that seem so much like the real thing that it is no wonder so many men mistake a slight palpitation in the cardiac region for a fatal case of heart disease. Many men, for instance, think they are in love with a pretty face when the girl has no quality of mind or soul that interests them or appeals to them. Very often a man marries such a girl for her beauty and then inevitably he becomes tired of his living picture.

Very often a woman's attraction for a man is purely physical and that, too, wanes with time and is killed by satiety. If he marries such a woman, their life together is filled with storms and jealousies and fierce fights that often end in divorce.

But when a woman just fills a man's life and glorifies it with her presence she inspires in him the love that lasts and grows greater year by year.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy of 16, born of parents from the old country. I have a carefree disposition and this seems to bother by parents and they are always telling me that a boy of my age in the old country has much more sense than I have. I would like to know is it time for me to become staid and sober

O. H. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No, go along being gay and light-hearted as long as you can. Life sobers us up all too soon. All parents have the delusion that when they were young they had old heads on young shoulders and wanted to work instead of play and sit at home instead of going out with the gang. But it isn't true. Ask your parents to remember things they did at 16.

MOVIE COLUMN

1950 Actors Not So Good Novarro Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27 (AP)—Back in movies after a lapse of a decade or more, Ramon Novarro finds this big difference from the old days—the stars aren't what they used to be.

"In the silent era," he recalled, "there were 18 or 20 stars of first magnitude. Today there are 100 or 200. But they lack the stature and the style of the oldtime stars. They are no longer individual; they look alike and dress alike and cut their hair alike.

"In the old days there was only one Gloria Swanson. There was only one Pola Negri. They had their own style that no one could copy. Where is any new star to compare with Garbo? or Valentino?"

Friday Footnotes

Andy Devine must figure his gravel voice couldn't be any worse than some of the western warblers. He is making an album of western songs, including two square dance records. Besides being mayor of Van Nuys for 14 years, he is the town's champ square dance caller. . .

Don Taylor plays the bridegroom in "Father of the Bride," opposite Elizabeth Taylor. His last picture was with Robert Taylor, who kidded him about changing his name. "Okay," said Don, whose real name is Taylor, "but if I change it, it's going to be Spangler Arlington Brough"—that's (Bob's real handle). . .

Kiwanis Club Urged To Play Part in Boys' and Girls' Work

Boys' and girls' work is big business, Ed. J. Mitchell, executive director of the Kiwanis Boys' and Girls' Club of Toronto, told the Kiwanis Club Thursday. A member of the Toronto Riverdale club Mr. Mitchell was speaking on "What is Vital".

Mr. Mitchell said that time should be spent in working for better boys and girls and not in wishing that the boys and girls were better. He reminded his hearers that children are now being brought up in a important time in the world's history for "over all hangs the uncertain threat of atomic energy."

In the past decade, he explained, the earth has yielded many great secrets such as the discovery of new elements and the splitting of the atom. People have more power today than they ever dreamed of. Children instead of playing cars driven by gasoline are pretending they are driving and flying jet automobiles and planes.

"I submit, the restless energy of world youth today is far more important and effective than the atomic energy of the laboratory. Give youth a chance. Give them guidance and they will turn this energy to the advantage of civilization."

Mr. Mitchell advised telling the children of today that they are free and therefore responsible. He suggested they be told why it is great to be a Canadian by emphasizing the vastness of the country, its resourses and its opportunities for its citizens.

Six things are vital to boys and girls, belief and trust in God, loyality to their country, personal honor, courage, health and optimism.

"Today a boy or a girl will take a walk into the sunlight or into the shadows. They are counting on you. Determine those things that are vital. You are free and therefore you are responsible."

Mr. Mitchell was introduced by George Cheatle and thanked by Ralph Standish.

NEW WAY OF WASHING ENDS DIRTY SOAP SCUM
ORDINARY CLEAN
Soap scum "locks" dirt and grease into fabrics, stiffens fibres so they wear out sooner! It can't all be rinsed out, even in hottest water!
"SURF-CLEAN"
Surf makes no scum, takes out any soap scum left from earlier washings! Fabrics stay strong! Washes are whiter, brighter. SWEETER! . . . "Surf-clean!"
MICROPHOTOS
. . . "fresh-air-fresh" even when dried indoors!
Sparkling white . . . dazzling bright . . . isn't that how you want your wash to be?
You can have a wash that's sweeter, too. One that you know with your eyes closed is really deep-down clean—because it has that sunshiny, outdoor fragrance, that fresh-air-freshness even when dried indoors.
Surf gives you all this. Surf—an amazing new suds discovery—a brand-new, sweeter way of washing everything.
Yes, everything. Not only your dishes, even greasiest wash, but also your delicates, washables and your household linens, bed spreads, and curtains, too. Your "Surf-clean" clothes are the whitest, brightest clothes you've ever seen—and they're sweeter 3 ways:
1. Surf dissolves the clinging, greasy dirt that "clogs" clothes . . . floats it out in a flash!
2. Surf ends your soap scum problem for good.
3. Surf removes germs, gets washes sanitary. Deodorizes them.
Wait till you see the mountain of suds you get. Rich, long-lasting suds in cool water. In the hardest water Surf does, ounce for ounce, 3 times the work of leading washday soaps. Saves you big money.
Surf gets dishes mirror-clean—without wiping! It whisks the grease from pots and pans—leaves no dishpan ring!
Surf gets clothes so quickly. Try it in your washing machine for every washing job. Get the attractive blue box at your grocer's.

6—In Memoriams

DONNELLY—In loving memory of a dear father, who passed away January 27, 1946.
Yes, he sleeps, but not forever
In a long and silent grave,
Blessed promise he shall waken,
Jesus did, the lost to save.
In the dawning of the morning
When the troubled night is o'er,
All the buds in beauty blooming
Will rejoice to see him more.
—Remembered by son Ernie, Norma and grandson.

DONNELLY—In memory of a dear father, Jack Donnelly, who passed away, January 27, 1946.
Remembrance is a golden chain,
Death tries to break, but all in vain,
To have, to love and then to part,
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never—
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
—Sadly missed by his son, Jack, daughter-in-law Judy and grandchildren, Jane, Donna and Michael.

DONNELLY—In loving memory of a dear father and husband, who passed away, January 27, 1946.
His life is a beautiful memory,
His death is our silent grief,
He sleeps in God's beautiful garden
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
His presence is ever near us,
His love remains with us yet,
For he was the kind of a father
His loved ones will never forget.
So we leave him in God's keeping,
The rough road safely o'er,
And our dear one we loved so dearly
Has only gone before.
—Ever remembered by wife, and daughters Dorothy and Margaret.

HANDLEY—In loving memory of John F. Handley, dear father of Mrs. Ira Lowe, who entered into rest January 27th, 1947.
He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way
A helping hand to all he knew;
He was so kind, so generous and true,
On earth he nobly did his best,
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.

JACKMAN—In loving memory of Mrs. George Jackman, who passed away two years ago, January 31.
No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, Since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts, your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not thing of you.
—Ever remembered by her husband and family.

College Education Not Just Meal Ticket

STE. ANNE DE BELLEVUE, Que., Jan. 27.—(CP). —Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University, Montreal, Thursday night attacked the idea that a college education is "a ticket to a good job and a secure income."

Speaking before the annual assembly of Macdonald College here, Dr. James said that this idea is becoming dangerously widespread today.

"I think the fundamental aim of Sir William Macdonald (founder of the college)—and of the founder of every other college and university — was to enable men and women so to develop their minds and characters that they will be able to make a great contribution to the world in which they live," he said.

Star Elizabeth Taylor High School Graduate

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—(AP) —Film beauty Elizabeth Taylor has a new laurel today among her many achievements—her high school diploma.

The girl most likely to succeed was graduated Thursday night from University High School. The other students didn't exactly vote her that honor. In fact, none of them knew her except by her reputation as a movie star.

She has taken the last nine years of her schooling from studio tutors. Because she is the only member of her studio class, she was permitted to go through graduation ceremonies at [illegible] by city high school.

Except for the stares by some of the spectators, 17 year old Elizabeth was treated as just another one of the 193 graduates. She was listed on the program as Elizabeth Rosemond Taylor, right between Kikuye Tanaka and Barbara Joan Terry.

Alberta Group Praised For Play Entry

EDMONTON, Jan. 27 (CP) — The audience got a lesson in what makes a good theatre production when the University of Alberta players Thursday night opened the Alberta Regional Drama Festival with a production of the physchological play "Henry IV."

Maxwell Wray, actor-director from London, used the university studio players' presentation of Luigi Pirandello's play to show the audience and the players what puts a play over.

In a humorous adjudication as entertaining as the play, Mr. Wray praised the company for sensitively handling a difficult production. His praise for the cast's good acting was tempered with criticism of a fault he said he found in two of the seven plays he adjudicated in Vancouver last week.

Mr. Wray said the actors must learn to project the play into the auditorium to reach their audience. They appeared in Henry IV to be trying to achieve a forced naturalness.

Director Separate

"This lack of projection may also have been the result of a thing I disapprove very heartily," Mr. Wray said. "I don't think the lead part should be played by the director."

When the director has to be on stage so much as in a lead part, he often loses sight of the stage as the audience will see it.

Despite these "serious faults," Mr. Wray said the choice of so demanding a play for amateurs was "admirable." The stage sets, as most Canadian stage sets he had seen so far were, "excellent."

Mr. Wray suggested that a director, Richard Orchard should have "cracked the whip" over his cast more to make them give more to their parts. Sue Laylock, the leading lady, suffered from the same tension most of the rest of the cast did.

Apparent Suicide

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 — (AP) — George L. McAlpin, 51, member of a wealthy New York family which once owned the McAlpin Hotel, died of a gunshot wound Thursday in hospital and police termed it "apparent suicide." Operated on a few days ago for a kidney ailment, McAlpin learned he was scheduled for another operation today. His nurse said he told her, "I can never stand another operation."

Fair Directors Elect Stewart For Third Term

Hugh Stewart was re-elected president of the Peterborough Exhibition at the first meeting of the new board of directors Thursday night. It is his third term in office.

Norman McConkey continues as 1st vice-president, and Don Milburn second vice-president.

Harold Rehill was appointed chairman of the committee on attractions succeeding Gordon Hancock who has retired from the board. At the recent annual meeting of the members of the agricultural association Mr. Hancock said that the pressure of his own business prevented him from accepting nomination to the directorate.

New directors attending were Clayton Sanderson and Reeve M H. Johnston, and the two new juniors Kevin Hurley and Reg Ferguson.

Hugh Stewart accepted chairmanship of the property and finance committee in the place of Mr. Rehill.

The directors have not yet decided to extend for the entire week the exhibition this year as on of the features of Peterborough's centenary celebration.

Find Afghanistan Turns To USSR

By ARNOLD FLETCHER

KABUL, Afghanistan, Jan. 27—(AP)—The two-year-old cold war between Afghanistan and Pakistan increases daily in virulence and heat.

Already it has indirectly involved India; it appears to be gaining the serious attention of Soviet policy makers, and it seems almost certain to draw in other powers as supporters, if not allies, of one side or another if it becomes a fighting war.

So far the weapons have been only propaganda and diplomaiy. Propaganda is unceasing and bitter on both sides. So far, Afghanistan seems to have employed diplomacy a bit more successfully.

Early this month Afghanistan and India signed a five-year treaty of peace and friendship providing stronger diplomatic ties and mutual economic assistance.

Squeeze On Pakistan

This agreement, concluded despite India's continued close association with Britain, the old Afghan hate, clear is a kind of squeeze on Pakistan. Some interpreters point out that if Pathan tribesmen are involved in hostilities on the Afghan-Pakistan border, they will not be available to engage in Indian-Pakistani hostilities over possession of Kashmir.

Afghanistan recently reversed her old attitude of fear and suspicion towards Russia. The first signs of this were employment of Soviet technicians by the Afghan Government and the first visit to Kabul of a Soviet trade mission.

Some diplomatic sources in Kabul are convinced that the Afghan Government, disappointed in hopes of military aid from the United States, is determined to seek it anywhere, even if the sources is the threatening Russian colossus to the north.

The current crisis in relations between Afghanistan and Pakistan began in November 1947, when a special envoy, Najibullah Khan, was sent from Kabul to Karachi for conferences with the governor-general, Mohammed A. I. Jinnah, father of the Pakistan dominion.

In these talks the Afghan insisted that "the legitimate freedom of our brethren of the independent tribes should remain secure."

IUE Capture

convention in Cleveland.

Susbsequently the UE was tossed out of the CCL, ostensibly for non-payment of dues. It was generally known, however, that it was because of the left wing-right wing war in the Canadian Labor movement.

Sullivan Comment

Capture of the two former UE plants in Guelph and Cobourg by the IUE did not come as a surprise, C. R. Sullivan, UE district representative, said today.

"A typical example of company-union leadership," he commented.

He claimed the IUE now has a grand total of 250 in Canada.

"Their actions here coincide with their opposite numbers in the U.S.A. where they have been able to capture only a few small shops," said Mr. Sullivan. "It's a case of company-union leadership with the CIO attached to it."

Note Improvement In Shipping Situation

HALIFAX, Jan. 27 —(CP)— Slight improvement in the shipping situation here was noted with the announcement of the release of two freighters of the "Mothball" fleet, tied up here for lack of cargo.

Agents for the freighter Federal Mariner announced that the vessel will sail tomorrow for United States ports where she will be under charter for two months carrying coal to Cuba and sugar to U.S. ports.

Another freighter, the Seaboard Trader, will sail early in February with general cargo from Halifax and Saint John for the United Kingdom.

Twenty idle freighters remain in the harbor.

Poland Pushes Campaign Against Church

WARSAW, Jan. 27 (AP) — Communist-governed Poland is intensifying its campaign against the Roman Catholic church with two priests reported arrested on charges of sex offences and fraud in a charitable institution for children.

The Polish Press Agency, government controlled, also said a Nun, a nurse and a tutor also were arrested. They are connected with an epileptic children's home maintained by the Bonnefrater Monks.

The government already has seized control of the chief Roman Catholic charitable institution in Poland—Caritas—and has set up boards under government ministries to control its activities The government has charged embezzlement and fraud on a country-wide scale in Caritas.

The Prior of the Bonnefrater Monks, Wincenty Floraczak, was brought before a Wroclaw (Breslau) court. The government said he admitted homosexual practices. He also was charged with stealing the institution's funds and with chronic drunkenness.

False Entries

Rev. Mieczyslaw Redel, the institution's accountant, was charged with fraud. A Nun, Szofia Dorsz, was said by the agency to have admitted to "unwittingly making false entries in account books."

A nurse, Jadwiga Smieja, was said by the agency to have admitted beating children and holding them for days in solitary confinement in damp, windowless cellars." The prosecution charged her with sexual offence against the boys in the institution.

A tutor, Ignace Michalowski the agency said, admitted knowledge of homosexuality in the institution and admitted confining boys on orders from the Prior

The government and the Roman Catholic Church long have been in a battle of words. The church has been the target of heavy attack from the controlled press, which also has directed its editorial guns at the Pope and the Vatican. Poland is almost wholly Catholic.

Legion Control Rapped By Arab

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 27 (AP)— Col. Abdullah Tel, top Arab Legion officer during the Palestine war, charged today that British control of the Jordanian Legion was one of the chief causes of the failure of the Arabs in Palestine.

Tel is living in Cairo as a political refugee. He has split with King Abdullah of Hashemite Jordan.

He said Brig. John Baggot Glubb Pasha followed secret British orders while commanding the Legion. Glubb Pasha, a Briton, has been Abdullah's military leader since 1939.

Britain created the state of Trans-Jordan, now Hashemite Jordan, out of her middle East League of Nations mandate. British officers headed its military and British funds supported the Arab Legion.

Tel said that today the Legion is under complete British control and is "a knife stabbed in the back of all Arab states." He urged the Arab League to demand removal of British control of the Legion or else kick Abdullah out of the league as a gap in Arab unity.

Seven-Day Sentence For Revenge Action

HAMILTON, Jan. 27 (CP) — Thomas Caprice, 25, was sentenced today to seven days for his "revenge" action in getting unemployment insurance to which he was not entitled.

Caprice, formerly of Chalk River, pleaded guilty. He also was fined $50 or another 30 days and was ordered to return to the Unemployment Insurance Commission the $79.55 he got illegally

He said he wanted to "get even" for having been disqualified from insurance benefits for a six-week period.

Denies Troops Dying For Lack Of Care

SINGAPORE, Jan. 27 — (AP) —Gen. Sir John Harding, Britain's Far East Commander, today described as [illegible] that the "troops are dying for lack of medical aid" in Malaya.

Sir John also denied that British forces are handicapped in fighting Chinese Communist terrorists in Malaya by inadequate training and lack of essential equipment.

The charges, he said, were made by some soldiers who have returned to Britain and they received wide publicity in Malayan newspapers.

10-Room Farmhouse Destroyed By Flames

HAMILTON, Jan. 27 (CP) — Fire destroyed the 10-room farmhouse of R. J. Penhall at nearby Carlisle Thursday night, causing loss estimated at $15,000.

Volunteer firemen from Burlington, 14 miles away, used water from an overflowing stream to save a large barn.

A spark from a fireplace is believed to have set a partition smouldering. The fire ate its way to the roof.

Left homeless were Mr. and Mrs. Penhall; their children, Ritchie, 16, and Mary, 15; and Mrs. Penhall's mother, Mrs. Phillips.

Campbellford Mayor Visiting Windsor

WINDSOR, Jan. 27 —(CP)— Mayor J. Ernest Ayrhart of Campbellford, who claims himself Canada's million-dollar mayor, was in Windsor and Detroit today to attend to mining business.

He told reporters "I made my million" in 1944 during a uranium strike in northern Quebec. He said all it takes is a slight knowledge of prospecting, a pick and a small shovel. His prospecting trip with a companion was started on $1,000, he said.

Bank Customers Not Very Pleased At Service Club's Fake Robbery

WATERBURY, Conn., Jan. 27 (AP)—Five members of a service (exchange) club staged their own version of the million-dollar Boston Brink's hold-up here Thursday to aid the March of Dimes Polio Fund, and all was confusion.

Between 30 and 35 members of the club took part in a day-long drive that raised a total of $1.044 for the March of Dimes. Five of the group, however, were the headliners.

Togged out in navy-type pea coats, wearing navy hats and with their faces completely covered by Hallowe'en masks, the five emerged from a black sedan and entered the Citizens and Manufacturers National Bank.

As the bank patrons either shrieked with laughter or showed signs of startled surprise, the "bandits" made the rounds asking them to drop donations into deep bank deposit bags. It was disclosed later that the "bandits" had "made off" with $200.

Many witnesses thought the stunt funny, others said they were startled because they didn't realize it was a stunt and thought for a moment it was a real hold-up.

To Charles Dana Tyack, bank president, it was "ill-advised and in poor taste."

Asks Minimum Pension Without Means Test

TORONTO, Jan. 27 (CP) — A "minimum needs" pension without a means test was suggested today by H. D. Burns, president of the Crown Life Insurance Company in an address at the company's annual meeting. He proposed that the pension be made available to all Canadians on a contributory basis.

Mr. Burns also said an "easy money" policy by the federal government in good times will add to the difficulty of maintaining stability in the value of money. All citizens, through their government, had a responsibility in seeing that government expenditures were held in check during good times to avoid giving impetus to an upward movement in prices.

POWERFUL ROCKETS

German rockets tested at White Sands, New Mexico, reached speeds of 3,600 miles an hour and went as high as 105 miles.

Says Cost Of Steel Threatening Economy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)— An economist said today the cost of steel used by New England industries "threatens the normal economic growth" of the six-state region.

Dr. Alfred C. Neal, vice-president and director of research for the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, made the statement in urging construction of a steel mill in New England before the Joint Committee on the Economic Report.

Unless a New England mill is established, steel consumers in the area are faced with "the prospect that in the future they will have to move or go out of business," Neal said.

Hydro Power Rates Boosted At Windsor

WINDSOR, Jan. 27 (CP)—Hydro electric power rates here will increase 15 per cent starting Feb 1, the Windsor Utilities Commission decided Thursday night Word of the increase application has been approved by the Provincial Hydro-Electric Power Commission, officials said.

The increase rate will bring an added $375,000 to the Windsor commission this year to offset increased costs of power, operation and conversion.

Britain Places $5,000,000 Salmon Order

OTTAWA, Jan. 27 (CP) — Negotiations have been completed whereby the United Kingdom will buy a maximum of $5,000,000 worth of British Columbia salmon this year, it was learned today.

This is expected to be the final Anglo-Canadian food contract to be completed in 1950. Britain's new purchases of Canadian wheat expected when the current contract expires next July, will be made under the terms of the multilateral international wheat agreement.

Next year, it is understood, Britain's food purchases in Canada likely will be confined to wheat and cheese. There likely will be no 1951 bacon agreement.

Last year Britain spent $7,000,000 for salmon and obtained about 400,000 cases or 19,200,000 pounds. This year's agreement may be about 15,000,000 pounds, although this is not certain.

Funds to purchase the salmon were diverted from the 1949-50 Anglo-Canadian wheat agreement. Under the switching operation, agreement was reached to divert about $25,000,000 to cover purchases of salmon, bacon and east-coast spruce.

Support Jobless Program Of Ottawa Gov't At Any Time Frost Says

Public Work Projects Already In Mind, Willing To Co-ordinate Ontario Efforts On Nation-Wide Scale

NIAGARA Falls, Ont., Jan. 28—(CP)—Premier Frost says Ontario is ready at any time to discuss with Federal authorities the setting up of a national program of public works to meet the problem of unemployment. "Ontario is spending more than $25,000,000 monthly on public investment projects dictated by necessity," he told the fourth annual conference of Canadian Managing Editors here last night. "These outlays can be increased and a program expanded and enlarged in cooperation with the Federal government to enable us to cope with problems of unemployment.

"We are prepared to discuss these matters with the Federal authorities at any time. We are as near to them as their telephone and all they have to do is get in touch with us and they will find that they will be received in a spirit of complete co-operation.

Will Fit In

"We would be glad to fit in to any over-all public investment program. I repeat that Ontario has a list of projects all ready to go, where money might be spent on development enterprises. If action in unemployment problems is needed, let us get together right now. We will co-operate to the limit and I am sure that goes for all 10 provinces."

Mr. Frost was addressing a dinner meeting of the Managing Editors Conference, which opened Friday and continues to Sunday. The meeting is attended by editors representing all provinces except Newfoundland.

Premier Frost referred to the Dominion-Provincial conference at Ottawa earlier this month as "showing clearly that representatives of the province and dominion can meet in a spirit of goodwill and arrive at sound conclusions and decisions. After all, to sit down in this day of 1950 and completely rewrite our constitution and to hope that we would be able to foresee all the difficulties

Lindsay Farmers Ask Gov't Help On Hog Prices

LINDSAY, Jan. 28 —(CP) — W. E. Tummon, secretary-manager of the Ontario Hog Producers' Association, said yesterday "we cannot permit the government to forsake us on a few months' notice." He was referring to the expected collapse of the United Kingdom bacon market.

Mr. Tummon was a speaker at a protest meeting of more than 500 Victoria County farmers. The meeting adopted a resolution urging the Federal Government to give continued support where necessary to all farm products until price stability put farmers on an equal economic footing with other businessmen.

Mr. Tummon urged the government to put into effect a Prices Support Act clause to maintain floor prices until better times.

Cannot Strike

On reports he had heard from other protest meetings of farmers going on strike, Mr. Tummon said:

"The word strike has never been used. It is impossible for a farmer to go on strike."

The meeting, called by local hog producers and the County Federation of Agriculture, passed resolutions thanking the government for its adoption of floor

Hydrogen Bomb Hanging Fire

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP) —The dispute over whether the United States should produce a hydrogen bomb went on unabated today following President Truman's statement that the decision —his to make—is still hanging fire.

Truman's comment at a news conference Friday was his first public acknowledgement that a new and terrible atomic weapon, perhaps 10 to 1,000 times more potent than the present atomic bomb, is under consideration.

Only a few hours before, Senator Brien McMahon (Dem. Conn.) had acknowledged, without actually saying so, that the Congressional atomic committee has been discussing the weapon.

Traffic Slowup Eased In Germany By Reds

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Jan 28 — (AP). — The Russians allowed westbound motor traffic from Berlin to speed up slightly here today, on the sixth day of the Soviet slowdown on trucks linking the German metropolis with the west.

Persons coming from the Russian side of the Soviet zone border here said there was almost no traffic piled up there as German [illegible] traffic had been moving at a slightly faster rate his morning.

But on the superhighway to Berlin, about 200 Berlin-bound trucks from Western Germany were lined up behind the western check point, waiting for Soviet clearance. The Russians were letting about four vehicles pass their barrier each hour.

Allied and German trains continued normal operations to and from Berlin. Railways officials reported all trains passed through here on schedule.

Highway Robbery

TORONTO, Jan. 28—(CP)—Two curb-cruising purse-snatchers were blamed by police for two more snatches Friday night in which $135 was stolen from two women. Mrs. Rose Valentino told police she was knocked to the sidewalk and robbed of $130. Police said four similar purse-snatchings have been reported in the district in the past two weeks.

Humans Lead Machines Only By A Nose

TORONTO, Jan. 28—(CP)—Canada's chief military scientist said today science has produced machines that can duplicate every human sense but smell and predicted that the tendency to replace men with machines, already begun, will "spread rapidly through all the forces."

Dr. O. M. Solandt, director-general of defence research, said all major armament will soon be fully controlled by automatic mechanisms.

Still Role For Man

Dr. Solandt said man will not be eliminated from future war but "will merely have to do more complex and difficult though possibly safer jobs in devising, building, controlling and repairing the machines."

In a speech prepared for delivery to Ontario's Association of Professional Engineers, he pictured a world of "servo-mechanisms" designed to perform complex functions, things which in general are "very like men" and whose central brain "now offers the greatest possibilities of experimentation."

Military First

It will be many years before atomic power will be widely used in industry but it will be used much sooner for military applications such as the propulsion of warships or submarines, he said.

It has become possible to consider making mechanical operators that can act more quickly and powerfully or even make decisions with greater certainty than the best human operator, Dr. Solandt declared.

Dr. Solandt added:

"All these things are possible through the use of existing knowledge. This means that most of them are ready to pass from the hands of the research scientist to those of the research-minded engineer who will convert the ideas into realities; the crude experimental mock-ups into finished, effective and reliable machines."

700 Form Guard Coed Not Threatened

ST. JOHNS, Que., Jan. 28 (CP) —More than 700 students of all-male Dawson College Friday night that elaborate precautions to protect their queen from being kidnapped before their big annual dance were unnecessary.

The queen is 21-year-old Lois Fulton of St. Thomas, third year arts student at the University of Western Ontario at London. She arrived to preside at the dance Friday night.

The Dawson students deemed it essential to guard their queen because reports coming from the McGill University campus 28 miles away said the Montreal students were preparing to ambush Lois with the idea of taking her to McGill.

Burwash Prisoner Escapes Work Gang

SUDBURY, Jan. 28 —(CP)—Guards from Burwash farm and provincial police today sought 27-year-old John W. Butts, of Enterprise, Ont., who escaped from a work gang from the farm while out in the bush Friday. He had served two months of an 18-month sentence imposed last fall at Lindsay.

Butts has also been known under the names of Albert Garcie and Rockland Stevens.

Doctors Battle To Save Lives Of 6 Small Polio Victims

MONTREAL, Jan. 28—(CP)—Six small children are in hospital here today with doctors battling to save their lives and to discover what started a strange poliomyelitis epidemic in the remote hamlet of St. Augustin, Que., 1,000 miles northeast of Montreal on the bleak shores of the Strait of Belle Isle.

The children were flown here Friday night in an RCAF Dakota transport and today said their condition was "fair" after their long trip.

Wing Cmdr. Eric Campbell of Toronto and Saskatoon, an RCAF doctor from Goose Bay, Labrador, said the six were felt to be the ones suffering from polio who would benefit most from treatment.

He said he had examined many children in St. Augustin this week and that "most of them seemed to be suffering from some form of polio."

There are some 350 persons in Ste. Augustin, about 200 of them children.

One of the main problems facing physicians here will be to find out why the epidemic broke out. Until a year ago, polio epidemics were unknown during the winter.

Dr. Campbell said that the first [illegible] reported in St Augustin was [illegible] died since then.

Flt.-Lt. Stan Yoder of Edmonton was the pilot who set the big, twin-engined Dakota down on the ice near St. Augustin Friday and then flew on to Montreal. Yoder praised the work being carried on in St Augustin by a Miss Van Bushkirk, Grenfell Mission physiotherapist, and by Dr. Neville-Smith. He said Miss Van Bushkirk had been working with virtually no sleep for three days.

Exports Up $3,000,000 Above 1948

Shortage of Dollars In World Markets Cuts Over-All Export

OTTAWA, Jan. 28—(CP)—Canada's bid for a larger share of the rich United States market sent domestic exports to that country soaring to an all-time high last year. But Canada's over-all export drive, hampered by the growing shortage of dollars in foreign markets, fell slightly in 1949. Total exports for the year were $2,993,000,000 compared with $3,075,000,000 the year before and $837,600,000 in 1938.

Total value of domestic export to the US in 1949 was $1,503,459,000, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

This marked an increase of more than $3,000,000 over the 1948 figure of $1,500,000,000.

Greatest Gain

Reviewing exports to the US last year, the Bureau reported that shipments across the border in December were valued at $159,766,000 compared with $147,832,000 in the same month of 1948. The gain — greatest of any month in the year — followed a similar rise of $8,000,000 in November. Gains over 1948 were also recorded in each month from January to June and in August. But the cumulative increase of some $32,000,000 at the end of August was heavily outweighed by a drop of $50,000,000 in September. This loss was offset by the buoyant movement of goods in the last two months of the year.

In December, total exports of all countries declined in value to $285,500,800 from $316,400,000 a year earlier, accounting for more than a third of the year's decrease. Shipments were lower in the month to most geographical groups and principal countries, except the United States and the United Kingdom.

Domestic exports to the United Kingdom in 1949 totalled $704,956,000, up from $686,914,000 in 1948 but below the 1947 total of $751,200,000. In December the value of shipments was $49,884,000 as compared with $48,515,000 in December, 1948.

Aggregate domestic exports to other commonwealth countries for the 12 months were moderately higher in value at $300,815,000 as against $290,431,000 in 1948, but were down in December to $26,816,000 as against $40,906,000 a year earlier.

Italy Trustee Of Somaliland

GENEVA, Jan. 28 (AP)—The United Nations trusteeship council Friday approved an agreement handing back to Italy the former Italian colony of Somaliland for 10 years of supervision. After that Somaliland will be independent.

The agreement is studded with provisions designed to safeguard and smooth the path of the African territory to statehood.

The vote on the agreement was unanimous, but Russia boycotted the meeting and took no part in the debate of voting. Russia gave no explanation for her action.

Italy lost Somaliland as a result of her defeat in the Second World War. She first occupied part of the Somali coast in 1891, although she had obtained commercial advantages there earlier in the 19th century.

Members of the Italian delegation here said the agreement with UN will be placed before the Italian Parliament Monday.

Giuseppe Brusasca, head of the Italian delegation, told the council after it had approved the agreement that the international comprehension and goodwill [illegible] tory to Italy, which was undertaking a task of humanity and peace.

Executive Dies

CHICAGO, Jan. 28(AP)—Harry J. Sullivan, 60, steamship company executive, died Friday. He was president of the Gartland Steamship Company and senior partner of D. Sullivan and Company. Both firms operate freight vessels on the Great Lakes.

Coal Reaches Vancouver, Crisis Remains

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP) — Coal for empty Vancouver bins Friday poured through the Fraser canyon, where giant drifts had blocked rail traffic, but the fuel situation remained serious.

Cold-enforced closure of sawmills has virtually cut off supplies of sawdust, a popular furnace fuel here. Wood supplies are also low and Cal Munro, city fuel inspector, said only about two days' stocks remain.

It was not known when coal supplies, depleted when rail connections east were severed more than a week ago, will return to normal. Weather conditions had prevented shipping of coal from Vancouver Island.

Situation Serious

Mayor Charles Thompson termed the fuel situation a crisis. He said dealers able to make deliveries on Sundays will not be prosecuted under the Lord's Day Act.

Meanwhile, British Columbia dug toward normalcy and wondered what the elements will think of next.

The province feared two possibilities—more schedule-disrupting snow, or another fast thaw

Forecasters said the lower mainland will be clear and cold during the week-end, but a storm moving inland will bring snow to the interior Kootenay region.

Transportation services slowly are returning to normal.

Canadian Pacific Railways have both passenger and freight trains operating through the Fraser canyon, 115 miles east. The first trans-continental passenger train in eight days arrived here at noon Friday.

Second Attempt To Sink Ship

KINGSVILLE, Jan. 28 (CP)—A second attempt within a week to sink the veteran and colorful lake-steamer, the S.S. Pelee, was made during the night.

Details of this latest attempt are scant. Owner Vince Barrie, St Thomas, said in a telephone interview the [illegible] "crackpots."

Early last Sunday morning, two sea cocks aboard the vessel were opened and the hull started taking water. She settled a foot before the fire department arrived to pump her dry and prevent the sinking.

But as the fire department worked on the Pelee a fish tug nearby, the Sandi-Pat, settled first and went down in nine feet of water.

Ask Justice Dep't Award Workmen's Compensation

TORONTO, Jan. 28—(CP)—Removal of the Workmen's Compensation Board from the jurisdiction of the Ontario Department of Labor was urged Friday at the public inquiry into the operation of the Compensation Act. Representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Ontario Mining Industry told Mr. Justice W. D. Roach that the Board's work was of a judicial nature and should come under the legal department of government.

Friday's hearing ended the first phase of the investigation. Mr. Justice Roach now will determine whether the protective legislation is being administered wisely. He is not expected to submit his report for some time.

C.M.A. spokesmen told the commissioner that although there was no suggestion the labor department had yielded, there was a fear "pressure" might be brought to bear on it.

They suggested that to put operation of the act under the jurisdiction of the attorney-general would emphasize its legal status.

Amputees Problems

Most of the final day's hearing was taken up with discussions of problems of workmen who had to undergo amputations because of industrial accidents.

When individuals were given an opportunity to speak as the hearings drew to a close, H. P. Collings on behalf of amputees asked that they be given the option of receiving awards either as pension or in a lump sum.

Mr. Collings said that his own pension of $1.62 was of little help; if he could have received his money in a lump sum he could buy a partnership in an interior decorating business.

Rooming House Fire

Farming Crisis Hannam Fears

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Unless action is taken to head it off, a major crisis is developing in Canadian agriculture, H. H. Hannam said Friday.

The president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture called for greater use of government price support for farm products.

Tumbling farm prices, he told the Dairy Farmers' Association of Canada, might mean lower prices for housewives. But there is a "direct connection between tumbling farm prices and increasing ranks of the unemployed."

"The market outlook for Canadian farmers at this time is definitely discouraging," said Mr. Hannam. Net farm income in 1949 dropped $125,000,000 from the previous year.

"In other words, the situation is much the same as at the beginning of other depression periods."

Flying Officer, Wife In Bowmanville Crash

Two cars which sideswiped on the highway between Trenton and Toronto, three and a half miles from Bowmanville Friday night landed in the ditch and one driver and his wife were injured.

Flying Officer W. A. Speck, who was driving with his wife and two small children from Trenton to Toronto, suffered a fractured leg and his wife's hands was injured. Their small car was badly damaged.

Driver of the other car was Russel Wiggans, RR 3, Bowmanville, who escaped without injury.

Body of Mute Farm Boy Found After Week Search

WATERLOO, Que., Jan. 28 — (CP)—Andrew Larsen, 18-year-old farm youth who has been mute since childhood, was discovered dead of exposure near here Friday after hundreds of friends and neighbors had scoured this eastern townships area for days in an effort to rescue him.

[illegible] body was discovered only a mile from the family farmhouse. He apparently had died last Saturday after wandering from his home. Almost from the first, searchers had feared their search might end in tragedy.

Marc Fortin, George-Aime Jacques and Paul-Andre Rancounrt —were combing a wooded area behind the Warden, Que., schoolhouse when they discovered the boy's body.

For five trying days, searchers had continued to look for the youth although cold weather hampered them somewhat.

Coming in from the woods at sundown, they headed for the Larsen farm, about three miles out of here, and gave mute replies to anxious questions by the youth's mother, Mrs. Ange Larsen.

[illegible] 300 searchers took part in the activities, but cold weather once or twice cut their number down to some 25.

To spur the hunt, Clovis Hamel, Waterloo hotelkeeper early Friday posted a $200 reward for information leading to the discovery of the youth.

Even before this, several persons reported seeing the boy alive in different places and hope of finding him alive again was high.

Rush Planes To Yukon, Push Search

No Trace Reported Of U.S. Plane Missing In Arctic

EDMONTON, Jan. 28—(CP)—Planes from across the continent were converging on the small town of Whitehorse, Y.T., today in a search for a missing United States Air Force transport with 42 passengers and crew members aboard.

While seven planes of the U.S.-A.A.F. and R.C.A.F. prepared to take off from Whitehorse today, more than a score of others were en route to join the search.

The missing transport, a four-engine, C-54 was last reported Friday over Snag, YT, 1,300 miles northwest of here. It failed to report on its trip south at Whitehorse, about 300 miles east of Snag. It was carrying a mother and child, 32 military personnel, and a crew of eight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Montana.

Because bad weather washed off searches in the area east of Snag, and around Whitehorse, planes Friday concentrated on the next probable area. They covered 2,700 square miles around Watson Lake, 220 miles east of Whitehorse.

Hampered By Weather

A report early today said the search was hampered by bad weather.

Heavy blizzards rage over most of the area and it is a rugged, sparsely-settled country.

Hopes were raised Friday when signal lights were seen on Watson Lake, but the report later was discounted by officers at the USAF base in Anchorage, Alaska. They said they likely were signals from trucks in answer to those from searching planes.

The missing plane carried standard equipment for survival in

Churchill Seeks Woodford Seat

LONDON, Jan. 28 (CP)—Winston Churchill enters Britain's election lists officially tonight, only 24 hours after Prime Minister Attlee.

Churchill, wartime prime minister and leader of the Conservative opposition, will be formally adopted as Conservative candidate for North London's Woodford constituency. He will make a policy speech (at 2:30 p.m. EST) when he accepts the nomination.

Attlee, whose former constituency of Limehouse, East London, had been eliminated due to reshuffling of representation which reduces the seats in the House of Commons from 640 to 625, was adopted Friday night as Labor candidate for West Walthamstow, a London suburb.

The Liberal party, Britain's third in strength, approves its platform today in the wind-up of a two-day emergency meeting of its assembly.

Empty Army Hut Burns At Fort Chippewa

NORTH BAY, Jan. 28 (CP) — Fire spread through an unused army hut at Fort Chippewa early today gutting the building in less than an hour. The hut was constructed almost entirely of wood.

For a time it was feared that the fire would spread to the other wooden buildings in the former army camp.

Cause of the fire is unknown. The hut was deserted and there [illegible] tramp or some other person may have entered the building and dropped a lighted cigarette butt on the floor.

"Fire fighting efforts were concentrated on preventing the spread of the flames to other parts of the camp which are used for emergency housing and offices of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Cheese Floor Price Boost From 27 To 30 Cents Asked By Dairy Farmers

Want Government Maintain Butter Prices, Remove Sales Tax From Ice Cream Help Finance Concentrated Milk Export

OTTAWA, Jan. 28—(CP)—Dairy farmers Friday demanded that the government boost the floor price of cheese from the current factory price of 27 cents a pound to 30 cents. At their annual convention, they also asked that: 1. The government help finance the export of concentrated milk products which are unable to compete with lower sterling area prices.

2. The government fix the support price of butter during the forthcoming production season at no less than the current price of 58 cents a pound.

3. The sales tax be lopped off ice cream.

4. Action be continued to press a campaign against the competition of margarine which was hurting butter sales.

Linked with the Dairy Farmers Association demands for government support of dairy prices, was a resolution adopted unanimously by the annual meeting that an advertising campaign be launched to step up domestic sales of dairy products.

Same As 1949

The 30-cent support price demanded for cheese is the same price cheese producers received in 1949. It was the price Canada received under the 1949 Anglo-Canadian cheese agreement. The 1950 support price was cut to 27 cents at factory and 28 at seaboard when the United Kingdom reduced its buying price to 25 cents, basis eastern seaboard.

John Ballantyne, of Atwood, Ont., who presented the cheese resolution, said the farmers were paying higher costs for haulage, labor and equipment this year and yet were getting lower prices for their product.

Out Of Business

This had the effect of driving some producers out of business, with the result that if another war suddenly occurred, there would not be sufficient cheese to meet army demands.

"We are not asking for an increase in the floor price," Mr. Ballantyne said. "All we are asking is that the 1949 price be maintained."

Frank Way, of Ingersoll, said farmers needed a fund to finance the export trade of concentrated products. Government help was needed because under conditions of devaluation Canada could not compete with lower sterling currencies.

Like Other Food

It was unfair that ice cream should bear an eight cent sales tax. It should be treated as any other foodstuff by the government and the tax removed.

Mr. Way disclosed that the dairy farmers were trying to persuade the bakers to use more milk solids in the manufacture of bread. In this way the farmers could widen the sale channels of skimmed milk powder.

Dr. H. C. Bois, of Montreal, brought in a committee resolution that the government be asked not to lower the support price of butter.

Roy Lick, of Toronto, called on the government to pay current market prices for whole milk purchased for military bases.

Red Agitation Expected Soon By French Gov't

PARIS, Jan. 28—(Reuters)—A new phase of the cold war is about to develop in France, according to information received by the French Government.

Cabinet ministers rere are satisfied that instructions from the Cominform have recently been given to the French Communist Party to accentuate agitation in the docks, on the railroads and in arms factories.

The object would be to slow down French production, delay or prevent supplies being shipped to the French Army in Indo-China and hamper delivery of arms from the United States under Atlantic Pact arrangements.

A Communist campaign calling on workers for active resistance against "the dirty war in Indo-China" and "war preparations against the Soviet Union" appears to bear out the information.

Anticipate Trouble

But the government seems to have decided for the first time since the liberation in August, 1944, to anticipate Communist action. It announced last Wednesday that it would not tolerate any sabotage of the National Defence effort.

It also warned employers carrying out armament orders against slackness in putting down sabotage in their factories, and announced its intention of making open warfare on Communist papers trying to evade prosecution for publishing palpably false news.

These measures, without precedent in recent French history, are seen by some observers as marking a new stage in the government battle with Communism.

According to official cabinet sources, it would be wrong to interpret the warning that has been issued to heads of armament firms as indicating some far-reaching demoralization among employers.

The cabinet merely claims to be acting on the view that prevention is better than cure.

Shorthorn Farmers Join Breeding Unit

Artificial breeding is now invading the beef cattle herds as reported from various parts of the province. The Dufferin area was one of the first in which this extension was begun. The interest of cattle men is now becoming general.

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, reported today he had received twenty applications from Shorthorn breeders of the county for membership in the Maple Cattle Breeders Association. The minimum expected from Peterborough is 30. Signatures have been averaging one a day.

Meanwhile, the Maple directors are in the market for Shorthorn bulls. The immediate response from farmers was regarded as warranting this step.

Quebec Premier Denies Fixing Newsprint Prices

QUEBEC, Jan. 28 — (CP)—Premier Duplessis said Friday no newsprint combine or cartel exists except in the "imagination of some badly-informed or badly-inspired persons."

He made the comment when questioned at a press conference about a statement last Tuesday in Washington by Emanuel Celler, Democratic member of the House of Representatives. Mr. Celler said the House Judiciary Committee had information that certain Canadian newsprint firms and certain provincial governments evidently were involved in newsprint price-fixing arrangements.

The Quebec government leader said he felt the statement did not reflect the views of the majority of the people of the United States with whom the Quebec government "sincerely desies" successful commercial relations.

"....We have much admiration for the unchallenged qualities of the Americans just as we have frank and sincere friendship for the United States.

"But there is an old saying: 'Charity begins at home,'" Premier Duplessis added.

Two rescue planes, one carrying a helicopter aboard, left Denver, Col., Friday night to join the search.

Singer Asks Divorce

St. Paul Offered Counsel In Support Of Health

"Glorify God in your body" is the wise counsel of Saint Paul to the Church in Corinth.

"That is equally wise counsel today," states Rev. Dr. R. C. Chalmers, chairman of the Clergymen's Committee of the Health League of Canada, in a National Health Week message. "For such a statement implies not merely a call to personal purity, but also a challenge to all people to care for their bodies as gifts of God and instruments of His purpose."

The Clergymen's Committee of the Health League, sponsors of the Health Week observance — January 29 to February 4— is representative of many faiths, including Anglican, Baptist, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, Salvation Army and United.

"The Church in following Saint Paul's teaching must inspire her people to be concerned about healthful living," says Dr. Chalmers. "Health and holiness, by their derivation, are conjoined. In Shakespeare's day when a person passed the remark about a baby, 'My, what a holy child!', he meant what we imply when we say, 'My, what a healthy child!' Health is important to God as well as holiness. We have no less authority than the healing ministry of our Lord Jesus Christ to support this view.

"In adition to preaching and teaching, the Church can supoprt those voluntary social agencies of public health, such as the Health League of Canada, that are to be found in nearly all our Canadian communities, and thus show a practical interest in the welfare of our people.

"Above all, the Church must continue to inculcate high standards of conduct in the lives of men and women, thus helping to free our Canadian life from the blight of those diseases that have their basis in immoral ways of living. By calling her people to think on those things that are true, honourable, just, pure, lovely, gracious and excellent, the Church can give guidance in those matters that make for the more abundant life, and in which health has a prominent place."

Old Elm Stands On Railway Bed

Roy H. Parsons, retired city engineer, said today he did not definitely know why the elm tree pictured on our Feature Page was permitted to trespass into the traffic line of Robinson St.

"I think the tree has been growing on the right of way of the old Cobourg railway which crossed Robinson St.," Mr. Parsons said. "According to the street plans, as I dimly remember that location, the city's authority stopped at each side of the railway right of way where it crossed the street."

Actually, in that circumstance the tree grew up on railway property although in effect it encroaches on the street.

Old Station Site

The station of the old Cobourg-Harwood-Peterborough railway, for which a road-bed was built across Rice Lake to Hiawatha, occupied much of the ground between Robinson and Hunter St., at the rear of the houses on the east side of Mark St.

The route of the railway is still plainly discernible in each direction from No. 7 Highway. It reached around the east end of Little Lake and crossed through the south end of Ashburnham to the station.

Residents whose years are approaching the century mark say that the station area of Ashburnham was at one time a busy centre of the old "Scotch Village." The fuel yard of McCarthy and Johnston occupies most of it today, and the cold storage plant of Montgomery Brothers is at the south end of the yard, along Robinson St.

$19,000,000 Deal

QUEBEC, Jan. 28 (CP)—Premier Duplessis Friday announced a transaction involving more than $19,000,000 by which the Quebec government turns over a power plant and development rights of two upper Ottawa River sites to the Provincial Hydro-Electric Commission. The government turns over a hydro-electric plant at Rapid Seven with a capacity of 42,000 to 43,000 horse-power and a reservoir at Lake Dozois.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Jan. 28 (CP)—Oats, rye and barley moved in a narrow range Friday as the Winnipeg Grain Exchange reported a very dull market. In the export business, 260,000 bushels of wheat were allocated to the United Kingdom, while 190,000 bushels were earmarked for Eire. There was also an inquiry launched into reports that private Chinese interests, associated with the Chinese Nationalists, had contracted to take a large parcel of Canadian wheat. No confirmation was available here. Prices of Class 2 wheat lost 1 cent to $2.15.

Prices Slip Some As Selling Up During Week

By The Canadian Press.

Stock markets turned nervously this week as increased selling slowly pushed prices lower.

Prices finished the week near the lowest levels of the month.

Activity slowed considerably on the downturn as the market continued in what traders termed a "consolidation" of the gains chalked up in the last six months of 1949.

The Wall Street Journal, in an appraisal of the New York market says in part:

Still Want 7 Per Cent

"The market has become more selective in this testing period. . . Buying is still largely based on dividend income except for the short-pull traders who operate on day to day news. Brokers say investors still are demanding at least seven per cent and prefer 10 per cent of their equities. So long as these yields are available, and there are plenty at this time, the bulls say the market cannot reach too far. The cushion of buyers under market still is large.

"Meanwhile, most everybody in Wall Street is realistic about the outlook for business in 1950. Few if any expect the average company to do better than in 1949."

At New York, The Associated Press 60-stock index closed the five days Friday at 72.6—a loss of .4 from the previous Friday.

Canadian markets also weakened. In Toronto, Industrials sagged steadily to the lowest point on the Exchange's index since late December, losing 3.72 on the week.

Gold Increases

Golds encountered strong support late in the week after touching a six-month low earlier but couldn't recover, easing 1.85 over the five days. Many smaller issues moved briskly into higher ground following development and drilling news.

Base metals lost .76. Western Oils sagged 1.22 on the index despite a strong advance, Thursday.

Grain markets steadied slightly from last Friday. In Chicago, May oats and barley showed penny advances while May rye dipped. In Winnipeg, March wheat and soy beans gained but rye slipped three cents. Corn and oats held firm.

Censorship To Tighten Press Chief Claims

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 28 — (AP)—Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The Associated Press said in an interview Friday that news censorship in great portions of the world "will get worse before it gets better."

Starzel came here to attend the annual mid-winter meeting of the Kentucky Press Association and a meeting of Kentucky members of the AP.

"The trouble," Starzel said, "is that there is a great area of the world where the principle of free reporting is not understood."

Threaten Strike

In Plantagenet, 40 miles east of Ottawa, more than 700 farmers Friday night threatened to begin a production strike unless the government bolsters the prices of agricultural products.

The meeting was attended by members of the Ontario Hog Association and the Federation of Agriculture.

Ray Cunningham of Perth, president of the Lanark Federation of Agriculture, told a farmers' meeting inPerth Friday that present princes, including subsidies, provide little or no income.

About 500 farmers attended the meeting, called to emphasize the seriousness of the farm situation.

Farmers, Mr. Cunningham said must serve notice on labor, industry and government that the farmers' difficulties are more serious than have been recognized. There must be action to avoid a situation where there would be a contest to "see who could best survive under the worst possible conditions."

Roll-Your-Own Cigarettes Come Under Eye of RCMP

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 — (CP). — A thriving new business will go up in smoke if the tax man and the RCMP have their way.

The business, which has sprung up in government offices lately, is the bootlegging of roll-your-own cigarettes to beat the newly increased price of the tailor-made variety.

With ready-made smokes now at 36 cents for 20, enterprising civil servants have been finding a ready market for the more plebian hand-rolled item at 20 for 25 cents.

But, say the RCMP and Department of National Revenue, the Treasury is entitled to a cut on this traffic —one cent excise tax per cigarette to be exact. So the trade comes under the official head of tax-dodging.

And the officials are not fooling.

"This is a serious offence," said one excise man. "If we find any of these people selling cigarettes, we will prosecute them to the full extent of the law."

An RCMP spokesman added: "We are watching this . . . we will crack down where we find any cases of home-made cigarettes being sold by civil servants."

Constitution Difficulties

"The fact is," Premier Frost continued, "that constitutional difficulties will always exist, and they will be dealt with and solved by the people meeting together and seeking solutions to problems as they arise.

"With our present problem of public investment, full employment, social security—these can be effectively dealt with by methods that the provinces and dominion can readily arrive at in conference. There is no need as a preliminary to change the character and nature of our constitution.

"What we need is to introduce a little spirit of co-operation, goodwill, determination and the machinery to get things done, and as far as I am concerned I would like to start right now."

Some Strikers May Return To Coal Mines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—The sudden revival of contract talks by John L. Lewis and soft-coal operators raised tentative hopes today that some of the 88,000 striking miners in the United States might return to work next week.

Lewis and mine owners from the north and west states agreed Friday to reopen negotiations Wednesday. Southern operators weren't included.

May Issue Order

There has been some talk that the United Mine Workers chief intends to issue a direct order to the miners beforehand to restore peace in the troubled areas of western Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio.

Lewis' meeting with officers of the union's District 4 of Uniontown, Pa., last Wednesday was taken as an indication he was cracking down on leaders of the strike in that region.

However, at least three presidents of local units at Uniontown said they expect the walkout to continue Monday.

Hearing Wednesday

Next Wednesday is also the day set by Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech to hear a National Labor Relations Board petition for an injunction to end the Lewis-ordered three-day week. The injunction was asked by operators from all parts of the country.

General counsel Robert N. Denham of the NLRB said he is opposed to postponing the court action to see what happens at the meetings.

The judge himself might decide to put the hearing off for a couple weeks, because part of the complaint made by the coal operators is that Lewis has not bargained in good faith since negotiations began last spring.

Judge Always Was Suspicious Of Coffee Now He's Certain Alcohol Has Its Points

DETROIT, Jan. 28 — (CP) — Judge Joseph A. Gillis, one of five prominent Detroiters seriously burned last week at a banquet explosion of a mixture of liquor and coffee, left hospital Friday and had for reporters interesting comment on the two potions.

Said the jurist:

"From earliest boyhood I have been suspicious of coffee. . . alcohol has been a beloved blessing back through the years almost to the garden of Eden, which was long before those Abyssinians began cooking up their berries.

"The only trouble with alcohol is that even repeated rectifying does not remove all of the water.

"It is volatile, to be sure, but its fire is a loving caress, not a destructive force like coffee."

The judge said when doctors removed bandages from his burned hands the first letter he opened was an invitation from the Anti-Coffee Society of New York asking him to join. He said he promptly accepted.

Other burned at the gourmets party where the coffee royal mixture exploded as it was being lighted, now are improving in hospital from serious burns, authorities said.

Former Lawyer Handles Invitations Given Canada

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Jan. 28—(CP)—The External Affairs Department has appointed a man to handle a phenomenon directly related to the integration of the Western World, a process which may be proceeding more rapidly than many people think.

He is I. C. Pollack, originally of Quebec City, a former Montreal lawyer and wartime naval officer who joined the Department in 1947. He has been placed in charge of invitations to international conferences.

Officials say the advent of the United Nations, the Atlantic Pact and other post-war developments have caused a whopping post-war boom in invitations.

Mr. Pollack's appointment, however, is not primarily related to numbers. It is considered the most logical way to co-ordinate a situation that confronts not only external but every other department of government.

Invitations

Nevertheless the numbers are such now that they have imposed an even greater duty than ever to weed out all those bids which Canada can possibly skip—such as a fairly recent one to attend a conference on preservation of the Belgian stallion.

It is felt that Canada should accept only those invitations that are of direct and important interest to her. Even with this criterion, Canadian delegations went to more than 125 international conferences last year. In 1948, the total was 96.

Nobody has kept count of those rejected but there were many of them.

The numbers alone are a reflection not only of Canada's growth as a world power and of the developing integration of the west but of the fact that Canadians have established a reputation for conciliatory and constructive contributions. They are, thus, the penalty of popularity.

Travel

One of Mr. Pollack's first jobs is to sort out and get in order the list of invitations already on hand some of them involving events two years away. He will end up with a comprehensive picture of just where Canadian delegations could and will go.

It will be Mr. Pollack's job to handle incoming invitations, make extensive arrangements for those Canada will attend, look after terms of reference for delegates, arrange accommodation, transport, information for the uninitiated and see that delegates have the proper credentials.

SIFTS INVITATIONS—Sorting invitations on an international level is the job of I. C. Pollock, of Canada's External Affairs department. Originally of Quebec City and a former Montreal lawyer, he sifts through scores of invitations sent to Ottawa each year asking Canada to send delegates to international conferences.

KITCHENER'S $900,000 Memorial Auditorium, in meticulous model, one-eight of an inch to the foot, constructed in basswood. The model took Austin Harbach of Kitchener 200 hours to build. The Ontario Municipal Board this week gave conditional approval to a by-law to raise the balance of money necessary to build the auditorium.—(Kitchener-Waterloo Record Photo)

Kitchener Now Planning To Build $900,000 Memorial Auditorium

The Memorial Auditorium at Kitchener this week recommended to the City Council that the contract for the new $900,000 arena be awarded to a Kitchener firm. But as in Peterborough, there may be a hitch in their well-laid plans. The Kitchener snag is a $200,000 one, and it hinges on the method of raising that sum.

Pictured above is a model for the proposed arena made by a Kitchener resident. It represents 200 hours of fine craftsmanship and is built to exact specifications of the auditorium plans as prepared by the architects. The ratio is one-eighth of an inch to a foot.

The model measures 3½ feet and is constructed chiefly of basswood. Surrounding landscaping with realistic trees, made of sponge rubber and real tree twigs for trunks, is beautifully done. The gleaming white-walled structure, with pale green top, is a masterpiece of modernistic-type architecture. It is valued at $200.

'Contingent' Clause

A rider on the committee recommendation said that it was "contingent" on the outcome of a telephone interview to be held between George Dunbar, minister of municipal affairs, and the chairman of the committee, Alderman Sturm.

(It was learned from a Municipal Board source that provisional endorsation of the bylaw will be granted prior to the money drive. This would permit immediate ordering of steel. The board order wouldn't become permanent until the $200,000 money drive is completed.

(Commenting on this plan, Mayor Leavine said: "It will be up to council to decide. And if it comes to a tie vote I will favor raising the money first.")

Must Be Clarified

Mayor Leavine objected strenuously to the recommendation in its original form. He felt the committee could not proceed without an interpretation of "contingent" contained in a telegram from the Ontario Municipal Board approving a $900,000 borrowing bylaw.

The board's approval was given in a letter, but it was preceded by a telegram which read:

"Averting to our letter to you of even date, it is understood the board's approval of $900,000 is contingent upon the raising by public subscription of $200,000."

Raise Money First

When Ald. Sturm suggested that the committee should "get going" on the project immediately. Mayor Leavine objected. He said in view of the telegram he felt that the $200,000 should be raised before the contract was let.

"It is a question whether you can start until the money is raised," the mayor said, "and I doubt if council would pass the bylaw. I think we should secure legal opinion from City Solicitor Bray."

Emphasizing the need for haste the chairman said he did not interpret "contingent" to mean that the money had to be raised before the project got under way.

Could Order Materials

He said he knew that the public subscription campaign had to be conducted, but pointed to the time it would take to organize the drive. Meanwhile the materials could be ordered and the contractors could get at the job, he said.

Albert Dunker said if the contract wasn't let until after the money was raised, it would delay the project an additional year.

Mayor Leavine was adamant, however. He reiterated a statement that the best time to get the money is before the building starts.

"This should have priority," the mayor said, "and if it is contingent that we should get busy, I believe we should seek legal advice first."

Committee members Norman Gowdy and John Wagner agreed with the mayor's stand. Some did not commit themselves, but Albert Dunker, John Becker and former mayor James Washburn indicated they were in favor of proceeding as soon as possible.

British Actor To Judge Drama

SARNIA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Michel St. Denis, noted British actor, playwright, director and producer, will judge the cream of Canada's acting talent at the 1950 Dominion Drama Festival in Calgary the week of May 8.

D. Park Jamieson, festival chairman, announced Friday night that Mr. St. Denis had accepted an invitation to be adjudicator at the Festival finals.

He promised that Mr. St. Denis would find a big improvement over what he saw when he judged the finals in Ottawa in 1937.

That year the festival was confined to one act plays. This year, for the first time, only full-length plays will be produced.

Pensioners Marry

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP) — A romance among oldsters culminated Friday in the marriage of Arthur Sitherman, in his 80's, and Annie Howe, 77, who met him two years ago at a community chest summer camp near Cobourg 90 miles east of here. The old-age pensioners were married in a quiet ceremony at Metropolitan Church.

Do Job In Two Years

WINNIPEG, Jan. 28 (CP) — Justice Minister Garson Friday told delegates to the annual convention of the Manitoba Liberal-Progressive Association that revision of Canada's Criminal Code should be completed in two years. He said the revision, first in 50 years, will probably be ready at that time together with a general revision and consolidation of statutes.

KINGSTON, Jan. 28 (CP) — A 70,000,000 volt synchrotron, the most powerful machine of its kind to leave the United States, was formally dedicated Friday. Known as an atom smasher, the machine was built by the General Electric Company for use in Queen's University special high-energy X-ray research.

Will Stand Trial

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP) — Keith Leland, 47, and his wife, Rae, 43, charged with manslaughter in the death of their landlord during a drinking party Dec. 30, Friday were committed for trial. A charge of murdering Thomas Monteith, who died of stab wounds, was reduced recently.

4 Million Television Sets In US Spur Canada Action

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A lonk look at the development of television in the United States may well amaze most Canadian, to whom television is still somewhat of a marvel.

During 1949 the new entertainment medium arrived to stay south of the border. Statistics seem to point up television as one of the fastest-growing industries in the United States.

One estimate says there were close to 4,000,000 receiving sets in use at the end of the year, as compared with some 1,200,000 sets at the end of 1948. From last reports there are 98 television stations on the air as compared with 49 stations a year ago.

The expansion hasn't gone ahead without troubles—most of them technical ones. The Federal Communications Commission in Washington is still trying to iron out the kinks and draw a policy for development of the limited number of television channels.

Canada's First

Canada's first television stations will be opened by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in Toronto and Montreal. But they aren't expected until the middle of 1951 and until then Canadian television watchers will continue eavesdropping on United States programs.

The year just past is generally regarded as establishing American television firmly. A comparison with radio broadcasting gives television high marks.

Sales of time by television stations and networks in 1949 brought $24,750,000 in revenues—almost three times that of 1948 and close to six per cent of radio's revenues from time sales. Factories turned out 2,413,897 television sets as against 7,266,876 radio sets.

Television's rate of increase is showing no signs of slowing down. One manufacturing company (Westinghouse) predicted an industry-wide production of 3,500,000 sets in 1950.

Colour To Come

And something new may soon be added—color Columbia Broadcasting System staged free public demonstrations of color television in Washington recently and got thousands of favorable comments from viewers. The color cameras were used where they could be most effective—on bright fabrics, paintings, flowers and fashions, together with a bright, fast puppet act. Even Blair House, President Truman's residence, had a color set for the entertainment of the president and his wife.

Oriental Course Added

MONTREAL, Jan. 28 (CP) — A Department of Oriental Studies under direction of Mrs. Vandier Nicolas, professor of oriental philosophy, has been established by the University of Montreal, it was announced Friday. The new department will offer courses in Asiatic history and languages and graduates will be able to obtain diplomas in Oriental studies and a Master of Arts degree in Oriental studies.

Congratulations To St. George's

St. George's Anglican Church which has ministered to Church of England adherents and has had an open door to others for the last 39 years has reached the status of a self-supporting, parish church. This week, the Reverend E. C. Moore who has been in charge of the church for eight years, was installed as first rector of St. George's. It was a valued occasion for both rector and parishioners. To them we offer congratulations.

The new status of St. George's results from stewardly zeal of the church people and the growth of the city south of its former boundaries. Now below Lansdowne street there are St. George's (which for years stood alone); its own new mission of St. Alban's chapel; St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic Church, and Grace United. There is also Braidwood Gospel Hall, and on New Romaine Street, Bethel Baptist Church.

North Atlantic Treaty Power

Last April twelve nations of the North Atlantic community treated for collective security of their several and common heritages. A strong cohesive organization was provided for in the Treaty. Since then an architecture of defence has been created, with economic, financial and military pillars. A Defence Committee, a Military Committee, a Standing Group of the Military Committee, and five Regional Planning Groups have been set up under the supreme governing body, the Council, which is composed of Foreign Ministers or their representatives.

Canada has full representation on two of the five regional groups—North Atlantic Ocean, and Canada-United States. (This last group is exclusive to the two countries.) She has representation when appropriate on the Western European group, as do the U.S.A., Italy and Denmark. The nations fully represented on this third group are the U.K., France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. The North Atlantic Ocean group is the largest—U.S.A., U.K., Canada, Portugal, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Norway, Denmark and Iceland. The two groups on which Canada is not represented are Northern European, composed of the U.K., Norway, Denmark, and the U.S.A. when appropriate; and Southern European-Western Mediterranean: Italy, France, the U.K. and the U.S.A. when appropriate. These regional groups provide for co-ordination and also concentration of individual effort in particular regions.

One of the most important agencies of the new organization is the Military Production and Supply Board. This studies deficiencies in military supplies, and recommends to the Defence Committee how best to meet them through self-help and mutual aid. Very soon new munitions will begin to flow to make up the deficiencies, as a result of this planning. The U.S.A. will supply arms and money for arms. Canada can be expected to make a contribution from her own arsenals and factories.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization must now be considered an operational system. Though it is not yet in its final form and social and economic ties have not been completed, it is in good working order. Its purpose is to defend the participating nations against Russian imperialism and to strengthen mutual ties for the prosperity and progress of the nations. It is the military, rather than social and economic, implementation of the Treaty which will be making the news in the next several weeks.

Buying Ice

Canada imported last year, as we noted in these columns Thursday, $110,000 worth of ice from the United States. [illegible] piece of information comes right home to Peterborough, as well as to border cities. One retail ice firm in this city last summer brought in by transport from Buffalo 25 tons of ice a day during the heat wave. The company assures us that during the recent mild weather it has not been importing more ice.

Death Of An Honest Man

The world can ill spare such men as Eric Blair, who died of tuberculosis last Saturday. Over the pen name of "George Orwell" he wrote some of the best criticism of art and life that our time has seen. He had many gifts as a writer, but it was his uncompromising honesty and integrity which gave him special authority. Honest men are few enough in any field; in the realm of political and aesthetic criticism they are as scarce as hen's teeth.

Dishonesty in a political writer may not be calculated. It is much more likely to spring from confusion of mind, from incomplete knowledge, and from a weak-kneed desire to give an impression of fairness by facing all ways at once. Orwell was remarkably free from these troubles. He was a determinedly logical thinker; he wrote only about those things which he knew and to which he could bring some new light; he never feared to condemn what he thought was bad. Understandably he made enemies, but he also helped thousands of people to clarify their thinking, particularly on political matters.

Orwell was attracted toward Communism, but after he had examined it carefully he rejected it. Why he did so may be discovered in the pages of his satirical story Animal Farm. In that book the animals of Manor Farm rebel against their owner, and under the leadership of a pig called Major they take over the farm and set up a state in which all animals are equal. But in the course of time it becomes clear that some animals are working harder than others; they accept this for the common good. Then it is seen that some animals have more privileges than others; this is endured because these animals have given special service to the farm. Then animals whose brains had been very helpful in the revolutionary days are discovered to be nuisances. And animals who venture to complain are sent to the knacker's. And finally it is discovered that the pigs (the new rulers) have struck a bargain with the hated enemy, Man.

It is an uncommonly successful satire, for its meaning is clear but not forced, and it never slips into indignation or sentimentality. But it is a deadly indictment of Communism. And not of Communism alone, but of any governmental system in which a portion of the population is permitted to gain great powers without any corresponding checks upon them.

Because Orwell hated Communism he was sometimes praised by people of reactionary opinions. He was no reactionary. He was that rare and lonely creature, a true liberal. He loved liberty and equality, but he was too well aware of the nature of mankind to think that absolute liberty and absolute equality were anything but ideals. He knew, also, that some of the best qualities in mankind—idealism, trust and self-sacrifice—may bring about evils as great as their opposites. If he had a doctrine, it was that mankind can only be free if there is an eternal vigilance of common sense.

His last book was called 1984; it was a study of the fascist or totalitarian state of the future, and part of its horror lay in the fact that it was only 34 years distant. Again the theme of the state controlled by a few people who were not themselves under any sort of control was thoroughly explored. And perhaps the most frightening aspect of the book was his assumption that whole tracts of human liberty could be lost merely by a general acceptance of the fact that it must be so. Orwell never ceased to be horrified by the readiness of people to nod their heads when they should shake them.

Whether he will have a permanent place in English literature is a matter for doubt. He did not live long enough, or write enough. It is not an empty phrase to say that his best work was still to come. But he was one of the clearest voices of his time, and a tireless enemy of cant and thoughtless acquiescence. And that is no trifling accomplishment for a man whose whole adult life was shadowed by ill-health.

Next Week

Next week has been proclaimed Canadian Girls in Training Week. It has also been proclaimed Health Week. We might remark that the girls of today are the mothers of tomorrow. We might remark that a nation's health is a nation's wealth. We might also remark that next week is the beginning of February; it is only a week or so from St. Valentine's Day; it is but three weeks and a bit to the beginning of Lent; it is a mere [illegible] might be said with truth that next week is not an unimportant one, on several counts.

There is a threat that farmers may sell "bootleg milk". Not to be confused, of course, with the kind that you used to get from the bucket the cow had stepped in.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.
Dear Mr. Hydra:

It will hardly come as a surprise when I inform you that the pace of modern life is increasing. A statistician of international repute (myself, if you want to know) has reckoned that every adult now gets through three times as much in a day as his grandfather; we are not measuring achievement, naturally—only activity. But when it comes to running about, meeting one another, hurrying from town to town, and taking papers in and out of briefcases, our generation is vastly superior to any of which we have record. Even the building of the Tower of Babel (which was probably on a laughably small scale) could not compare with it.

This remarkable increase in activity could not have been achieved without a great deal of hard work, and I think that we owe much to the organizers, heads of speakers' committees, pep and ginger groups, and other eager beavers who have made it possible. And in order that they may meet frequently and exchange ideas on how to goad the rest of the population into even greater activity I am organizing an international association for them alone, to be called "The Friends of Thrombosis". The emblem of the association will be a small wire wheel, with a demented squirrel in it.

I am sure that there are many potential members of this association in the ranks of the Civil Service, and you, as Expediter of Needless Activities, will know best who they are. Will you get them together, therefore—I beg your pardon, I should say "alert them"—and lash them into frenzied activity in preparation for our inaugural meeting.

I intend to be Perpetual Past President of this as yet unorganized society. It is said that at the exact centre of a vortex there is utter calm. If you should want me, you'll find me at the centre of the vortex.

Yours for earlier thrombosis,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Samuel Marchbanks, Esq.
Dear Wee Sammie:

The other day, while pursuing my peaceful rounds as a junk man, I was in the house of a lady who had a good many odd bits of rock and a wheen auld jugs in a glass-fronted cupboard. "And what would ye call those, madam?" said I. "That is my collection of Chinoiserie", said she; "those pebbles are pieces of jade, and the jugs are fine old porcelain". "And why Chinoiserie?" said I. "That is the proper word for Chinese curios", said she.

As you well know, I have a cupboard of my own, in which I keep a scrap of Marchbanks tartan found in a thorn bush after the Massacre of Glencoe; our ancestor Auld Nosey Marchbanks was there, you know, as a war correspondent. And I have the sporran of our Great-great-grandfather, Close Jamie Marchbanks, which is believed to contain a bawbee, but as it is rusted shut I have never been able to get it out. And I have an empty bottle, thrown at our forbear, Fu' Charles Marchbanks, by Robbie Burns. And as well I have a stomacher belonging to our ancestress, Bonnie Meg Marchbanks, given to her by Bonnie Prince Charlie; it is heavily encrusted with cairngorms. I am going to refer to these in future as the Marchbanks Collection of Scotchoiserie.

Your affct. uncle,
GOMERIL MARCHBANKS.

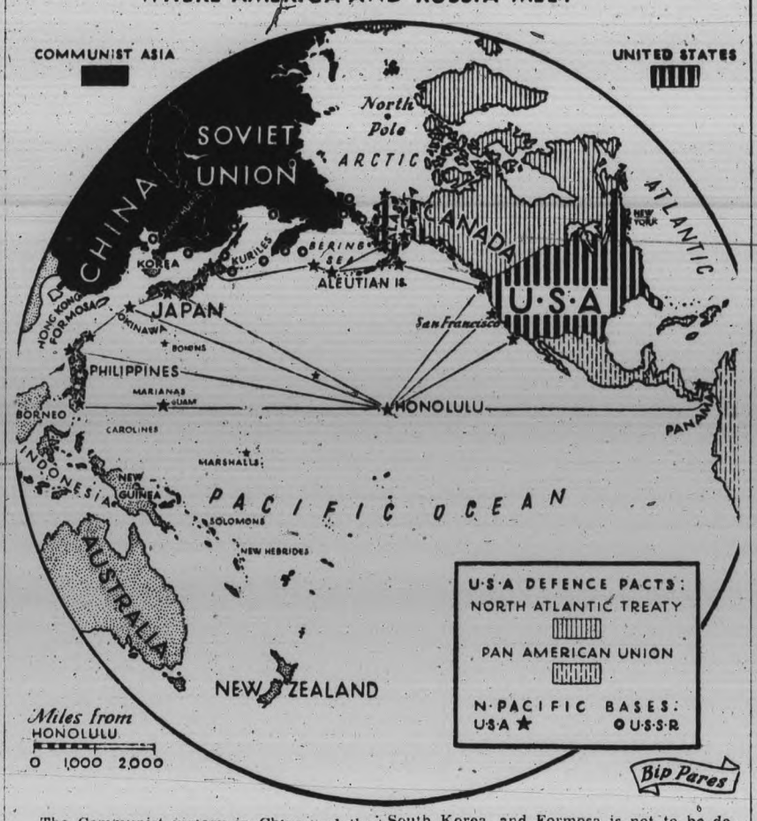
To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.
Dear Pil:

For some years I have been a subscriber to the English review "Horizon"; it has now ceased publication and a lot of people wonder why. I have a theory.

"Horizon" was for highbrows. There are a lot of highbrows in the world—quite enough to keep a magazine going—as well as a great number of concertina-brows like myself, who are able to enjoy highbrowism and lowbrowism alike. But "Horizon" was so persistently gloomy, hopeless, despairing and suicidal in its tone that even I—a cormorant for almost any kind of printed matter—found it impossible to bear.

Why is it that so many highbrows are without hope and without humour? True, there was an occasional funny piece in "Horizon", but the general tone of the magazine was one of despondency. I enjoy a bout of despondency as much as anyone, but I cannot take it as a steady diet. I like to despair about the state of the world and the wickedness of mankind as much as anyone; I spend whole evenings doing nothing else; but I like to rejoice, too. "Horizon" never rejoiced.

Now it has gone bust. Who is surprised?
Not — SAM.



To Mrs. Morrigan
My dear Mrs. Morrigan:

I was at a concert last night where two pianists played Handel's variations called "The Harmonious Blacksmith". Of course Handel never called it anything of the kind and the name was not attached to the piece until long after Handel was dead. But the program notes repeated the old story of how he received his inspiration for the piece while sheltering from a thunderstorm in a smithy. How good old George Frederick would have snorted! He loathed flapdoodle.

But this reminded me of that other legend, preserved in the old Ontario Third Reader, of how Beethoven walking through the streets of Vienna with a friend one night, heard a piano being played in a basement; peeping through the window, he saw that a blind girl was playing to her aged father. "Alas, papa", said she, "If only I could go to the concert tomorrow night, to hear the great Beethoven play, how happy I should be! But (sob) we have no money". Without a word the great composer rushed into the cellar, sat down at the piano and played a magnificent program, improving the "Moonlight Sonata" at the conclusion, and wowing the simple music-lover. As a child I was much [illegible]

What disillusion awaited me when I began to look through the private papers of my ancestor, Wolfgang Amadeus Marchbanks, who was a close friend of Beethoven. Indeed, he was the very friend who accompanied Beethoven on the memorable walk. And my great-great-great uncle Wolfgang says that in reality Beethoven pushed his head through the window and said "Stop that row, woman; if you must play my stuff, stop vamping the bass".

WHERE AMERICA AND RUSSIA MEET

The Communist victory in China and the proposed Peace Treaty with Japan profoundly affect the balance of power in the North Pacific, the only area in the world where Russia and America meet face to face.

Soviet air bases string the Arctic shores of Asia, guard the Bering Strait, Kamchatka and the Commander Isles in the Bering Sea. The Kurile Islands, which, with South Sakhalin, are post-war Soviet acquisitions from Japan, have been reinforced, threatening the Alaskan-Aleutian supply route from America to Japan.

American defence, with its major base in Honolulu, has its advanced bases along a line Japan — Ryukyu Islands — Philippines. American forces have been withdrawn from South Korea, and Formosa is not to be defended against the expected Chinese Communist attack. The formerly Japanese Pacific island bases in the Bonins, Marianas, Carolines and Marshalls, though now under U.S. jurisdiction, are out of use and largely dismantled. U.S. Pacific naval dispositions in the Pacific rely on the use of supply ships rather than static bases, so as to avoid offering a sitting target to modern automatic long-range weapons.

There is a striking contrast between the strength of U.S. dispositions in the Northern Pacific and their complete absence in the Southern Pacific, now also threatened by the Communist conquest of South China and the uncertain situation in Indo-China.

(Bip Pares' map, by special arrangement with The London Observer).

Sir Stafford Cripps

By TERENCE KILMARTIN

"AUSTERITY" is the word most commonly associated with the name of Stafford Cripps. The innuendo is often unfair — Cripps is no enemy of the people's pleasures — but there is no doubt about the austerity of the man's personal life.

He is said to rise at 4 a.m. and to retire to bed at 10 p.m. or earlier. He neither eats meat nor drinks alcohol (though he does smoke), he has a profound sense of duty, is a man of principle and integrity, and a firm believer in the Christian religion.

The picture is impressive but rather forbidding, and Cripps is a man who arouses admiration and awe rather than affections among the general public. Those who know him better, however, talk of his friendliness and humor, and his enjoyment of the simplicities of country life.

Sir Stafford's rise to the top rank of British statesmanship was sudden and surprising. On his return from Moscow, (where he had been British Ambassador from 1940), early in 1942 he became one of the chief national figures almost overnight. Before the war he had been known as the "enfant terrible" of the Labor Party, the militant socialist who ridiculed the monarchy, who fought for a Popular Front with the Communists, and who was finally expelled from the Party on the same day as Aneurin Bevan.

Earlier still he had made his name as one of the most brilliantly successful barristers in the country. The youngest son of a distinguished lawyer, the late Lord Parmoor, he decided to follow his father's footsteps, though at school he had shown a scientific bent that was to prove useful during the First World War when, after serving with an ambulance unit in France, he was recalled to manage an explosives factory. Success at the Bar came rapidly in the twenties, and by the time he was 40 he was earning £30,000 a year.

The qualities that won him those rich laurels — his crystal-clear intellect and voracious appetite for work, his easy mastery of the most various and complex problems — were to make him a great administrator and executive when the revolutionary ardour of the 'thirties was tempered by the stern responsibilities of office.

Since his mission to India in 1942 Sir Stafford has never left the forefront of the national stage. As Minister of Aircraft Production in the war-time Coalition Government and as President of the Board of Trade after 1945, he was an outstanding success, and during the past two years and more as Chancellor of the Exchequer, he has managed the country's economic and financial affairs with a firm and courageous hand.

After the devaluation of the pound in September, 1949, he was accused in some quarters of having misled the public as to the probable effects of devaluation on the cost of living. Though these accusations may have shaken some of the confidence widely felt in him by the general public Cripps' position is secure; he is one of Labour's soundest assets.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Moses called all Israel, and said unto them, Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgements which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep, and do them. (Deut. 5: 1.)

The Lord thy God will raise up unto thee a Prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me; unto him ye shall hearken. (Deut. 18: 15.)

Jesus cried and said, He that believeth on me, believeth not on me, but on him that sent me. I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness. And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my words, hath one that judgeth him: the word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him in the last day. For I have not spoken of myself; but the Father which sent me, he gave me a commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak. And I know that his commandment is life everlasting: whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said unto me, so I speak. (John 12: 44, 46-51.)

And Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up unto a mountain, and sat down there. And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. (Matt. 15: 29-31.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Too bad about our neighbours, the Clubbs," sighed Mrs. Chatter. "They've been married only six months, and now he's beginning to find fault with her looks."

"He did; but now he discovers that he needed glasses."

Little Warren was embarking upon his first venture in saving. He had deposited fourteen cents in his piggy bank, but with the acquirement of each penny was finding the discipline of the task more and more arduous.

The youngster was sitting on the front stoop, peering expectantly down the street when his mother was moved to inquire: "What are you looking for, Warren?"

"I'm looking for the popsicle man," he replied. And then, realizing the import of what he had said, quickly added: "I certainly hope he doesn't come down this street!"

A not-too-recent editorial entitled "Game Protection" had this to say:

"The question of fish and game preservation is not, as in older countries (Europe), one for the advantage of only a class. The whole community is interested in preventing the expiration of these wild denizens of our forests and streams. The continued supply of such important articles . . . is for the manifest benefit of all the inhabitants of this County . . . PETERBOROUGH SET THE EXAMPLE TO THE PROVINCE in the present revival of game protection and should not now fall behind . . ."

The above thoughts were penned with a quill exactly 73 years ago this month by some past Peterborough journalist in his daily newspaper. "When Peterborough set an example to the Province" I like that, and wonder if we have failed our far-sighted forefathers?

Wild Duck Decimation

Many years after the above editorial was written the late conservationist Jack Miner said of wild ducks: "Seventy-five per cent of all eggs laid in Western Canada never mature to full-grown birds." Sportsmen thought he was crazy but last year a group of observers at Delta, Manitoba, found he was right. They watched several duck nests daily and saw crows, ground squirrels and skunks destroy 41 per cent of the eggs before they were hatched. From the remaining live chicks they subtracted another percentage made up of the young which were devoured by snakes, turtles, hawks, owls and fish. Carrying their calculations a stage further, they estimated the number of young flying birds that would be shot on their first southern flight. The observers arrived within a point or two of the figure predicted by Jack Miner.

The great percentage of this loss was from natural enemies, yes? It knocks our comfortable attitude that "Nature balances itself" into a cocked hat. Hunters and fishermen had better see to it now that they kill predators in ratio to their game bags for restocking programs cannot hope to cope with this situation.

He comes around in the late fall to defend his rights in the herd of his choosing and will challenge any male to mortal combat to prove his rights. He stays through the winter and disappears in the spring. And while all this goes on grandmother and the girls remain aloof. It is she who decides where the herd shall go and what feeding grounds are best while the bull struts around full of his own importance. So, if you think you have mother-in-law troubles....

Toca Toucan Wins Cutter Race

Gosh, what fun they had around these parts 73 years ago. Noted in the same newspaper that produced the first paragraph above, was a stirring account of horse racing in cutters at a two-day track meet in Omemee. The big event called the Green Purse "failed to fill" says the account, referring to entries and not cash, we presume, but it was a breathless event, nonetheless. Toca Toucan made the time of 2:48 and threw snowballs at George Wilks and Butcher Billy. The same winner also led the field in the next event, the Dominion Purse, against Jessie Holt, Governor, Honest Billy, Little Rock and Lillian. The Township Purse was won by Governor which "sold as a hot favourite at the pools," and which outclassed Omemee Maid, Humming Bird and Hawkshaw. Ah, for the good old days when they had snow in winter time and the only damp spots were behind swinging doors.

There is much concern and many mixed feelings in regard to muskrat trapping prospects, and the fur market, for the coming spring. January flood waters have drowned out many rat houses and trappers in the Pigeon Creek area say the outlook is very poor indeed. Farmer-trappers along the Otonabee from Wallace's Point south say the same thing. On the other hand, private marsh operators along the north shore of Rice Lake predict a bumper year. Muskrat trapping season opens on March 20, closes April 21st, both days inclusive, and affects the counties of Ontario, Northumberland, Peterborough, Victoria, Durham, Prince Edward and several others in proximity to our local group.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Lord Chesterfield To Son

July 25, 1741

DEAR BOY:

I have often told you in my former letters (and it is most certainly true) that the strictest and most scrupulous honour and virtue can alone make you esteemed and valued by mankind; that parts and learning can alone make you admired and celebrated by them; but that the possession of lesser talents was most absolutely necessary towards making you liked, beloved, and sought after in private life. Of these lesser talents, good breeding is the principal and most necessary one, not only as it is very important in itself; but as it adds great lustre to the more solid advantages both of the heart and the mind.

I have often touched upon good-breeding to you before; so that this letter shall be upon the next necessary qualification to it, which is a genteel, easy manner and carriage, wholly free from those odd tricks, ill habits, and awkwardnesses, which even very many worthy and sensible people have in their behaviour. However trifling a genteel manner may sound, it is of very great consequence towards pleasing in private life, especially the women; which, one time or other, you will think worth pleasing; and I have known many a man, from his awkwardness, give people such a dislike of him at first, that all his merit could not get the better of it afterwards. Whereas a genteel manner prepossesses people in your favour, bends them towards you, and makes them wish to like you.

Awkwardness can proceed but from two causes; either from not having kept a good company, or from not having attended to it. As for your keeping good company, I will take care of that; do you take care to observe their ways and manners, and to form your own upon them.

Your wish will come true. You are going on a journey — let me see — a rather long journey within — let me see — within three months. No, I'm sorry, I can't see the man you are going to marry, but there's good luck here. Yes, there is a tall dark handsome man, but he seems to be a rather distant friend. Now, here is something interesting — VERY Int-er-est-ing. Hmm.

The monologue takes place a hundred times a day in Peterborough. It is the ritual of tea-cup reading. The silent, expectant, half-believing, half-disbelieving tea-drinker, who laughs before and afterwards and says, "Of course, I know there's nothing in it! But it's fun, isn't it?" Yet she (it's mostly women who indulge the harmless practice), she believes more than she lets on. Across from her is the tea-cup reader; solemn, serious (that's part of the game), tilting the cup this way and that, peering, pausing, prophesying from the little traces of tea leaves in the cup; guessing at the meaning (or scientifically pronouncing on them) of the configuration of the leaves.

There are only one of two teashops or restaurants in Peterborough which advertise "cups read," but in every office, shop, factory, and at every tea party, wherever two or three girls and women are gathered together over a congenial cup of tea, there is one in each group who can "read the cups." In fact, if there isn't a real expert among them, one, with more imagination and the gift of the gab than others, is called on, and soon she becomes an expert . . . And really begins to believe half of what she says. It is reported that there are one or two women in Peterborough so expert in the art that they have a steady stream of paid customers to their doors.

Fancy or fact? Whimsy or valid prophecy? What's in the tea-cup, apart from tea leaves? Is it the goblet to the future? No serious scientist would give a tinker's dam for all the prognostications made from tea-cups from here to Timbuctoo. But then, science does not know all the answers, and is not infallible. And, let's whisper it:

It'ssurprisingmydearhowmanyhingsdo cometrueisn'tit,whyonlyyesterdaymy cup-readertoldmeandwouldyoubelieve ittodayIhad

And so, The Examiner, not backward in giving heed to the foibles as well as facts of society, is running a series of "lessons" on tea-cup reading, beginning on this page. The editors are sorry to say that no individual questions can be answered by the newspaper's expert who has prepared the articles.

Indians Cede Kawartha District In 1818; White Traders Among The Mississagas

Progress of Peterborough: IV

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Even before the end of the American Revolutionary Wars, United Empire Loyalists began coming up the St. Lawrence and across Lake Ontario to settle in Northumberland and Durham counties. White trades and settlers drifted into the Port Hope-Cobourg area and went inland seeking suitable locations. Peter Smith started a trading post in 1778 at the mouth of a stream near the Mississaga camp of Cochingomink; the stream later became known as Smith's Creek, and around the post a small settlement grew up before 1800 with houses, a store, sawmills and gristmills, which later acquired the more fashionable name of Port Hope. In 1790 a furtrader named Herkimer took over Smith's trading post, and three years later set up another post on the north shore of Rice Lake near the mouth of the Otonabee, close to the Mississaga camp of Nanabojou (Hiawatha). Herkimer carried his goods back and forth by flat-boat across the lake and by wooden oxcart through the forest to the Lake Ontario front. A few miles to the east of Smith's Creek, Eliud Nickerson built the first crude log cabin in 1798 on the site of Cobourg, and the same year four other settlers joined him, one of whom was Zaccheus Burnham Within a few years Cobourg had mills competing with those at Smith's Creek for the trade of the settlers who streamed into Northumberland and Durham counties, both Loyalists and emigrants from the British Isles.

THE KISS

"I saw you take his kiss!"
" 'Tis true."
"O, modesty!" " 'Twas strictly kept:
He thought me asleep: at least, I knew
He thought I thought he thought I slept."

—Coventry Patmore

About the year 1800 Herkimer sold his Rice Lake trading post to Major Charles Anderson, an interesting character who according to legend lived for many years in regal splendour with several squaws and numerous offspring, ruling the Indians through the debts they incurred for goods, arms and liquor. The story of the Mississagas from this time on is one of gradual decline under the evil influence of the white man's vices and diseases.

Indian Decline

When the first white traders and settlers came to the Newcastle district, the Mississagas numbered several thousands. They roamed in scattered bands through the Kawartha lakes and rivers, with no permanent villages or cultivated lands, living on nature's bounty and the beginnings of trade with the white people. Some bands spent the summer and early autumn around Rice Lake, living on fish, berries, and a little Indian corn grown in the most primitive fashion. They shot wild geese and ducks, which settled down on Rice Lake in enormous numbers on their way south. They harvested the wild rice along the lakeshore from their canoes, beating the heads so that the ripe grain fell into the canoes. This was a period of celebration and dissipation, since the traders gave them goods and ammunition and liquor on credit in anticipation of their winter's catch of furs and skins

Before the ice came, the small family bands loaded their canoes and went silently up the Otonabee and Indian rivers to the upper Kawartha Lakes, where they gathered their winter supply of deer, bear and other wild meat With the coming of snow they settled down to tend their traps and snares to gather the furs which the white men thought so valuable—beaver, mink, otter, fox, muskrat, bear, etc.—which were dressed by the squaws and children during the long months before the ice broke up. In the spring they reappeared as silently down the Otonabee with their canoes loaded with furs and skins, if the season had been good.

Winter and summer, the Mississagas lived in wigwams covered with bark and skins. The ground inside these crude shelters was covered with hemlock or balsam boughs upon which they laid furs and skins, with a fire burning constantly in the middle when the weather was cold. During the long winter months, the squaws made birch brooms, bark baskets, and beaded moccasins to sell to the settlers and storekeepers, and also traded skins and venison for small supplies of salt, powder, beads and trinkets.

The Indians in general had the reputation of being hard to bargain with, but always honest in their dealings. The same could not be said for many of the white traders who tried to exploit and debauch the simple savages in order to reap bigger profits. As the Indians came to depend more and more on the goods, guns and liquor of the white man, many of them lost their ability to fend for themselves among the hardships of the wilds, or to resist the encroachments of the white people upon their inheritance.

Kawarthas Ceded

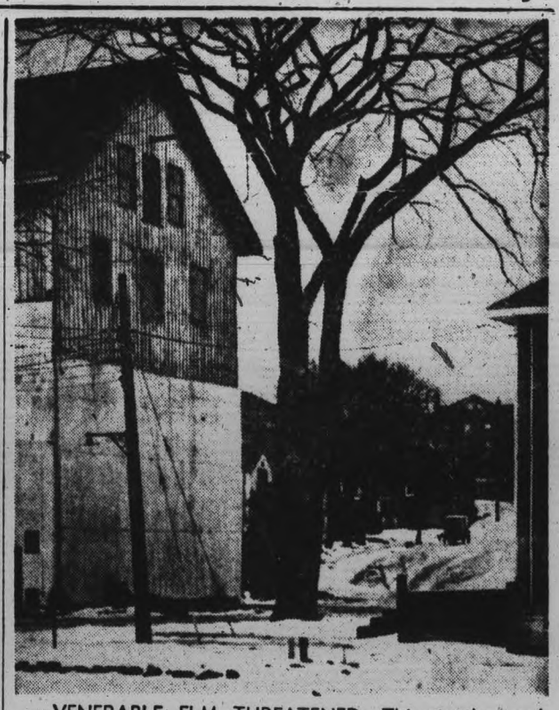
In November 1818, when white settlers had already begun to penetrate the area north of Rice Lake, the government signed another treaty with the chiefs of the six Mississaga bands—Buckquaguet of the Eagles, Pishikinse of the Reindeers, Paudash of the Cranes, Cahgahkishinse of the Pikes, Cahgagewin of the Snakes, and Pininse of the White Oaks—at a Smith's Creek meeting. There the Indians were compelled to cede the Kawartha district to the Crown, the present counties of Peterborough and Victoria with some surrounding townships, totalling about two million acres, in return for an annual grant of approximately $3,500, amounting at that time to nine or ten dollars for each Indian man, woman and child. In addition, the government promised to set aside reservations of land for the bands, and they also had the right to hunt and fish on any unsettled lands in the district.

Many of the tribe refused to settle down on reservations, preferring to move into the northern wilds, or in a few cases to settle among the white people and compete with them for a livelihood. In general, the Indians had a feeling that their treaty rights with the British Crown had been flouted, and several times later in the century they made representations to the government and directly to the Crown.

In 1850 there were 149 Mississagas on the Alderville reservation south of Rice Lake, 134 at the Hiawatha reservation, 52 at the Chemong Lake reservation, and 68 at the Scugog Lake reservation, a tragic remnant of the once-powerful Mississaga tribe. Later they prospered more and in 1911 there were 831 Mississagas on the reservations. The Examiner of April 28, 1949, contained an interesting account of the payment of treaty money to the 240 Indians of the Alderville reservation, an average of $25 each year from the Crown.

Indian Legends

Many Indian legends are associated with the Kawartha lakes and rivers, of which only a few can be mentioned here. Salmon Trout Lake (now Stony Lake) was especially beloved by the Mississagas; from ancient times it was used as a "rest home" for sick and wounded Indians, and they also got their best birchbark and wampum-grass there. Susanna Moodie in her book "Roughing It In the Bush" said that the islands of Stony Lake were "covered with huckleberries, while grapes, high and low-bush cranberries, blackberries, wild cherries, gooseberries, and several kinds of wild currants grew here in profusion."



For most of the 19th century the Indians tried by tales of rattlesnakes and ferocious beasts to keep white vacationers and settlers away from Stony Lake, but failed finally.

Fairy Lake is a mysterious small lake close to Burleigh on the north shore of Stony Lake. According to an Examiner article some years ago, this small lake has neither inlet nor outlet, and yet it is several feet higher in water-level than nearby Stony Lake. The story is that many ages ago it was a much larger lake around which dwelt a tribe of super-Indians who had been ordered by the gods to permit no women to dwell in their camps When their warriors captured the maidens of another tribe far to the south and brought them home as their wives, the gods destroyed the tribe and smashed Fairy Lake into small pieces which scattered all over the region. The present tiny Fairy Lake is the only remnant of the original lake, but is said to retain its special healing power.

Lovesick Lake between Buckhorn and Stony Lakes seems to have acquired its romantic name after the coming of white settlers to the district. Samuel Strickland in his book "27 Years in Canada West" credits the name to the heartbroken sufferings of a handsome Indian brave who was jilted by a blue-eyed Irish colleen named Katherine O'Donohue, and who pined away almost to death on an island in this lake before his friends rescued him. Another legend says that Polly Cow, pretty daughter of the Mississaga chief "Handsome Jack" Cow of the early 19th century (for whom Jack's Lake and Jack's Creek are named) fled to an island in Lovesick Lake and languished away after an Indian youth scorned her love. Beauty and romance have ever since been closely linked together in the Kawartha vacationland.

VENERABLE ELM THREATENED—This stately, aged elm beside the Montgomery cold storage plant on Robinson St., East City, is said to have been a surveyor's point in earlier Peterborough days. Elms, like some other aristocrats, develop hollowness in their cores, and so a move is on foot to have the elm taken down. The story of its having been a surveyor's landmark is, according to J. G. Pierce, Provincial surveyor, Peterborough mythology, and he doubts that it has any foundation in fact. His records say nothing about it. At any rate, the tree is fairly, if not historically venerable.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

TEA-CUP READING

By the Examiner's Own Tea-Cup Reading Expert

(Editor's Note: This series of 14 special articles on the ancient art of tea-cup reading will appear intermittently on this Feature Page. It is suggested that persons interested in keeping the whole series cut out the articles as they appear and preserve them in a scrap book.)

No. I: To Prepare the Cup.

The hostess who knows that guests are to be diverted by the reading of their cups after tea, will select those of her teacups that flare gently towards the top and confine their decorations to the outside surface. She will not use a tea-ball or strainer, but will infuse and pour the tea with no attempt to hold out the leaves.

A very little of the beverage should be allowed to remain in the cup at the end of the tea drinking; the reader then instructs the subject to "will" that her true destiny shall find expression in the symbols about to be formed, and to lift the cup by the handle and swish the liquid around in it three times by executing a rapid swinging motion from left to right. She should then invert the cup gently over the saucer, with the handle towards herself, and hand it slowly three times, making a silent wish. The cup is turned towards the consultant, to assure her luck.

So much for the rites of preparation.

The reader now takes the cup, which has certain fixed points for her. The handle represents the person who is consulting the oracle; it is also significant of time and distance—the nearer the symbols lie to the handle, the more immediate the time implied or the shorter the distance.

The rim of the cup also signifies present time; the sides represent the future, which becomes more and more remote until the bottom of the cup is reached.

After the reading, the consultant will not look again into her cup, and she will be careful to express her appreciation in terms other than thanks to the reader.

5 Sentenced To Die, 2 Russians Hang In Court House Yard

By DAVE WHITE

Shuffling their feet to keep warm on a bitterly cold January morning 30 years ago, a handful of grim-faced officials and newsmen witnessed the hanging of two youthful foreigners in the grey stone confines of the Peterborough County courtyard.

It concluded one of the County's most publicized criminal cases.

Because of the gunshot slaying of a Macedonian immigrant, Philip Yanoff, as he lay asleep in his bunk, five men were convicted of murder. Four of them were Russian born; one was Austrian, and all during their arrest and subsequent trial showed a pathetic lack of knowledge of the language, customs and laws of the land of their adoption.

The fatal shooting occurred in the workmen's bunkhouse of the Ontario Rock Co., three miles east of Havelock, between 3 a.m and 4 a.m. Sunday morning, June 22, 1919.

It rang down the curtain on a tragedy that included varying degrees of naivety and criminal intent, the inept fatal shooting and holdup, an amateurish getaway attempt, and the subsequent conviction of all five on a charge of murder.

Planned Robbery

Originally planned as a pistol-point robbery the criminal venture turned into murder when Tom Konek, one of the two instigators of the plot to steal the occupants' savings, fired a shot killing Yanoff.

That shot — whether due to Konek's accidental tripping on the top step of the darkened bunkhouse stairway or the combination of a trembling forefinger and a hair trigger—resulted in the hanging of Konek and Michael Bahri and the sentencing to life imprisonment of three others They were Sam Zaluski, a returned C. E. F. soldier; Philip Rotensky and Alexander Martynuk.

Four of them were Russian and Bahri was Austrian.

A significant indication of the loose sense of comradeship existing among the five convicted men was revealed later when the three whose sentences were commuted to life imprisonment left Peterborough jail without as much as a word of condolence for their two less fortunate partners in crime.

Though on their way to life imprisonment in the penitentiary the trio felt they at least had a ray of hope left; their two comrades had a date with the gallows five days later.

Peterborough Stirred

Before Bahri and Konek paid the penalty for murder their conduct and particularly their sentence caused much discussion and deep soul-searching in Peterborough. Many citizens felt that Bahri, considered the more intelligent of the two but also the brains of the intended robbery—should have had his sentence commuted.

The Rev. Canon Davidson who gave the men spiritual comfort in the absence of their Russian Orthodox priest from Toronto, the Rev. J. Sechinsky, was deeply affected by the primitiveness of a judicial system whose ultimate argument was a hangman's noose.

As he climbed down from the wind-swept gallows platform, while the two executed men were still swinging to and fro by their necks, he commented:

"There should be some better way. Surely our civilization can find a better way."

Canon Davidson's Criticism

Later Canon Davidson, echoing the sentiments of one section of the local populace, said:

"My comment on the execution is that while I have the deepest respect for the laws of the country, I am more and more convinced that this means of taking the lives of our fellow-men is not in keeping with our Christian civilization. . ."

An editorial in the Examiner the same day, January 14, suggested: "If capital punishment is to continue there is no reason why the gloom and distress should not be confined within the grim walls of the Penitentiary, instead of having many towns and cities upset during each year."

A less humanitarian though quite realistic note was struck when the expense of maintaining the condemned until the date of execution was mentioned as an additional argument in the same editorial.

Many people, however, could not forget the details of the crime and the brutality that accompanied it.

Exact details of what happened will probably never be known But those segments of the varying stories told by the convicted men, when pieced together, unfold an interesting tale.

Scheme Matched

Bahri, the man who later got religion, was the one who originally conceived the idea of robbing the Ontario Rock Co. bunk house inhabited by eight Bulgarians and Macedonians. He had worked there for 11 days—from April 10 to 21, 1919.

The astronomer Johann Kepler (1571-1630) recording his discovery of the third 'law' governing the periodic motions of the planets, wrote: "The book is written to be read now or by posterity—I care not which; it may well wait a century for a reader, as God has waited six thousand years for an observer."

He observed how the simple, foreign-born quarry workers would keep their payroll in moneybelts strapped to their bodies instead of banking it, and he apparently decided it was an opportunity for easy money.

A certain antipathy toward other European Slavs may have aggravated the temptation Neither the victims nor the assailants had been in Canada long and they had not become assimilated to the Canadian way of life.

The exception, perhaps, was Zaluski who had served in the Canadian Army overseas; but even he preferred the company of his Russian friends.

Bahri is believed to have talked over his plan of robbing the bunkhouse with Konek, and the later proceeded to round up a gang.

Zaluski later claimed Konek met him wandering down Yonge St. in Toronto early Saturday evening, June 21, 1919. Konek, he said, proposed a trip to the quarry near Havelock saying he had a friend working there. Then Zaluski was told to wait in a Queen St. pool room for his return.

Missed Train

Later that night he met Bahri and Rotinski along with Konek All four started out for the train at North Toronto Station but were unable to catch one there.

Their small mistake resulted in Alexander Marytnuk becoming involved in the killing.

Konek rounded up Martynuk in a Queen and York St. pool hall and invited him along and the five then went to the Union Station to catch a train for Havelock But for the chance meeting Martynuk would have been saved a life sentence.

Whether all knew the purpose of the mission when they started out is not certain but before they left the train at the village they were all well briefed.

Bahri in Charge

Bahri took charge when the five thugs alighted after midnight and he led the way to the bunkhouse, some three miles east of Havelock in Belmont Twp.

None of them seemed overly nervous about the outcome. After walking to within a short distance of their objective, they produced substantial lunches. And as they sat by the roadside stolidly eating their sandwiches one of them cracked out with a bottle of whisky.

For two of them it was to prove their last round of cheer.

They approached the long shack, used as a bunkhouse shortly after 3 a.m. Sunday. All masked themselves with handkerchiefs; three revolvers and two flashlights were distributed among them.

Konek led the way up the dark stairway toward the unsuspecting victims brandishing a black revolver. Bahri covered the rear.

The Killing

There are several versions of what happened next. According to one account Konek stumbled

Oshawa Grabs Off Top Spot With Junior Win Over IOOF

The local Oddfellows relinquished first place to Oshawa Bees here last night as they bowed 8-4 in a speedy OHA junior "B" joust before a fair-sized crowd. Bun Kingdon's hustling young squad led 3-2 in the first period and were tied 4-all to end the second, but the husky redshirts—the overflow puckists from the junior "A" Generals of the Motor City finished stronger to earn the duke.

Play was quite fast all the way and generally close till well out in the final frame. It was mostly clean, too, with 13 minor penalties handed out, seven to the home squad. The score should have been closer, the Bees being handed a couple of soft markers, once when poor defence clearing left Red Wasson at the mercy of incoming enemy marksmen, and again when Red himself pulled the puck into his own twine. And the IOOF-ers had tough luck around the Motor Citizens' cage, time and again missing some great chances or being outguessed by Hurst. About a 5-4 score on the play would have looked right.

Led the Way

Myles and Brabin paced the visitors' attack with three points apiece, DeGray and Etcher each being in on a pair, as singletons were counted by Attersley—who came back after a nasty cut on the lip—Johnston, McAllister and Wilson. Benny Mason led the locals with two points, one each going to Turner, Baker, Wyatt, Birch, Desjardins and Ron Mason. There was not much to choose among the three local lines, each at times looking real good going both ways. The defence worked hard and Red Wasson pulled some fancy saves. So did Hurst for the victors.

It was a case of the huskier opponents having too much drive toward the finish, though the count should have been pretty close with any IOOF breaks. It was not until the last five minutes of play that the big Bees buzzed in there to clinch matters decisively, though they had the scoring edge through the third. Both sides stuck to hockey, even though one local penalty cost a goal, and each team kept up a fast pace. Several smart goals were counted in the first, two especially by the home crew, a Turner-Wyatt and a B. Mason-Desjardins effort being nifty and fast combination from a centre-ice buildup.

Got the First

DeGray got the first from Myles, but Turner and Baker scored from Wyatt and Birch. Etcher counted on a three-way play and Ben Mason put the Links up from Desjardins. Etcher and Attersley scored in the second, McAllister siding on one, and B. Mason tallied with brother Ron's help. Myles hit the hemp twice in the third for Oshawa, DeGray and Wilson each taking part once, and then Brabin put it on ice late in the third with two solo slams during close-in scrambles.

Oshawa — Goal, Hurst; defence, Crust and Lawrence; centre, Myles; wings, DeGray and Wilson; alternates, McAllister, Marshall, Etcher, Brabin, Johnston, Attersley, Weddup and Deeth.

IOOF — Goal, R. Wasson; defence, D. Wasson and Richlark; centre, Desjardins; wings, R. Mason and B. Mason; alternates, Turner, Floyd, Birch, Wyatt, Doris, Baker, Millar and Fennell.

Australia Challenges Again For Davis Cup

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP) — Australia again has challenged for the Davis Cup in the North American zone, the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced today.

In all, 23 countries have entered the 1950 competition for the international team trophy. Entries close at midnight Tuesday.

Only Australia, Canada and Cuba so far have challenged in the North American zone. Nothing has been heard from Mexico which lost to Australia in the North American zone final last summer.

The United States has held the cup since 1946.

WRESTLING HEADLINER—Manager Jim Laidlaw of the Brock Arena scored what most fans will term the best news of the season, when he signed the British Empire Champion, Whipper Billy Watson to meet Yukon Eric. Without doubt it is the best match the Brock has presented in many a moon, and it should answer the question that is bothering most people: can Watson's tremendous speed and science cope with Yukon's brute strength. Next Thursday will produce the answer. Two other matches are being arranged.

PCVS Lasses Gain Two Over Cobourg

PCVS girls' basketball teams, the seniors and the juniors, waded through the Cobourg lasses in an opening twin bill here Friday of the Lakeshore Basketball League. The seniors walloped Cobourg High senior squad 41-18 while their younger mates were pasting the Cobourg juniors 29-7.

Mary Craw cut loose in the opening quarter of the senior game with eight points to lead the PCI'ers to a 17-2 score at quarter. Mary Braund kept the attack alive in the second as the Cobourgers checked better to hold the locals to a draw 7-7, making the half-time score 24-9. Betty Jaquith with Mary Braund built up the lead to 19 points in the third as Cobourg rallied at first but slipped back. The PCVS lasses coasted in the fourth, holding the Lakeshore girls to an 8-5 score to make it read 41-18.

Mary Braund led the PCVS squad with 17 points while Mary Craw, who was used sparingly after the first quarter, had 11 points. Barbara Thompson, of Cobourg, led her team with 10 points while Eleanor Jones and Mary Webb each had four points for the CCI seniors. Betty Jaquith and Lois Hutchinson, each six, and Peggy Estlick, one, were the other PCI pointers.

Little Trouble

Miss Eva Scott's juniors had a little difficulty finding the range of the basket in the first quarter with Cobourg as the latter kept it to 3-1. Joan Krogh and Rosy McInroy counted in the second to put the score up to 11-1 at the half. The PCI'ers kept piling up points in the third session with Lorraine Derry and Marg Lang running in points with help from Anne LaPointe and Marg Clark, who started play moving quickly up the floor. The PCI'ers had a comfortable 17-point lead at the end of the third, 21-4. Eight more points were rolled in by PCVS in the last, six by Joan Krogh, to three by Cobourg.

Joan Krogh led the PCI'ers, rattling home 12 points, while Rosy McInroy had five. Lorraine Derry, Marg Lang and Pat Nixon four each. Cobourg points were by: Isobel Reedy, three, Dot Taylor and Adele McCuaig two each.

Central Triumphs

Central seniors blanked Queen Alex 9-0 Friday at the arena in a public school hockey tussle. It was closer than the score would indicate. Gardner getting the only goal of the first period. Her Mongraw and Rowley scored in the second, Patterson and Brooks each having an assist. In the third, Mongraw got two, with one each scored by Gardner, Rowley and Delahaye, the latter and Patterson having an assist apiece while Gardner and Rowley helped on two each. D. Stewart and W. Macklin went well for the losers.

Quakers Get Win

Quakers defeated Westclox 4-2 in a neat Industrial Hockey League fixture at Civic Arena. R. Willshaw and H. Willshaw each scored in the first frame for the winners, with W. Lewis and C. Wesenberg getting an assist apiece. R. Willshaw counted one more in the third from H. Willshaw while C. Helmes notched the last one from C. Trude. A. Beavis drew a major penalty, as C. Trude and D. Willshaw each got a minor Hartwick turned in a good effort in the cage.

POW's REUNITED — George L. Norman, a marathon runner, was greeted by two former buddies at German prisoner-of-war camps on his arrival in New Zealand to represent Canada in the British Empire games. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A tip to our friend, Jim Laidlaw, who has been managing the Brock Arena since it quit being the hockey centre of this borough. Up there the other night Pat Flanagan told us emphatically that he personally would give Jim a cold shower bath, clothes and all, the next time he wrestled in Peterborough, if there wasn't plenty of hot water for the after-bout ablutions. That's what he said, and we wouldn't argue with the 230-pound grappler. Something went on the hummer recently with the hot water pipes in the upstairs dressing rooms, and the over-heated matmen grumbled plenty about it. But Jim promised to have it repaired right away, and Flan said it had better be or Jim was in for a dip.

Gananoque plays Legionnaires at 8.30 p.m. Monday in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture. Last appearance of the Gans here this puck semester, and it might be an interesting struggle at that. However, the high-flying Legion crew should capture this contest to continue well in front of the pack, followed a piece back by Kingston and Belleville, and then the Petes. The gallant Gans battle hard every game but find senior "B" hockey a little tougher than the intermediate "A" variety. Other OHA jousts here this coming week have Kingston juniors on deck Wednesday, with Nylons vs. the Petes on Friday.

More Ideas On Race

Bert Woodcock of 459 Chamberlain St. writes: "In regards to a skating race, I would like to suggest an exhibition game between Lakefield and the Legion or Petes. With all OHA players in the district eligible to enter. Each player must carry the puck from centre around each net, with a suitable prize for the winner. Perhaps some merchant would donate a trophy. I would also suggest that all proceeds of such a game go to the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association where all future players will come from." Yes, the kids could really use the do-re-mi to good advantage.

* * * * * *

Ed Haynes writes in the Port Hope Guide: "This Lakefield crew should win the Ontario 'B' title. Undefeated thus far, the Indians have at least five former Peterborough senior 'B' stars in their lineup. Scribe Ceo Perdue, intrigued with the idea of witnessing a game between Lakefield and either Peterborough team, has suggested such a game. The senior teams are anything but enthusiastic over the proembarrassing end of the final score. We too would like to posal, apparently being just a little leery of ending up on the see such a game but must confess that we can see the seniors' point of view. It's bad enough for the district 'A' intermediate clubs to lose to Lakefield."

* * * * * *

Puck Action Aplenty

Nothing wrong with the brand of hockey dished up by the junior "B" teams here last e'en. Oshawa Bees won 8-4 but the IOOF-ers, with any kind of luck around the enemy wigwam, could have just about taken it. But no luck 'em and a couple of softies for the Bees, so instead of about 5-4 it came up 8-4, and the Bees now rule the group hive by a single point over Bun Kingdon's crew. A so-so crowd, and puck fans are gypping themselves by passing up those junior jousts. Oodles of action every minute, some good hockey seen quite frequently, and you never know when a hey-rube will break out among these impetuous and husky young guys. They play for keeps at all times.

* * * * * *

Collegiate colleens romped to two cage victories here last p.m., the seniors taking a 41-18 decision o'er Cobourg, while the junior PCI-ers won 29-7 from their Cobourg opposition. Neill's decisioned Black's 20-5, while Nurses Srs. beat Normals 23-13 last gloaming at the YWCA in loop fixtures. In Toronto, the West End "Y" turned back the male Marines 41-28 in a return exhibition fray. We didn't get the PCVS boys' scores as yet, nor an SPS game. Couple of City League encounters listed for the YMCA tonight as the only local hoop activity of the eve.

Hither And Yawning

Hugh Davis' Redstone ran second in the fifth at Dufferin yesterday....Two dozen Petes and officials on the Lake Placid trip; they tied 3-3 in Gananoque last eve, as Legion lost 8-2 in Kingston, but neither writeup had arrived at this writing ...Port Hope juniors recently won 11-3 over Orono, but Lakefield intermediates last e'en took the Hopers 11-6....Marmora TVL-ers won 8-6 from Norwood; games Monday: Norwood at Frankford, and Campbellford at Marmora....Cobourg plays in Lakefield on Wednesday next....Central seniors of the school loop took Queen Alex 9-0....PMHA jousts this evening: Marines midgets vs. Optimists, and Southend midgets vs. Trojans....We don't know what the local loops depending on natural ice will do now with the rinks not going to operate—you just can't beat bad skating weather ...The skiers, too, have been taking quite a beating all season....If one of the senior "B" game accounts of last night away doesn't arrive soon, it'll have to appear again, as there's an early deadline for sports Saturday....And it approacheth.

Castellani's Victory May Prove Costly One

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP) — Rocky Castellani's decisive victory over slugger Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N. J., may have been the most costly triumph of his budding career.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, Boxing Commission physician, disclosed after Friday night's Madison Square Garden fight that the Luzerne, Pa., boxer suffered a fracture at the base of the left thumb in the third round.

If X-rays confirm Dr. Nardiello's preliminary exam, Castellani will be on the shelf for at least six weeks.

Dropped for an eight count by a whizzing Durando right in the third, Castellani outsped the Jersey rock thrower the rest of the way. Where he hooked his way through the first three, he was content to jab with his injured hand the rest of the way.

Marmora Victorious Over Norwood, 8 to 6

NORWOOD, Jan. 28—(ENS)—Marmora defeated Norwood 8-6 here last night in a fine TVL tilt before a surprisingly big crowd on fast ice. Webb scored for Norwood in the first, while Lavender and McInroy tallied for Marmora, an assist each going to Stewart and Loveless. Norwood markers in the second were by Lonsberry, Webb, Clements and Brown, Webb, Payne and Evans drawing an assist apiece. Marmora shipers were Trumble (2), Goodchild and Kerr, with Stewart, Nayler, McInroy and Loveless each being in on one. Minor Hockey

At a PMHA meeting Friday in the "Y", the resignation of Bob McCabe, owing to pressure of team business, was regretfully received. He was vice-president. Owing to extrawork, Ron Balaam also resigned as scorekeeper but retained his office of publicity manager. It was decided that St. Peter's bantams had used a player not registered with the league, therefore all games in which this player participated will be forfeited, points being awarded the other team: SPS had won 6-4 over Trojans in a bantam go, as IOOF juveniles defeated St. Peter's 8-0. Coleman's took Keene midgets 11-1, while Oddfellows juveniles blanked Keene 12-0 in recent games. Trojans No. 1 bantams beat Trojans No. 2 by a 5-2 count as Harold Coleman's midgets edged Marines 2-1. Trojan juves beat Keene 5-3 as Keene midgets won over Optimists 4-2 in other PMHA games of the past week.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Defenceman Eddie Shore returned to the Boston Bruins' line-up 16 years ago tonight after a 16-game suspension from the National Hockey League following the historic Bailey incident. Ace Bailey, Toronto right wing star, suffered a fractured skull in a collision with Shore in a game at Boston and as a result was forced to quit hockey.

Neill's-Nurses Get Wins In Girls' Loop

Neill's rolled to another Girls' Basketball League victory last night at the YWCA as they took Black's into camp to the tune of 20-5. The second tilt of the twin bill saw the senior Nurses capture a 23-13 verdict over Normals. There were plenty of fouls in both jousts as the rival players hustled all the way in loop fixtures. They go again there next Friday night.

Play was fast and rough in the opener, Neill's having 10 fouls called on them to eight for Black's, the winners cashing in on more with some good sniping. They led 9-2 the first half and had a good margin on play the second stanza. Jean Vass led their attack, while Polly Stewart, Joan Dunk, Wilma Floyd and Dot Callan looked good, too, as did the whole team. Ruth Beard, Marion McKee, Dot McNeely and Ruth Hewitt turned in some good work for Black's all of whom tried hard throughout. Teams:

Neill's—J. Dunk 2, D. Callan 4, M. Freeman 2, F. Floyd, J. Vass 9, D. Saunders, W. Floyd 3, G. Poast.

Black's—R. Hewitt, R. Beard 4, D. McNeely, M. McGill, M. Beggs 1, R. McInroy, C. Ferguson, R. Nayler, A. Hickling, M. Knox.

Second Game

In the night cap of the doubleheader, Nurses Seniors had to hustle plenty to hold an 8-6 edge at the rest period, but they finished strong for a 15-7 margin in the second half. Play was real fast most of the way, with Nurses having a better passing attack. Anita Davis, Bev Pringle and the Deyell sisters went best for the victors. Gladys Clarke, Marg Coombs, Amy Curtis and Marg Holroyd caught the eye with neat work for the Normals, who fought hard to the finish. Teams:

Nurses Seniors—B. Deyell, A. Davis 10, B. Pringle 10, S. Wilkinson, M. Collins, J. Deyell 1, G. Weichorek 2, J. Smith.

Normals—L. Cullis 1, M. Holroyd 2, J. Galway, E. Scriver, G. Clarke, M. Coombs 4, A. Curtis 3, M. Kerr 3.

West End 'Y' Gets Win Over Marines

Toronto West End YMCA cagers were on the beam Friday night as they turned back the local Outboard Marines 41-28 in a return game Friday night in Toronto. The locals first defeated the Toronto quintet in Peterborough last Saturday 65-51.

Fast close-checking by both squads kept the score well down in the first half as it ended 14-all. Marines jumped to a lead early in the second half only to see it disappear after five minutes as the Toronto boys began to break fast, handling the ball well to take the lead and the game.

Foul shots by the Marines were weak and by the number taken could have made the score much closer.

A Defence Star

Bruce Coulter, last fall with the Montreal Alouettes, Dominion football champions, was lined up with the West Enders and stood out on their defensive play. Rocky Kidd, now of the University of Toronto and a former Mariner, joined the locals and was good for six points. Gillespie and Ab Stewart were other big guns for the Peterborough quintet.

Fallis, who played exceptionally good basketball in the last half of the game here, was top man with the points Friday night, 12. Mesdino, Gibson and Coulter each had seven for Toronto while Watts, Traczyk and Watson two each, Schultz and Agar one each.

Kidd's six points entitled him to lead the Marines while Joe Stewart was in for five as was Abbie Stewart. Eddie Nicholls and Chum Gillespie each had four while Burns and Dibben had two each.

Stirling Victors

NORWOOD, Jan. 28—(ENS)—On Wednesday afternoon Norwood high school girls basketball team met defeat in their game against Stirling high by a score of 24-16 in Stirling.

Stirling commanded the play most of the way through, though at the end of the first half Norwood threatened to tie it, Stirling leading by one point.

A. A. Waddell, M. A. O'Shea and R. Mercer drove the girls to Stirling, a kindness much appreciated by the girls.

Stirling—Margaret Drew, Eve Anne Basteda, Doreen Sleeper, Roberta Good, Lois Mason, Verna Sine, Joan Green, Ruth Wellbourne, Patsy Pollock, Eleanor Wells, Doreen Bartindale, Laura McGee.

Norwood—Madge Jones, Audrey O'Shea, Marilyn Radcliffe, Lois Stackhouse, Mary Lynch, Frances Hogg, Nola Nelson, Laura Horne, Elsie Brown, Joan Walsh Luella Lee.

Canadian Curlers Lose 87-85 In First Half Of Test Match

AYR, Scotland, Jan. 28 (CP)—The Canadian curlers' B team Friday lost the first half of the fourth test match for the Strathcona Cup by bowing to the cup-holding Scots 85-87.

The only Canadian rink to win its match was skipped by E. J. Connolly, of Bathurst, N.B. The rink comprised N. C. Ralston, Saint John, N.B.; Dr. C. R. Baxter, Moncton, N.B.; and Walter Limberick, Fredericton.

Their 26-18 victory helped make up the deficiency of the other four Canadian rinks.

Ralston, the B team's captain, said Friday's game was "one of the most keenly-fought in the Strathcona Cup series so far."

Today the second half of the test match will be played at Edinburgh by the A team.

In Kirkaldy Friday the A team downed East Fife province 75-55 in an exhibition series.

Weekend Tilts Important In NHL Scramble

By HARRY ECCLES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The mere fact that no National Hockey League coach is in the prints with a public pronouncement today stresses the importance of the week-end's full card of six games.

Omitting the Detroit Red Wings, still far in front of the pack, the five other teams are all in the hopeful class when it comes to figuring contenders for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

When the regular schedule ends March 26 the two bottom teams go into the discard, and the team that's really on the bottom, Chicago Black Hawks, is still giving plenty of trouble to the others. The Hawks walloped the fifth-place Boston Bruins 5-1 Thursday night.

3-Game Series

Chicago has a three-game series coming up against the Toronto Maple Leafs, and the most rabid Toronto supporter would hesitate to say that Chicago will lose them all.

Tonight Chicago plays at Toronto, Detroit at Montreal and New York at Boston. On Sunday the Leafs go back to Chicago, Montreal to New York and Detroit at Boston.

The Rangers would appear the worst of so far as injuries are concerned at the moment, but they got some good news Friday. Ed Slowinski, the big right-winger who fractured his left wrist early this month, will be back in action against the Bruins tonight. Rangers will also have defenceman Allan Stanley, who has been sidelined with a leg injury.

The Leafs, crippled with injuries earlier in the season, are rolling fast again with only centre Cal Gardner and forward Harry Watson off the line-up.

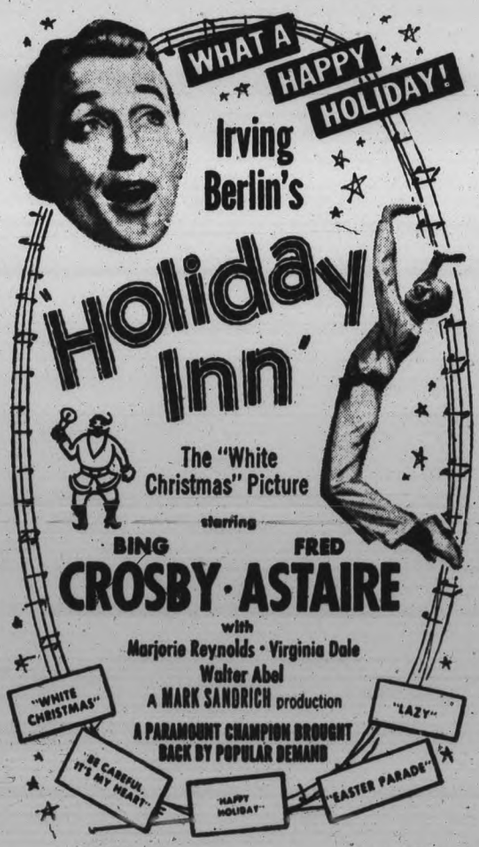
Ottawa Juniors Hot Big Test In Finals

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Ottawa hockey fans, long without a strong Memorial Cup contender are beginning to get excited over their Eastview St. Charles Juniors.

The Eastview sextet ran its unbeaten string to 18 straight games Friday night by walloping University of Ottawa 5-0 to wind up the regular junior city hockey schedule without a defeat.

And despite the fact the city is supporting seven junior teams, the fans hope this may be the year a capital city club will make a strong showing in the race for junior honors. Eastview's 18 games are composed of 13 victories and five ties.

The team still has a long, hard road to travel in their hunt for the Ottawa junior championship but coach Archie Creighton is confident of victory.



Next week the squad takes on New Edinburghs in a best of five semi-final.

Early Teaching Taught Christianity Was For All

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

If we could transport ourselves back through 20 centuries, and see just as it was the world and the environment in which Jesus and His little band of disciples laid the foundations of Christianity and the Christian Church, we should understand something of the wonderment of that beginning, and the seeming miracle of how the church took root and grew.

As it is we see the events through 20 centuries when Christianity and the church are worldwide, when the church even in its outward aspect has become an institution of prestige and power, and when the name of Christ, in profanity or in sincere love and devotion, is on the tongues of countless millions.

We can hardly conceive how small, in an outward sense, was the beginning, in an environment little larger than the smallest American state, in a country itself almost insignificant in size, among the great and powerful empires of that ancient world.

The fact that Palestine was situated always in the centre of those great empires—Egypt, Assyria, Babylon, Persia, Syria, Greece, Rome — gave the Holy Land an actual significance far beyond its size. But the real significance of Palestine was that it was the Holy Land, the land of strange and sharp contrasts, of good and bad, of evil Herods and devout shepherds, but the land in which above and beyond all tragedy was the glory of pre-eminence in spiritual values and religious experience.

The marvel and the explanation of the growth of Christianity are seen in the teaching age and mission of the Master, and in the faith and vision that He inspired in His disciples. As if He might have been speaking from Rome, the centre of world power, instead of from villages insiginificant in the eyes of Rome He announced His mission as world-wide. He commissioned His disciples to go forth and preach the gospel to all the world, even to its very ends, and he assured them that everywhere He would be with them.

But what was even more significant was the fact that this gospel was for every creature—that in a world in which class distinctions were strong, and the great mass of humanity was in some form of slavery or bondage. The universality and power of that gospel, also, soon became manifest. It was not long until there were saints in Caesar's household (Philippians 4:22), and almost from the beginning slaves found a new inward peace and freedom in their outward bondage. Master and slave, rich and poor, Jew and Gentile, all had their place in that fellowship in Christ, where there were no distinctions, but Christ was all and in all (Colossians 3:11).

That was the miracle of Christianity. "If any man be in Christ Jesus, he is a new creature" (II Corinthians 5:17). Any man! That is the universality, radiance, and power of the Christian gospel. If we modern Christians have lost any of its radiance and power, we must recapture the faith and the vision. In the faith and vision in which Christianity began is the sole secret and way of its continued growth and power.

German Churches Show Gains In Memberships

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, —(CP)—The German is slowly but surely returning to his church.

This is the conclusion reached today by both Roman Catholic and Protestant clerics. They agree, however, that it will be a long time before church attendance can once more reach what the prelates call a satisfactory level.

The church—of any denomination—in postwar, Germany is burdened by debt, saddled with bombed-out edifices, worried by political trends, unable to collect enough revenue.

Nevertheless, there are these bright spots:

1—In Western Germany all churches are crowded. There aren't enough churches to go around. Pastors note a "great increase" in attendance. But figures are hard to compile because church records are in sorry shape — thousands of refugees enter the pews every Sunday without being registered. There are few empty seats.

2—Protestant churches in Berlin took in more new members in 1949 than the number that left, receiving 1,407, while striking 1,398 off the rolls. That is the first time this happened since the war. The Catholics in Berlin and the surrounding Soviet Zone area recorded 969 converts this year against 858 last year, and only 276 in 1933.

With complete freedom of worship, West Germany is rebuilding its churches, and gradually the village chapel and the cathedral of the big city are becoming the Sunday meeting place again.

Exceptions

The problem is far different in the Soviet zone. The Communists frown on churchly exphasis. The Lutheran church office in Berlin says frankly that church attendance is down to around 10 per cent of the registered "sous". Some of this is due directly to the anti-church propaganda, the main office said.

The Catholic church, which speaks in Berlin for a diocese that stretches far into the Russian orbit, agrees generally with this view. The office of Konrad Cardinal von Preysing finds solace in a church attendance of 159,000 compared to only 146,000 last year, and creation of 31 new parishes. However, the cardinal's spokesman pointed out:

No Catholic literature may be given out; high theological students are not allowed so that advanced priests must study in Western Germany; all Catholic youth groups are forbidden. The youth in Eastern Germany joins the Communist union only.

Add to these problems the Protestant loss of 25,000,000 reichsmarks in property in Berlin alone through war damage, blocking of 35,000,000 marks in frozen accounts, Catholic losses of just about that much, and the churches' problem is stringent, if not grave.

Both Protestant and Catholic feel the church's future in western Germany is bright, in East Germany uncertain, at least Bishop Otto Dibelius, of the Evangelical Church, said young eastern Germans want to study in the west and this means an eventual drying-up of the source of pastors.

Rev. Walter Adolf, of Catholic diocesan headquarters, said that the Russians are "waging a ruthless cold war against the church, and there is no telling where it will end."

Careless Driving

Smuggling Cheese

FORT ERIE, Jan. 28 (CP) — Large shipments of Canadian cheese have been smuggled across Lake Erie to the United States in recent months, RCMP officers said Friday. They were testifying against John H. Sullivan, 50, of Fort Erie, and Stanley L. Coleman, 28, of Rochester, N.Y., charged in conncetion with what police said was an attempt to export 1,700 pounds of Canadian cheddar cheese without an export document.

The Parthenon of Greece, built on the Acropolis in Athens, was the chief temple to the goddess Athena.

Will Conduct Devotions

Rev. Fred W Craik minister of St James United Church will conduct the morning devotions in behalf of the Peterborough Ministerial Association during the coming week from Monday to Friday. The devotions are heard over radio station CHEX at 8.45 a.m.

Five Bad Wolves 67 Sly Foxes Breathe No More

Clarence Tedford of Warsaw has proven himself top hunter in the Peterobrough district during the past two weeks He put in bounty claims for three wolves and a fox. Altogether the County Clerk and Treasurer recorded claims on five wolves and paid out the $3 bounty on 67 foxes.

Wallace Williams of the Curve Lake Reserve shot 14 foxes, and Ben Taylor, also of Curve Lake brought in 13 pelts.

This brings the total of foxes shot since the bounty became effective on December 1 to 172.

A wolf pelt brings $25 if approved by the Department of Lands and Forests—$15 from the County and $10 from the Department. Mr Tedford's marksmanship will bring him in $78.

His Henhouse Mushrooms After Four Years Of Trial

By NICK NICKELS

Mushrooms are a mania with me. The only trouble is they are too expensive for my budget so I dream of them instead, dream that some day I shall sit down and eat mushroom until they run out of my ears. That would take a lot of mushrooms. I was drooling over them on a restaurant menu the other day, 75 cents on toast, when a short man passed by the counter on his way to the kitchen with a large basket of the lovely things.

"Who is that man?" I asked the proprietor.

He introduced me to Peter Petrakos, the mushroom king of Peterborough and we struck up conversation. He invited me to his farm at 622 Union St., on Thursday, his harvesting day. I was there bright and early.

The long low building on the cluttered lot looks like a henhouse and smelt like a horse stable.

Culture Rooms

I entered a small furnace room through a low doorway and called for Peter. No answer. I wandered through his culture rooms and found eight raised beds jewelled with mushrooms from pinpoint sizes to large clumps as large as my hand. The dark thought entered my mind that since no one was around . . . but just then Peter appeared in the gloom. We sat out in his furnace room and talked about fishing at Stony Lake, his immigrant days in Canada, his boyhood in Greece, and mushrooms.

Peter is 60 years of age and has spent all but 15 of them in the Dominion. There were a few years of work in Ottawa and many more in Toronto until pneumonia laid him low for nine months. Years of standing over hot restaurant ranges had finally taken their toll. The only thing that kept Peter alive was the resolve to quit the big city and find sunshine and clean air and to spend lazy days fishing.

After recovering enough to travel he came to have a look at the Kawarthas of which he had heard so much. That was 12 years ago and he has been here ever since. "Lovies' spot in the worl'," said Peter.

His wife and three married daughters live in Ottawa and his son George has spent a great deal of time with him in Peterborough.

"I cooked in restaurants when I needed the money and when the war broke out cooking in an army camp," Peter said. He was anxious to join up but was too old and came back to this city to do more odd-job cooking and to buy a small chicken ranch on Union Street.

Five Mushroom Years

The poultry venture was a failure and he planned to turn the old hen house into a mushroom farm five years ago. It seemed doomed to failure, too, after four unsuccessful years, but persistence ironed out his difficulties and last Fall he tried again. Will he succeed? If his estimated one and one-half ton crop is achieved by this Spring, I would most certainly say so.

Preparing manure for beds starts in September. It takes six weeks of forking and curing before it can be spread on the raised beds eight inches deep. According to my calculation he handles about 1,000 cubic feet of the stuff and then covers this with an inch of swampy loam.

Spawn In Chunks

The whole building is fumigated for two days before damp spawn in small chunks the size of an egg are planted. The furnace is stoked up to produce 80-degree temperatures for two weeks and then cut back to 50 degrees. By this time the first mushrooms appear and "springing up overnight" is no figure of speech at Peter's farm.

The crop grows from a tear drop to maturity every two days and must be harvested on schedule. Fires must be stoked, or let out entirely during January thaws, the culture beds dampened down and the produce marketed. Peter is a busy little man.

He gathered two or three basketsfull and brought them out to the sorting table in the furnace room.

"You like mushroom?"

I sat there with my tongue hanging out while Peter went into rapsodies about a 22-pound 'lunge he caught last Summer off Eaglemount.

"I can't sell this kind with the brown tops," said Peter, holding up a luscious looking handful.

Before he could pop them into the garbage can I was at his side with a large empty paper bag.

We had mushrooms for supper. Oddles of them. Ahh . . .

Municipal Jobs Well In Hand Survey Shows

By HARRY THEOBALD

Citizens who follow municipal affairs and projects may be interested in the experience and position of Kitchener with four major undertakings which have been in and out of discussion for the last six years. They are: a new incinerator, extension of the municipal yard and buildings, and enlargement of the Doon and Spring Valley sewage treatment plants. Continuing delay is largely caused by financial factors.

Peterborough's sewage disposal problem is on the way to assured solution by the George Hardy Construction Company contract that is now in progress at the disposal plant across the river from the foot of Park St. Transfer and expansion of the municipal yard has been considered here from time to time, but without urgency of action, it has been moved down the list of civic necessaries to a secondary position.

Ald. Doug Miller informed the committee of the whole council this week of the fire and light committee's recent fixing of attention on the proposed building of an auxiliary fire hall somewhere south of Lansdowne St It has been developing of late as a prospect, and is due for "serious consideration" in the preliminaries of the budget.

Slight Surplus

Ald J. E. Gillespie, chairman of the sanitation subcommittee of the Board of Works, reports that his department will likely show a surplus of $2,000 for last year The appropriation last year was $85,000.

"We hope to get along on that amount also for 1950," Ald Gillespie said.

Sanitation committee intends to submit to the finance committee next month a budget based on present equipment and an alternate eliminating the department's horses.

Ald Gillespie said he had discussed this suggestion with J. E Pierce, sanitation superintendent At present the department uses four trucks and four teams in the collection of garbage. Mr Pierce is of the opinion that purchase of two more trucks would discard the last of the horses, and probably save some money for the department. The chairman simply mentioned the proposal as it has been broached, and promised to present a choice of budget.

Motorization Collection

Motorization of garbage collection would entail the sale of the teams and the vacancy of the big horse barn which could be converted into the garage the board of works needs. Council has talked about accommodation for its trucks, and especially the outfitting of repair department in charge of a qualified motor mechanic.

Repair bills at private garages have been scanned at times by the finance committee, and there was an opinion that it might be a move in municipal economy to set up a garage at Townsend St An obstacle to that planning was the cost of a building of ample size and at the price of materials and labor in the last five years

This latest suggestion from the sanitation committee may revive interest in that direction.

Injured When Car Swerves Into Another

When her car crashed into a parked car Friday at 10:50 p.m., Mrs. Eva Wainwright, 67, of 533 Park St., sustained an injured knee and possible fractured ribs.

Mrs. Wainwright told Constables A. Edmison and D. Traynor she was driving west on McDonnel St. when the glove compartment door of her car sprung open. She bent forward to close it and the car swerved, hitting Mrs. Gordon Shanty's car, which was parked outside the Shanty's home, 208 McDonnel St.

Damage to Mrs. Shanty's car included a broken grill, headlights, radiator and front fender

On arriving home, Mrs. Wainwright was attended by Dr. M. Stewart.

City Pussy Willows

Pussy willows in January? Impossible! That is what Mrs. Lavina Robson, 550 Waterford st., would have said until a few days ago, when she saw her willow tree with its buds full blown. The pussy willows have jumped the calendar by two months, giving the Waterford St. lot a springlike appearance.

Ten City Buses Ply Routes To High Schools

Each morning ten buses—specials for schools—spread out from the Ashburnham terminal to various parts of the city, three to George St. south, two to Ashburnham and two to Byersville areas, and one to each of Jackson Park, Charlotte West and Monaghan Road routes. The students are taken directly to the schools, PCVS and St. Peter's High School. This school bus service is one more indication that the city is sprawling.

Five extra buses routed for George St. south, Aylmer St. to Lansdowne St., Charlotte St. west, Jackson Park and Byersville pick up the pupils at 11:45 a.m. for the dinner hour. Four buses return them at 1 p.m.

Thomas Drumm, Bus Inspector, said Friday that the extra bus service started in the early thirties with one bus for each route to service the schools. He explained that an afternoon 4:30 special was discontinued when the changeover was made from 20-

Ovaltine Lights To Be Switched To Aylmer North

With four persons injured in 18 accidents at Aylmer and McDonnel Streets, that intersection has been given a priority in traffic lights over Park and Lansdowne Streets.

J. D. Shortall, a traffic expert with Canadian General Electric Company, investigated Peterborough's traffic control toward the end of last year, and has recommended that signal lights should, "without delay," be set up at Aylmer and McDonnel Streets. He proposed that the traffic signals ordered for Lansdowne St. at the Ovaltine plant be placed at Aylmer and McDonnel and that duplicates be ordered for the southend corner.

In its planning the council had ordered from CGE light for the south end corner at De Laval. If delivery had been faster they would have been placed there months ago.

A recent decision of the Board on Mayor Swanston's motion, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, fell in with the Shortall recommendation. Because of the circumstances of switch, they are asking Ian F. McRea to act virtually as chaser although they are expressing their request more politely that he use his good and helpful offices in getting delivery as early as possible on both sets of lights.

THE EXAMINER'S FEATURE HOME

HOUSE NO. 424—Although the modernists leer at the centre-hall, storey-and-a-half cottage, it is still dear to the hearts of the majority of owners-to-be. There are good reasons for this popularity. A home such as pictured here is compact, economical to build, easy to heat, and requires a minimum amount of maintenance through the years. Added to this is the fact that it fits happily into the Canadian scene. What more could one ask for? First floor walls are of red brick, topped by clapboards painted white. The roof is of red asphalt shingles. Walls and ceilings are fully insulated. Heat is provided by a forced hot air furnace. 5 Sentenced To Die on the top stair in the dark and his gun discharged; another version has it that his fingers, trembling with nervousness, accidently pressed the hair-trigger; and a third, that he fired a shot in the air to frighten the sleepers into compliance.

At the subsequent trial there was no evidence adduced to indicate the shot was intended to either wound or kill. But the fact remained that his bullet hit Yanoff in the neck and the wound proved fatal.

The Macedonian's bunk was adjacent the stairway and it is believed he was shot while still asleep.

What was intended to be just a crude robbery turned into a fatal blunder. The bullet ruined six men's lives—the victim by mischance, Konek and Bahri by subsequent judicial hanging, and the three others through life sentences in the penitentiary.

A lamp was lit and the five men ordered their frightened victims to line up to be looted. The fatally-wounded Yanoff sat up in his bunk and pleaded for a drink of water. Cursing in Russian one of the gang gave him a brutal shove forcing him onto his back and he died shortly afterwards.

The same gang member cut the money belt containing about $400 from Yanoff's inert body and the others scooped up what booty they could. (One of them hid part of his share of the stolen money in the bunkhouse with the idea of returning later to collect it.)

Altogether it is believed they got away with between $700-$800. After warning their victims they left.

To make good their get-away the quintet split up: three took the road toward Indian River station and the other two walked along the railway tracks.

Soon after the robbery and shooting Stephen Bradley, superintendent of the Ontario Rock Co., was summoned by the Macedonians. He found Yanoff dead when he arrived at the bunkhouse and when he looked around carefully outside he found boot tracks. One of these tracks, made by a rubber heel, was later identified as that of Zaluski.

Police Pursue

Bradley and Constable Elias Williams of Norwood started down the track in pursuit of the men after notifying police and railwaymen within a reasonable radius to keep a sharp lookout.

While still following the obvious trail of the men they learned that two of them had been captured by a skilful ruse of John W. Riseborough station agent and Constable Augustus Whibbs of Indian River.

Whibbs suspicions were aroused when he saw two men come up the track. One of them later identified as Konek, asked for a drink of water and stated they were on their way to Peterborough. Whibbs told the two they were guilty of trespassing on railway property and on this pretext locked them in the waiting room in custody of Riseborough.

The three others later came along and were also booked on a charge of suspicion and locked up. All were then taken to Peterborough by car and were assured their detention was on the minor charge.

Disillusionment followed quickly. Once they were safely behind bars questioning began on the murder charge.

A frisking revealed about $600 on the men. Three revolvers, a number of cartridges and at least one flashlight were found in the waiting room by the station agent's little son.

Various sums of money were hidden along the two routes from the bunk house to the Indian River waiting room. Bills were found by the tracks and others were hidden in cracks of the wooden waiting room branches.

All Sentenced To Hang

The men were committed in Peterborough, and tried individually on charges of murder by Mr Justice Mulock at the 1919 Fall Assizes. All were found guilty and sentenced to be hanged a sentence believed unique up to that time in the province's history.

T. J. Rigney of Kingston was the chief prosecutor, assisted by Crown Attorney Hatton.

G. N. Gordon defended Martynuk and Bahri, and B. W. Essery of Toronto, represented Rotenski, Konek and Zaluski.

Juries brought in mercy pleas for all five but the Department of Justice only granted commutation to Martynuk, Rotenski and Zaluski.

On January 22 at 8.30 a.m. stripped to their braces Bahri and Konek filed past their freshly dug graves on their way to the gallows. Within three minutes of leaving their cells the trap had been sprung and both men had paid for their crimes according to law.

Scrap Building Plan

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP) — Plans for a $1,000,000 students' union building at the University of Toronto have been scrapped in favor of a less pretentious scheme it was learned Friday night. The new proposal, which has the unofficial blessing of the university executive, calls for erection of a co-educational student headquarters.

French-Canadian Play Hit On Broadway

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 —(CP) — "The Happy Time" is just the dish for anyone looking for a happy evening at the theatre.

Using Robert Fontaine's story about a slightly wacky French-Canadian family in Ottawa in the early '20s, adapter Samuel Taylor has concocted a tasty, smoothly-seasoned mixture.

Papa Bonnard, the understanding musician; mama, who is Scottish with a stern exterior but a soft heart; grandpere, who still has a roving eye on the fair sex; uncle Louis, who drinks wine from a portable water-cooler; uncle Desmonde, the travelling salesman who collects young women's garters, and Bibi Bonnard, the boy of about 12 who is the central character—they're all there.

The sketchy plot concerns chiefly the problems a young boy faces. In the words of grandpere Bonnard, truth and love are the main things in life—and genuine love, he tells Bibi, is a matter of co-ordination of the heart the mind and the glands. After a hestitant beginning, the play moves from one hilarious scene to another.

Excellent In role

Brooklyn-born Johnny Stewart is excellent as Bibi. The first-rate cast includes Claude Dauphin as papa, Kurt Kasznar as the wine-bibbing uncle, Richard Hart as the garter-getter; Leora Dana, Eva Gabor and Edgar Stehli.

"The Happy Time," directed by Robert Lewis and produced by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II, should be around for a long time at the Plymouth Theatre.

Warm Reception

The critics generally were pleased. Howard Barnes in the Herald Tribune called it "tender, funny and moving." Brooks Atkinson in the Times found the first part dullish but the balance "tender, gallant and funny." William Hawkins, in the World-Telegram and The Sun, said "it is written with brimming heart infinite taste and the most luxurious humor." Richard Watts in The Post, an exception, summed it up as "a desultory and only intermittently entertaining comedy."

Meaty Fare

Of the other incoming plays, T. S. Eliot's "The Cocktail Party," contains the most food for speculation. It is a magnificently-acted play which delves deeply into human imoulses and aspirations.

In "Design For a Stained Glass Window," Martha Scott is superb as Margaret Clitherov, a Roman Catholic martyr in a historical play about the Elizabethan era, but the play itself is heavy going. It is closing this weekend after eight performances.

"Dance Me A Song," a revue produced by Dwight Defre Wiman, is notable chiefly for the monologues of Wally Cox, a former night-club comedian. It has one or two good dance numbers and some amusing sketches but otherwise in an uneven and mediocre show.

Planning Modern Bathroom Needs Care, Color Sense

In the basic arrangement of fixtures in a room, there are a number of factors to take into consideration — the location of doors and windows for one— the placing of the radiator for another. Generally speaking, fixtures should be placed where they will be most useful, even though this may represent a few dollars additional cost. Dollars saved at the expense of convenience will prove costly in the long run.

Other things that must be considered are the location of the stack, and the location of the piping to maintain rapid, efficient draining. Your architect or master-plumber should be consulted early on fixture arrangement; for their wide experience will assure you of securing a convenient, economical room.

Architectural Design

Wall and floor materials plus interesting accessories combined with good arrangement make the bathroom harmonious. Materials for walls and floors should be selected for both utility and decorative beauty. There are many interesting materials available. It should be remembered that the choice of tile, glass, or other more expensive materials means the bathroom so treated will be permanent.

If it is deemed advisable to be able to change the treatment at intervals, less permanent materials such as wall paper for the walls or inexpensive linoleum for the floor can be selected. Amplifications of all kinds can be obtained through the use of interesting details in doors and windows with lighting, cabinets, mirrors, dressing tables, etc. In the selection of decoration, with the help and advice of your architect, your individuality may have free reign.

Today, when economy is the keynote everywhere, color is a great boon, and its scope limited only by your own imagination. Wall materials, floor materials, linens and other accessories are available in a host of colors which you can assemble as you please. There are some basic rules which serve as a guide, and assure a pleasing, delightful room. This subject, with many suggested harmonies, is discussed in more detail in literature from leading paint manufacturers.

Bathroom Colors

In planning a bathroom, most people prefer white fixtures. But fixtures are again becoming available in a choice of colors to suit any taste.

This variety will not only offer a wide selection but also an opportunity for interesting color effects in your bathroom. With white fixtures of course, any color scheme that suits the fancy may be used. A little greater care should be exercised when colored fixtures are used. In such a case the fixture should be considered the basic color of the room, and other colors keyed to it.

Good lighting for shaving and putting on make-up is an essential in today's bathroom, and don't forget that a full length door mirror will be a convenience you'll appreciate every day of your life. If at all possible avoid placing the bathroom window over the tub. Not only is it in an awkward position to open and close, but condensation will tend to make it stick, and the shade and curtains will quickly become limp with moisture.

New Research Begins Against Blindness

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP) — A new attack on glaucoma, commonest form of blindness in Canada, is being launched by University of Toronto scientists, Dr Sidney Smith announced Friday. The University president said an initial grant of $8,200 of Federal funds had been earmarked for this purpose by the Ontario Department of Health.

The project, which may last five years, will be carried on in the Banting Institute, the Toronto General Hospital and possibly other university teaching hospitals.

ACTH Used New Way

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP) — Evidence that one or two injections of extremely-scarce ACTH can stop an attack of acute gout was reported Friday in the Journal of the American Medical Association. ACTH is the new hormone that has proved effective against a long list of diseases that defied other treatment. But it is so scarce it has been used only experimentally.

Pastor Proves Inspiration To Film Star

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28 (AP)—Most of Hollywood was surprised when Colleen Townsend renounced film acting for a religious career. But not those who know her pastor.

He is the Rev. Louis H. Evans, a man with the build and the dynamic qualities of a pro football tackle. His First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood is the largest Presbyterian congregation in the United States (5,600 members; 4,200 Sunday school students) And he has some strong ideas about his parish.

"There is no more sin in Hollywood than in any other American community," he told me. "As a matter of fact, I have heard there is a larger percentage of churchgoers here than in any other part of California.

Godly People

"I'm not saying there is no sin in Hollywood. Some of the stories that are told across my desk would make you sick. But the same sort of thing is going on in every American town.

"When I first came out here some of my staid eastern friends were shocked. I was even criticized for bringing up my children in Hollywood. I can truthfully say that some of the people here are among the finest, most Godly people I have ever known."

Among the more noted members of Dr. Evans' church are Dennis Morgan, Virginia Mayo, Michael O'Shea, Rhonda Fleming and Porter Hall. Of Miss Townsend, the minister remarked:

Consecrated Girl

"She is a fine, consecrated girl. It takes a lot of courage and faith to pass up a six-figure salary, as she did."

After the story broke, he declined to pose for pictures with the actress. "It is her decision," he said. "Besides, I do not want to appear to advocate that people should get out of the movie industry and into religion. Some people can get in their licks by staying in films."

Despite his defence of Hollywood, Dr. Evans said there is room for it to reform.

"There is a common notion that all the pictures and the publicity that come out of Hollywood must have a lecherous slant," he remarked. "I think the public has become nauseated with that."

A Valid Bequest

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP) — Mr. Justice Dalton Wells ruled Friday that a $700,000 trust fund, residue of a $1,350,000 estate, willed to the employees of the Canada Life Assurance Company "in perpetuity and for charitable purposes" is a valid charitable bequest. The money was willed to "employees and their dependents" by the late Senator Herbert Coplin Cox, who died in 1947, and Mrs. Cox, who died a year later.

Won't Recognize Mao

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 28 (AP)—Percy C. Spender, external affairs minister, said today Australia does not propose for the time being to recognize the government of Communist China. Spender returned to Sydney from the conference of Commonwealth foreign ministers at Colombo, Ceylon.

UEW Full of Reds

KINGSTON, Jan. 28 (CP) — Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, Friday said the United Electrical Workers' Union is "riddled with Communists from the international level down to local offices." Mr. Conroy was speaking at the annual meeting of the St John's Roman Catholic Church Credit Union.

Canada To Make Stainless Steel Will Mean More Jobs Available

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Canada is going to make its own stainless steel.

We have this from Atlas Steels, Ltd., and from its President R. H. Davis, who stated that Atlas will this year install the first Canadian stainless steel sheet rolling mills at its mile-long works at Welland.

Installation will begin at once, and production is scheduled for September. Says Mr. Davis:

"While this step has been part of the company's post-war expansion program, we have been encouraged to make this move at this time for several reasons.

"Canadian fabricators have been completely dependent for their stainless steel sheets upon foreign supplies. The United Kingdom has been supplying a part of their needs, but most of their demands have been met up United States producers.

"Rising steel prices in the United States, together with their own Canadian import duty transportation costs, Canadian excise taxes and the recent 10 per cent devaluation of our dollar all have had the effect of raising stainless steel costs for Canadian fabricators and users of end products made of stainless steel sheet."

Means More Jobs

And why does this column think this new development of Atlas, out of which undoubtedly Atlas hopes to turn the odd penny of profit, is interesting?

Because it notes that normal employment at Atlas is 2,000 and developments of this sort mean more jobs.

It is interesting in the same way that it is interesting to read this week that Massey-Harris Ltd., set new sales and net profits records in 1949; and because one knows that if some one hadn't had the gumption to start something some years ago Massey-Harris wouldn't today be employing 14,000 people around the world.

And one could say that same thing about many other Canadian firms which supply some of the most dramatic stories of Canadian life.

However, stainless steel has the platform today, and let us listen to Mr. Davis. He foresees or hopes for the creation of whole new industries, new markets, new distribution and retail outlets.

"I have no hesitancy in stating," sayed Mr. Davis, that this program will affect favorably every home and every individual in time."

He says that in the United States stainless steel is used, among other things, for hospital and sanitary equipment, building trim, railroad cars, restaurant and food equipment, dairy products, kitchenware and even fishhooks.

Delinquents Taught Desire To Be Honest

PRESTON, Ont., Jan. 28 (CP) —Training schools for boys in Ontario today seek to sell boys the "desirability" of being honest citizens, just as the "sizzle" is sold rather than the steak, W. T. Little said Friday.

Mr. Little, supervisor of the Ontario Training School for Boys at Galt, said this was "taking a page from the salesman's notebook." To a meeting of the Preston-Hespeler Rotary Club he said:

"A boy is like a small boiler, and application of heat will produce steam."

British Ships Shelled

HONG KONG, Jan. 28 (AP)—Two British merchant ships were reported to have been shelled by Chinese Communists shore batteries near the southeast China port of Amoy this week. With Mr. Thomas above is Michel Sassier, Ungermach representative, who is currently visiting Montreal.

SNOW QUEEN MISS JOAN HICKEY received the crown she wears and a sheaf of roses in a coronation ceremony which took place Friday evening at the annual Snow Ball, held in St. Joseph's Auditorium. She was selected for this honor by the members of St. Peter's Senior Sodality, who also sponsors the dance. At left of the throne is Miss Helen Strano, prefect of the Sodality, and at the right Miss Mamie Sullivan, vice-prefect. Standing are Miss Shirley McKenzie (left), lady-in-waiting, and last year's queen, Miss Ella Foley, who performed the crowning.

1950 Snow Queen Crowned at "Snow" Ball

The Snow Queen of 1950, Miss Joan Hickey, commenced her reign in a snowless realm Friday evening. She is the first in the honoured line to be victim of unseasonable January weather. Not a single white flake paid her homage throughout the day and she came to her coronation on streets that were gray and dusty.

The largest crowd of subjects, more than 250, attended the Snow Ball and witnessed crowning of the Queen mid-way in the dance. Miss Hickey succeeds Miss Ella Foley who placed the silvery crown on her head. On behalf of her sisters of St. Peter's Sodality, Prefect Miss Helen Strano presented a sheaf of red roses to the Queen.

Vice prefect Miss Mamie Sullivan had carried the crown on a silver platter. Miss Shirley McKenzie was in attendance as the queen's lady-in-waiting.

Then Queen was beautifully dressed in white and wore a short ermine wrap. She graciously thanked Sodality members for having chosen her and pledged herself to fulfill the duties of her position.

Monsignor P. P. Butler graced the occasion with his presence and spoke to the queen and the assembly of the significance of the shrine to the Virgin Mary which was beautifully arranged on the platform. He said "This shrine to the Queen of Heaven, for whom we have the greatest love and reverence, is placed here in acknowledgement that all sources of pleasure should be conducted in such a manner that she has a right to be there." The Rev. F. Marrocco, spiritual director of the Sodality, spoke of the fine young women who are its members, giving their time and talent to furtherance of charitable work. The Rev. F. K. Malane was also present.

Altogether charming decorations were put up in the St. Joseph's auditorium by publicity committee members. Very effective silhouettes portrayed important happenings on the night of a big dance, from the moment the escort calls for his lady until the ball is over. Silver and pastel streamers were overhead and gay balloons hung from the walls and pillars. Tables set up in cabaret style were a convenience the guests appreciated.

Patronizing the dance and assisting to receive the guests with Miss Strano and her escore Mr. Joe Maloney were Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vasey, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Epping.

TRINITY

Marjorie Bryden's group was responsible for worship this week when Carole Yelland gave the call to worship and Gloria Gardiner read scripture and led in prayer. Carol Hughson read a story following the theme "Service to others."

The three groups were together, with Joan Krogh presiding, and all were much interested in the helpful suggestions for baby-sitters given by Miss Mary Ross, supervisor of VON.

Miss Ross stressed the fact the child is the sitter's sole responsibility as she, for the time, is taking the place of its parents. "No girl should undertake to be a "sitter" unless she has a genuine love and understanding of children" she said.

First aid rule books were given to each girl by the speaker.

Joan White expressed appreciation to Miss Ross.

Chief's Descendant Asks Agreement

WINNIPEG, Jan. 28 (CP). — A great-great granddaughter of Mohawk chieftain Joseph Brant recently made a plea for a new attitude toward and understanding of her people.

Born on the Six Nations Reservation near Brantford, Ont., Mrs. Ethel Brant Monture addressed members of the Women's Canadian Club here.

Mrs. Monture said Indians are no longer a dying race but are growing and virile. They were weary of being considered a problem rather than a people and were an integral part of Canada's population.

She described the prohibition liquor law in Canada regarding Indians as a "silly" discrimination and expressed the hope that a new Indian Act will be adopted in the near future by parliament.

A Good Sign

HANDWORTH, Middlesex, Jan. 28 (CP).—A registry office for the recording of civil marriages is to be established here. Next door to it stands a public house—called "The Hope and Anchor."

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Parents Freeze Out Boys Daughter Becomes Old Maid

"Miss Sally," said a woman with more curiosity than tact to an old maid, "why did you never marry? You are so good looking, you are so gay and cheerful and entertaining, you are so affectionate and sympathetic, you are so domestic and so fond of children that I just don't see why some man did not grab you up and rush you to the altar."

Dorothy Dix

"Oh," replied Miss Sally with a smile and a sigh, "the reason I never married was because I had too much parents. My father and mother were the kind of people who are determined, no matter what others do, to protect their children, and especially their daughters, against all the dangers and temptations of life. So, to all intents and purposes, I was kept locked up during all of my youth in a jail, with two fierce guards standing at the door, where there was not the slightest chance of any man ever breaking in and bearing me off to his home.

"Of course, my parents did not intend to wish old maidenhood upon me. They wanted me to marry, but how they thought I was to do this when they never let me get acquainted with a boy, and isolated me from all the other young people, I do not know."

Should Have Had Beaux 6

"I was a pretty girl, very lighthearted and fond of amusements, a goodd ancer, and so there was no reason why I should not have had lots of beaux and plenty of dates, but when a young man called my father always sat within earshot reading his paper, a grim, disapproving critical figure who froze out all natural conversation between us. We had not the slightest intention or desire of doing or saying anything of which the sternest moralist could have disapproved, but with a third party listening in we were so self-conscious we could not laugh or sing or even play tiddlewinks.

"My father did not consider it proper for a young girl to go out alone with a boy, so he insisted on escorting me when I was invited to a party, where I was naturally a wallflower as no young man had brought me or felt responsible for me. And he always came for me promptly at 12 o'clock as he did not approve of late hours for young girls.

"I was never permitted to do the things that other girls and boys did. I could not go buggy riding. I could not go to jolly little picnics. I could not go off with a crowd on a hay ride. I could not go swimming in a mixed crowd. I could not even have new-fashioned clothes, but had to have my dresses the length that mother used to wear when she was a girl.

"And so I became one of those pitiful young girls who took on hungrily at other girls' good times, but who never have any themselves, and who eventually drift into spinsterhood. And that is the reason I never married. Because my parents cut me off from all chances of marrying

Is Alone Now

"I am a lonely old woman now. Not a tie on earth, nor any one who belongs to me. I often think that but for my father's and mother's mistaken idea of protecting me I might have had a good husband and children and grandchildren to fill my life with human interests and affection. Better if they had let me take a few risks than the certainty of safety bought at such a price."

Probably in these days there are not many meek and obedient Miss Sallies, who permit their parents to impose upon them their own obsolete code of conduct. Yet there are still enough fathers and mothers who are trying to bring up their girls according to strict and circumscribed rules to make this a subject of bitter controversy in families. There are parents who are afraid to let their daughters out of their sight, and who are determined to keep their little lambs unspotted from the world, even if they have to deny them all the pleasures of youth and keep them nailed to their own firesides.

And they do not understand that a girl must live in a world as she finds it, that she must follow the customs of the day. She must do as the other girls do or else she is sunk and will have neither boy nor girl friend and her chances of marriage will be killed.

It is parents' duty to help their daughters make good marriages. Not prevent them.

Two Court Gowns Recall Pageantry of Old Tradition

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, — (CP) —In two of London's plushiest dress salons, seamstresses are busy stitching the fashions of a bygone day.

They are making two long flowing, formal court gowns the like of which has seldom been seen in Britain since the reign of Queen Victoria. But their work doesn't represent a revival of formal court gowns, for the dresses are bound for the United States and probably never will be shown in this country.

The gowns are being designed and made at the request of an American fashion group, to go on show at the "Symphony of Fashion" to be held at St. Louis Feb 10, 11, 12.

The designers are two of London's Big Ten—Norman Hartnell and Worth. The dresses will be completely traditional with long train coming from the shoulder Prince of Wales feather headdress and attached hip-length veil.

Hartnell's dress is a full crinoline with waist-to-hip skirt embroidery. Worth's is a heavy satin with full pannier skirt. When the formal trappings are removed both dresses will make a "grand occasion" ball gown.

It is the first time in 11 years that London fashion houses have been called on to make formal court wear. The evolution in court dress has been slow but steady, since the time of Queen Victoria.

Victorian Tradition

In Queen Victoria's day fewer women were presented at court and there was room for the long sweeping train that was then a tradition.

King George V cut the train length to a formal 18 inches to accommodate the larger number to be found at his courts.

At the post-war courts of King George VI, the train, feathers and veil have disappeared. Afternoon dress now is worn.

Whether the formal pageantry of the courts will ever return is an open question—and not entirely an economic one.

Although the King would have to consider possible economic embarrassment were he to bring back court pageantry, the greatest problem is the increasing number of people who wish to be presented at court.

Only by giving afternoon presentation parties can the King and Queen hope to meet the occasion.

Three courts were held in 1948 but only two were held last year owing to the King's illness.

As more courts are not possible due to Royal public engagements, the afternoon presentation parties will continue indefinitely and the formal court dresses will be just a memory.

Induct Two New Members In Women's Service Club

Induction of two new members in the Soroptimist Club of Peterborough, during the monthly dinner meeting Friday evening, increased the membership of this service club to 34. Mrs. Isabel Hughson and Miss Mary Huston were given their individual club classifications, and copies of the constituition and by-laws by president Mrs. May Thompson. Flower corsages made up in the club colors, blue and gold, were presented by membership chairman Miss Leta Brownscombe.

It was pointed out by the charter president Miss Myrtle Sargent that invitation to membership was extended because these women known to have the qualities of heart and spirit to meet the five requisities, sincerity, friendship, tolerance, wisdom and a desire to serve. A two-fold service to the community also expected is to sponsor or support any worthwhile project and to be always watchful for new ways to serve.

As members of an International club, Soroptimists are working for peace and good will in the world. They have recently been invited to be active participants in United Nations where previously they were observers. The Peterborough Club adopted Blackburn Club of England several years ago and it is expected a member of the latter will visit here early this summer. There are 680 Soroptimist clubs in 17 countries which is the highest figure yet counted by any service club organization, a unique fact since this is the newest one.

The community work undertaken by Peterborough Soroptimists is helping older women to enjoy life more and they sponsor the steadily-progressing Golden Mile Club. It was explained to the new members that this club is for women seeking companionship particularly those who may be unable to get out often because of some handicap. Transportation to the meetings each Tuesday afternoon in the Grafton store recreation room is provided. There is entertainment and some handwork on projects of their own is done before having afternoon tea.

Announcement was made by welfare chairman Miss Gene Clark that a concert is being given Monday evening at the Y.W.C.A. for Golden Mile Club members and a group of older men and other older women. Soroptimists are providing transportation and will serve refreshments.

Part of the alphabet of Soroptimism was explained by the officers and chairman as each was introduced. A was for attendance, a primé requisite. B for bulletins, a new feature this year, put out by Miss Grace Sargent and Miss Rose Williams, C for conventions the next to take place in July at Seattle, Washington, D for dues. E for the emblem which was on display for the first time.

Following dinner in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room, club members and guests sang together Scottish songs in honour of Robert Burns birthday January 25, and club songs. Miss Margaret Wolstenholme contributed two solos, "My Laddie" and "Bonnie Doon" and was accompanied by pianist Miss Musa Cox.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

You'll be surprised how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, when you try this well known recipe. It is universally used throughout Canada because it gives such gratifying results. It's no trouble at all to mix, and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 ounce bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes four times as much cough medicine for your money. Never spoils and tastes fine.

Quickly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This explains why it brings such quick relief.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

Pinex Is Dependable!

Plumage On Hats Puzzle to Birds

LONDON, Jan. 28 (CP).—The experts are bewildered. They can no longer recognize the feathers plucked from birds to decorate milady's hat.

New processes are so changing the appearance of the feathers that even the bird couldn't claim its own.

Feathers have a good sales market at all seasons of the year due to present hat fashions. Ostrich and osprey, long, soft pheasant plumes and turkey plucking are presently popular. There is demand too for complete birds and wings.

Ostrich feathers are selling for £9 ($27.90) a pound and production in Africa is, at the moment, keeping pace with the high demand. Single ostrich feathers are selling from 10s upwards.

Bishop Learns Late Fatherhood's Pride

READING, England, Jan. 28 (CP).—The bishop learned a lot in three years.

Anglican Bishop Arthur Parham was a bachelor till he turned 62. Then he married Mrs. Tristram Kirkwood, 30-year-old widow.

When their first daughter, Ann, was born the bishop told reporters diffidently: "I'm a tyro in these things. But I understand seven pounds 12½ ounces is a very good weight."

A second daughter, Philippa, has just arrived. This time he spoke with an air of authority.

"She weighs nine pounds. A splendid weight!"

James Lea Maude, Sr. had come to Peterborough from Galt years ago, and was a superintendent with the Peter Hamilton Company in the buildings still in use at the southeast corne of George and King streets. In those years the family was well known and prominent in this city.

James L. Maude, Jr., leaves his wife, the former Edna Josephine Lemmon, and daughter Edith Janet Lea, of Toronto, and his sisters Mrs. W. A. Conner and Mrs. W. T. Edmondson of Peterborough. He was of the fifth generation of sons of the family bearing the christened name James Lea.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

COLLECT SEAL MONEY

The Christmas Seal campaign sponsored by the Peterborough County TB Assoc. has received to date about $6,500. This is somewhat less than for the same period last year. R. B. Arnold, treasurer, announced. The annual meeting of the Association will be held in about a month's time.

CAMERA TO BE CLAIMED

City police are looking for the owner of a camera which was stolen recently from a car on George St. The camera was taken by a boy on a dare from his companion. Now police have the camera, but do not know whose car the boy took it from. The owner can have his camera returned by identifying it for Detective Sergeant John Stevenson.

U.S. Arms Bill Hailed Step In Co-operation

LONDON, Jan. 28 (CP) — The United States arms aid bill Friday was hailed in Western European capitals as a long step forward toward Atlantic pact co-operation.

In London, the foreign office said it would give new impetus to the arrangements being made to increase the individual and collective capacity of member countries to resist any armed attacks upon them.

Britain's share in the billion-dollar European arms aid bill is expected to be 70 B-29 superbombers and about $20,000,000 worth of machine tools and raw materials.

First deliveries of the bombers, which are expected to be used for training purposes, is expected to begin in about two months.

Can Do No More

While the government warmly welcomed the agreement, it warned that Britain was not able to undertake any further substantial commitments to mutual aid without endangering her economic recovery.

A French spokesman said France's share would be $330,000,000 worth of equipment, but the "actual value" of the aid would be far greater.

The figure was generally considered too low, since well-informed sources have estimated at 50 to 60 per cent the French share of the appropriation. Even allowing $100,000,000 for administrative costs, this would give France at least $450,000,000. Paris officials regarded Britain's share as 10 per cent.

A New Step

Dr. Hans J. Boon, secretary-general of the Netherlands Foreign Ministry, speaking for his minister Dirk U. Stikker, now in Paris, said the agreement was a new step on the road to security and safety in Western Europe.

Boon told a press conference that Rear-Admiral E. P. Forrestell would head an American mission of military experts expected shortly in the Netherlands.

Both War Minister Willem Schokking and Boon emphasized the necessity for absolute priority for economic reconstruction in the Netherlands, Schokking said that with return of Netherlands troops from Indonesia, they now could devote their attention more fully to participation in Western European defense.

$16 Billion Insurance Underwriters Told

Kenneth McNabb, manager of Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company in Britain and the Far East, addressed Peterborough life underwriters Friday at the Empress Hotel.

Sixteen Canadian companies have more than 16 billion dollars in foreign lands in insurance, Mr. McNabb said. He said the first insurance policy written in the Far East was in 1892 and in England, the date was 1762.

Mr. McNabb is shortly to visit Britain, Africa, S. Rhodesia, Kenya, Eygpt, Israel, Cyprus, Ceylon, Malaya, Java and Hong Kong.

It was announced the Underwriters annual dance will be held in the Kawartha Club February 3.

Water-Filled Ditch Dunks Sideswiped Car

A car driven by Arthur Crickmore, 308 Caddy St., Peterborough, went into a ditch filled with water after the recent heavy rains, Friday on the Millbrook road two miles west of No. 28 highway.

Crickmore's car and another driven by Harry Wood, Fraserville, sideswiped at the quarter line. Wood was able to stop his car but Crickmore's went on into the ditch causing some $200 damage.

Provincial Constable George Henderson investigated.

Fix Fair Dates

Arthur Wartman, of Warkworth, was elected president of Central Fairs Association at Belleville Thursday. The secretary-treasurer is Clarence Varcoe, of Roseneath. John A. Carroll, Ontario fairs superinendent, said 60 per cent of the 240 fairs in the province had reported increased attendances for 1949. Thirty fairs applied for bad weather grants, a comparatively small number. For most of the fairs the Sept.-Oct. weeks were nearly perfect. The Central shows begin at Belleville Aug. 15 and fold up at Roseneath Oct. 13. Fred Slade and his directors refused to dodge that Friday the 13th assignment.

BETHANY, Jan. 28 (ENS) — The members of the Women's Institute and Loyal Orange Lodge held a progressive euchre party in the Orange Hall, Thursday. There were 11 tables. Prizes for high score were awarded to Mrs. Fred Grey and Mr. L. H. Staples. Consolation prizes to William Trim and Cameron Jacobs.

Stork Outraces NS Train New Passenger 7 Pounds

MONTREAL, Jan. 28 — The stork outraced "The Scotian" of Canadian National Railways, en route from Halifax to Montreal this morning, and sleeping car conductor John Sedgewick found himself with a new passenger—about seven pounds and wailing heartily.

A son was born to Mrs. Adrian Fournier, of Amqui, Que., who was travelling from her home to Montreal. When the train reached Ste. Anne, about 41 miles west of Riviere du Loup, Dr. Dallaire was summoned and the train held for one and a half hours, while the baby was born. A nurse accompanied the mother and baby to Montreal, where conductor Sedgewick had wired ahead to have an ambulance waiting.

On arrival at Central Station, here, Mrs. Fournier and her son were met by a doctor and nurse and taken to the De La Miserricorda Hospital, where, according to latest reports, the baby is in good health and the mother doing well.

Mrs. Fournier was accompanied on the trip by her two small children, aged four and two years, and they were met at Central Station by friends of the family who will be taking care of them while in Montreal.

Stole Plumbing Pieces Jailed For 30 Days

COBOURG, Jan. 28 (ENS) — Walter Copeland, age 24, Port Hope, was sentenced to 30 days in jail, concurrently, on two theft charges. Copeland was charged with theft of a quantity of plumbing supplies on Jan. 23, from a new house being built in Cobourg by Jack Skitch, Jr., and a mantel radio.

Chief W. J. Carey said that as a result of the co-operation of Chief Constable C. W. Graham in Port Hope, the stolen goods were recovered in Copeland's house in Port Hope. Chief Graham testified that during his investigation he located a radio in Copeland's house which the latter admitted having taken last December from the home of Charles Wheeler in Port Hope.

Also charged with the theft of the plumbing supplies was Mike Bemman, age 29 of Port Hope. Bemman pleaded not guilty and elected trial by judge at the next higher court. However, after Copeland's 30-day sentence had been pronounced, Bemman told the court that he wanted to change his election to trial by magistrate and pleaded not guilty.

Magistrate E. Hand remanded him until Monday.

10 City Buses

minute to 10-minute service.

Rural Buses

Buses service the students from the districts outside the city. Some of these are special school buses while others are on a scheduled morning run but stop to pick up students along the highway. The Keene bus was the first to bring in students from outside the city.

At present seven buses, two from Keene, one from Bridgenorth, and scheduled buses from Warsaw, Lakefield, Highway 2 via Fraserville and Highway 7 via Omemee bring high school students into the city.

Besides these are some carbuses which service the points close to the city.

Park Pays Off

Waterloo Park Board received last year $9,682.40 as its share of the gate receipts from baseball games played in the public park. Operating expenses of the main park were $14,767, against receipts of $10,164, leaving a deficit of $4,600. The baseball park operations were figured separately. The board's agreement with the ball teams is a 75-25 basis. At least four of the games drew more than 3,000 people.

Young Adults Hear Of West

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 28 — (ENS)—The first monthly meeting of 1950, of the St. John's United Church Young Adults Club was held in the church Thursday afternoon, and was well attended. Retiring president Jack Connor was in the chair but will hand over his office to the new 1950 president, Mrs. Ruth Thompson, at the next meeting. A vote of thanks to Jack Connor and his wife for the excellent work during the past year on behalf of the club, was read by Harold Milne.

Mr. Gordon Walroth led in singing and Mrs. Geo. Nicholls entertained at the piano. A devotional period was conducted by Harold Milne and Mel McKeown.

Plans were submitted for a sleigh ride and outing to be held on February 9, weatner permitting.

speaks On West

Rev. Dr. M. Smith introduced Rev. Gordon Whitehorne, of the Seymour United Church charge. Mr. Whitehorne spoke of East-West relations, and of the 32 nationalities represented in the tiny village of St. Walburg, northwest of Saskatoon, where he settled in 1939. He told of the arrogant attitude of the people of German decent at the outbreak of war in 1939. They boasted that their organization was behind Hitler and would aid him in the event the Germans were victorious. The speaker described how officers of the RCMP stepped in quietly one night and took the leader of this miniature Bund organization to an internment camp.

Conditions in the west are now much better than they were in 1939 according to Rev. Whitehorne. He says that because of the boom during the war years, the farmers now have the latest in machinery, and can drive to town in their new cars to purchase articles which before were either made at home or considered luxuries which they could not afford. The United Church is quite popular in the prairies, mostly because of the great work it has done among the people.

Mort. Sayers moved a vote of thanks to the speaker. Games were played, supervised by Jack Connor.

Young Woman Becomes Man By Surgery Has Been Married To A Girlhood Chum

YONKERS, N.Y., Jan. 28 (AP) —A young woman who became a man by surgery has been married —to a girlhood chum.

The recent marriage was disclosed Friday by an authority who asked that no names be used.

The bridegroom, a slender, dark-haired young man, was known as "Joan" before a series of operations last spring at Yonkers Professional Hospital and as "John" afterward.

The bride is a New York elevator operator who was a close friend of "Joan" for some years before the operation.

"Joan" was an attractive, boyish-figured, 135-pounder who lived 23 years as a girl until a chance physical examination showed male characteristics were present.

Told of this, "Joan" said "I'd rather be a man."

A two-week series of operations gave the girl her wish.

In male clothing and with close-cropped hair, "John" went to Tennessee for a while but returned here last fall.

Doctors described him as a handsome young man who in all likelihood could become a father.

Coffee Drinking In Canada Eats Up Dollars

By HAROLD MORRISON

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—Canada's coffee-drinking habits are cutting capers with the country's dollar-saving program, a Trade Department spokesman disclosed Friday.

Importers are putting on a big push, he said, to get back into the commonwealth for Canada's coffee supply, but so far they've had little luck.

The Canadian appetite for coffee has grown enormously since prewar days, he added, and a switch from dollar to sterling area sources has become one of Canada's great trading ambitions.

Before the Second World War, Canada had good sources in British East Africa and the British West Indies. Now the United Kingdom has sewn up these outlets tightly and Canada has had to spend United States dollars in the coffee markets of Brazil and Colombia in South America.

Needs Dollars More

There are signs, however, that Britain's need for dollars has become more powerful than the need for coffee. She has reduced consumption to divert several thousand tons to Canada, to get payment in Canadian dollars.

A switch from dollar to sterling sources would be helpful because Canada's consumption of coffee has climbed from 44,000,000 pounds a year in 1939 to more than 88,000,000 pounds.

With the world supply unusually small this year, the price of coffee on the world market has shot upward from 25 to 50 cents a pound.

As a result, Canada's dollar expenditures for coffee this year likely will total more than $80,000,000, and leave a hole in the dollar saving program.

Hamilton Clinches Playoff Spot St. Kitts Tied In Second Place

By The Canadian Press

Paul (Polly) Miocinovich, an able backfielder with Hamilton Wildcats in the football season, came into his own in the hockey fraternity Friday night, pacing Hamilton Tigers with three goals a 7-4 decision over Owen Sound Mercurys. The victory virtually clinched the third and last playoff spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race.

Called upon to fill the gap left when Eddie Busch slid into the boards in the first period and fractured his collarbone, the veteran Polly filled in on left wing and played his best game of the season in the important Tiger win.

In the other senior game Friday night, Toronto Marlboros broke their longest losing streak of the season — two games — by overcoming a scrappy Kitchener-Waterloo squad 7-5.

Bounce Spitfires

In junior activity, St. Catharines Teepees bounced Windsor Spitfires 9-6 to draw into a second place tie with the prolific Spits, Toronto Marlboros knocked down last-place Stratford 5-2 and Barrie Flyers claimed a 6-1 win over the hapless Galt Black Hawks.

Bill Dinning put Hamilton one up in the first frame and was followed by Miocinovich with a pair of tallies. Carl Smelle made it 4-0 before Owen Sound's Bruno Favero got Owen Sound's first early in the second.

Hamilton rapped up the win in the third frame, outscoring the Mercs 2-1.

Hamilton singles were counted by Carl Smelle, Bill Dinning, Ab Conick and Max Taylor. Bruno Favero, Doug Gillespie, McReavy and Smith tallied for Owen Sound.

Smash Dutchmen

Toronto smashed their way to a 5-0 lead over the Flying Dutchmen in the first period only to have the Twin-City squad roar back with four unanswered goals in the second and tie it up at 5-5 with the first score of the third.

Gord Hannigan's third period tally gave Toronto the win while Frank Sullivan's marker cemented the decision.

Scotty Mair was the only two-goal man for Marlboros, Johnny Blute and Harvey Jacklin each clicking for two K-W counters.

Other Toronto scorers were Al Buchanan, Flash Hollett and John McLellan. Behling scored the Kitchener-Waterloo single.

In an eight-goal first period, St. Catharines came out on the top end of a 5-3 score. The Teepees held the lead at two goals, ending the second 7-5 and outfighting Windsor to a 9-6 decision in the third.

Top Scorers

Jack McIntyre and Carl Boone were tops for the Teepee squad, each clicking for an important pair while singles were collected by Con Switzer, Obie O'Brien, Bob Knowles, Bill Altoft and Wayne Brown.

Bob Rawlyk counted twice for the losing Spits with singles going to Earl Reibel, Vic Howe, Eddie Stankiewicz and Erwin Grosse.

Stratford succeeded in muffling George Armstrong to a single but the Toronto kids broke open in another spot, Jack McKenzie personally accounting for three markers.

George Aitken, claimed the other Toronto goal while Earl Clements and "Bibber" O'Hearn tallied for Stratford.

Doug Towers was wielding the ace against Galt Black Hawks. Doug thumped in a trio of goals. John Bobenic wasn't far behind with a pair.

Barrie whipped in three goals in the first, split two with Galt in the second and rapped in two in the finale.

Real Chevrefils sniped the third Barrie counter while Galt's lonesome single was the product of Bronco Horvath.

Indian Boy Finds Pitching Success Key

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—An Indian counterpart of Jackie Robinson, Negro second base star for Brooklyn Dodgers, was discussed Friday at the annual conference of the Ontario Psychological Association.

Lt.-Col. B. F. Neary, of the Indian Affairs Branch told how a young Indian boy broke the color line against Indian students at a small Saskatchewan public school.

It was with reluctance, he said, that the school agreed to accept one Indian lad.

The boy was not accepted socially, however, until the spring when somebody put a baseball in his hand. He turned out to be "the best public school pitcher" in the west, said Col. Neary. Since then "we've never had any trouble getting that school to accept Indian boys."

He devoured 36 three-minute eggs in 37 minutes and took over, temporarily at least, as egg-eating champion of the west coast city. He bettered the mark set a week earlier by Jack Whelan, former wrestler and city detective, who ate 30 soft-boiled eggs in 20 minutes.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Canada appears the likely site of the 1954 Empire Games, it was announced at Auckland, NZ, on Friday night. A decision will be taken by the Empire Games Federation during the next few days. Circles close to the Federation say the decision rests between Canada and Ceylon. It is understood the Australian and New Zealand delegates will vote for Colombo, where the Games would be held if the decision went to Ceylon. However, United Kingdom representatives from England, Scotland and Wales are believed to favor Canada.

Apparently the burning question there is what city in the Dominion would stage the "Empiad." Toronto, Vancouver, and Hamilton—where the 1930 Games were held—are all understood to be interested.

Different opinions are heard as to the rights of different cities to play host to the Empire athletes. Some officials say Hamilton had them before; the other cities should have a chanec. Others say that as they were held in the East last time they should be held in the West this time—giving Vancouver the inside track. Prevalent opinion, however, seems to be that Toronto is the best bet.

The management of the Shawinigan Falls Cataracts of the Quebec Senior Hockey League Friday night decided to play a series of exhibition games to see the club through the current hockey season. A meeting of the team's financial committee decided that the exhibition game, and other financial changes, would bring much-needed capital to the club's coffers.

With Captain George Wearing scoring 34 points, the University of Western Ontario defeated the McGill Redmen 69-42 at London Friday night in a senior intercollegiate basketball game. The win over the highly touted Redmen left the Mustangs the only unbeaten team in senior ranks. It was the first loss in league play for McGill.

Receipts for 1949 amounted to nearly $50,000, highest in the history of the organization, members attending the annual meeting of the Waterloo Tigers Baseball Association have been informed.

A spokesman for the Queen's University Athletic Board of Control Friday at Kingston denied reports that Queen's would be withdrawn from the Senior Intercollegiate Hockey League. It was reported at the University, however, that some members of the team would like to have the club withdrawn. The team has lost all its games this season.

Johnny Longden, the British-born jockey who has become famous on United States tracks, has nominated his own horse to run in the 1951 King's Plate at Toronto. It is the two-year-old filly Gala Moon, by Gala Hour out of Lady Moon.

Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League on Friday announced acquisition of catcher-outfielder Buddy Heslet from the Newark Bears. Joe Zeigler, Leaf general manager, said the deal is a straight player swap for left-handed pitcher Alf Porto.

Pitcher Art Houtteman signed with the Detroit Tigers Friday for an estimated $17,000. The young right-hander got a boost of about $5,000 over his 1949 salary. The 22-year-old Houtteman had a 15-10 record with the Tigers last season after staging a great recovery from injuries suffered in an auto accident in Florida last March.

Hogan Hanging On In Race With Demaret

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 28 (AP) —Jimmy Demaret, his golf as fancy as his clothes, today defends a two stroke lead in the $10,000 Ben Hogan open.

The Ojai, Calif., veteran, who hasn't won a tournament since beating Hogan in the 1949 playoff here, goes into today's third round with a 131, two strokes better than Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C.

Bantam Ben, the comeback man in whose honor they named this event, skidded over par figures Friday and found himself with a 136, five strokes off the pace but not out of the running.

Hogan had an opening day 65 that put him in a tie with Palmer in second place. Friday he had a 73.

Ed. Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich., slipped up into third place with a sizzling 65, outshadowed only by the 64 fired by red-hot Doug Ford of Yonkers, N. Y. That tied the competitive course record which had also been equalled in the opening round by Demaret. Ford only had a 73 his first round so finished with a 137 and a tie for sixth place which Jack Burke, Jr., of White Plains, N. Y.

Campbellford Wins

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 28 — (ENS)—A capacity crowd in the Campbellford Community Centre Friday night, witnessed a hard-fought, close-checking game in which Hastings, although defeated in the game 6-2, had the edge of play for the most part of the three periods. Fife for Hastings was outstanding all during the game and his exhibition of skill was matched by Robinson and Doug Free of Campbellford. Play was clean, with only a few minor penalties being handed out by the two referees, W. O'Malley and C. Heldman.

Line-up:

Campbellford—Goal, Laverne; defence, Tanner, Doug Free; centre, Blake; wings, Hay, Hendricks; alternates, Robinson, Doherty, Harrington, Smith, Don Free, Pace, Peake, Al Taylor.

Hastings—Goal, Nelson; defence, Petticrew, Fife; centre, Wilson; wings, Greenley, Morrow; alternates, L. Ball, D. Ball, Clapperton, Edwards, Moeller, Carr, Crowley.

Kingston Wins OHA Fray From Legion

KINGSTON, Jan. 27—In the roaring Harty Arena last night, Mickey Blake's onrushing Nylons proved to the satisfaction of over 2,000 fans that they have what it takes when those chips are down and that they will make a bold bid to duplicate the Locos' championship feat of four years ago.

Nylons, at the peak of their form, drubbed the vaunted Peterborough Legions by 8 to 2, racked up their eighth consecutive victory and remained in the running for first place.

Joey Catlin, Walt Gerow and Kenny Partis, the "Three Musketeers," were the dominant stars in an act that saw the Legionnaires fall apart in the final period when Nylons racked up five goals against one which was merely incidental. Catlin, with three counters and as many assists, took top honors but his line-mates were close on his heels, each with two goals and a pair of assists.

The Legionnaires, who were playing their third tough game in five nights, did not submit lightly to adversity and while outplayed they hung on with determination until Nylons relentlessly struck them down in the final 10 minutes. When subjected to such heavy pressure the weary visitors appeared to be playing from memory and not with any hope that they would be able to stage a counter rally.

Fought Hard

The Legionnaires, urged on by the veteran Johnny Godfrey, served notice from the start that they were seeking a victory that would in all probability have nailed down first place but Nylons waged the scoring war on even terms through the first period and vaulted into a 3 to 1 lead in the second. This advantage they retained during the first half of the final session and then, as the Locos of fond memory, they turned the contest into a runaway shambles while proving that they are of championship calibre.

Goalkeeper Glynn Udall lived up to his reputation of being one of those "money" players who thrive on stern competition.

During two periods when the Legions were travelling at their fastest clip Udall was sensational and figuratively he broke the hearts of the Peterborough will-o'-the-wisp attackers. He stopped shots delivered from all angles and distances and wasn't in the least perturbed when Stewart, on a pass from Mortimer, opened the tallying eight minutes after the game began.

It was a cleanly waged contest and only the four players—two on each team—were penalized, Doug Patterson of Nylons and Vitarelli and Mortimer of the Legions each received a minor sentence while Eddie Plumb was handed three and also a misconduct.

Th teams:

Nylons — Goal, Udall; defence, Plumb and Graves; centre, Armstrong; wings, Joyce and Aitken; alternatives, Murphy, Patterson, Partis, Catlin, Gerow, McKeown, Harrison, Ohlke.

Legonnaires — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, D. Mortimer, Montgomery, Parnell Stewart, Greenlaw, Hill, Treen.

Referee—Bill Holway. Linesman—Art Casterton.

The summamry:

First Period

Legionnaires—Stewart (Mortimer) 8:00
Nylons—Catlin (Gerow) 16:30
Penalties—Patterson, Plumb

Second Period

Nylons—Catlin (Partis) 19:50

Gans Tie Petes At 3-All In Clean Play

GANANOQUE, Jan. 27. — Ten hectic minutes of overtime failed to break a 3-all deadlock in a clash between Peterborough Petes and Gananoque in a Senior "B" OHA affair here last night.

Displaying the cleaner side of hockey and top regard for sportsmanship the tilt was an exchange of smoothly organized plays, with both net minders sharing equally their opponents rain of rubber. So evenly were the attacks distributed that both McDonald and Harding can look for credit from their defense lines.

Gananoque, showing definite improvement in their passing and defensive mechanics, held the speedy visitors scoreless until the last half of the first period. They tripled their tally when they claimed the only goal in the second, only to meet a wearing down attack by the Petes who seized the initiative in the third when Referee Reason sent three Gananoque players to the box. The Petes' spurt spearheaded by big McMaster brought them in two tallies to tie the score.

Opened Scoring

Tommy Tindal initiated the score board for Gananoque in the first two minutes of the game while the visitors were getting their bearings. Clicking like a pin ball combination, Brown and Anderson rattled the Petes cage for Gananoque's second goal of the period. A settled down Peterboro registered the third on an assist from West caught the Gananoque defence off guard, seconds after their opponents second goal.

With less than four minutes to go in the second the Brown and Anderson combination again changed the score board in the Gananoque's favour to send the arena's 800 fans into a board pounding frenzy.

The visibly tiring Gananoque entered the final frame when the visitors, thoroughly toned down, exercised a series of power plays in which Red Creighton, Garvey and McMaster did a masterly job in setting the Petes up for scoring position.

The overtime battle differed only from the major tilt in that there was a noticeable lack of effective passing on both sides. Two tight defence lines against wearying attackers made net-swarming the key feature.

The teams:

Peterborough: Goal, R. Harding; defence, R. Horton and G. Leonard; centre, West; wings, Mortimer and Garvey; alternates, Jopling, McMasters, Conlin, Coughlin, G. Creighton, R. Creighton, Collins and Griffin.

Gananoque: Goal, McDonald; defence, McCarney and Keyes; centre Tindal; wings, Harper and Jackson; alternates, Compeau, H. McCarney Anderson, Brown, Fair and Covey.

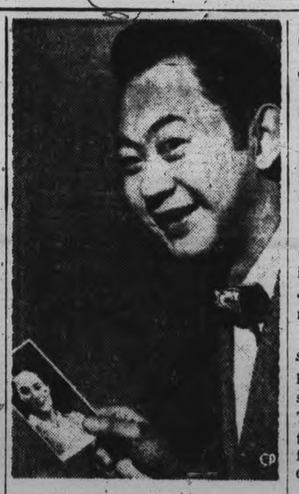
Officials—Bill Reason and Oliver Wing.

Summary:

First Period

Gananoque—Tindal 2:00
Gananoque—Brown (Anderson) 11:20
Peterborough—Garvey (West) 11:50
No penalties.

Second Period



Gananoque—Brown (Anderson) 16:20
Penalties—Compeau (2), Horton.

Third Period

Peterborough—G. Creighton (Horton) 9:55
Peterborough—Garvey (Collins, McMasters) 13:55
Penalties—Anderson, Compeau and Keyes.

Overtime Period

No score.

LUM NABBED HER—Alec Lum, of Winnipeg, began writing an 18-year-old girl in Hong Kong on the suggestion of an uncle and aunt. He finally popped the question and she said yes. Now Alec, part owner of a restaurant, will travel to Hong Kong for the marriage. Immigration officials say he'll have no difficulty bringing his bride back to Canada.

Canadians Train In Heavy Rain

By J. G. GRAHAM.

AUCKLAND, Jan. 28 (CP) — Despite heavy showers, nearly all the athletes of the Canadian Empire Games team turned out today for a heavy training session, mindful of the imminence of the games' opening date Feb. 4.

The second Canadian contingent, delayed by bad weather in the air journey to New Zealand, still is engaged in loosening-up exercise, and the coming week promises to be a strenuous one for the late-comers.

Of the original arrivals who came by sea earlier this month, all the track and field contenders are back in full training, except for quartermiler Ez Henniger of Vancouver, Canadian 440-yard champion, who is still nursing a pulled muscle.

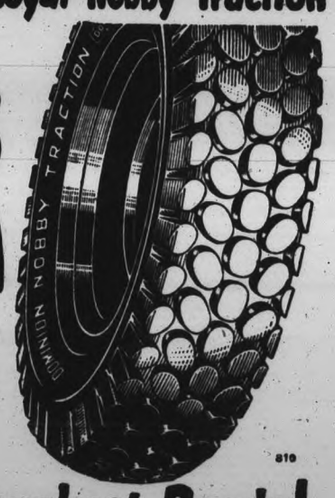
The swimming team now is at peak form and coach Tom Jones of Ocean Falls, B. C., says all are marking up times at least as good as they made at home. Allen Gilchrist of Ocean Falls was troubled for a time by a boil in his ear, but this now has cleared up.

Most impressive runner this morning was Bill Parnell of North Vancouver, who will compete in the 880-yard and mile events. Track coach Bruce Humber of Vancouver, said he expects Parnell to go particularly well.

Soccer Field Has Moat Protect Players

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 28 — (CP)—The world soccer championship will be decided here in July—on a field surounded by a moat.

This medieval barrier is considered a highly modernistic improvement in the world cup stadium now under construction. The water-filled nine-foot ditch is to "prevent standing spectators from encroaching upon the players."



It replaces the usual high wire fence which keeps the excitable public off other South American soccer fields.

The new stadium will seat 120,000 fans and another 30,000 standees can get in. Brazilians claim it will be the world's largest sports ground and not a bit too big to accommodate the huge crowds which want to see the game in this soccer-mad country.

The football plant, equipped with bars, restaurants and sleeping space for 50 players, is only the centre-piece of a huge sports development which eventually will include facilities for swimming, tennis, athletics, cycling, basketball, and gymnastics. The layout has space for parking 25,000 vehicles.

One of the biggest problems for Brazilian ground-keepers is to lay down a decent carpet of grass on the playing surface. It is necessary to plant the grass root and water it until it "knits"—instead of just throwing down grass seed and waiting for rain.

Expanding External Affairs Boom Department To 1,250

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Jan. 28— (CP)—The external affairs department hearth and home of Canadian foreign policy, has rounded off a lusty post-war expansion and is gradually emerging from a major revision of the headquarters establishment to cope with it.

It has been transformed in a growth from a small, intimate staff of 174 in 1939 to 1,250 today. It represents Canada in the United Nations and in 35 foreign countries, advises on and implements government policy on widely - divergent issues and operates on an annual budget of $15,000,000, less than one per cent of total government spending.

Half of the staff is at home half abroad.

In the nine or 10 months since A. D. P. Heeney, 48-year-old native of Montreal, became undersecretary or deputy minister, department headquarters in the gnarled old east block of the parliament buildings, has been undergoing two big revisions.

One is a physical face-lifting by workmen who have been hammering, sawing, painting and improving the premises for months. The other is the revision of the human establishment.

Mr. Heeney, former cabinet secretary and Manitoba Rhodes scholar, now is the peak of the pyramid of command reporting to External Affairs Minister Pearson and cabinet on anything from the future of Germany and Japan to Canada's stand on statelessness.

Twelve Division

Immediately below him are a deputy undersecretary, Escott Reid, and three assistant undersecretaries, Herbert O. Moran, Leon Mayrand and Charles S Ritchie. Below them again are the heads of the 12 geographical and functional divisions that are accepted as the logical and most economical framework for a department concerned with the complexities of modern foreign policy.

The divisions are Commonwealth, European, American and Far Eastern, United Nations defence liaison, economic, legal protocol, information, consular personnel, and administration. Within them, sometimes as many as three or four to a room, are men charged with becoming as expert as possible on individual subjects.

Under the revision, Mr. Heeney has been freed of a lot of routine and detail to allow him to operate on a broader policy and supervisory plane. Each of his four immediate aides has an office close by his own and each has assumed responsibility for a number of the divisions.

This means that each division reports to one of the four. If one is away, the other three divide his responsibilities. In this way, many decisions are made at the level immediately below Mr Heeney. Anything, however, which goes to Mr. Pearson and cabinet must go through him.

Mr. Heeney now holds four regular weekly meetings as well as numerous ad hoc meetings within the department. Each Monday, for instance, he meets his immediate aides and the division heads to discuss the happenings of the past week. Reports of the discussions are sent around the world as one of several methods of keeping missions abroad posted.

On Tuesday, the undersecretary discusses policy questions with appropriate advisors. On Wednesdays, he meets senior officers concerned with postings and the general operation of the service. On Fridays, he meets his four chief aides for a policy talk on world developments.

There are arrangements, too, on a rotational basis for each of the divisions to report directly to him for a period and for direct reports to him on certain important current issues.

Numerous Changes

The reorganization has also worked these among other changes:

An elaborate system of merit marks and ratings has been set up to help a promotions board. A detailed record of every employee has been completed, containing the type of data that is useful when postings are under study. An establishments committee is rounding off a study of each division and will tackle missions abroad to chart manpower and other needs.

The original one big administrative division has been divided into three. One section supervises supplies and properties, another the financial problems in a department whose staff and buildings are thin dots around the globe. The third will handle general administrative policy.

A planning body considers long-range and involved problems such as redrafting the External Affairs Act. A departmental archives is going to sort out and index papers which should be retained because of their historical value. A committee has been named to handle policy problmes of the clerical staff.

Hundreds of Canadians have entered the department since 1945. Now newcomers will be taken on only to fill vacancies and to handle new responsibilities.

Because of its work, there is a distinctive character, elan and pride about the deparment. Whether this develops into a definite personality form or not remains to be seen, but Mr. Heeney has told a Commons committee he hopes "they will not fall into a pattern as perhaps has been the tendency in some foreign offices in the world."

Sure Canada Will Regain Overseas Trade

MONTREAL, Jan. 28—(CP)—Confidence that Canada eventually will regain her lost overseas markets for pulp and paper and will be able to maintain her markets on this continent was expressed Friday by R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association.

"The two major problems for this industry in the next few years are, first, the re-establishment of overseas markets and second, the maintenance of markets on this continent," he said in an address prepared for delivery before the annual convention.

"On both these questions it is possible to be reasonably hopeful and optimistic.

One of the reasons for optimism, Mr. Fowler said, was the fact that "in her pulpwood assets, Canada is uniquely fortunate.

Starting his review in the year 1945, when he first took over as president, Mr. Fowler said that at that time "we looked back on a year in which the Canadian pulp and paper industry produced $370,000,000 worth of goods.

"Today we look back on a year that yielded well over $800,000,000 in total production."

Mr. Fowler referred to United States complaints that the Canadian newsprint industry is at fault for not dropping the price of newsprint in the U. S. to coincide with the 10 per cent drop in the value of the Canadian dollar.

CBC Boosts Back In Bicentenary Year

Johann Sebastian Bach died 200 years ago this coming July 28. The bicentennial is being made the occasion for one of the greatest revivals of his music in the last century.

The music of the great German master of classic form has always had its strong band of admirers. But this year it will be heard again and again in many countries, including Canada, and radio is playing a large part in spreading knowledge of Bach's music.

Three Sunday night concerts on CBC Trans-Canada network have already featured the music of Bach—whom Wagner called "the most stupendous miracle in all music." The same network will broadcast more of the same especially the Brandenburg Concertos, on Feb. 12, 19, 26 and April 2. Then on April 5, the Toronto Mendelssohn Choir will sing the famous St. Mathew Passion.

The Bach Festival will be carried on CBC's Quebec network and by shortwave to listeners throughout Central and South America also. After Easter, the theme will be continued by Les Concerts Symphoniques, with the monumental B Minor Mass on April 25.

Cars Damaged On Keene Road

A sideswipe collision on the Old Keene Road Thursday night resulted in about $185 damage to two cars.

The accident occurred a mile and a half south of Highway 7 shortly before midnight. Neither driver was injured.

Involved were the cars of Hubert Legros of Water St. and Frank Heffernan, RR 8, Peterborough. They were travelling in opposite directions and some how sideswiped each other.

Legros' car was knocked into the ditch but suffered the lesser damage of $35. Heffernan's car had the left rear fender and door damaged to extent of $150.

Provincial Constable Albert Poulter investigated.

Says Papers Need To Gain Confidence of Their Readers

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 28 — (CP)—D. B. Rogers, editor of the Regina Leader-Post, said Friday that the greatest challange for Canadian editors is to conduct their news departments in a manner to gain and hold the confidence of their readers.

Mr. Rogers spoke as president of the Fourth Canadian Managing Editors' Conference, which started today and continues until Sunday.

"We can only capture and maintain this confidence (of readers) by never ceasing to search for the truth and never fearing to publish it," he said.

"There are no halfway measures in honest journalism. What we must seek and print is the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

Not Good Record

"Our record on this score has not been as good as it could or should be."

Mr. Rogers said the freedom of the press is the people's right, not the publisher's. Newspapers were only the chief medium by which the public could gain access to the truth.

"I believe that in the period immediately ahead, we shall be subjected to more searching more blasting criticism, perhaps, than ever before . . . to the extent that we are vulnerable to such attacks, we hsall have only ourselves to blame.

"It remains our great and direct responsibility as newspaper executives to find the news, to dig it out and to present it accurately, fairly, fearlessly and effectively."

About 50 editors from coast to coast heid their first meeting of the annual conference this morning. One of the principal purposes of the meeting is to consider ways and means by which Canadian newspapers can do better job Most of the discussions are off-the-record.

Three Miles High Mine Job Is Tops

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP)— It sounds like the perfect job. Too much physical exertion is discouraged and a vacation is a "must" every three months.

But Roland McPhee, a man who should know, says it has its drawbacks.

Mr. McPhee, a University of British Columbia graduate, is general superintendent in South American for the Vanadium Corporation of America. The company operates the largest Vanadium mine in the world, located at a 14,800-foot altitude in the Andes Mountains of Peru.

Back in Vancouver recently for a visit, he told what it is like to work nearly three miles above sea level.

"Because of the altitude, it's not possible for white men to exert themselves too strenuously," he said. "Rigid medical examinations are necessary before you can go to work at the mine.

"On doctor's orders, we take a two-week vacation about every three months," he continued. "At the end of two years, we are given two months' holiday."

Oh yes, there's another disadvantage, anyone who drinks in excess at that altitude winds up with a much worse hangover than his sea-level brother, says Mr. McPhee.

Truck Goes Through Ice Three Drown

Father Rescued But Helpless To Save His Family

SUDBURY, Jan. 30—(CP)—Three persons were drowned Sunday when a pick-up truck went through the ice at a narrow section of Long Lake, some six miles south of here. Drowned were: Mrs. Orvo E. Hill, of Rheault Post Office, and her two children, Gail, 6, and Johnny, 2. The woman's husband who was driving managed to free himself from the submerged truck. He climbed on the roof of the vehicle, grabbed the side of the ice and swung himself to safety.

Vic Ahlgren, brother of Mrs. Hill, discovered the shocked, distraught father, standing in ice water up to his neck. Ahlgren said he had been driving in his car ahead of the Hill truck. The party was crossing the lake to cut ice.

Warning Too Late

Ahlgren said he had noticed a thin spot, and drove ahead to the shore to get evergreen boughs as a warning to others. When he returned, the truck was down, and his brother-in-law was standing on its roof, with only his head above water.

Ahlgren said Hill was mumbling: "All winter my wife has been dreaming that the kids were drowned. Now the three of them are gone. I shouldn't have brought them onto the lake."

Provincial police from Sudbury and about 35 residents of the district helped recover the bodies five hours after the mishap. Bill Currie, a diver employed by International Nickel Co., brought the bodies to the surface.

Blacks Out

Hill told police he had been able to grab his daughter Gail, who was sitting on her mother's knee, and then everything had blacked out. He is a Sudbury district poultry farmer.

"It happened so fast I can't really remember anything. Everything was confused. I can only remember forcing open the door to reach for them, but I couldn't make it. I don't how I got to the surface."

Police said the narrow section was affected by eddies which left some parts of the ice thin and dangerous. Residents of the district had been using the lake as a road regularly during the past week.

Find 2 Girls Among 5 Being Held

Collect 10 Cars In 8 Hours, Try House Break-In

TORONTO, Jan. 30—(CP)—Police Sunday arrested three youths and two girls on a total of 38 automobile theft charges. Police said Alex. Hydma, 22, William Martin, 19, James Reading, 16, Marie Leblanc, 22 and Violet Goodenough, 18, had taken the cars for joy riding. They had thrown valuable articles out of the vehicles in order to make more seating space police said.

Police said they never heard of such a car-stealing spree. They said 10 cars were stolen Sunday between 2 p.m. and 10 p.m.

Two officers in a police cruiser sighted one of the cars and chased it up a dead end street where they captured Hydma.

The others were later found at their homes.

Two At A Time

Police said it was customary for the gang to steal two automobiles at one time. They forced the car ventilation windows and to start the engines they crossed the ignition wires. Then they would drive until the gasoline supply ran out.

Before dark police said they had stolen five cars.

Police said they also broke into a home near King, Ont., they thought belonged to a millionaire. A light came on when two of the youths entered the house so they ran out and jumped into one of the stolen cars. The gates to the grounds were closed as they left so they drove right through smashing the gates and the grill work on the car.

7 Youths Caught

At Brantford seven youths face charges of attempted car theft as the result of arrests during the week-end. One was arrested at the scene and later detectives took the others into custody.

All were remanded until Friday for arraignment on the charges. Bail has been set at $1,000 each.

McNaughton, Canada's representative in United Nations' atomic talks for the last four years.

Unemployed Ranks Swell To 323,000 Labor Department Reports

Increase of 100,000 Over Last Year Statement Reveals; Abnormal Weather, Market Decline Blamed

OTTAWA, Jan. 30—(CP)—The number of jobless walking the streets looking for work is steadily climbing. They now total about 323,000 persons, the Labor Department reported Saturday, an increase of 100,000 over the same time a year ago. This latest report covers those without jobs on Jan. 12. On Dec. 22 last, the total was 261,000. The climb since then was 62,000. Unemployed workers now make up 6 per cent of Canada's labor force, but it does not mean a general decline in the Canadian economy, the department said.

It attributed the rise in unemployment to special factors, such as abnormal weather conditions, declines in logging and in export markets.

Quebec led the unemployment parade with 99,000; Ontario was second with 79,000.

This picture was made public a few weeks after labor unions called on the government to open its bag of public works projects which has been stored for unemployment emergencies.

The Trades and Labor Congress and the Canadian Congress of Labor issued a joint statement Jan. 9 urging prompt action to obtain jobs for the unemployed. It repeated a previous charge that the unemployment figures had been withheld.

The current picture showed that the greatest number seeking work were in the larger cities.

Cities Invaded

"In many sections of Canada" said the department, "casual workers, not finding their usual winter work in logging, have come into the larger cities in search of jobs.

"These have not been easy to find. Although employment generally remains high, labor demand is not very active. Employers with staffs more or less adequate to meet their production schedules, can afford to be selective in their hiring."

The jobs currently open were mostly for skilled workers. In many industries workers have been laid off as the result of smaller markets for their goods.

Employment has declined in meat-packing plants, fur factories, lumber camps, certain sections of the iron and steel industry and in non-ferrous metals production.

Father Shoots At Fox Kills Son, 12

TWEED, Jan. 30. — Raymond Latondre, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Latondre of Tweed, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon—victim of an accidental blast from a shotgun in the hands of his father.

Mr. Latondre, Cyril Latta, and young Raymond were hunting in the bush five miles west of here. The father's dogs had driven a fox into the open. He told his son to stay out of range on a rock to the right.

On the first shot, Mr. Latondre wounded the fox. He was cocking his 12-gauge weapon for a second shot at the escaping animal when the gun accidentally went off, hitting his son in the head.

Coroner Dr. R. S. Beatty of Madoc and Constables Jack Hatch and Lummis, of the Provincial Police detachment at Madoc, investigated. A post-mortem was held, and it was decided no inquest was necessary.

Young Raymond, known to his friends as "Blacky," was a star performer with the Tweed bantam hockey team. He leaves his parents and five brothers and sisters.

Greatest Search In Canada For Lost Plane

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Jan. 30—(CP)—Search for a missing United States transport plane and its 44 occupants turned today to two mountainous, heavily-timbered areas northwest of here. They were by-passed earlier in the gigantic aerial search because of bad weather.

The hunt from the sky, greatest such search in Canada, has covered about 58,500 square miles from Fort Nelson, B.C., north to snag in the Yukon. But two sections—900 square miles immediately northwest of Whitehorse and an area about half that extent south of Snag — have been blocked off by overcast weather.

Prospects were for clear skies over both areas today and some 29 U.S. and Canadian planes were expected to scan them for traces of the C-54 transport.

The missing plane carried a crew of eight, 34 U.S. military personnel and a mother and her child. It was last heard from Thursday over Snag, about 200 miles northwest of Whitehorse, on its non-stop flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont.

Promising Clue

Searchers also followed another promising clue—a report from a mechanic at Carcross, 40 miles south of here, that he heard an explosion in that area about the time the missing plane was due there. Bad weather raised a barrier to an aerial search there Sunday. But planes were expected to go out today and a ground crew

Have Argument In Court On Rent Control

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP)—Involved argument broke out today as the Supreme Court of Canada opened its hearing into the validity of federal rent controls.

V. P. Varcoe, deputy minister of justice, attempted to file with the court a short history of economic factors during and after the war.

This document was written for Finance Minister Abbott and covered economic conditions which led to the institution of federal rent rontrols.

Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret declined to accept the document as filed.

Mr. Varcoe said a short history of conditions was accepted by the court in the margarine case in October, 1948.

However, in that case, said the chief justice the document formed part of the order-in-council as passed by the government.

Not Part of Legislation

In the rents case, however, the rents history had been written by Owen Lobley, federal rent administrator, and other government officials. It was not part of the rent legislation.

R. M. W. Chitty of Toronto, counsel for the Property Owners' Association of Canada, asked that Mr. Varcoe's application be dismissed.

The chief justice said he saw no necessity for disposing of the application at the moment. It was merely a verbal request.

The discussion finally concluded when Mr. Varcoe agreed not to refer to the document for the present.

He replied "yes" when Mr. Justice Kerwin asked whether he could make the same arguments without referring to the document.

The Supreme Court room proved too small for the crowds that gathered. Women made up the larger part of the spectators.

Woman With Broken Wrist Saves 7 Children In Fire

BARRIE, Jan. 30—(CP)—A 72-year-old grandmother, who rescued seven children from a blazing farmhouse despite a broken wrist, was receiving quiet tribute Sunday night from the farm folk of nearby Vespra Township. After discovering the whole top floor of the six-room, frame house afire Saturday, Mrs. Jessie Fairbairn carried a five-weeks-old boy and a one-year-old girl from the doomed building, and returned in time to lead the others to safety.

The fire started in an upstairs room of the house, owned by Earl Fairbairn. The father was at work in Barrie at the time, and his wife was visiting her parents in Dunnville. She returned on Saturday to find her home in ashes, furniture and clothing gone — her children safe with two farm neighbors.

Brings Out Children

Mrs. Fairbairn, Sr., said she was bathing the baby when one of the children told her the upstairs was on fire. As she rushed to the stairway, flames leaped at her down a stairwell. She took time to telephone a neighbor, Mrs. Lorne Poole, and then evacuated the children.

When 25 neighbors reached the farm, Mrs. Fairbairn and seven children were huddled in the barn for protection from the freezing temperature. Except for a few small articles, nothing could be saved.

Saturday night, four of the children were cared for by Mrs. Poole, and three by another neighbor, Mrs. Ivan Cairns.

On Saturday, E. Swaine, manager of the Simcoe District Cooperative Service, where the father works, started a fund for the family. By mid-afternoon, it totalled $50.

The father, an army veteran, had purchased the house a year ago, and had only $1,000 insurance.

UK Squanders Marshall Aid

LONDON, Jan. 30 — (CP)—Queuetopia, not Utopia. That, says Winston Churchill, is the goal of Britain's Labor government is seeking.

Accepting the Conservative nomination from Woodford district for the Feb. 23 general election, the leader of the Tory opposition said Labor party socialists have promised children will be at the head of the queue in social services.

"Why should queues become a permanent, continuous feature of our life? Here we see clearly what is in their minds," he said Saturday night.

Churchill accused Prime Minister Attlee's government of squaundering a great part of United States aid funds on American films, tobacco, and non-essential foods and fruits, instead of devoting it to re-equipment of British industry and basic food imports.

Britain's return to "solvency, security and independence" has been prevented, he continued, "not only by the incompetence and maladministration of the socialist government and their wild extravagance, but even more by the spirit of class hatred which they have spread throughout the land, and by the costly, and wasteful nationalization of a fifth part of our industries."

30 Children Isolated With Polio Disease

MONTREAL, Jan. 30 (CP) — The polio epidemic at the northeastern Quebec hamlet of St. Augustin has improved and for the present no further evacuations are planned.

This report was messaged on Sunday by Flt. Lt. Stan Yoder of Edmonton who Friday flew six polio-stricken children to Montreal in an RCAF plane from the isolated settlement on the north shore of the Strait of Belle Isle.

About 30 children are isolated in St. Augustin with varying degrees of the disease first reported a week ago. Since then four children are reported to have died and FO. Peggy Corbett, 29-year-old RCAF nursing sister, said it is possible that all of the 200 children in the village of 300 have the disease.

Bush told police he was ill from the gallon of ketchup he had drunk to keep himself alive. His weakened condition made it impossible for him to go for help.

A Dirty Trick

FORT ERIE, Jan. 30 (CP) — Five men in an automobile stopped when Robert Day flagged them Sunday night. But instead of helping him move his car, stuck in a muddy shoulder on Niagara Parkway, they levelled a rifle at his and robbed Day and his wife, Betty, of $11 and a wrist watch. Another passing motorist drove the couple to the police station. Provincial Police set up a road block but found no trace of the bandits.

Two Children Said Kidnapped

HAMILTON, Jan. 30 (CP) — Provincial Police in this district were alerted today after receiving a report that two children had been kidnapped in Caledonia.

Police said that two brothers, aged two and three years, had been playing on the verandah of the home of A. M. Rice of Caledonia. Mr. Rice, manager of the bank in the town, is the grandfather of the pair.

All police in the district were requested to watch out for a late-model green car, in which the boys are believed to have been seen.

Authorities stopped a number of green cars on the Caledonia highway but did not come across the wanted car.

SUDBURY, Jan. 30 (CP) — Plaintiffs have agreed to a delay in enforcing an injunction which would have closed the plant of the Kalamazoo Parchment Company at Espanola, 50 miles west of Sudbury, it was stated today

The injunction, granted by Ontario courts and upheld by the Privy Council, was effective April 4. It required the company, only industry in the community of 4,500 persons, to stop polluting the Spanish river with mill waste.

4 Hydro Workers Rescued After Boat Upsets In River

MATTAWA, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP) —Four hydro workers were rescued from the Ottawa River here Sunday when a small boat overturned.

One, Jack Merchie, of Port Arthur, was pulled from the swiftly-flowing river at the brink of Johnson Rapids after being carried half a mile downstream.

Oscar Groulx, a trapper, raced in a canoe to rescue 200-pound Merchie.

"Thank God I am alive," Merchie said later. "I'd given up hope. I could hear the roar of the falls, and, no matter what I did, I could not help myself. Out of nowhere I felt myself being pulled into a canoe. Oscar Groulx is the most wonderful man in the world."

The four men had been working on a flat-bottomed boat with a marine engine in the middle When their craft overturned, Merchie was swept into the river but the others clung to the overturned, sinking boat.

Merchie's companions—Charlie Stone of Port Arthur and Lawson Kaiser and Hector Larante of Mattawa—were rescued by men in another boat.

All four suffered exposure and were brought to hospital here Their condition today is reported improved and the men are considered out of danger.

20 Villages Destroyed By Sharp Earthquakes

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 30 (AP)—Government officials rushed relief supplies today to the Persian Gulf area of Bushire, struck by a recent series of sharp earthquakes.

First unofficial reports on the toll had said that more than 1,500 persons were killed but the government said it believed these figures were greatly exaggerated. Government, however, gave no figure of its own on the possible total of dead. Rescue and relief workers in Bushire thus far have recovered only 30 bodies.

Twenty villages in the area were reported destroyed and thousands of inhabitants injured by the quakes which began last Wednesday. Reports of the disaster were delayed in reaching Tehran by breaks in communications to Bushire, 500 miles south of the capital.

Hopes Prayers Answered, and Wife Safe

U.S. Sergeant Helps To Search For Missing Air Transport

By M-SGT. ROBERT ESPE, United States Air Force

As told ot Graham Trotter, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

WHITEHORSE, Y.T., Jan. 30 (CP)—I've gone through all the hysterics and have cried myself silly.

I believe that due to the fact conditions in the area where the plane last was reported were good, and that it was daylight last Thursday when it disappeared, the plane could have made a normal ditching-procedure landing in some clear spot. If it did, I'm sure my wife and little son are still alive.

My wife was seven months pregnant and because her health was not good in the Alaskan climate, she was going to visit Mr. and Mrs. James Vagneour in Rifle Colo., and have the baby there.

She was scheduled to take another plane out of Anchorage. But it was to have left three hours later than the one she finally boarded which was making a direct run to Great Falls, Mont.

Sees Them Off

I was at the field to see her and Victor off. But after a run down the field the plane failed to take off because of the failure of a feathering motor in one of the propellers, a very minor thing that caused a three-hour delay.

The plane crew had fitted all the passengers with parachutes My last words to Joycie were, "if you have to jump, give the baby to Roy. (Sgt. Roy Jones, of Marietta, Ga.)

On Sunday morning I boarded the first search plane to leave this base. We were out for about nine hours.

During the flight, we landed at Snag, where the plane last made radio contact. I made a point of talking with the radio operators there who had received the report. They figured the aircraft was about 25 miles south of Snag They also said they were shocked immediately they received the radio report from the plane because they figure it was sent from a Gibson Girl—a set used for emergencies. . .

Lost Near Snag

I believe the plane is lost near Snag or close to Whitehorse. If they search those areas today I'm going out there with them. In searches like this, two pairs of eyes are better than one.

My wife, who is an Anglo-Indian, was very beautiful and petite. Her home was Hapur, India and I met her while on war duty in New Delhi. Saturday was 'o have been her 23rd birthday . . . I haven't slept or eaten since Thursday.

I've done a lot of praying lately, although I never did go to church much. I've kept praying continuously for them. I've always believed that a person who had faith in God was much better off than anyone else. Now I'm just waiting and hoping my prayers will be answered.

Youth 17 Rescues 3 In Flaming House

HONEY HARBOR, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP)—Paul Mace, 17, was credited with saving the lives of Norman Lizotte, 48, and Lizotte's two children Sunday when an exploding coal oil can set fire to their house in the community 90 miles northwest of Toronto.

When Mace saw Lizotte run from the house, his clothes on fire, he rolled him in a pool of water, extinguishing the flames. Then the youth entered the house, smothered the flames with a blanket and took Eunice Lizotte, 14, and her 18-month-old brother, George, outside.

Lizotte is in serious condition in hospital. The children were treated for less serious burns.

Dairy Farmers May Organize For Protection

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 — (CP).— Canadian dairy farmers today are considering a proposal that they organize under marketing legislation to protect themselves in the future.

The proposal was contained in a statement of policy issued following the annual convention of the dairy farmers of Canada.

About 60 delegates re-elected Gilver McMillan, Huntingdon, Que., as president and voted to retain the association's present headquarters in Toronto under direction of Erle Kitchen, secretary-manager.

"The dairy farmers of Canada recognize their responsibility to to supply the consumers of Canada with the most efficiently produced high-quality dairy products," said the statement.

Need Fair Level

"In order to ensure constant supply of these products to consumers at a reasonable price it is necessary that our domestic price be fixed on a level that bears a fair relationship to the cost of other manufactured products and services."

Stocks of dairy products in excess of domestic requirements should be exported to needy nations at the best obtainable prices.

"The equilibrium between the cost of production and the selling price can best be restored by effective government action," the statement continued. "In order to provide stability for the industry it will be necessary for the government to remove surpluses from the market. Producers should give consideration to organizing under marketing legislation in order to protect themselves in future."

Among those elected to the executive committee was John I Ballantyne, of Atwood.

Activity Very Slow On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP) — Activity slowed to a crawl in one of the dullest sessions of the year on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Opening trends were slightly firmer but prices settled into lower ground as the session progressed. Industrial stocks went against the downtrend as a few key issues gained fractions.

Volume for the first three hours was 501,000 shares.

In Industrials, John Inglis bounded ahead two points to a new high at 12 before settling slightly and Brantford Cordage added 1½ at a new high at 15.

Golds opened higher but slipped as the session progressed. Junior producers led the early firmness but losses ranging up to 10 cents soon replaced gains. Magnet Consolidated Mines, with property in the Litle Long Lac area, continued the most active issue for a slight gain.

Fractional declines by Colsolidated Smelters, and Quemont pushed base metals down.

Losses ranged up to five cents among key western oil stocks.

6,000 Soft Coal Miners Continue On Strike

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30 (AP)— Six thousand soft coal miners continued on strike today—only a few hours after reports that President Truman may soon step into the coal situation.

Later today, the remainder of the 88,000 men who went on strike three weeks ago will decide whether they'll pay more attention to a hint from the President than a suggestion from John L. Lewis.

The diggers have ignored a suggestion from the United Mine Workers' chief that they return to the three-day week he imposed on the industry while he tries to get a new contract to replace the one which expired last June 30.

Canadian UAW Not Assessed

WINDSOR, Jan. 30 —(CP)— Members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) in Canada are not to be assessed to aid strikers at the United States Chrysler plants, Regional Director George Burt of the UAW announced today.

The union-wide assessment calls for $1 weekly from each member after the third week of a major strike. Union officials said it will net about $900,000 weekly for a maximum of 12 weeks to aid the strikers at the U.S. Chrysler plants.

Mr. Burt told reporters:

'Because of exchange difficulties and the strong possibility of strikes to enforce UAW pension and social security demands in Canada, the international (UAW) board has excused the Canadian region from assessment at this time."

The Canadian local is awaiting an Ontario Conciliation hearing here Feb. 2 to investigate the pensions dispute between it and the Chrysler Corporation of Canada Limited. The union is seeking a $100-a-month company-paid pension similar to that in demand by U.S. Chrysler workers.

Seek Higher Price Support

NIAGARA FALLS, Jan. 30 — (CP)—Increases in government price support for farm products may be sought as a result of talks at the 14th annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture opening here today.

Signs of such a move were seen in pre-convention talks, almost entirely concerned with sagging prices for farm products. These are believed to form the subject of the bulk of resolutions to be brought up at initial public sessions tomorrow.

Today's program was given over entirely to a directors meeting at which the resolutions will be reviewed.

The Dairy Farmers of Canada also represented here, will seek an increase in the floor price of cheese from 27 cents to 30 cents a pound. This was decided on by the dairymen's annual meeting at Ottawa Saturday. The 1949 floor price was 30 cents.

Greatest Search

headed into the region as well.

But there was hope among the searchers that the plane might be in one of the two unsearched regions.

"The two bad weather regions are the most likely spots to find the missing aircraft," said Air Commodore Martin Costello, R.C.A.F. tactical commander at Winnipeg, who is co-ordinating search operations from the Whitehorse base.

"These regions are mountainous, the peaks averaging 6,000 and 7,000 feet," said the air commodore. "The lower parts of the mountains are heavily wooded The upper parts are covered with snow.

A double drive was under way towards Carcross, 40 miles south of here, where a mechanic says he heard the explosion Thursday night about the time the missing plane was due in that area.

On the ground, a road crew trekked down the Alaska Highway for 12 miles then plunged into the deep forest, heading towards a spot where search officials believe the explosion happened.

Make Air Sweep

From the air, an air armada will make a minute sweep of the area where the weather-wall has held them off for three days.

The explosion clue was not the only one on which the air search will be concentrated. The rugged mountain peaks of southern Yukon have been shrouded in cloud, sleet and snow for three days. Search officials said the missing transport may have hit one of them.

The fate of the 44 passengers and crew of the missing plane, a United States air force C-45 bound from Anchorage, Alaska to Great Falls, Mont., became a more pressing problem each hour. The longer any survivors stayed in the sub-Arctic wilderness, the less chance they had of survival.

One thing that has been in their favor is an unusual mild spell. It was 15 above here Sunday. Temperatures of 50 and 60 below are more common at this time of year.

Perhaps uppermost in the minds of the searchers was Mrs. Joyce Espe, wife of Sgt. Robert Espe stationed at Elmendorf Field, Alaska. With her son Victor, Mrs. Espe was on her way in the plane to Rifle, Colo., where she expected to have a baby in about two months.

Atomic Energy Talks To Begin

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—(AP) —Behind a tight secrecy curtain drawn by the U.S. State Department, representatives of Britain, the United States and Belgium meet here today to talk about atomic energy.

Authoritative information is that they want to discuss:

1. A possible increase in the $200 to $300 a ton price which the United States pays Belgium for the bulk of uranium produced in the Belgian Congo.

2. Detailed arrangemnts for division of the Congo's uranium output between the United States and Britain, with virtually all of it coming to the U.S.

Since the talks deal with uranium—used in making present day atomic bombs—there is no apparent connection with a possible superbomb powered with hydrogen.

Various developments during weekend indicated that President Truman may be near a grave decision on whether to build the H-bomb, and that he may rule in favor of it.

Labor Congress Demands Action

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 — (CP) — Canada's two major labor congresses oday renewed demands that the government take immediate action to halt mounting unemployement

A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, and Percy Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congres of Canada, both placed unemployment above the 323,000 figure announced by the government Saturday.

The government announcement covered the number of persons registered for unemployment at national employment offices across the country at Jan. 12 for whom no jobs had been found.

Mr. Mosher, head of 350,000 union workers, estimated the total number of unemployed in Canada at "10 to 15 per cent higher" than the government figure. He said there were large numbers of unemployed not eligible for unemployment insurance and not registered at national employment offices.

Mayor Asks Approval Of Metropolitan Offer

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP).— Mayor Hiram McCallum asked the Board of Control today to approve his metropolitan area plan whereby 12 neighboring municipalities would progressively be amalgamated with the city.

The special board meeting was called to consider a formal recommendation to be presented to City Council on Thursday.

The Mayor said it was not practicalu for a group of municipalities such as those in the Greater Toronto area to continue duplication of services as at present.

He said Premier Frost would be forced to take action if a decision is not reached soon by the parties themselves.

Have Argument

Many stood at the back of the room waiting to hear what action would develop.

Dana Porter, Attorney-General for Ontario, was the only provincial Attorney-General to appear at the opening.

As the hearings began Chief Justice Rinfret remarked that it "is quite improper" for the public to write to any of the Supreme Court justices regarding the rentals case.

"If people think we can achieve anything that way they are quite wrong," he said, adding that such action might bring about a "contrary" result.

Mr. Varcoe then proceeded with argument favoring parliament's right to control rents.

He read the order-in-council which first initiated the controls in 1940 and the preamble of the Transitional Powers Act, 1945, which continued the controls through the peacetime period immediately after the war.

Blame Exposure

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 30—(CP)—Inspector Tom Wright of the provincial police said Sunday that severe exposure has been tentatively established as the cause of the death of Cecilia Boyer, 29-year-old Indian girl whose frozen body was found in a schoolyard last Thursday.

Stocker Trees Killed By Enemy Beetles

Only two of the silver-edged birches that used to be the pride of Gilmour St., west of Monaghan Road, have survived the attentions of some kind of beetle that has been working on them in the last few years

Of 24 planted by the late Walter Stocker, when he was chairman of the council, only two remain, as reported today by Stroyan Leith.

"The city's men removed eight of them last week," Mr. Leith said. "There must have been 24 planted on the boulevards for decorative effect. They prospered until some insect enemy fixed on them. Since then they have been gradually dying from the top down. Three or four years ago I enquired from the government whether something could be done to check the attack. They were then sprayed with remedying effect, but I imagine that spraying should be done annually.

Mr. Leith said he used DDT on several of the trees in front of his place last year. They are the last of the ornate row which had contributed much of arboreal beauty to the stretch of Gilmour St. from Monaghan Road to Albertus Ave.

Nationalists Claim 50 Red Junks Sunk

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 30 (AP) —Headquarters of the Chinese Nationalist air force said today new onslaughts by Nationalist planes Sunday sank 50 Red junks preparing for the invasion of Hainan Island, off the South China coast.

Headquarters said bombers demolished many gun emplacements in raids on Liuchow peninsula which juts out to within 10 miles of Hainan.

Official sources here said the Reds had 5,000 motor-powered junks and other small craft ready for the Hainan invasion.

Gen. Hsia Yu-tsai, of the Hainan defence command, said the vessels would try to move between 100,000 and 200,000 Communist troops across the narrow Hainan strait for the assault on the big island.

Liberals' Leader Brilliant Career

By The Canadian Press

Clement Davies, 66-year-old leader of the Liberal parliamentary party since 1945, is an example of a poor boy making good in law and politics.

Youngest son of a large Welsh family, he was tending cows at Llanfyllin, Montgomeryshire, at the age of 10, but studied hard at home and at school and was able to matriculate at 15.

He raised enough funds to go to Cambridge for one year and won a senior foundation scholarship, assuring himself of a full period at Trinity Hall law school Here in 1906 and 1907, he took first-class honors in both parts of the Law Tripos.

In 1909 he was called to Lincoln's Inn with prizes in criminal law, first class honors, and a certificate of honor in the Bar finals.

Davies entered politics in 1929 as Liberal M. P. for Montgomeryshire. In 1945, when Labor captured Britain, he was one of a small Liberal group who survived and became party leader.

In 1947 he received official recognition as a member of the Privy Council.

In 1913 he married the daughter of Dr. Morgan Davies, well-known London surgeon. They have one daughter.

Food Given Out In Laurentians, Pray For Snow

MONT TREMBLANT, Que., Jan. 30 — (CP). — Food baskets are being passed out to needy families in parts of the Laurentians as a dearth of snow has brought hard times to Quebec's famed ski paradise.

With half the four-month winter season gone, business men and resort operators in a dozen villages along the 60-mile stretch between here and Shawbridge estimate their total losses in revenue as high as $3,500,000.

Although the Laurentians, visited by hundreds of thousands of skiers in a normal season, have had snow off and on this season, the average depth on Sunday was estimated at only four inches.

In past seasons the average has been 24-28 inches and as much as 52 inches at Mont Tremblant, where the investment in hotels, lodges and ski tows is more than $3,000,000.

Rev. C. H. Deslauriers, Roman Catholic parish priest at Mont Tremblant, is holding three church services daily as the 1,100 in his parish pray for snow.

Elsewhere, Gaston Guibault, secretary of the Laurentian Resorts Association, said he had been advised that four hotels have gone into bankruptcy.

In Ste. Agathe, often called the capital of the Laurentians, Miss Viviane Decarie, of the Banque Provinciale du Canada said the losses in that area alone run between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

Father Deslauriers, who counts 452 of his people jobless because of the snow famine, said: "We are trying our best to provide food and some money for our parishioners. But the situation is getting worse hourly."

Support Prices Requested At Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 30—(CP)—Recommendations petitioning the government for support prices for farm produce which would give the government for3 the agriculturist a "fair" margin of profit were passed unanimously at a farmers' protest meeting here Saturday.

Approximately 600 farmers attended the meeting sponsored by the Federation of Agriculture for the counties of Northumberland and Hastings.

Speakers from the hog producers, cheese producers and other farm organizations spoke.

Resolutions passed included one from the Northumberland and Hastings Federations of Agriculture commending the Federal government for the support already given with a recommendation that support prices should be further advanced to be on parity with labor and industry.

It was further resolved if the government did not implement the Support Prices Act to a satisfactory level farmers must refrain from the purchase of any articles except the necessities of life.

Ask Cheese Boost

A resolution from the Cheese Producers' Association of the two counties petitioned the government to increase the support price of cheese from 28 cents seaboard to 30 cents f.o.b. factory, while a second resolution from the same organization asked the Ontario government to pay a premium of two cents per pound on sediment free cheese.

A resolution from the Hog Producers asked the Government Meat Board to pay 36 cents a pound instead of 32½ for bacon and also that the government place an adequate floor price to guarantee cost of production and a fair margin of profits.

Establish Fifth Joint Weather Station

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 — (CP) — Canada and the United States are going to build their fifth joint Arctic weather station virtually at the northern tip of Canadian soil and only a few hundred miles from the Arctic Pole, officials said Saturday.

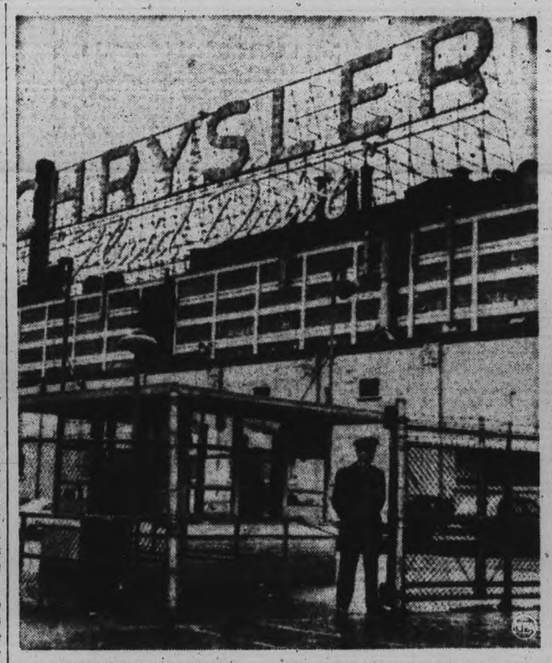
Prefabricated shelters and supplies are expected to be taken in by plane this year and men will go in by plane and boat to the site at the northern end of Ellesmere Island.

Trade Minister Howe announced nearly three years ago that nine of the stations would be built by this year. So far four have been finished. They are being jointly operated by the Canadians and Americans until Canada has enough trained men to handle them.

All the stations are believed to be sites for other scientific studies of the north in addition to the meteorological surveys. The government has announced plans for a thorough study of the north for military as well as civilian reasons.

The new station will be some hundreds of miles beyond the site of the station. Mr. Howe said would be the most northerly— the station at Eureka on Sound, on the north-western side of Ellesmere Island about 600 miles from the pole.

The four already established are at Eureka; on Resolute Bay, Cornwallis Island; Mould Bay, on Prince Patrick Island; and on Isachsen Peninsula, Ellef Ringnes Island.



Takes Off Shoes When Delivering Wires

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 30 (AP)—Peter Wiering takes off his shoes when he delivers telegrams in apartment buildings at night. That's an order from the boss.

Wiering, 21, came here two years ago from the Netherlands. He is working nights as a messenger hoping to save enough money to buy a farm.

"I wear wooden shoes because they are warmer," he said.

Clifton W. Press, Western Union office manager, said that was okay but added, "not in apartments. I don't want you waking up the whole building."

Jewel Thieves Strike Again, Take $300,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP) — Daring jewel thieves Saturday night looted the midtown apartment of a wealthy hosiery manufacturer of gems valued at $300,000. The Federal Bureau of Investigation joined police in a search for the burglars.

It was Manhattan's second major jewel burglary within 48 hours.

The new theft was in the apartment of Stanton D. Sanson, 49-year-old president of Sanson Hosiery Inc. The glittering array of stolen jewelry belonged to his wife, Maxine, a former model who was at the movies when the thieves struck. Sanson was in Philadelphia.

Spurning near-perfect synthetic stones and less valuable gems the smooth working burglars looted a score of jewel boxes in the apartment and pocketed the pick of the collection. Police said they were informed one of the stolen gems was a diamond necklace of 70 to 90 carats.

An Inside Job

In Philadelphia, Sanson said that the theft appeared to be an inside job.

"They took only the very large platinum and diamond pieces, settings from which the stones could be taken out and peddled very easily," he said.

The theft followed by 48 hours the burglary of the fashionable residence of showman Billy Rose. Burglars forced their way into the Rose home Thursday night, tied up a butler and fled with gems and furs valued by Rose at $100,000.

Mrs. Sanson returned home from a late movie to find a dozen jewel boxes empty in a living-room chair. She ran to a closet where other boxes had been kept and found many of them stripped, too. Then she phoned police.

Czechs Say 2 Canadians Spying and Abused Police

—PRAGUE, Jan. 30 — (AP). — Czechoslovakia charged Saturday that Sgt. Reginald Danko, a Canadian Legation employee expelled from the country last week engaged in espionage against this country.

The government declared also that Cpl. J. G. Vanier, another member of the Legation staff ousted at the same time, had been guilty of abusing the hospitality of the Czech state.

Through the official Czech news agency, the government asserted that both men had been guilty of "low and inimical provocations against our authorities" In respect to Danko, it said that the authorities had learned that he had organized espionage in Czechoslovakia aimed at the Czechoslovak state and paid big amounts for the information.

Danko is from Toronto and Lauder, Man. Vanier is from Rochebaucourt, Que.

Paid for Information

The news agency said that Danko had paid considerable sums of money for information, as proved by confession of persons involved, which led the Foreign Affairs Ministry to request his removal "within a fortnight or so.'"

His departure, coupled with Vanier's, was accelerated by two scuffles with security police Jan. 17.

The disturbances occurred outside Danko's house.

"On Jan. 17 Mr. Danko, accompanied by two unknown persons, arrived in front of his house and they attacked security organs who were on duty in the vicinity," the agency reported. "They demanded of them to prove their identity. The security organs did so, but when they requested Danko and his friends to do so, they roughly refused.

Ignore Request

"In the evening of the same day, Danko and Vanier, in the company of four women and three men, left the house. Security organs approached them and asked them to prove their identity. They were again answered in an unheard of manner and Vanier used force, asking one of the company to hand him a pistol. His friend refused.

"As the security organs had recognized Vanier, and the res. of the company did not take par. actively in the attack, they refrained from using more energetic measures so that they should not find themselves in a position where they might need to use their firearms.

"These unheard of manners of officers of the Canadian Legation is rather reminiscent of the manners in the Wild West and constituted gross abuse of hospitality granted to them by the Czechoslovak state."

New England Wants To Have More Power, But Opinion Divided

By ERNEST G. WARREN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—(AP)—President Truman has called, on several occasions, for more power for New England. And that six-state area is crying for more and cheaper power. But some New Englanders say the public power isn't there to develop.

There are conflicting estimates. The Federal Power Commission says an additional 3,119,000 kilowatts of electricity can be produced in the area from government-financed, multi-purpose dams.

The New England council, an organization dedicated to boosting the area's industrial, trade and recreational development, figures the potential at only 500,000 kilowatts.

President Truman, in his first message to Congress this year, called for full development of the St. Lawrence River — both for power and navigation. He cited the need for power in industrial New England.

People Divided

On this subject, too, New Englanders are divided. They want any power to be had but fear the navigation feature might hurt their ports. They also doubt New England would get any appreciable portion of St. Lawrence power after New York State, which could use all available to the United States, takes its share.

Later, at one of his weekly press conferences, the President emphasized that he meant not only the St. Lawrence development, that he would revive the dormant passamaquoddy tide-harnessing project in the Bay of Fundy and develop northeastern streaks as well.

Mention of the 25-year dream of penning up the extreme tides of Passamaquoddy Bay between Maine and New Brunswick again pleased Maine legislators but caused other New Englanders, who believe the cost prohibitive, to shake their heads.

The Power Commission believes Quoddy alone might yield 220,000 kilowatts. The Quoddy plan originally was envisioned as a joint Canadian-United States project.

Last August the State Department sanctioned a preliminary Quoddy study by the American-Canadian Joint Boundary Commission. The $60,000 cost was shared by the United States and Canada.

The preliminary study was merely to estimate the cost of a full-scale survey to determine the feasibility and cost of undertaking the tide-harnessing project. No report has been made by the Commission and this possible power source admittedly is a long way from initial development.

Says Malaria Parasites Killing Off Grouse

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP)—Although malaria no longer is a human disease native to Canada, malaria pasasites are common among many wild birds, the Royal Canadian Institute was told Saturday night.

They cause periodic "dying-off" especially among ruffed grouse, said Dr. A. M. Fallis, director of the department of parasitology, Ontario Research Foundation.

Investigations in the Arctic, he said, uncovered the parasite trichinella, which causes the disease trichinosis in husky dogs, polar bears and other Arctic animals. There also was evidence it is fairly common among Eskimos. This parasite formerly is thought to invade only pigs and rats.

In a survey of several hundred grouse, it was found 60 per cent were infected with a malaria parasite transmitted by black flies. It was fatal especially among young birds which hatch about the time black flies are thickest.

Arm! Arm!

Wars past and defence against future war are costing the American people thirty billion dollars a year. Of this fantastic sum, $13,500,000,000 are being spent currently on "national defence". To a much lesser but significant extent, Canada is saddled with large expenses for her armed services; the biggest in Canada's peace-time history. These are distressing facts. That they seem necessary and fully justified by the uneasy world situation today does not reduce the feeling of shame one has that man has to dissipate so much energy and material.

• • •

There are those who argue that defence expenditures do at least give employment and keeps industrial wheels turning. This is a sorry sort of reasoning. There are far better, and far more productive uses for men's labour and the goods of this world. Marxists state flatly that the preparation for war and the making of war are the capitalistic system's way of keeping off the rocks. They say that our system is incapable of avoiding mortality without using up its excess resources of time and material (and whipping up patriotism) in warlike expenditure. They say that the profit system would crack without them. Why then is Communist Russia so heavily armed? To protect itself from the West, comes the pat answer. We are prepared to believe that the western powers are more pacifically-minded than Russia. Perhaps Communist Russia has strayed so far from Marxist principles that its fabric of government is more in need of buttressing with warlike preparation than a capitalist country like the U.S.A. It is remembered that in the early thirties, when the cracks in the capitalist system were wide open, President Roosevelt did not resort to large defence preparations. He put the unemployed in useful works of construction and development.

• • •

Obviously the urgent need for world preservation through disarmament must continue to take second place to the frightened national needs for armed security. Mankind is not as wise as the the idealists make out. And so, next week the North Atlantic arms agreement will be signed, and the arsenals of the west (including Ontario factories) will be turning out arms to defend the interests of the Atlantic nations.

Chiropractors, Osteopaths And Physicians

We see that the registrar of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons is protesting against legislation which would permit injured workmen to be treated by chiropractors. The physicians and surgeons of Canada have never concealed their profound mistrust of chiropractors and osteopaths, and they harry them whenever an opportunity serves. We have no wish to argue the merits and demerits of chiropractic and osteopathy; we do suggest, however, that orthodox medicine has another way of meeting this problem.

That is for orthodox medicine to incorporate into itself whatever is proven good in chiropractic and osteopathy. Manipulative medicine is not all quackery, as shrewd doctors know; sometimes it brings about cures which other forms of treatment have been unable to accomplish. In several European countries —notably, Norway, Sweden and Denmark— the training of a physician includes training in massage and manipulation. Physicians in these countries, and also in Germany, are ready to recommend manipulative treatment and massage when they know it to be needed.

Medical training demands the acquirement of many techniques; to add another to the list may seem burdensome to medical students. But as great strides have been made in surgery since it was taken out of the hands of men who were not physicians as well, might not great strides be made in manipulative treatment if it were brought into the fold of orthodox medicine?

In the popular phrase, chiropractors and osteopaths "have something", whether they fully understand its use or not. Would it not be better for orthodox medicine to incorporate that something into itself, and to explore it thoroughly, instead of getting into these periodic wrangles with the unorthodox practitioners?

Certainly the public would be glad to know that chiropractic and osteopathy had been thoroughly vetted by competent medical men, and also that orthodox medicine was not neglecting a potentially valuable technique of treatment.

Key States In The 1950 U.S. Elections

There will be elections for senatorial and gubernatorial seats in many states of the United States this year. Four of these contests are regarded by U.S. observers as offering the key to the outcome of the more important presidential election in 1952. These states are New York, California, Pennsylvania, and Ohio. Regarding them as possible weather vanes to indicate the direction of the political wind of 1952 is a practice only partially justified by past experiences, and the contests in these four states hold out some interesting possibilities.

In California, shortly after last year's election, James Roosevelt, the eldest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, announced he would be a candidate for the governorship of California. He is bidding chiefly for the Democratic nomination, but California has a strange cross filing system which will put his name on the Republican side as well. The present governor, Earl Warren, despite his defeat last year as Republican vice-presidential candidate, would be the strongest candidate the republicans could place in the field.

Another Roosevelt, Franklin D. Jr., may seek the governorship of New York. It is uncertain, however, that he will be opposed by Governor Thomas Dewey. In Pennsylvania, little is known beyond the fact that the state has changed from a Republican stronghold to one of the hottest political battle grounds in the United States. In the fourth state, Ohio, Senator Robert A. Taft, who has twice unsuccessfully sought the Republican nomination for the presidency of the United States, will seek re-election as State Senator. His opponent has not been named, but it is known that there will be a determined labour opposition to defeat him.

There is, of course, no certainty that the results of these States will provide an accurate indication of the results in 1952. There was once a saying "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." However, after the first overwhelming Roosevelt victory, Maine lost that position. The incident is typical of the unreliability of political indicators of this nature.

Do Men Want To Be Comfortable?

We have just received a handsome magazine which we have never seen before; it is The Ambassador, and it is the British export journal for textiles and fashions. It is a very plushy job indeed, and we have been thumbing through it with pleasure and appreciation. But it contains one article which raises a question which is never far below the surface of the fishpond which we call our mind.

The article is called "Once He Was Gaudier" and it is about men's clothing. The line taken is the old one: men's clothes used to be brighter and more amusing than they are now, so let's do what we can to make them brighter and more amusing in the future. This is the attitude which is also taken in an exhibition now to be seen at the Metropolitan Museum in New York, where some new men's styles, designed by leading designers of women's clothes, are on view. But both the articles and the exhibition seem to us to make one basic mistake; they promise that re-designed men's clothes would be more comfortable than those they wear at present.

Now it is clear to us, as a man and a student of fashion, that men do not particularly want to be comfortable, and never have cared much whether their clothes were comfortable or not. Most of the clothes men have worn down through the centuries have been extremely uncomfortable. Our own belief is that men do not want to be comfortable, but they love to be impressive. In the past they have wanted plumed hats, huge wigs, fancy shirts, lace cuffs, satin waistcoats, gigantic starched cravats and pointy-toed shoes—all to make themselves look impressive. And a modern lounge suit, though it does not make a man appear especially impressive, does make him look respectable, and in our day moral grandeur is more esteemed than sartorial splendour.

Let the designers, therefore, stop fussing about comfort. Men have never had comfort, and don't expect it. But they want to look nobler, or more dashing, or more respectable than they really are, and will wear anything, however it binds or saws them, which promotes that fiction.

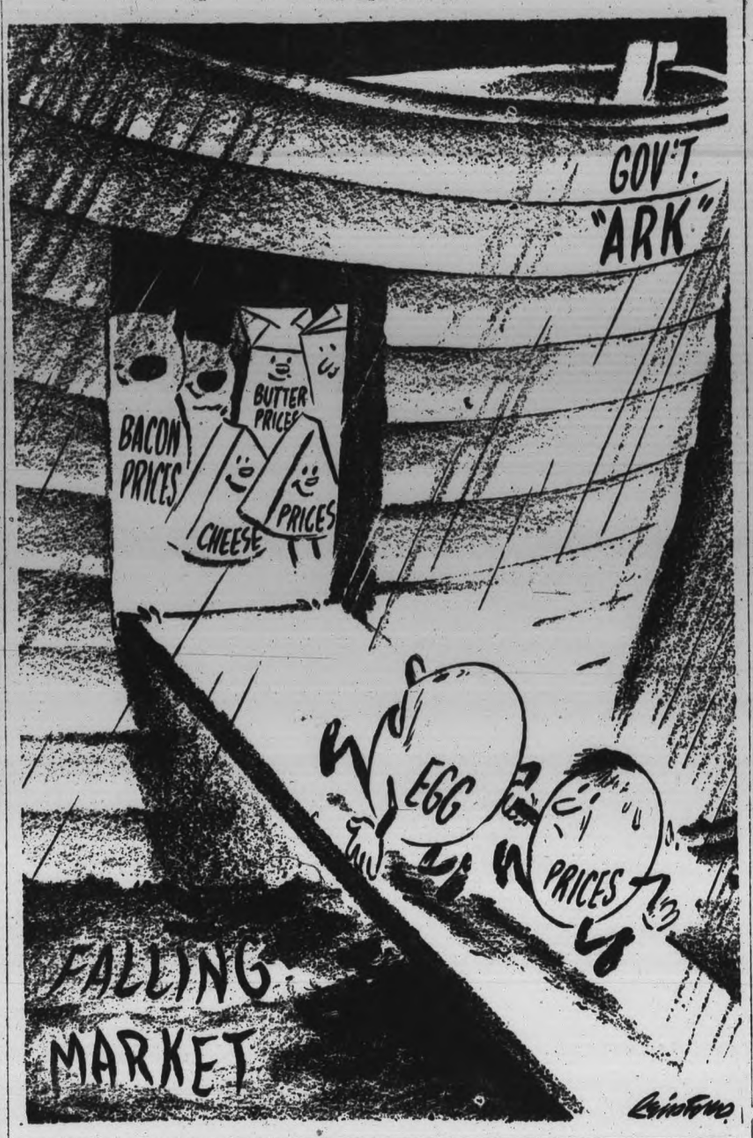
Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE syllabus of the Fourth Annual Kiwanis Music Competition and Festival in Peterborough is to hand in attractive shades of green and blue. This is a great improvement on the bilious yellow of yester-year. Two new sections have been added—verse speaking choirs and public speaking. Apart from this there have been only a few minor changes, the most important being the splitting of the Oratorio (Men's voices) class into two. The adjudicators are Dr. C. S. Lang, who was for many years Director of Music at Christ's Hospital (the Bluecoats School) and gained a high reputation for himself there as an inspiring pedagogue and a fine organist—and Mr. Weatherseed, of Toronto, well known in this district. Both adjudicators can be relied upon to make trenchant and stimulating comments. It is time that Peterborough had two adjudicators for its Festival. Mr. Heath-Gracie had a gruelling week last year, and though he always seemed fresh as a daisy he admitted to me that he only got through with such a formidable programme because he is as strong as a horse. The elocution is being judged by Mary Lockhart, who was here last year in the same capacity. I have two suggestions to offer for future Festivals. In the first place it is time that a class for composers were started. The number of entries might not be large, but it would encourage some of our youngsters to write music. My second suggestion is of a minor character: it would be a convenience if the admirable and hard-worked secretary's telephone number were printed in next year's syllabus. Apart from these carping criticisms the syllabus shows signs as usual of careful preparation, and we hope that this year's festival will prove even more successful than usual and fully worthy of Peterborough's centenary—one is a hundred years old only once in a life-time!

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME time ago I was in England, staying at the country house of a friend in the fruit-growing district near the ancient cathedral city of Worcester. For a musician Worcester means the Three Choirs Festival, and of course Elgar, for this is the "Elgar country". It was April, and the spring flowers spangled the hedgerows. In the distance the line of the Malvern hills blotted out the horizon, and I made an involuntary comparison between the undulating opulence of Elgar's melody and the graceful curves of those hills that he loved so much. I had heard that his birthplace at Broedheath, a hamlet some three miles out of the city had been purchased by the corporation of Worcester and converted into an Elgar museum, and I was anxious to take the opportunity of visiting it. Accordingly we set out one sunny morning and drove there. It was with feelings of awe that I neared the end of our pilgrimage. We turned off the main road and drove down a narrow and winding country lane with hedgerows on either side. Passing the Elgar Tea-room (sic) on the left we came to the birthplace itself, a small brick house set in a pleasant garden. A whole mass of material connected with the composer has been assembled here. The Elgar family belonged to that important "upper working class", with some pretension of culture and education and small but adequate means. His father kept a music shop in Worcester and played the organ at the Roman Catholic church, so it can be safely assumed that the young Elgar was "exposed to music" from an early age. We were free to browse amongst the books, papers, curios and other objects. One room was filled with the honours and decorations that had been conferred on Elgar. It was odd to find that the great man had adorned the faces on the photograph page of the "Morning Post" with beards, spectacles and pipes—as Nietzsche said "im aechten Manse ist ein Kind versteckt: das will spielen". (There is a child hidden away in the genuine man that wants to play).



✧ ✧ ✧

ELGAR loved Worcestershire and lived in the district for the greater part of his life. He drew his strength from the soil. His music is unmistakably English, yet this quality of "Englishness" is hard to define with any degree of exactitude. Unlike Vaughan Williams he never used folksong, nor did he make any attempt at modelling his musical speech on its turns of phrase. In this respect he resembles his contemporaries Stanford and Parry, but where they were strongly influenced by the English cathedral tradition and Brahms. Elgar derives more from Lizst and Wagner. His insularity is of a subtle but definite kind. His art is a perfect mirror of the Edwardian age, glittering and magnificent, conscious of its destiny, its mission to rule. He wrote nothing significant after 1920. To use a phrase of his, he felt that he had gone "off the boil". This is usually attributed to the death of his wife, who was a wonderful helpmeet and a source of encouragement to him. There is no doubt that he felt her loss very badly, and it took him some time to recover from the shock. But there is also another possible contributory cause. The world that he (consciously or unconsciously) glorified in music lay in ruins, its country squires and society hostesses as extinct as dodos and replaced by the road-house and the night-club of the twenties. Even the religion of his youth seemed to mean less to him, and he preferred the company of that iconoclastic Puritan Bernard Shaw.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE idiom of Elgar besides being very English (though not in the conventional sense) is also very personal—I speak here of his major works. The dropping sevenths and the chromatic sequence can be imitated, but the ardent flame of his inspiration is too bright for a counterfeiter to simulate. We must avoid the error of musical snobs, who turn up their noses at "Salut d'amour" and "Pomp and Circumstance" and condemn all Elgar because he wrote some popular music that the ordinary man can hum. He has written light music, true, but even though it does not move in the rarified atmosphere of the violin concerto it is nevertheless supremely good light music. Elgar prided himself on being a good craftsman, and there are few would-be composers and critics who would not derive benefit from a careful study of "Salut d'amour". Like skiers they would be well advised to practise on the lower slopes of Parnassus before attempting the symphonic "high-jump".

Letters To The Editor

MR. DUTTON SUGESTS SITE

Sir: I have just read your editorial re the site for the Memorial Centre.

I am sure it has been a matter of grave concern to the Memorial Centre Committee that it has not been possible so far to secure a suitable site for the building. We are all agreed that the Exhibition Grounds would have been ideal, but it would appear to be useless to give any further consideration to that proposal.

The figures, quoted in order to make the George Street site suitable, make the cost prohibitive, and that closes another door.

I wonder if the location of the site is of such importance as we seem to be attaching to it. I realize the desirability of having the Memorial Centre in a central position where it can be readily seen and admired by the people. But, in view of the difficulties being encountered in securing a site in such a position, why not let us look elsewhere?

It has occurred to me that serious consideration might be given to erecting the proposed Memorial Centre on property owned by the City on Water Street North. The land I have in mind is on the west side of Water Street immediately in front of the Queen Mary Hospital. There is a hill at the back of the property, but, with the assistance of a bull-dozer, this could easily be cut back in order to provide a proper setting for the building and also for providing adequate parking-space for the eight hundred or a thousand cars that would have to be accommodated there. This site too would lend itself to proper landscaping.

I do not know exactly how much money is now available for the project, but I am persuaded that it would be unwise to spend any money in acquiring land or buildings where there is readily available the site I am suggesting.

I know there will be those who will say this site is out of the way. With a good bus service and with so many people owning their own cars, this location would not be too far away for those people living in the extreme portions of the City. Prior to the erection of the Civic Arena on Park Street, the people who desired to attend the hockey matches, thought nothing of driving to Lindsay, Omemee, and Lakefield when that was necessary. I am told that people enjoyed the drive. I may say that I believe there will be considerable development in the north-end of the City.

The proposal has been made that a mental hospital might be erected on the Hilliard Farm property. If that project does not materialize, I should hope the City Council would give serious consideration to the creation of park on that property. I also think that the river-bank, immediately in front of the land I am suggesting for the Memorial Centre, could be greatly improved. The earth that would be removed from the hill could be used to make the foundation for landscaping that part of the river-bank.

I have every sympathy with the Council and with the Memorial Centre Committee in the problem with which they are confronted, and with them hope for an early solution.

Yours sincerely,
JAMES DUTTON.

PENSIONS FOR HANDICAPS

Sir: That letter submitted recently by A. Russell Avery regarding pensions for civilian handicaps was most expedient and timely. Pensions for permanently disabled persons who find they are incapable of earning are, to my way of thinking just as necessary, as old age pensions. In fact they are more necessary than for older persons who are well preserved and able to earn, in case any of the latter receive them.

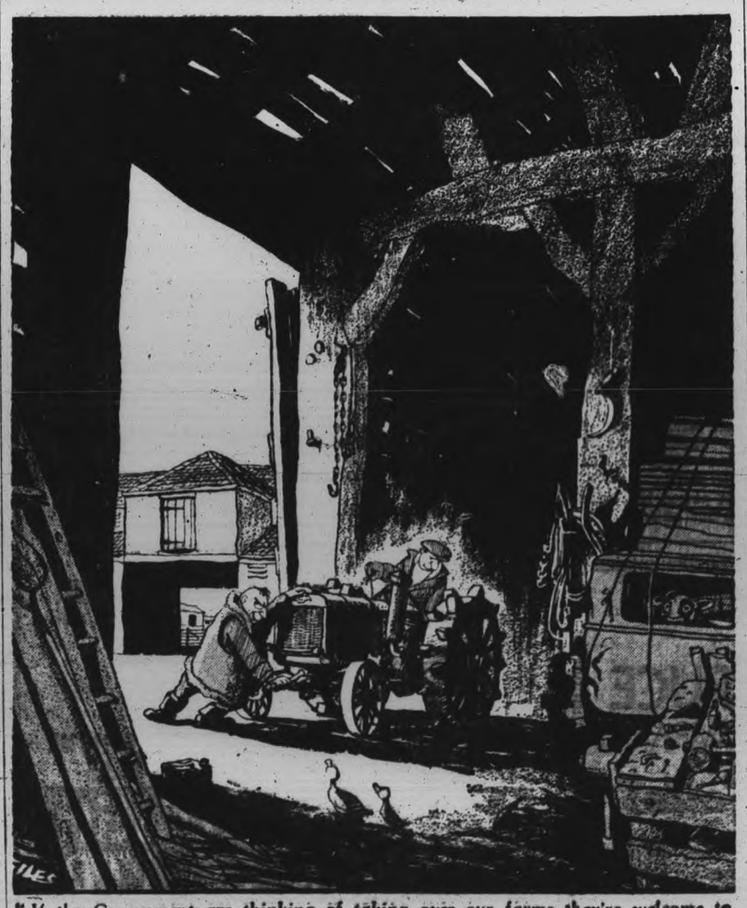
I know of one handicapped person who is almost driven insane trying to figure and find ways and means of getting on in spite of continued ill health. I suppose there are many more similarly situated if they can't get ready monetary assistance or fear they can't.

Surely in this age of social security our handicaps will be provided with at least the basic necessities of life: food, clothing, shelter, medical and dental services, etc. And of course the gracious manner in which help should be dispensed is very desirable as well as the help itself,—that those delegated to call on handicaps do not assume a domineering or belittling attitude towards them. The latter is of paramount importance as well as the help extended.

The activities of the Communists as a punishment for sins, no doubt, especially those of wanton blasphemy and immorality and the plight of many handicaps constitute I believe, two of the most appalling phenomena of our times if only brought to light. Here's hoping all will co-operate in giving in the names of people who are disabled, so that this worthy and urgent matter may be placed before our Government.

Very sincerely,
AN INTERESTED CITIZEN.

TENT FOR THEATRE?



Sir: Apropos the housing problem confronting the Summer Theatre.

With modern equipment, lighting power etc. available why not tents?

You will remember the famous Chatauqua Circuit of past years, they used tents to good advantage and great strides have been made since then in such equipment. I am,

Cordially yours,

A Later Labour Day

George-A. Martin, president of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus, and a large resort owner himself, has suggested to the Canadian Congress of Labour that Labour Day should be moved forward to the third Monday in September, instead of the first. This, he argues, would add two weeks to the recognized tourist season, would put the summer resort business on a more economic basis, and might boost the nation's earnings of American currency by $50,000,000 a year.—Calgary Herald.

Golfers Boost Prize Money; Abbott Officer

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP) — Golfers shooting for the Ontario open golf championship next summer will try for a bigger chunk of prize money.

At its annual meeting Saturday the Ontario Golf Association voted to raise the prize figure from $1,100 to $2,000. Part of the increased sum will be spent on a new trophy for the winner. The remainder will be split into approximately 20 prizes.

Richard D. Young of Toronto was elected president, succeeding Phil Farley of Toronto.

Among several changes in by-laws passed at the meeting was establishment of a board of governors to replace the executive committee. The board will comprise the president, three vice-presidents, honorary secretary-treasurer and three governors.

One of the governors was appointed from the Toronto area, one from Eastsern Ontario and one from Western Ontario.

A by-law was passed instituting a new championship tournament named the Ontario Seniors Championship, it will be open to amateurs older than 50 and confined to "bona fide members" of the association's affiliated clubs.

Limited To Amateurs

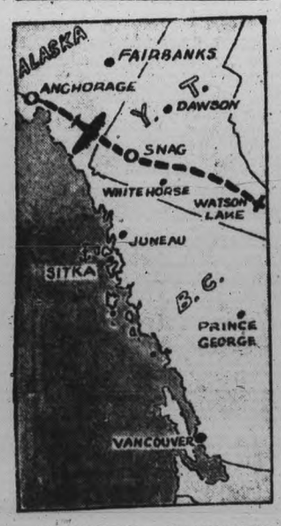
Another amendment to the constitution was passed specifying the Ontario amateur championship will be limited to amateurs who are members of clubs affiliated to the association, and who are residents of Ontario for more than a year.

The winner of the Ontario championship will represent the province in the junior championship of Canada providing he is not 18 until after the tournament.

Retiring president Phil Farley said that under a plan formed by Charles Watson, chairman of the junior development program of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, free lessons will be given throughout Canada by the Ontario Association's professionals to boys and girls under 15 years old.

The new Ontario open golf trophy, called the Red Cap, will be sponsored annually by a brewery company, an additional $500 will be put aside for the tournament along with $500 put up by the OGA.

W. T. Hamilton, secretary-treasurer of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, said a course will be started in March at the Guelph Ontario Agricultural College for green-keepers. The course, he said, would help clubs improve maintenance projects



V. C. Holdroyd, of Toronto, was elected honorary president.

Other officers:

R. D. Young, Toronto, president; G. F. Stevens, Toronto, Robert T. Abbott, Peterborough, and W E. Stead, Toronto, 1st, 2nd and 3rd vice-presidents respectively; Paul F. Robert, Toronto, honorary secretary-treasurer; Lt.-Col. G. R. Johnston, Brockville, Albert Hinton, Toronto, and B. F. Kearns, Kitchener, governors.

Ministers Leave Group

DANBURY, Conn., Jan. 30 — (AP)—Seven Evangelical ministers in the Danbury area quit the Danbury Ministerial Association Saturday. One of the reasons, a spokesman explained, was their opposition to the membership of a rabbi. The Rev. Stanley C. Lewis, pastor of the Danbury Baptist Church and spokesman for the group, said they felt that Rabbi Jerome R. Malino of the United Jewish Centre should never have been allowed to join.

MISSING TRANSPORT PLANE—This map shows the area where a U.S. transport plane is missing with 42 aboard. The transport, carrying a mother and child, 32 military personnel and a crew of eight, was scheduled to fly non-stop from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont. The air route follows roughly the Alaska highway. The plane's last report came while flying over Snag, a tiny weather station in the Yukon about 1,300 airmiles northwest of Edmonton and about 20 miles from the Alaska-Yukon boundary.

Marmora Boys Win Against Tweed, 6-2

MARMORA, Jan. 30 (ENS) — Marmora midgets accounted for Tweed on the formers' rink on Friday evening by a score of 6-2. Tweed, having beaten Madoc twice, secured second place and play home and home games with Marmora for the group honors.

The play-offs are at Tweed and at Marmora on Wednesday evening.

Geraldi, assisted on each occasion by Rogers, got his team's goals. Hickey opened the scoring for the homesters and got their final goal besides having an assist. Marmora were slightly heavier than the eastern team and, while both goalies, played well, Drummond had the edge on Le Sage. Teams:

Doesn't Expect Skiers From Canada To Place

LAKE PLACID, N.Y., Jan. 30 (AP)—It pains Fred Urquhart of Montreal, in charge of the Canadian team at the world ski championships, to say it, but he doesn't expect the Dominion athletes to do too well in the 1950 title meet.

"It is too much to expect of our boys to do their practising on a hill that has a jump limited to 150 feet and compete against and defeat jumpers who make 200-250 foot leaps every day," he said.

Urquhart, former president of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, explained that Eastern Canada had no facilities to develop the spectacular jumpers like those from Norway and Sweden who are expected to dominate the Nordic ski events which will be decided here. For the same reason he sees little chance for Canadian success in the Alpine events as Aspen, Colo., Feb. 13-19.

"Nature just wasn't kind enough to us in the matter of hills and terrain. Our boys train and try as hard as any but it takes years of practice to make a first-class jumper, not just a few days," he added mournfully.

Hockey's Big Seven

Boston's diminutive Paul Ronty tallied once and assisted on two goals during week-end National Hockey League clashes to jump into third position of the scoring list with 42 points—19 goals and 23 assists.

Ronty unseated Maurice (The Rocket) Richard of Montreal Canadiens who has 41 points. Richard scored his 26th goal to break a first place deadlock in that field with Sid Abel, Detroit team captain. First on the list continues to be Detroit's Ted Lindsay who has 50 points, closely followed by Abel with 49. Gordie Howe of Detroit is fifth with 40 and Roy Conacher of Chicago and teammate Doug Bentley are tied for next spot with 38 points apiece.

The leaders:	G	A	Pts
Lindsay, Detroit	17	33	50
Abel, Detroit	25	24	49
Ronty, Boston	19	23	42
Richard, Montreal	26	15	41

Spitfires Edge St. Kitts In 4-2 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

With first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series held strongly by Toronto Marlboros, attention is now focussing on a fight waged between Windsor Spitfires and St. Catharines Teepees for the second slot.

Two overtime goals by Bob Bailey and Glen Skov earned a 4-2 victory for Windsor over St. Catharines Saturday night, giving the Spitfires a two point edge on the runner-up spot. The victory came the night after Windsor had absorbed a 9-6 shellacking at the hands of St. Catharines, and left them seven points behind Marlboros.

In other Saturday Junior A games St. Michael's College bounced Oshawa 6-3, Marlboros defeated Stratford 8-4 and Galt Black Hawks pulled a surprising 9-2 upset over Barrie Flyers.

Hamilton continued their Senior A stretch drive and belted Owen Sound Mercurys 7-3, taking a 10-point hold on third place, and Toronto Marlboros bowed to second place Kitchenner-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen 4-2.

Gain Margin

Bob Rawlyk's two first period goals against a St. Catharines single by Obie O'Brien gave the Spits a margin which held up until Bob Knowles rapped in one for the Teepees in the third making it a 2-2 stalemate.

The tight, cleanly played game was climaxed by Bob Bailey's overtime marker at 7:42 of the overtime session. Skov's insurance marker was enough for a hard earned two points.

Paul Alain's three markers paced St. Michael's College to their victory in the Maple Leaf Gardens afternoon double bill.

With Oshawa trailing 3-1 after two periods of dull hockey, Sonny Hooper slapped one past Lorne Howes to tie it up and then the Irish blew the lid off with three quick ones by Alain, Will Marshall and Leo Labine. Caron got the last Oshawa tally before Red Ingoldsby plunked in the game's final marker.

Terrific Display

George Armstrong and Jack McKenzie put on a terrific display in their game with Stratford as each of the stars scored three times.

Marlboros battled to a 5-4 lead at the end of the second and wrapped it up with three in the final. Ron Hurst and Danry Lewicki scored the other Marlboro goals. Ritchie, a Stratford newcomer, sniped two while singles were counted by Doug Williams and Watson, also a new face in the Kroehler line-up.

The surprising Galt Black Hawks, hopelessly out of contention, for a play-off spot, led Barrie 5-1 at the end of the opening frame, increased it to 7-2 in the second and closed out with two third session tallies.

Brothers Ken and Jack Green and Jack Price all were two goal scorers for the winners with Bronco Horvath, Pete Conacher and Neil Buchanan picking up singles. Mirl McCarthy and Jack Shedden clicked for Barrie.

Hamilton's victory left them in an almost sure fire play-off position. One more victory for the Tigers or a loss for Owen Sound will cinch third place for the Bengals.

The Tigers led 3-0 at the end of the opening period, 4-2 going into the third and outscored the Mercurys 3-1 in the finale.

Clare Shillington was top man for the Tigers with three markers while singles were sniped by Tom Smelle, Max Taylor, Bobby Laurent and Johnny Conick. Pat McReavy, Bruno Favero and Fred Smith tallied for the losers.

The 1950 Harmsworth speedboat races will be held on the Detroit river Sept. 1-2.

The dates were announced on Sunday at Detroit by Sheldon Clarke, commodore of the Yachtsmen's Association of America. If a postponement is necessary because of the weather the postponed race will be held Sunday, Sept. 3. Should third race become necessary under these conditions it will be run Sept. 4, prior to the annual silver cup races.

Last year's Harmsworth, which symbolizes the world's speedboat championship, was won oy R. Stanley Dollar, of San Francisco, with his metal-hulled Skip-A-Long.

Lone challenger so far is E. A. Wilson of Ingersoll, Ont., who plans to try again for the trophy with his Miss Canada IV. The craft is reported to have hit a sped of about 145 miles an hour in tests at Gravenhurst. Mechinical trouble made it one of the hard luck boats in the 1949 Harmsworth, however, and it was unable to get up any semblance of speed.

A dazzling free skating performance Saturday night gave 17-year-old Rosemary Henderson of Winnipeg the senior women's title in the Western Canada figure skating championships.

The petite Winnipeg miss thrilled more than 1,000 spectators at the new Winnipeg Winter Club by coming from behind after being in third place in the school figures, run off earlier in the day.

Miss Henderson also teamed with Bert Wright of the Winnipeg Winter Club to take the silver dance competition, a series of dance steps.

At Lake Placid, N. Y., Christian Mohn, 21-year-old Norwegian who is a student at Middlebury, Vt., Sunday won the international ski jump, in a preview of the world championships scheduled for the coming week.

Semi-final playoffs for the first three teams in the Senior A series final standing will begin on Feb. 15, J. J. McFadyen, president of the Ontario Hockey Association, announced Saturday at Toronto. Feb. 10 was the date set for Toronto Marlboros' final home game against Hamilton Tigers. The game was omitted from the original schedule.

The 1950 American League schedule, listing 204 night games was announced Sunday by League President Will Harridge at Chicago. The campaign opens April 18 with St. Louis at Chicago, Detroit at Cleveland, Philadelphia at Washington, and New York at Boston. The 5½ month season closes Oct. 1 The night game card includes two more games under lights than the 202 scheduled last year.

The Provincial Lawn Bowling Council decided Saturday to hold the semi-finals and finals of the Ontario championships Aug. 26 in the eastern part of the province. Officials intimated that an invitation from Ottawa would be accepted. Junior championships will be held at the same time.

At Edinburgh, Scotland, with four test matches completed and only one to go, Canadian curlers are [illegible] ahead in the competition for the Strathcona Cup, now held by the Scots.

In both Edinburgh and Ayr Canadians won Sunday's matches, though only the A team's score counted for the trophy. Playing in Edinburgh, the A scored 89 to Scotland's 68. In Ayr the B team played an exhibition match with Galloway Province and won 46 to 39.

The final test for the Strathcona Cup will come next Wednesday with the A playing in Glasgow and the B in Edinburgh.

Adams' Quartet Captures Morrow Trophy

By HERB. MARTIN.

Skipping a rink that had never played together before, Joe Adams, of our club, came through with three wins and enough points to take first honors and the W. G. Morrow Trophy in the all-day open bonspiel held on Saturday. C. Giroux's rink came second with three wins and he was closely followed by D. Best, the third three-game winner.

There may have been larger bonspiels and maybe more representative ones but we doubt it the curling could be any better. The games we saw were real smart exhibitions and it would seem that the boys are now fit for any kind of competition.

Kept Them All

Strange as it may seem, all five prizes stayed right here in Peterborough. This is something new.

All rinks played the usual three ten-end games and the bonspiel was all over in good time.

Winners

First and W. G. Morrow Trophy—W. Westem, G. Patterson, I. McGowan, J. Adams, skip.

Second—W. Swiss, J. Wiley, W. Archibald, C. Giroux, skip.

Fourth—G. Clark, D Rankine, J Dufton, Dr. R. Clark, skip.

Fifth—G. Stenner, J Huddart, D Charlton, skip.

Up in Lindsay today, our club is represented by two rinks playing in the Tankard competition for this district:

R. Payne, K. Bissett, G Putnam, Dr. R. Clark, skip.

Keene: McCarthy, Ellison, Godfrey, J. McCarthy, D. Shearer. Bethune, Doris, Shearer, Webster, Fletcher, Houle, Laing, Herron, Plunkett.

The suspension was lifted from the Junior A player at an executive meeting of the OHA Saturday He was banned as a result of a fight with Michael Delich of Windsor Spitfires during a game at Windsor Jan 18. Both players were given match misconduct penalties.

Two PCI Teams Get Wins In Group Play

Three PCVS boys' basketball teams reached the midway point of the season Friday night as they battled with the senior junior "B" bantam quintets of Lindsay Collegiate. The Junior "A" squad was halfway through a week ago.

Two of the PCVS fives found play rather easy Friday night as the seniors, using their alternates for a large part of the game, walloped the LCI crew 64-24 and the bantams won with ease 28-10 in a six-minute quarter game.

Only the junior "B" team has been defeated this year. Lindsay juniors were just a bit too strong for the locals taking them 33-27. To create a three-cornered tie the PCVS Bees' only hope is that Lindsay picks up a win in Port Hope and they, the Bees, take three straight wins, St. Peter's Wednesday, Lindsay here Friday and Port Hope here next Tuesday.

Nine of the 11 PCVS seniors figured in the scoring Friday night. Al Northcott had 15 points while Ted Evans and Ted Cranfield had nine each, Darrell Ackford and Carl Sergeant eight each, Tom Taylor six, and Harold Grafstein five. Bellamy was tops for the Lindsay squad with 11 points

Put It In Bag

Brown of Lindsay just about sewed up the game in the junior contest as he drifted in nine points in a second quarter scoring barrage. The other three quarters were hard fought and evenly played but the PCI'ers couldn't match the outburst of the second.

MacDuffee led all the scorers with eight field goals from close in, three on breakaways. The latter points came in the last quarter when the Bees were pressing hard. Bill Stewart was good for 10 while DrewBuckland had nine for PCVS.

Too much previous YMCA experience spelled the difference in the bantam game. An 18-8 half-time lead was preserved during the second half by the PCI'ers by a tight zone defence. Only Graham was able to score in the last twelve minutes as he added one two-pointer to his three first-half scores.

Boorman and Marshall each had six points for PCVS while Armstrong, Corbett and Turner had four each.

The PCVS bantams complete group play this week with games Wednesday against St. Peter's and Friday against Lindsay, both in the PCVS gym.

Campbellford Gets Win Over Franks

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 30 — (ENS). — Campbellford added another game to their winning streak on their home ice on Saturday night by defeating the Frankford TVL team by a score of 8 to 5.

The officials for the game were W. O'Malley and Dick Bridgeman.

The line-up:

Gananoque plays the local Legionnaires at 8.30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture. Legion wants this one, since Nylons—following their 8-2 win Friday over Jim Ellis' outfit—feel they still have a mathematical chance at first place in the grouping. And the Gans figure they are finally whipped into shape enough to show fans why they were in intermediate "A" finals last year. Their 3-3 overtime tie with the Petes on Friday would indicate that they're really playing hockey again. The tilt tonight should draw well as it promises to be a speedy and interesting struggle.

* * * * * *

It is likely that both Legion and Petes were a bit below form in their away games on Friday. They had sort of knocked each other out in two hard inter-club scraps here the first half of the week, and then met stiff opposition Friday after long trips. At the moment Legion are well out in front with 25 points, the Nylons—who go to Belleville tonight—being next with 18, two more than the Diesels. Petes have eight and the Gans three. The schedule hasn't much further to go either, just a couple of weeks, and then the group playoffs. February comes Wednesday.

That Over-All Picture

Like many sports writers around the province (including the Toronto scribes) we don't stress the play-by-play puckchasing in game writeups nearly as much as formerly. On account of the present pell-mell scrambly hockey doesn't lend itself to too many built-up picture plays. It's more ganging up now on long forward passes. Hence, a general over-all picture of the game, pointing out scorers, play highlights, stars, fights, etc.—instead of every shot on goal—is more the style today in sports writeups. Even the refs half the time don't know who earned the assists on a goal, and must check with the players concerned ere advising the scorer. That's hockey today.

* * * * * *

Both the Petes and Legion have imports in the lineup. So have the IOOF-ers. Ditto Lakefield. Yes, almost any OHA club you can name from junior up imports good players from other spots. Gone is the day when fans insisted on homebrew teams entirely. Now they want winning clubs, or at anyrate good competing ones. Hence, the imported player now is highly regarded—especially if he shows he is better than the homebrews who didn't make the club—whereas once he was regarded often with disfavor. Our senior "A" lacrossers and senior "A" baseballers don't fool around, either. They go after good players from other cities as much as possible. And Peterborough loses good athletes to other centres every year. Trend of the times, eh?

Some Cage Chit-Chat

In three PCVS group games over the week-end, Bev Goulding's cagers came through twice with victories, the seniors taking Lindsay 64-24, the bantams winning 28-10, but the junior Bees dropping a 33-27 verdict. More details in elsewhere. PCVS junior "B" and bantam hoopsters tangle with St. Peter's squads on Wednesday eve, as their schedules roll toward the finishing line. At the YMCA on Saturday night, Marines [illegible] Kawartha Sports, while Shockey's took a 45-25 triumph against Clapper's in a City Cage Loop double-header which saw plenty of open action. Lots doing locally again this coming week-end.

* * * * * *

Toronto Viaduct Baseball League met the other evening and discussed applications from Oshawa and the Petes, along with three or four Toronto entries. Didn't accept or reject these entries as yet but appointed a committee to check various angles, including the financial one. Also, a lot depends on whether Peterborough has floodlight ball this summer, as Toronto teams won't take time off work for afternoon or twilight games away from that city. The question of lights will likely come up for discussion this eve at the city council meeting here, and could be settled favorably in another week.

Barons Blasted In Two Games

By The Canadian Press

Buffalo Bisons and Cleveland Barons still lead their respective eastern and western sections in the American Hockey League today despite rough treatment received during the weekend.

The Barons, although still holding a comfortable 17-point lead over Indianapolis Capitals and Pittsburgh Hornets who are tied for second place, suffered a double defeat Saturday night St. Louis edged them 4-3 and the Caps trounced the leaders 7-4 Sunday.

Buffalo, however, didn't do as bad. The Bisons defeated Springfield Indians 2-1 Sunday but lost to the Indians 3-1 the previous night.

The Bisons hold a three-point margin over second-place Providence Reds who were downed 3-2 Sunday by Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh whitewashed Indianapolis 8-0 Saturday with Eddy Kobussen and Ray Hannigan getting two goals apiece.

New Haven Ramblers and Hershey Bears split a home-and-home series. The Ramblers took Sunday night's tilt 8-3 but lost 5-2 Saturday.

Leafs Whip Chicago Hawks Twice, In Second Spot

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Detroit Red Wings are going to need all that long lead they piled up in the earlier part of the National Hockey League campaign.

Today the Wings still have a 10 point margin, but the Toronto Maple Leafs have ridden a six-game winning streak to climb on even terms with Montreal Canadiens in second place.

Except for the last place Chicago Black Hawks, the teams that got most points during the weekend were the teams that needed them most. Toronto took two games from Chicago, 9-1 and 4-0 New York Rangers tied Boston Bruins 2-2 then whitewashed the Canadiens 2-0. Detroit and Montreal split 1-1 Saturday, then the league leaders were walloped 4-1 by the Bruins Sunday night.

The second place Canadian clubs are six points ahead of New York with Boston another point back in fifth place and the Hawks 'way down in the cellar.

Tied With Durnan

Turk Broda drew up even with Bill Durnan of the Canadiens in the matter of shut-outs when he scored his seventh at Chicago on Sunday night. The Toronto scorers were Joe Klukay, Ray Timgren, Howie Meeker and Sid Smith. Captain Ted Kennedy had assists on the goals by Meeker and Smith.

At Toronto Saturday Kennedy got two goals and the others went to rookie Johnny McCormack, Max Bentley, Meeker, Bill Barilko, Vic Lynn, Smith and Klukay. Broda's bid for a shut-out was spoiled by Metro Prystai, scoring on a screened shot early in the third period.

The Bruins turned in one of the best games of the season at the expense of the Wings Sunday night at Boston. Rookie Jack Gelineau in the Boston cage had visions of his fourth shut-out before Gordie Howe lashed in a long low shot for Detroit's only score, three minutes before the final horn.

The Bruins got off to a fast start with Paul Ronty's goal 52 seconds from the opening face-off. Johnny Peirson, Bud Poile and Ken Smith got the others.

Have To Work

The Wings had to come from behind to gain the tie at Montreal Saturday. Maurice Richard scored his 26th goal of the season on a pass from Roger Leger, and Steve Black got the equalizer four and a half minutes later.

After nine games without a victory since injuries struck them, New York Rangers broke the string with the decision over Canadiens at New York Sunday. Buddy O'Connor and Don Raleigh came through with goals in a whirlwind third period.

Goalie Chuck Rayner was called on for only 16 saves in his fourth shut-out but the Canadiens drove hard in the third period and Rayner had to be good to keep the scoreboard blank.

The Rangers had come from behind twice to salvage the tie at Boston Saturday. O'Connor and Ed Slowinski scored for New York, Ed Kryzanowsk and Sylvio Bettio for the Bruins.

Anthony Eden Conservatives' Number 2 Man

By The Canadian Press

Anthony Eden, once the youthful fashion plate of British politics, at 52 is the Conservative party's No. 2 man. Now grey and drawn, Eden during five years of Labor rule has borne the brunt of his party's parliamentary battling.

While his chief, Winston Churchill, husbanded his strength reserving speeches for momentous occasions, Eden sat through long debates.

Foreign affairs are Eden's specialty, but as deputy opposition leader his role has become increasingly general. His speeches reflect the thought and manners of a seasoned parliamentarian.

Eden's liking for international affairs began in the 1920s when the foreign secretary of the day Sir Austen Chamberlain, made the young M. P. just out of college his parliamentary private secretary. His satorial elegance became an international byword when he was under-secretary at the Foreign Office, then headed by Sir John Simon.

His big chance came in 1935 when Sir Samuel Hoare, who had succeeded Simon, resigned and Eden stepped into his shoes. Eden battled Mussolini and Hitler for more than two years, but his strong line aroused increasing opposition among his party's appeasement-minded high command. In 1938 he resigned and joined Churchill as a critic of Neville Chamberlian's policies.

In the 1940 debacle, Churchill called him back to the Foreign Office, where he continued throughout the war years.

Eden is married to the former Miss Beatrice Beckett. Their elder son, Simon Eden, was killed in Burma in 1945.

Health Week

70 Research Teams At Work On Cancer

The problem of cancer is essentially the problem of growth of which cancer is but an abnormal form, it is stated by the Canadian Cancer Society in a message prepared for National Health Week.

"From a mere handful of investigators working on this problem in Canada prior to the war we may now regard with satisfaction the fact that there are some 70 highly trained groups of cancer research workers in our Canadian universities," it is stated by the Society.

"Research into the cause of cancer and the finding of a cure is a field of endeavor wherein is enjoyed the greatest of cooperation. The extended and combined efforts of the many hundreds of scientists devoted to the solution of this difficult problem will be required. Canadians may well be proud of the contributions to scientific progress being made by our own research workers.

"Those interested in the problem of cancer control realize that a significant drop in the death rate from this disease cannot be expected until the cause is discovered and a means of prevention arrived at or until newer methods of treatment are developed.

"The program of the Canadian Cancer Society is devoted to the education of the public in the importance of early diagnosis and treatment to the welfare of those afflicted with the disease and to the financial support of research. The national campaign of the Society each year realizes approximately $1,000,000, and, of this voluntarily subscribed amount, approximately $200,000 is given to the National Cancer Institute to help finance its program of fundamental research."

Sewage Plant For Cobourg Open Next Month

COBOURG, Jan. 30 (ENS) — Finishing touches are being applied to Cobourg's new sewage disposal plant, which is expected to be ready for use early next month. A leaking pipe in one of the clarifiers has delayed the opening but last week the trouble was located under the clarifier tank and it has now been repaired.

Cost of the sewage disposal plant, exclusive of the small pumping on Albert St., and the trunk, is $338,000. Total cost is well over $400,000.

Cost of the trunk sewer is being paid by a special debenture issue but financing the $338,000 disposal plant at the creek is still not settled.

Mayor Joseph Smith and the town council have been endeavouring to reach an agreement with the public utilities commission by which the cost of the plant would be handled through a surcharge on the water rate.

The mayor has completed agreements with the factories as to the amount they should be charged as an extra on their water bills to pay for the new sewage disposal system, and the domestic water users will be paying an extra amount which will be 50% of their water bill.

However, twice the utilities commission has refused to look after the collection of the surcharge. The Commission is considering the matter again but no decision has been announced as yet. Meanwhile the time grows shorter for payment of the first debenture instalment, around $28,000, due next May.

Protect Harbor

When the CGE plant was negotiating for a plant site here in 1947, council was informed by Dr. Berry of the Ontario Dept. of Health that no more industrial sewage could be dumped into the harbor. The result was the decision to build a sewage disposal plant. This plant, the most modern of its kind in Ontario, will handle the sewage of a municipality much larger than Cobourg and was built to take care of future expansion of the town.

Instead of going into the harbor or into the creek, the sewage of this town will go into this modern disposal plant. This will clean up the harbor and lake front and make the harbor much more presentable for yachts and other lake craft.

Deer Visits Village

MARMORA, Jan. 30. — (ENS).—A deer visited the village Saturday afternoon, taking a walk abroad without concern or fear of the enemy.

Arriving at No. 7 Highway near the Protestant church, he made his way to W. D. Lavender's gas station, and after taking a look round, crossed Mr. Lavender's property and approached a couple of tourist cabins.

Having taken stock of things there, he turned north to the old Marmora-Madoc highway where Marmora school is situated.

There was nothing which occupied his attention there long, so he followed one of Marmora's oldest residents to Victoria Ave. and then turned up the road towards the Hamilton Crawford arena. After surveying the rink he continued, unfollowed, on his journey north.

House On Fire, Closed Doors Check Flames

Fire that broke out Saturday night in a fuel and storage shed at the home of Archie McBride, 215 Murray St., caused a total of $500 damage to the house and contents.

Exact cause of the blaze has not yet been determined but it started out in the wooden shed on the east side of the house. From there it spread to the adjacent living room and up through the eaves into an attic.

Firemen using an inch and a half hose line were forced to cut a hole in the attic roof to get at the spreading flames.

Chairs, a radio, and other furnishings were damaged in the living room. The intense heat blistered the paint, and the wall paper on the ceiling and walls was scorched.

Hair Singed

The blaze was first discovered by Mr. McBride's son Edward. He reported to his father he thought he detected fire in the shed and when Mr. McBride opened the door he was met by a strong wave of heat, flame and smoke. His hair on the top of his head was singed by the blast.

Leaving the door open he retreated from the flames and instructed his son to ring in the alarm.

The fire entered the living room and also ran up the side of the house, entering the attic.

Fire Chief George Smith commented later that the whole house might have been gutted if the other doors had not been closed. This, he explained, cut off the draught and was the saving factor.

Lights Went Up But Cars Crash

Two cars collided at Park and Lansdowne Saturday evening, the first day traffic lights had been installed on the corner.

Mrs. Gloria Robertson, 436 McKellar St., driving south on Park St., started to cross Lansdowne St. on the green light. Part way across the street her car met in collision with a car driven west on Lansdowne St. by Kenneth Smith, 615 Union St. Constable Gordon Trennum investigated.

An estimated $200 damage was done to the front and left corner of the Robertson car. The Smith car had about $60 damages.

Provincials Pick Up Pair Charged In Buckhorn Thefts

With the arrest of two youths found walking along Highway 36 early Sunday morning, Provincial Police believe they have ended a small crime wave in the Buckhorn district. The youths—Russell Davis, 19, of no fixed address, and William John Robinson, 23, of Toronto—appeared in police court today each facing three charges of breaking, entering and theft, and two additional charges of theft of motor vehicles.

Davis pleaded guilty on all five counts and was remanded for sentence to February 6. Robinson chose trial by a higher court and was remanded on $1,000 bail.

The two, dirty and unshaven, were picked up on Highway 36, just outside Buckhorn, shortly before 5 a.m. Sunday by Provincial Constable E. G. Patterson who was on routine patrol.

Constable Patterson was suspicious of their actions, stopped to question them, and then took them into custody. Although the constable was alone and both were carrying knives (one also had a hatchet inside his coat) they offered no resistance.

It is alleged the two on January 24 stole a panel truck parked just outside the home of Jack Neish, who lives in Smith Twp. about five miles north of the city on Highway 28. Later they abandoned it and took a car owned by Earl Hall of Buckhorn from where it was parked outside his home. Both vehicles were later recovered.

Another car at Buckhorn, owned by Bob Dixon, was tampered with the same night but nothing was taken, and police are not laying charges.

Davis pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering the garage and service station of Charles Flynn, some seven miles north of Buckhorn. Provincial Police reported that eight gallons of gasoline were stolen along with less than $5 in cash.

Other Break-ins

The pair are also alleged to have broken into the cottages of Paul Hattendorf of Cleveland and Fred Lindsay of Oshawa, both located on Buckhorn Lake. Neither owner has checked to see what is missing from his premises but it is known they got away with considerable booty, including a quantity of liquor.

Police are looking for a motorist who gave Davis and Robinson a ride Saturday morning when he saw them walking along the highway from Buckhorn to Burleigh. The pair left a suitcase in the car which presumably contained some of the valuables of the cottagers.

The man who made a left turn before he got to Burleigh is not implicated in any way but police would like to restore the stolen goods.

Sinclair Club Speaker

Alex Sinclair, director of recreation in Peterborough, was the guest speaker at the Friday Night Supper Club's meeting in the YMCA. Mr. Sinclair described the factors which led him to take up the recreation profession. He told briefly of the aims of his department and pointed out that as in the YMCA and similar organizations the primary purpose was not to promote body building but rather to achieve a better Christian society through organized recreation.

Landlord Guilty Of Trespass Judge Decides

A trespass action brought by Herbert Merrett, formerly of 30 James St., against his landlord has been decided in favor of the plaintiff by His Honor Judge S. L. Smoke.

Lewis Simpson of Sophia St. was ordered to pay $50 damages to the plaintiff and bear the costs of the action. The case was heard on January 18.

Merrett, who had been a tenant at 30 James St., asked for $500 damages against his landlord who had demolished part of the kitchen without Merrett's permission.

He said Simpson came to the James St. address early in the evening of September 1, posted a building permit on the outside wall of the kitchen and began demolition work with a crowbar.

When Merrett objected a scuffle ensued.

Injunction Restrains

After ripping out two walls, a window and a door the landlord stopped for the night but was enjoined from further demolition when he arrived next day by an injunction.

Simpson said he had authorization from the WPTB to proceed with the subdivision of the house with a view to enlarging it. He also contended he had given the tenants notice.

Judge Smoke upheld the view of the plaintiff that the tenancy did not expire until September 30 and that the defendant made forcible entry and was guilty of trespass.

W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, represented the plaintiff and James Dunn appeared for the defendant.

Outdoor Rinks Coming Down, Useless $2,000

In the rinks program of Armar Butcher, parks superintendent, the winter is over right now.

"We are taking down the boards of the outdoor rinks, and winding up that business," Mr. Butcher said today. "In fact we have started at it. The public rinks have cost us more than $2,000 already, and we've had mighty little to show for our work and the cost. There is no use trying to buck a winter like this one has been. When we turn into February, the sun steadily gets warmer, usually at any rate, and tends to melt the surface during the day."

January has been even worse than last year, Mr. Butcher said. "When you don't get steady freezing weather, you can't have outdoor rinks. We engaged four rink managers, and they are now taking down the boards. It's too bad for the young folks, but we have done our part."

Egg Prices Rise In Local Stores

Egg prices in Peterborough firmed upward Saturday and today as a result of the wholesale floor of 38c for Grade A large announced by the Federal Government last week. Local retail prices hit a low of 35c for A large and 30 for A medium, but today's retail prices showed a distinct rise. Grade A large are selling at 40c and Grade A medium at 35c.

There was a wide variety of prices on Saturday's market, and the new floor prices had not noticeably influenced some vendors at the stalls. Grade A large could be had for 35c and A medium at 30 cents, soon after the market opened.

Top price in some stores today was 45 cents for A large. This is the maximum retail price likely to be reached if the Government floor price is the deciding factor.

Month In Jail For Assault On Cafe Owner

A sentence of one month in the county jail was imposed on Leslie Crumb, 20, of 561 Patterson St., when he pleaded guilty to a charge of asaulting Hum Thomas, owner of the Paris Cafe, Friday night, before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., in police court today.

He was fined $15 and costs or 15 days to run concurently when found guilty of causing a disturbance. A charge of asaulting Mrs. Viola Steele, a waitress in the restaurant, was dismissed when Mrs. Steele was unable to identify the accused.

Mr. Hum said he came into the dining room of the restaurant and saw Crumb fighting with his mother, Mrs. Rose Crumb. He said he went to Crumb and tried to stop the fighting. "Don't get tough here," he told Crumb.

The proprietor went to the front of the restaurant and Crumb came after him. Mr. Hum said Crumb swore at him and said, "I'm going to kill you." Crumb grabbed the restaurant owner by the front of the shirt across the counter tearing the buttons off.

Mr. Hum said he grabbed up a filing spike on the counter to try to scare Crumb. Mr. Hum became very excited while giving evidence and, apparently thinking Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw was a defence counsel trying to pick holes in his story, would not follow Mr. Bradshaw's questioning or directions.

Witness Warned

Only a warning from Magistrate Philp that he would be locked up if he didn't behave himself, calmed down Mr. Hum.

Mrs. Crumb, mother of the accused, said she had been sitting in the restaurant with another woman when her son came into the restaurant. She saw Crumb had been drinking and told him he had better go home. When Crumb reached the front door, she saw the owner stop Crumb and say something to her son.

She said she could see her son became angry and grab the proprietor by the shirt. She said Mr. Hum then threatened Crumb with the filing spike. Mrs. Crumb said she could see her son was becoming even more angry and she went to the front door to try to get him outside. She said she slapped him a few times in the face and finally pushed him outside.

Crumb said he thought the proprietor had gone to the front door to lock it or call the police.

"There is no question about this. You're found guilty on the evidence," the magistrate said.

Car In Collision With Panel Truck

A parked panel truck was struck Saturday evening by a car on McDonnel St. near Park St. doing considerable damage to the car and little to the truck.

The car driver, Herbert V. Walking, 565 Elm St., told Traffic Officer Claire J. McGillen he was driving north on Park St. Turning east into McDonnel St., he saw a truck parked on the north side and a truck proceeding west on McDonnel St. But because of his frosted windshield, he did not see the panel truck he hit, parked on the south side of McDonnel St.

The car struck the truck, driven by Gordon Lambke, 552 Wolfe St., hitting its bumper. The Walking car had the right rear fender torn, the running board damaged and rear right fender crumpled.

Council Proposal Late, Utilities Disposed

Switch of traffic lights from Park and Lansdowne Streets to Aylmer and McDonnel Streets as recommended by the board of works last week has been revoked by the fact of placement by the Utilities Commission.

The Commission works on direction from the council. The set of lights had been ordered months ago, recently arrived and were installed at Park and Lansdowne Streets. The board recommended that they be moved to McDonnel-Aylmer Streets, and that new lights be bought for Lansdowne-Park Streets. However, the job was done at the south end corner according to the instructions of the council. The additional set will probably be placed at McDonnel St.

Alderman Would Swap Sites With Postmaster-General To Get Charlotte Arena

By HARRY THEOBALD

The Memorial Community Centre would be well and deservedly located on the south side of Charlotte St. between the creek and Louis St., in the approval of several aldermen who would be inclined to sound out the federal Postal Department for a land deal. Advocates of an uptown site are chiefly concerned about future revenue, and particularly net surpluses. They have argued that, strategically located, the Centre might turn an annual profit for the city treasury instead of reaching into the tax collections to balance deficits.

So, the latest idea that is heard on the fringes of the council and the Centre committee is: trade the city property at Simcoe and Water Streets for the government's postal-customs block on Charlotte St.

To that suggestion Mayor Swanston says: "If we go to them for another move, it would likely mean more delay by the government in getting a start on their building."

Nobody denies that a profitable Memorial Community Centre is highly preferable to one that would have to be supported annually out of taxes.

City Block To Be Vacant

The aldermanic suggestion for Charlotte St. elbows the Centre nearer than ever to Charlotte and George Streets. The government should not object to the trade. They would be getting access on three or four sides at Water and Simcoe Streets. In another year or so the city will be moving into its new city hall. The present quarters will be vacant and ready for market.

A major advantage of the Charlotte St. proposal is that the city would not have to spend money for property. The Centre would be ideally situated, and also conspicuously, as becomes a community memorial. If its operation did not avoid deficits there, it could not show a profit anywhere.

The Blackwell-Craig report last week just about rubbed out the George-Rink Streets location. Although these preliminaries have been long and tedious and discouraging, men close to the project are concerned about seeing it through. To them it was a definite commission in a splendid public cause, and they are not trying to unload an obligation which they assumed in a sense of civic duty.

Would Ask Government

In that spirit, too, several members of the council are willing to sound out the Postmaster General, and thereby take a reasonable chance on getting a property whose value would be fully equated at the city hall corner and south along Water St. The money thereby saved from purchase of land might be considered as available for building on Charlotte St.

It is generally recognized that Peterborough needs a customs-postal building, but it is understood that the department has not yet received estimates of the required space its two services would require.

PADLOCKED BY LAW—On orders from Premier Maurice Duplessis, acting in his capacity as Quebec Attorney General, provincial and municipal police recently padlocked one building for one year and searched two others. In the photo, Special Officer Paul Benoit, of the Provincial Police, is shown fixing the padlock to the doors at 5101 Esplanade Avenue, Montreal, a two-storey building housing the United Jewish People's Order and the office of the Morris Winchevsky School. Police also searched a school and the home of Benny Silverberg, secretary of the order. Literature was seized in each place. The padlock order was issued because the building was alleged to have been used for Communist meetings.

Looking Ahead In Ottawa

Flag Issue To Be Revived When Parliament Opens

OTTAWA, Jan. 30—(CP)—Private members of the Commons are preparing legislation they plan to submit at the session opening Feb. 16. As at past sessions, the legislation will cover a variety of topics.

Ross Thatcher (CCF—Moose Jaw) is expected to sponsor a bill calling for abolition of capital punishment except in cases where the murder was premeditated.

Jean Richard (L—Ottawa East) has given notice that he plans to revive the flag issue. He will ask that a committee be established to choose a design for a distinctive Canadian flag.

Design

A joint committee of the Senate and the Commons met during the 1945 and 1946 sessions and after studying hundreds of designs recommended:

"That the national flag of Canada should be the Canadian red ensign with a maple leaf in autumn golden colors in a bordered background of white, replacing the coat-of-arms in the fly; the whole design to be so proportioned that the size and position of the maple leaf in relation to the Union Jack in the canton will identify it as a symbol distinctive of Canada as a nation."

That recommendation was never put to a vote in parliament. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, former prime minister, decided to drop the issue when some members, particularly Liberals from Quebec, protested against the inclusion of the Union Jack in any Canadian flag.

Labor

Mr. Justice G. B. O'Connor, of Alberta, named this week as Chief Justice of that province, is expected to resign shortly as chairman of the Canadian Labor Relations Board.

He has been head of the board, which administers the federal labor code, since it was set up 1½ years ago.

In the interval between Mr. Justice O'Connor's resignation and the appointment of a new chairman, the board will be headed by A. H. Brown, Labor Department solicitor and vice-chairman of the board.

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

"WALKIE TALKIES", most people think, were a marvelous development of World War II, when the portable sending and receiving sets gave untold assistance to combat troops. But the walkie-talkie idea is almost as old as radio itself, as proved by the 1919 picture at left, above. This was inventor W. W. MacFarlane, of Philadelphia, with his "portable wireless telephone", allowing two persons to sarry on conversations "50 yards or more distant." Pieces of stove pipe served as an aerial for Mr. MacFarlane's set. Today, the "walkie-talkie" and its numerous cousins are used for such assorted activities as search and rescue work, directing traffic, conducting golf tournaments, marshaling parades and even at college commencement exercises.

Plane Crash In Ontario Just A Rumor

CHAPLEAU, Jan. 30 —(CP)— This was the story:

A four-engined aircraft, landing wheels down, flew at a height of 50 feet over Northern Ontario's desolate lake country, grimly beautiful in the twilight of a mid-winter day. The "ceiling" was only 400 feet. The big plane wobbled, then crashed in flames. So dense was the bush, the wreckage was unreachable.

These were the facts:

No airplane was unaccounted for late Friday when the crash was supposed to have occurred. Organized search produced no sign of a crash.

The conclusion of the RCAF, directing the search from its eastern Ontario base at Trenton: no plane had crashed.

The story had its start Friday night when two truck drivers came into this railway and lumbering centre 100 miles northeast of Sault Ste. Marie and told a lumber-company clerk that an airplane had crashed near Kormak, 30 miles south of Chapleau. The report was relayed to the authorities in Toronto.

Too Far Off Course

For a time it seemed possible a United States air force plane, missing with 44 persons aboard, in the Yukon wilderness half a continent away, was the aircraft thought to have crashed in the Chapleau area. But this possibility was thrown out when it was shown that the lost U.S. machine would have been about 2,000 miles off its Alaska-Montana course had it flown over Chapleau.

An RCAF plane, one of a flight of nine en route from Ottawa to Winnipeg, was diverted Saturday morning to look for the wreck. Planes of the United States air force from Michigan and of the Ontario government also patrolled the area. No wreck was found.

The RCAF Saturday night wrote off the report as unfounded.

Many Questions

Left unanswered were these questions:

Who were the truck drivers? They did not give their names and no one here could identify them later.

Why did the lumber clerk wait half a day before notifying Toronto?

Why did the men say it was a four-engined airplane? In the murky twilight it would be difficult to determine at a distance how many engines powered the craft.

A possible explanation of the crash report came from J. M. Whalen, Ontario District Forester here. He said the truck drivers, looking up into the dark sky, saw the flame from the exhaust of a passing plane low on the horizon. Possibly they thought it crashed as it passed out of sight over a range of hills.

Penniless Princess Lives In Trailer, Paints Pictures

By DON DOANE

WEISBADEN, Germany, Jan. 30 (AP).—There's a penniless German princess, daughter-in-law of Germany's last Kaiser, who lives in a trailer instead of a castle and earns her meagre living painting pictures.

Princess Alexandra Victoria of Schleswig Holstein-Gluecksburg is so broke she even has trouble getting enough coal for the tiny stove in her cluttered little trailer.

But at 62, her ambition is to tour the United States in her trailer — "Just like I did when I was young."

"All I need," she adds, "is to earn enough money."

Although the daughter of a duke and the wife (divorced) of a royal prince, Alexandra has lived an independent, most un-royal life since the First World War. She concedes her Bohemian ways have shocked her royal relatives.

Shocks Relatives

"That's one reason I want to go back to America," she says. "There one can do what one likes. Here people are always shocked."

The Princess was born in a castle in the North German state of Schleswig Holstein, daughter of Duke Friedrich Ferdinand of Schleswig Holstein-Gluecksburg.

The married the late Prince August Wilhelm of Prussia, fourth son of Kaiser Wilhelm II, in 1908. They had one son, Prince Alexander Ferdinand of Prussia, but their marriage ended in divorce in 1920. Her second marriage, to a former naval commander, Arnold Ruemann, also ended in divorce a few years later.

Since then, she said, "I have earned virtually all my own way."

Her hobby was painting. So she turned professional. She turned out pictures by the dozens, both portraits and landscapes. She even sold them herself.

In 1926 she went to the U.S. and toured in a trailer, making her way from town to town painting pictures and selling them.

In 1932 she returned to Germany. When the war came, she was living in Berlin. She fled that city during its aerial bombardment to the rural home of a brother.

The princess has lived constantly in her trailer the last two years; moving from one free parking site to another.

"The 'open letter' seeks to divert the attention of textile workers and of the Canadian trade union movement as a whole from the tragic situation which exists where CIO-TWUA is in control," Mr. Rowley said in a press statement.

The AFL and CIO unions have been rivals for some time.

$25,000 Fire Rages Fire Truck Stays Idle

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP)— The nearby Mount Brydges district Saturday had its second major fire in 10 days while the village's new fire truck stood idle in its garage, heightening a controversy over lack of fire protection agreement between the police village and Caradoc township.

The township has a bylaw on its books forbidding the fire truck to be used outside the village unless village property is threatened or unless covered by an agreement with the municipality concerned. The village is in Caradoc.

Loss was estimated at $25,000 in the burning of two barns and 12 tons of tobacco, hay, feed and implements on the farm of Stanley Bryski only two miles from the village.

Dick Powell Says Truman Misinformed

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30 (AP)—Since he presumes he is one of [illegible]ticized in President Truman's tax message to Congress, Producer-Actor Dick Powell makes answer.

In his plea to plug loopholes in tax laws, the President cited "producers of motion pictures and their star players who have attempted to avoid taxes by creating temporary corporations which are dissolved after making one film."

Dick Powell, who has produced two of his own starring films, replies that "it's too bad the President was misinformed. That issue was resolved two or three years ago when the Treasury Department stepped in to end one-picture deals.

"I think it was an obvious move for publicity. He knew he could get headlines by mentioning the movies. But I think it is a bad thing when the President picks out one industry and group of people to hit. The next thing might be government control."

Strictly Business

Powell said he understood that the Treasury disapproved of stars making and dissolving one picture corporations repeatedly. But he added, there is no objection to making just one picture under a corporative set-up, or staying in business and making several pictures.

"Why, I have $60,000 of my own money in my company," said the star. "It takes a lot of salary cheques to save that much. Besides, I personally have to guarantee a loan of $670,000. And I may not even get my capital investment back."

Money-Saving Deal

Powell said that a production company is one of the few ways a star can save any money.

"Sure, we make big salaries," he agreed. "But we can't keep much of that. What happens when our hair starts falling out and our bellies get big and we don't look young and romantic any more?"

Business Forecasting Tough Job

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A lot of forecasting about coming business conditions is made in the public prints, but it represents only a small part of forecasting.

The greater part, that which causes most gray hairs, goes on in the offices of the thousands of businesses across the country. For as Sam Dawson of The Associated Press remarks:

"Every business man must decide to the best of his ability what you will do with your money, and how much of it you will have. Then he can decide how much to produce, and how high to pile his shelves with goods. He must guess whether the prices of his raw materials will go up or down, whether they will be easily available or scarce."

Just now he is wondering whether 1950 will continue to be a reasonably good year throughout, as it seems likely to be for the first six months, or whether the summer may bring a break.

Apparently caution has its advantages in the over-all picture, but may cost dollars and cents to the individual. As Dawson adds, speaking of the American scene:

"One of the chief cushions to a 1949 inventory recession appears to have been the healthy caution with which businessmen generally had regarded the 1948 boom. Fewer of them were out on a limb last spring that in any previous period of an incipient business decline.

"By the same token, many businessmen are viewing all the recent expressions of optimism for 1950 with the view: 'Swell, let's hope it is true. But let's not run wild with anticipation.'

"On the other hand, some of the more cautious may lose money by their doubts. Certainly the more optimistic ones think so. If the optimists guess right, they stand to make larger profits on larger sales."

You Can Argue With A Cop Sometimes But Not Radar Meter On Speeding

By GEORGE MILLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—(AP)—You can argue with a speed cop about how fast you were driving, and maybe get away with it.

His speedometer—or yours—may have been off. Traffic engineers say automobile speedometers can err as much as 15 per cent if you are travelling at 50-mile-an-hour clip or better.

But you can't tell off the radar speed meter, which has been in use about two years. Engineers say it stays on the beam; that its margin of error is a slim one or two per cent.

In many places the courts are taking the radar meter's word. Try to argue the point and the judges comes back at you with frequencies, wave lengths and logarithms.

In one month Columbus, O., police detected 128 speeders by radar. Of these 126 pleaded guilty. The other two were convicted.

The 45-pound radar meter works simply. It sends out a constant microwave signal which picks up targets within a 150-foot range. The reflected wave length is proportional to the speed of the moving car. It shows up on the machine in miles an hour. The speed is written down by a regular recording device on a revolving sheet of paper similar to a business man's sales graph.

Speed law enforcement by radar is a two-car job. The speed meter is mounted in a control car. Here the speeder is clocked and his licence number radioed ahead to a second car, which picks him up.

Connecticut Pioneers

Connecticut State Police were the first to use radar against speeders.

Radar-patrolled roads were staked out: "State Police Radar Speed Control Zone." Since the system went into use. There have been only five arrests—and five convictions. The effect has been psychological.

Theodore M. Matson, who directs Yale University's Bureau of Highway Traffic, says he thinks radar will be used "increasingly not only by police and other enforcement authorities but by others to whom the flow and control of traffic is essential."

BOROUGH PROBLEM — When Harvey Kratzer, unemployed schoolteacher, and his wife and eight children were evicted from their home in Catasauqua, Pa., three years ago, they were given shelter — just for "overnight" — in this room in a town-owned building. They've been there ever since, and now the borough fathers want to sell the building, which no longer has light, heat or water. One of Kratzer's five children by a previous marriage is a member of the borough council trying to find an answer to the problem. Meantime, Kratzer, shown here with his wife and five of their brood, is just sitting it out.

Says Immigrants Not Causing Unemployment

The Rev. F. A. Marrocco English speaking director of the social action department, Canadian Catholic Conference, addressed a meeting of the Diocesan executive held Saturday afternoon in St. Mary's School. He spoke on the subject of immigration.

After paying tribute to the Catholic Women's League for the work already done on behalf of newcomers to this country, Father Marrocco urged those present to greater efforts, not only on behalf of immigrants already here, but in order to facilitate entry of thousands who are hoping for a chance to start a new life in Canada.

He deplored the idea entertained by some that immigrants to Canada have contributed to the unemployment problem. He endeavored to make it clear that unemployment is always a problem at this time of year and is no worse this year than in any other. He also indicated the most intelligent minds of the land are convinced Canada can only achieve the stature and importance she deserves if her population is multiplied by many millions provided the increase is made up of people capable of being integrated into the Canadian way of life.

Father Marrocco formerly ministered the faith at St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, and is now working from an Ottawa office.

Expect Women To Have Say At CFA Meeting

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 30—(CP)—Women are expected to cut quite a figure in discussions on the price of cheese, bacon and eggs at the 14th annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture which opens here today.

Male delegates grudgingly admitte that at past CFA meetings the farmers' wife has shown herself to be a woman well-versed in the complex business of making a living from the soil.

And she isn't at all backward when it come to presenting her views from a convention floor crowded with men. At this meeting, women will be outnumbered by men 20-1.

But among the 10 or more women delegates are two who sit on CFA's board of directors. They are Mrs. Winnifred Ross of Millet, Alta., and Mrs. C. A. Campbell of Pakenham, Ont., who were appointed in 1949.

To Discuss Eggs

Mrs. Ross, a slender woman with sparkling wit, is expected to have something to say about the price of eggs and the government's recently-announced egg price-support program. The white-haired widow operates a poultry farm and is recognized as somewhat of an authority in the industry.

Mrs. Campbell's strong subjects are cheese and butter. She and her husband run a dairy farm. A forceful speaker, Mrs. Campbell is remembered by delegates here as a woman who at past meetings has delivered a fair amount of common-sense talk.

CFA officials say women contributed a "great deal" in the way of sound ideas at these and other agricultural meetings. Recognition for them came last year with the appointment of the first two women directors.

DOROTHY DIX

Man Claims It His Right To Open Wife's Letters

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife insists that I have no right to open letters addressed to her and read her mail. I keep no secrets from her, but she insists that her correspondence with her mother be a secret affair and that I have no right to read her mother's letters. I let her read all my letters if she cares to do so, and I contend that I have a right to expect the same privileges from her. Who is right? If she is right I think I shall retaliate by also having secret affairs

Dorothy Dix

H. A. Z.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, as long as you confine your secret correspondence to your mother, as your wife does hers, I don't suppose she will rise early in the morning in order to steam your letters open and read them before you do.

Wife Has Reasons

There are reason why a woman might not care to have her husband read all of her mother's letters. In them family matters might be discussed with which the husband has no concern. Wherefore wife, to protect mother and to save a family spat, prefers to keep mother's letter to herself, wisely considering that they are purely personal and intended only for her own eyes.

And in this she is right, and a man must indeed be narrow minded and eaten up with jealousy and moreover consider a wife nothing but a chattel that he owns body and soul to make an issue of reading his mother-in-law's letters. Most men are glad not to be bored with family correspondence, which is dull enough to any outsider.

Anyway the privilege of opening one's own letters is an inalienable right that extends from the cradle to the gates of the penitentiary, and neither parents nor husbands and wives have any right to interfere with it. Why having our letters opened is such an insult to our dignity, such an unforgiveable invasion of our privacy, none of us can definitely explain, but we all feel the same way about it. There is no offence that can be committed against us that we resent so bitterly.

Indecent prying, family curiosity, can go no further than in opening the letters of the other members of the family.

DEAR MISS DIX: For the last four years I have been engaged to a young man. I have given up good times and have scrimped and saved so that we could be married, and now when we are all set and have a good start and our wedding day announced my fiance says that he doesn't want to take upon himself the responsibility of marriage for a couple of years yet. He has a good job and we could easily get along and I want a home of my own. He won't save and I am tired of waiting. Isn't there anything I can do to encourage those wedding bells a little?

ANSWER: Well, daughter, I think that unless a man is enthusiastic about ringing the wedding bells, a girl is mighty wise to leave them silent. You know how it is when one of these supersalesmen just simply forces you into buying against your will. It doesn't suit your taste and you don't want it, and are not ready to buy, but he or she talks you into taking it, and you hate it ever afterward and spend you time picking flaws in it and thinking what a fool you were to let yourself be outsmarted.

Well, that is just about what happens to a girl when she forces a man into marrying her before he is ready to settle down and before he wants to marry. A lot of girls do it. They cry and they wheedle a chap into the place where it takes more courage and nerve than he has to call the wedding off. So he is led to the altar like a lamb to the slaughter, but once he gets past the altar he is a lamb no longer. He is a snapping, snarling dog that tugs at the rope his wife has tied him with until he breaks it.

So, if you are to anxious to marry that you can't wait any longer, hunt up a youth who is more marrying-minded than the one you are engaged to.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTH DIX: Another girl who works in this office wears a riding habit to work. The men tell her she is cute and when she is gone they make fun of her for wearing it around the office. She wants me to wear one, but I don't think it is the proper costume. What do you think?

A GIRL IN DOUBT

ANSWER: Well, you needn't be in doubt about a riding habit being the proper garment to wear to work in an office. Any girl who does that makes herself a figure of fun and laughing stock for all who see her, and I can't understand why her employer permits her to do such a silly thing.

BLOWN SEVERAL HUNDRED MILES off its course to the sunny south, a rare goose landed in Ste. Anne de Bellevue, suburb of Montreal, recently, tired and winded after trying to get back on the right course without success. Seldom seen in this part of the country the goose with the five-foot wing spread was captured by M. C. Deslauriers. A snow goose is a rarity in these parts so Mr. Deslauriers will say goodbye to his catch when the bird will be taken to Macdonald College where it will be looked after until spring.

THE ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

Question: First, accept my humble thanks for past help in cooking. I have kept all of your columns but may I add that the paper does not give you enough space to satisfy we homemakers.

Would you please tell or send me any reducing program you have. My doctors says I must lose 25 lbs. Last spring and summer I lost 25 lbs. but so far have only held my weight, not being able to lose the additional 25 lbs. I weighted 237 lbs. but now weigh 202 lbs., but should weigh between 175—180 according to my doctor, who does not believe in medication for reducing, — just self-control which seems to be lacking in my case.

Also now that some recipes call for enriched flour in baking. . . do we have such a product in Canada? I enquired from. . .(a dietitian). . .but she did not know. So perhaps you could advise me as to what brand to buy as I do want my children to be healthy. . .long may you continue to edit our page. Mrs. J. J.

Answer: Thanks so much.

I am sending you calorie chart. From it you can calculate the calorie value of the food you eat. As you know I am not a physician and you should be under the care of one, as you say you are, so that if you do adhere to a 1500 calories per day diet, you are assured you are eating the necessary basic foods.

As I have done for other readers I will outline for you the kinds of breakfasts, lunches and dinners you may have. These all stress proteins, for an uncompromising reducer.

Breakfast: Always have an egg either poached, cooked in shell, coddled or raw; ½-slice whole wheat bread (not cracked wheat) no butter, ½ grapefruit or whole orange (perferably in sections or slices), but juice occasionally: coffee or tea, no sugar or cream but homogenized milk if you like. Water between meals.

Lunches: Clear soup or tomato juice; whole wheat sandwich-bread sliced not more than ⅜ inch thick, and unbuttered. Thick sliced meat trimmed free of fat, leaf of lettuce, mustard or chopped hard cooked egg filling using 1 whole egg for 1 sandwich with lettuce, or thick slice cheese or peanut butter and crisp bacon; whole orange or banana or grapefruit or 18 to 20 grapes or large dessert apple; 10 ounces skim milk.

Dinners: At least 4 ounces lean meat or fish, or fowl or liver; baked potato twice per week — smaller than average size; two vegetables such as spinach, green beans, peas, cauliflower, cabbage carrots, beets, asparagus, squash corn (these last 2 occasionally), lettuce, celery, tomatoes (stewed fresh, jelly), onions.

(When you count your vegetables count the salad that you should have every night as one of these vegetables.)

Desert for dinner could be half grapefruit, whole orange, dessert pear or apple, 18 to 20 imported grapes, banana, and in summer any of the fruits in season without sugar.

Coffee or tea with cream or sugar, — but you may have homogenized milk.

Now I have not mentioned cod liver oil, butter, mayonnaise or nuts.

These things are all essential; butter should be measured — eat 1 pat daily that measures 1 inch squares by ¼-inch thick; use 1½ teaspoons mayonnaise on your salad or sandwich per day; if you eat nuts they should replace your lunch time protein if you eat 2 ounces of them. Take at least 1 tablespoon cod liver oil (fortified) per day.

Drink plenty of water between —not with—meals.

To help you undereat, drink a full glass of water about 10 minutes before meals.

Try these suggestions and keep in touch with me as you require or desire changes.

The new word used on the outside of bags of flour is "improvers". This replaced the word enriched, and means that additional vitamins have been added to the flour. This is preferable to flour that does not contain additional vitamins, but it would be better still to make bread that contains half and half improved flour and fine ground whole wheat flour.

Question: I received a combination electric sandwich toaster and waffle iron for Xmas. Could you please give me directions for making waffles: (plain) at what point should they be cooked? (bake or hot).

Also what variations of toasted sandwiches are there besides cheese? Your help would be gratefully received. We may not write you, but believe me we look for and get help from your articles. P. B.

Answer: I like you readers too so that makes it even.

Plain Waffles

Two cups flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons or 1 tablespoon sugar, 1¼ cups milk, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons melted shortening or salad oil. Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar. Add milk. Separate the egg yolks from the whites and beat the yolks and add to mixture. Mix well. Beat whites stiff and fold in. Add shortening and stir. Have waffle iron heated to bake. The best spot on my waffle iron for baking waffle is when the pointer points between the "a" and the "k" in the world bake. Be sure to give your waffle iron the seasoning treatment recommended by the manufacturer. If you do what they tell you your waffles will never stick. If your waffle iron heats too hot, do not pour in waffles until heat recedes to middle of the word "bake". Put less batter in waffle iron than you think it will hold, until you know exactly how much will bake without boiling out. BAKE

Waffles Until Golden

Fillings for toasted sandwiches (Because the filling in a toasted sandwich does not get enough heat to actually cook it, fillings must be precooked; you cannot use raw bacon for instance in a sandwich to be toasted. However in hospitals where a doctor prescribes scraped raw beef for a patient this is done—to make it hot and hence more palatable) Use sliced or chopped bologna, cooked ham; sliced or chopped sliced or mashed liverwurst (my favourite); canned smoked salmon paste; ground leftover roast pork or chicken; and of course, every kind of cheese imaginable except cottage. The liverwurst toasted sandwich is good with chopped dill pickles mixed into it or spread over the liverwurst paste just before putting on top. A filling with some fat in is desirable, because it melts into the bread as the sandwich toasts.

I hope you like these and that I will have an opportunity to help you often.

Luncheon Club Qualification Must Be Success

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK, — (AP) — The woman pays, willingly and once a week, for a $2 luncheon in New York. At least she does if she is a member of a whimsically-named club of successful New York career women associated with the arts.

The club was founded 30 years ago, when women's rights and suffrage were emotional subjects. A quartet of successful business women decided then that if a famed men's Dutch Treat Luncheon Club would not lift its ban on feminine membership they would form a club of their own.

The Woman Pays Club's high purpose is to have no purpose whatsoever except a weekly luncheon get-together of congenial females. Membership is limited: Candidates for admission must be self-supporting, successfully employed or associated with one of the seven arts and "clubable."

The seven arts, by the club's definition, are drama, literature, music, painting, sculpture, architecture and dancing.

The club is a thriving organization — membership is a mark of success—with 135 members, most of whom are over 40, own mink coats and have biographies in "Who's Who."

The club has held tenaciously to its original lack of purpose, except to salt away a handy piece of change to help members who from time to time have been down on their luck.

First Names Used

Club meetings are half-way between a man's service club and a chattering ladies' tearoom luncheon. It's strictly a first-name organization, and the members spend the pre-luncheon minutes buzzing from table to table catching up on what their sisters have been up to.

Through the years there has been a distinguished list of members. Actress Jane Cowl belonged for years, so did author Anita Loos, film stars Norma and Constance Talmadge and a host of other women well regarded in their professions.

At a single table at a recent luncheon there was a well-known literary agent, a prolific short story writer, a jewelry designer, a top motion picture press agent, a theatrical press agent, a retired Metropolitan Opera singer, a translator of plays, a concert pianist and a pageant director.

As the clock hands hit 2:30 p.m., the membership pulled on their coats and duck back to their respective offices.

"This is a typical meeting," literary agent Nanine Joseph explained. "And it's pretty much the way it's always been. Of course, you have to be invited to be a member, and that requirement of 'being clubable' keeps a lot of people out."

Do they still resent the Dutch Treat' no-women dictate?

"Oh, no," said Miss Joseph. "And we like men, too. About 60 per cent of our membership is married, even though they are all self-supporting when they come in. We call the married ones the 'kept members.' "

Age Finds Leisure Woman Turns Artist

MOOREFIELD, Ont., —(CP) — A Canadian Grandma Moses is Mrs. Catharine Wildfang, 87, who recently has held two exhibitions of pictures she painted within the last 12 years.

Like New England's famous Grandma Moses, 89, Mrs. Wildfang grew up in a farming community, showed an interest in art during childhood, but put aside her artistic leanings until late in life.

A busy life made the postponement necessary. Mrs. Wildfang helped her husband run a country general store at Elmwood in Ontario's Grey county and took charge of a millinery department. At the same time, she carried on household duties and raised four sons and four daughters, seven of whom are still living.

At 75, with her husband dead and her children grown, she bought brushes and paints and revived her dreams of painting.

She prefers oil paints to other media. Landscapes are her favorite theme, but she also paints animals well. Her color sense is good and she has a flair for delicate, and accurate detail, especially in her paintings of trees.

Seated upstairs at her easel she works happily almost every morning.

Rayon Takes Place Of British Cotton

LONDON, —(CP)—British research experts dream of a rosy future for rayon.

The Board of Trade watched with approval the increasing number of rayon goods taking the place of cotton.

The jump in cotton prices due to devaluation has made manufacturers refuse to make some utility cotton goods because profit margins are too low. Rayon is filling the gap.

There will be more rayon frocks this summer. Men will be offered rayon shirts and housewives can buy rayon "linen." One firm is even experimenting with rayon diapers.

"Rayon staples is the cheapest raw material there is," said a Rayon Federation spokesman "and it can be spun on the same machines as cotton or wool.

"A number of firms are already making men's shirts from rayon made into linen-type fabrics. Others firms are turning out rayon furnishing fabrics."

One problem with rayon is laundering. Some rayons can be boiled and stand up to hard treatment. Others lose half their strength.

The Federation says: "If manufacturers labelled the type of fabric used in every article, housewives could learn to deal with the different types without trouble."

Confection, Not Just Cookie, In These Delicious Recipes

By MARY MOORE

If my correspondence can be depended upon to indicate trends then every other housewife in the city wants new cookie recipes.

And I'm the gal to pester for them too.

The almond meringue squares with 2 variations, are one of those little cookie - confections that break up bridge clubs, that previously were a cozy little group of good friends.

I wrested the recipe from the hostess-daugter of one our federal members of parliament. I had to lie down on the flour (Persian rug) and with her foot on my stomach I promised not to reveal her name. How I grovel for you people!

Almond Meringue Squares

(2 variations)

Cook together 1 cup stoned, chopped dates and ½ cup water ~~½ hr.~~ Cool.

Sift together 1½ pastry flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cream together 6 tablespoons butter or margarine or half and half of butter and good quality shortening and ½ cup sugar and 2 egg yolks and 1 teaspoon vanilla until light and fluffy. Sift the dry mixtures into this and mix, adding 1 or 2 tablespoons of milk if necessary to make this stiff dough pliable enough to press into buttered pan, spread with cooled date mixture. To the egg whites, when they are beaten half stiff, add 4 tablespoons brown sugar. Spread over dates. Sprinkle top generously with about 1 cup finely chopped almonds (or filberts or brazils or walnuts or pecans.) Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 45 minutes—maybe 50. Let cool, then mark and cut into squares or diamonds.

Variation 1: Add 2 or 4 tablespoons good quality cocoa to the cookie dough which is pressed into bottom of pan.

Variation 2: Use white sugar and cocoanut in meringue instead of brown sugar and nuts.

Meltaway Dreams

(How do you like that for a name? I'll bet you make them, anyway!)

Cream 1/3 cup butter or margarine until soft and light then beat into it ½ cup sifted icing sugar; add 1 egg yolk and beat well. Sift with 1½ cups sifted bread flour ½ teaspoon baking soda and add them alternately with 2 tablespoons milk and ½ teaspoon vanilla. This will form a soft dough. Press this firmly onto buttered pan about 9"x9",—making it thick on the bottom and thin on the sides.

Spread over it a mixture made by beating 2 eggs with 1 cup brown sugar; add 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups fine cocoanut or ¾ cup cocoanut and ¾ cup ground nuts).

Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for 20 minutes then reduce heat to 300 deg. Fahr. and bake 15 minutes longer, or until cake is firm to touch.

When baked, immediately loosen sides with knife, and turn out on cake cooler, as you would a cake. When cold turn over with cocoanut side up, and cut into squares or diamonds or rectangles with very sharp knife. These are effective if sprinkled with confectioners' sugar from a sugar shaker.

Manchester Rejects Satellite Town Plan

MANCHESTER, Eng. —(CP) — A Manchester municipal poll has rejected the city council's proposal to build a satellite town near Mobberley, Cheshire, 13 miles away, to draw off some of Manchester's excess population.

The poll was open to 475,000 municipal electors but only 5.1 per cent voted. The vote was 19,134 against the proposal and only 6,890 for it.

Steal Office Safe

PORT COLBORNE, Jan. 30 — (CP)—Thieves broke into Bell Telephone Company office here Sunday night and removed the office safe. The theft was discovered by manager Jack Haskett, when he arrived at the office this morning. He estimated the safe contained about $300.

Private Trading Asked Replace Gov't Buying

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP)—The Anglo-Canadian Trade Committee called Sunday for a return to private trading in place of bulk buying by government.

The committee said Canadian producers could "neither understand nor accept without protest heavy cuts ruthlessly imposed overnight" on Britain's imports from the Dominion.

It urged that every effort be made to return international trade to a multilateral basis. The committee consists of representatives of Canadian and British businessmen who have been meeting in London for a week, studying Anglo-Canadian trade in the light of United Kingdom dollar-buying cuts.

It said that Canadian representatives recognize Britain's dollar difficulties. But "there can be little hope of restoring the economic situation by increasing sales of United Kingdom goods in Canada if restrictions impose severe hardship or even ruin without warning upon Canadians whose purchasing power is the means of buying these goods."

July Action

This was evidently a reference to Britain's action last July in announcing a 25 per cent cut in dollar imports. The reason was that the gold and dollar reserves of the sterling area had fallen to a dangerously low level.

The committee is composed of six members of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, headed by C. Gordon Cockshutt, of Brantford, and six representing the Association of British Chambers of Commerce, the Federation of British Industries, the National Union of Manufacturers and the National Farmers Union, headed by John McLean, president of the chambers of commerce body.

Britain's bulk purchases from Canada for 1950 include wheat, bacon, cheese and lumber.

The committee said it was essential "in order to keep the pump primed, to maintain a flow of imports to the United Kingdom, to be increased as and when the sale of United Kingdom goods in North America makes such an increase possible."

McKENNEY Answers Your CANASTA Questions

As I dictate today's article I have in front of me a book entitled "How To Play Canasta" by Richard L. Frey. 'Dick" Frey is no newcomer among card players. He is one of the original 15 life masters in bridge, and some time ago he wrote a book entitled "The Complete Hoyle."

He is very thorough in his writing, and has a number of illustrative hands in his book on Canasta. Today I am going to give you a couple of them, dealing with the initial meld and what to discard.

Your Hand

A - KKK - 999 - 77
A . KKK . 999 . 77 J . 10 . 4.

Four-handed—Both sides need 50 for initial meld.

Discard pile—Up-card Q.

You have made your draw.

Q—Should you make an initial meld of the 3 kings and 3 nines?

A—No. As a rule you should not use more than 4 cards to make an initial melt of 50. Mr. Frey points out that a hand depleted to less than 7 cards has little prospect of contributing to the subsequent earnings of the partnership.

Q—What should you discard?

A—You have 2 trios of high cards in what is a poor hand. Your chances of getting the pack are small. If you discard a king or nine, and your opponent takes the pack, your chance of building a canasta has been reduced; and from then on a discard from either of the trios will be a dangerous discard.

Mr. Frey says that the best play is to discard the 4; but he also says that if there is only one card in the discard pile at this point, this is the place to throw a loose high card, even the ace.

In his hand No 2 Mr. Frey brings out a very interesting point. Here is the hand:

Your Hand

AAA 88 . 66 . K . Q . J . 10 7

Four-handed—Both sides need 50 for an initial meld.

Discard pile—Up-card 9.

You have made your draw.

The average person, after drawing, might meld the three aces immediately. Mr. Frey points out that you should not meld the three aces on the first round. However, on the second round, if there are four or five cards in the pack, make your meld even though you cannot get the pack.

The melding of three aces is the most economical meld that you can make. The reason that you should hold up the melding of the aces for at least one round is that your opponent, not knowing that you have three aces, may discard an ace at his first opportunity.

Also, by letting the pile build up a little before you meld your three aces, you put your partner in a position to pick up the discard pile more easily.

The next question is what to discard. As I have repeatedly said discard one of your high cards in the early stages. You do not lose much if your opponents pick it up, it is better to let one of them go in the early stages than later on.

◇ ◇ ◇

The material for this article is from Richard L. Frey's book entitled "How To Play Canasta" Mr. Frey, who is a very capable author and a great card player, was one of the original 15 life masters in bridge. I like the way he expresses certain points on the game of Canasta, especially his descriptive hands on the initial meld. Take this hand for example:

Your Hand

QQQ . 88 . A . 9 . 6 . 5 . 4 . 22.

Four-handed—Both sides need 50 for initial meld.

Discard pile—Up-card 10.

You have made your draw. Should you make an initial meld of 3 Queens and a deuce?

As Mr. Frey points out, you should not make this meld for a round or two. After all, on the next round you may draw an ace, in which case you could meld two aces and a deuce. There is also a possibility that your opponent may discard a queen.

If you do not better the situation or your hand on the second and third round, then of course you should put down 3 queens and a deuce. You will always find it economical to hold your initial meld of 50 points to not more than 4 cards.

As long as you do not make the meld at once, should you discard a queen, since you still can make an initial meld whenever necessary?

Certainly not. You do not want to discard at an early stage your most enoconimal card, the queen. Having two deuces, your partner may be short of wild cards. You have plenty of safer diamonds as long as the pack is small.

Discard the 9-spot. You do not discard the ace at this stage because, as stated before, you may be fortunate enough to draw an ace on the next round.

In the following hand we are dealing with an initial meld requirement of 90 points.

Your Hand

AA . 10 10 . 7 7 K . 9 . 8 5 . 4 Joker.

Four-handed—Both sides need 90 for initial meld.

Discard pile—6 5 9. Up-card 4.

You have just drawn a 9. Should you make an initial meld of Joker, ace, ace?

Mr. Frey says that this meld should be made immediately as it is the ideal economical meld for 90 according to the rule of 4, 6, 7, which is: When you need 50, try to hold your meld to four cards: when you need 90, try to hold it to 6 cards or less; when you need 120, try to hold it to 7 cards or less.

You should make this meld immediately because there are already 4 cards in the discard pile and you want to unfreeze the pack for your partner, who probably has a wild card. Thus you place a defensive burden on your opponents.

Now what do you discard? Either the 4 or 5, says Mr. Frey. Probably the 4 is the better discard because your left hand opponent discarded a 5 on his first play, therefore your 5 might be a safer card to throw away as the pile gets bigger.

Also, your right hand opponent has just discarded a 4, and by discarding a 4 yourself, you do not give him any information regarding a card that he may safely throw to you on the next round.

Says Harmful Hormones Cause Rheumatic Diseases

MONTREAL, Jan. 30.—(CP).—A new theory about the origin of high blood pressure and the crippling rheumatic diseases was announced Saturday by a Montreal doctor working in the field embracing the new wonder drugs, Cortisone and ACTH.

Dr. Hans Selye, director of the Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery at University of Montreal, said he has final proof that the harmful hormones, injected into the body by the adrenal gland, caused the disorders which doctors now are trying to counteract with Cortisone and ACTH.

The scientist said his theory is being published in the British Medical Journal, organ of the British Medical Association.

Lauds Studies

Dr. Morris Fishbein, United States medical writer and editor, last week paid tribute to Dr. Selye's early studies on the adrenal gland, and credited him with the basic work which led to advances in Cortisone and ACTH. Dr. Fishbein said other scientists have cited the Montreal doctor for a Nobel prize.

Dr. Selye said his laboratory tests have definitely established that the adrenal gland injects harmful hormones into the body when it is under stress. He called these harmful substances "desoxocortisones," and described them as the cause of high blood pressure, hardening of the arteries and the rheumatic disorders—"stress" diseases.

The remedy would be injection of beneficial cortisones to counteract the influence of the desoxocortisones.

Dr. Selye said the cortisones might eventually be used to fight all disorders caused stress, even the tension caused a worker by an irritating boss.

If tension were prolonged, the result might be arthritis. The scientist said doctors of the future might merely inject cortisone to overcome the harmful effect of such tension.

Canon Hiltz Secretary Of General Synod

HALIFAX, Jan. 30 (CP)—Canon R. A. Hiltz, 72 of Toronto has been appointed executive secretary of the General Synod of the Church of England in Canada.

Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, Archbishop of Nova Scotia and Primate of all Canada, announcing the appointment, said Dr. Hiltz will take over his new duties April 1, upon retirement as general secretary of the church's general board of religious education.

He will continue to live in Toronto and his headquarters will remain at Church House there.

As executive secretary, he will be empowered to give effect to all executive actions of General Synod which meets triennially. Creation of the office was authorized by General Synod in 1946 but the appointment of Dr. Hiltz is the first made to it.

Archbishop Kingston said in his announcement:

"Those who had to do with making the appointment were unanimous in choosing Canon Hiltz because of his long experience in the affairs of General Synod and also because of his rare qualities of mind and heart, by means of which he has served so acceptably in the difficult field of religious education."

A native of Windsor, N.S., Dr. Hiltz is a graduate of the University of King's College, Halifax, and of Wycliffe College, Toronto. For a short time he was rector of St. Mathias' Church in Halifax and later of St. James' Church in Ferguson, Ont. He was appointed a canon of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, in 1936.

9-Car Passenger Train Rolls Down Steep Hill

SEATTLE, Jan. 30 —(AP)—A loaded nine-car passenger train rolled backwards down a steep hill near here Sunday night for several miles with no one in the disabled engine, a railway telegrapher reported today.

G. J. Bohnen, telegrapher for the Chicago - Milwaukee-St. Paul Railway at Kittitas, Wash., six miles east of Ellensburg, said no one was hurt.

Fire broke out in the electric engine going up a steep hill. Engineer Eddie Maxwell and fireman Tom Liberty were driven from the cab by fumes.

Air brakes of the train apparently began to leak and it rolled back down the hill. It came to a halt about seven miles back when it lost momentum.

Japan Resents Charges Of Trickery

TOKYO, Jan. 30.—(Reuters).—"Democratized" Japanese traders have reacted sharply to British and American suggestions that they might resume their prewar "dumping" and sharp trading tricks.

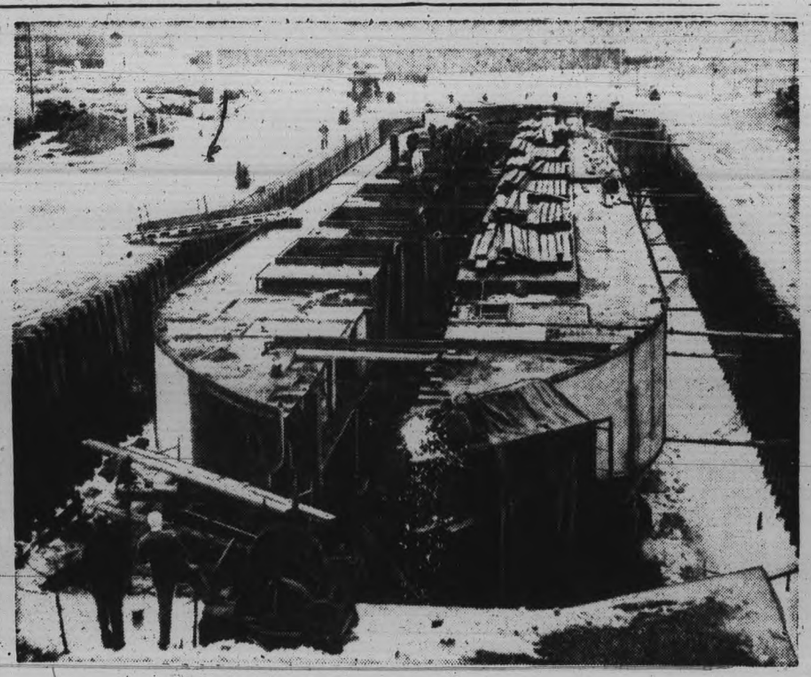
Those days have gone forever, they say. Never again will they manufacture "genuine Scotch whisky—beware of foreign imitations"; never again will they sell wooden pencils with an inch of lead at each end and none in the middle; never again will they rename towns "Britain" and "USA" so that those place names will fit nicely after 'made in . . ."

Perhaps some of those stories of Japanese mendacity and trickery were exaggerated. But enough of them were true to make the Japanese today appreciate how low their trading name had fallen between the two world wars.

Resent Doubts

Nevertheless, they resent suggestions that they are already reverting to prewar practices.

"It is the old story of giving a dog a bad name," commented one Japanese bitterly.



Many overseas misgivings were voiced recently when Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the abolition of floor prices. Some Japanese eyebrows arched at comment from abroad, but they nearly met when they read that Air Vice-Marshal C. A. Bouchier had been appointed by the Federation of British Industries to fly out to Japan and watch for "unfair trading."

These overseas charges provoked spirited Japanese replies. Japanese traders make no secret of the fact that they believe that what British and American manufacturers fear is not dumping, but Japanese competition.

"Dumping is now impossible," the Japanese - published English-language magazine Oriental Economist claimed recently in a sharp retort to overseas protests.

Removal of Japanese floor prices had been made conditional on the pricing of exports at not lower than domestic levels, the magazine added.

The other methods of "dumping" would be to produce at "sweated wage levels," Oriental Economist continued.

Lord Woolton Conservative Party Chairman

By The Canadian Press

Lord Woolton, the Conservative party's chief organizer and election strategist, has been a latecomer all his life.

He didn't enter business till he was 37. Rapidly he became chief of one of Britain's largest department-store chains. His first political office — if his wartime service as minister of food can be called political — came when he was 57.

He took on the Conservative chairmanship in 1946, after the party's disastrous showing at the previous year's general election. Since then he's been selling Conservative policies as hard as he pushed department-store sales in the years between the wars.

He has turned Conservative headquarters into a business organization. The old gentlemanly amateurs have been replaced by professionals.

Woolton, born Frederick Marquis, hopes the people will "go right" in the general election. That's what he did. Beginning life as a Socialist, he veered to Liberalism, then to the Conservatives.

Earlier in life, Lord Woolton was a social worker. Then he was invited, in 1920 to become personnel director of Lewis's Liverpool and Manchester department-store concern. Fifteen years later he was chairman of the firm.

He became a peer in 1939, the year before Prime Minister Churchill picked him to run the food-rationing set-up. As food minister, he attained amazing popularity.

53 Left Homeless As Fire Sweeps Uplands Shelter

OTTAWA, Jan. 30.—Fifty-three persons, including 41 children, are homeless today following a fire which whipped through two buildings at the Uplands emergency shelter early Sunday morning. City welfare officials and volunteers among other residents at the temporary housing establishment of wartime barracks have combined to provide emergency housing accommodation within the emergency housing settlement itself.

The fire levelled Hut 17, wiping out almost all the belongings of the six families living in it. It also destroyed the shelter's central recreation building, which contained its branch postoffice, a canteen, a dual - denomination church, a recreation hall and a barber shop.

Flames raced through the frame buildings shortly before 6 a.m., too fast to enable the residents to salvage anything but a fraction of the contents. Most of the victims escaped in their nightclothes. Sleepy children in sleepers were hustled through the chill morning air to the shelter's public school, where women organized a quick breakfast brigade for the youngsters, hungry and wide-eyed at the spectacle which destroyed their homes.

Snatched From Carriage

An 18-months-old baby—Michael Lesnick—was snatched from his burning carriage by two unidentified men at the height of the blaze. His parents, believing their hut was afire, rushed the baby outside, and left him outside while they prepared to remove furniture from their hut. The baby's blanket was set afire by sparks from the burning building.

Uplands, which recently became a part of Ottawa by annexation, is at the western edge of the new city boundaries. Fire equipment at the shelter, which is near Uplands Airport, proved inadequate to handle the fire and additional fire-fighting gear was rushed from city stations, nearly five miles away.

The children's ages ranged from 3 months to 16 years.

Donated food, clothing and other help started flooding toward the little school building within a half-hour of the alarm. Long work-tables were pulled together for serving meals.

Second Fire In Month

For Mrs. V. Laroche and her eight children, it was the second time within a month that they had seen their home destroyed by flames. The day before New Year's, their uptown Ottawa home had been burned. They had moved to the new quarters at Uplands just two weeks ago.

The Ottawa Red Cross and other organizations immediately offered assistance and rushed needed materials to the scene. The homeless are being assigned to other barracks space at Uplands and furnishings are being distributed to them.

Those who were burned out are: Mr. and Mrs. Roger Loyer and six children, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sabourin and seven children, Mr. and Mrs. Emile Carpenter and 12 children, Mrs. S. Laframboise and four children, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Desormeau and six children, Mrs. V. Laroche and eight children.

Churchill Held Most Cabinet Offices

By The Canadian Press

At 75, Winston Spencer Churchill hopes to win Britain's highest political office in a peacetime general election.

His wartime premiership was thrust upon him as German Panzer divisions struck at France. Five years later, Germany defeated, the people mandate was denied him. The 1945 general election was the first time Churchill had led a party in an appeal to the country.

Labor in power, Churchill added a new post to his long list: Leader of the Opposition.

Churchill first entered the House of Commons in 1900. He has been in the political forefront ever since Cabinet rank came in 1908, as president of the board of trade. Two years later he was home secretary.

Boss of Navy

In the years before the First World War, and during the first year of that conflict, he was the navy's boss, First Lord of the Admiralty. He again held that post during the first months of the Second World War.

Between the wars, he was war minister, air minister, colonial secretary, and chancellor of the exchequer. Thus the only major cabinet office he has never filled is foreign secretary.

Churchill broke with the Conservative party leadership over India during the early 1930s. For a long time he was in the political wilderness.

Embarrased Baldwin

He incurred Prime Minister Baldwin's wrath by asking pointed questions in parliament during the 1936 abdication crisis.

That year also began his long series of speeches on the gathering world crisis. His foreign-policy addresses won him a growing following, in parliament and out.

When Prime Minister Chamberlain decided he no longer could command parliament's confidence, Churchill was called to power to lead the country through its years of "blood and toil, tears and sweat." In 1945 when he led the Conservatives into the first election campaign since 1935 he still could promise little more.

Britain Hails Canadian Boyer Successor

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP)—Montreal-born Paul Dupuis is being hailed in Britain as a possible successor to French-born Charles Boyer, the screen lover.

His recent performance with Margaret Lockwood in the British movie "Madness of the Heart" was hailed as an outstanding screen performance.

Of it a London film critic wrote "I was intrigued by the signs of pure satisfaction that went up from ladies all around me . . . Dupuis is younger than Boyer and his fascinating accent comes over clearer."

The 33-year-old French Canadian has also been seen recently in "Passport to Pimlico," "Sleeping Car to Trieste," "The White Lady" and "Johnny Frenchman"—his first full-length feature.

Before coming to England during the war he worked for the CBC as news reader, announcer and producer. In London he also won recognition as a broadcaster but determined to try his luck at film-acting.

"It was uphill at first," he said. "It is a drawback for an actor with a foreign accent to live in England, because whenever a producer wants an actor who is not English he immediately shoots over to the Continent to look for a discovery."

At one time Dupuis planned to return to Canada—and would probably have gone if passenger accommodation had not been reserved for months ahead.

Mother Of Six Says Glad To Be Sterilized

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., Jan. 30—(AP)—An illiterate mother of six, found guilty of neglecting her children, has agreed to be sterilized because "I don't want any more children."

Mrs. Doris Irene Kindred, 28, and her 30-year-old husband, Bernard, were convicted Friday of leaving their four-month-old son, David, out in the cold without enough clothes on. David is the youngest of their children, all of whom are under seven.

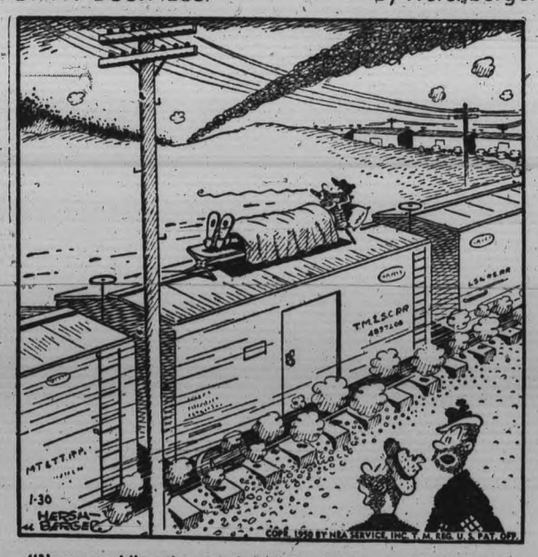
Convicted previously

Both had been convicted previously on a similar charge.

Mrs. Kindred let the court know through her cousel R. L. Renton, that she is willing to undergo sterilization. A child welfare officer had proposed the operation. Her husband signed the papers permitting the operation, since she could neither read nor write.

The two were placed on two years probation following the conviction. An inspector for the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children said Mrs. Kindred refused to take her children to a welfare centre.

Husband Signs



Kindred, a junk man who makes £5 ($15.50) a week, said he signed the form gladly.

"It is very seldom I can work more than two weeks at a time because of rheumatism," he said.

Mrs. Kindred told reporters after the trial that nobody had ever suggested any other way to limit her family. She said she would go to the hospital for operation as soon as she could arrange for the care of her youngsters.

"I'm glad," she said. "I think it is a good idea."

F. Byers, Youngest Liberal Whip

By The Canadian Press

Frank Byers, energetic chief whip of the Liberal party since 1946, has led his followers in the House of Commons against overwhelming odds. He was 32 at the time of his appointment — the youngest Liberal whip in living memory.

In debate he is a forthright, unrhetorical speaker, pursuing his point with logic and persistence. He has been Liberal M. P. for Dorset North since 1945 and will again run in this constituency.

At Westminster and Christ Church, Oxford, Byers pursued athletics between studies in political history and economics. In 1937 he broke the British universities' record in the 440 hurdles.

Later he toured Canada and the United States, studying and debating and making contacts with members of Canada's Liberal government.

In 1939 Byers enlisted as a private, was commissioned in the Royal Regiment of Artillery the following year and served in the Western Desert. Later he joined Field Marshal Montgomery's 8th Army Headquarters with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Subsequently he figured in the Normandy, Belgium, France and Germany campaigns. He won the O. B. E., the Africa Star and three mentions in dispatches and the Croix de Guerre with Palm.

He is married and has two daughters.

Sunday School Elects Officers

NORWOOD, Jan. 30 (ENS) — The Sunday School Board of the United Church held its annual meeting a short time ago, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Caskey.

The financial report of the year's operation was read by the treasurer, showing all accounts paid and a cash balance of $109 on hand. This favorable situation was due for the most part to successful play put on in the spring which netted $118. It was decided to bring the missionary and maintenance contributions for the year up to $60, the same as last year.

After some discusion regarding the condition of the curtains in the Sunday School the following committee was appointed to consider the possibility of dying the curtains and to take whatever action they might consider advisable: Mrs. J. Bidault Wins 3 Votes On Tax Issue

Suffers Big Setback With Tie Vote On Vital Budget Item

PARIS, Jan. 31 — (AP) — Premier George Bidault's three-month-old coalition cabinet squeaked through three votes of confidence on his tax demands today but suffered an unexpected setback with a tie vote on a vital part of the 1950 budget.

The official tally was 293 to 293. By this the National Assembly refused to adopt the cabinet's figure of 1,095,000,000,000 francs (about $3,120,000,000) for non-military expenses of the government.

Bidault was not obliged to resign because of the tie. To force him to resign the combined opposition—Communists, De Gaullists and Right Wingers—would have needed an absolute majority, or 311 votes.

The tie vote, on the heels of three confidence votes he won in quick succession on other budget issues, was not considered by parliamentary observers as particularly dangerous to Bidault. They said some formula to solve the issue would be found.

A fifth vote of confidence demanded by Bidault on his budget as a whole, was scheduled at 10 a.m. EST.,

Bidault won the first vote of the day 299 to 292.

It came on the first of five confidence votes he had demanded to override action by the French parliament's Upper House, the council of the Republic, which had rejected several government-proposed tax boosts. Bidault had threatened to resign and precipitate a government crisis unless his 2,237,000,000 franc ($6,200,000,000 balanced budget for 1950 was approved.

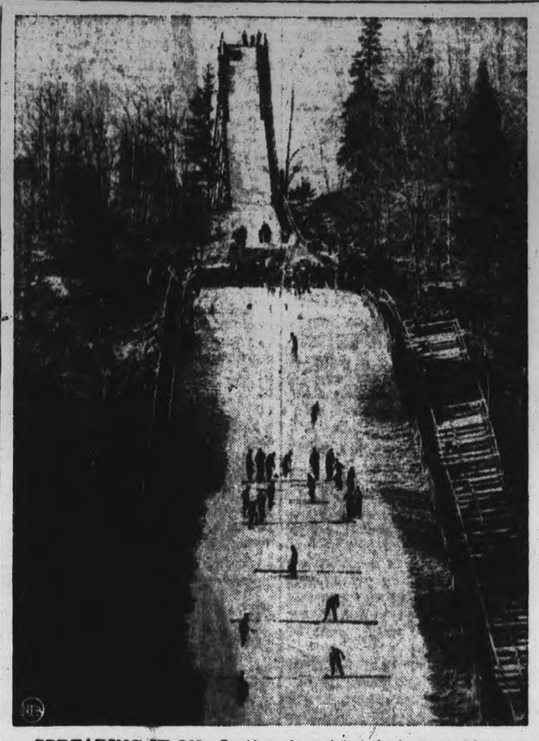
The first vote upheld Bidault's proposal for an increase in the production tax—from 12.5 to 13.5 per cent—designed to bring in about 45,000,000,000 francs (about $130,000,000) in revenue.

An adverse vote on any of the confidence ballots threatened to bring the resignation with the possibility of an ensuing national election at which members of the assembly would risk their seats.

Bidault won a second vote of confidence by a wider margin of 301 to 293 on his proposal to restore a tax of 10 per cent on undistributed corporation profits This is estimated by the government to bring in 17,000,000,000 francs (more than $40,000,000).

Cottage Thefts Blamed On Trio

LINDSAY, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Three Quebec men, relased from a Toronto jail Saturday, were remanded Monday to Feb. 6 on charges of breaking, entering and theft at three Haliburton county cottages and attempted theft of an automobile. They asked that an interpreter be obtained for the trial.



Jacques Goulet, 21, Sorel; Pierre Le Brun, 21, Visitation, and Clement Martin, 24, St. Adolphe de Howard, are charged with stealing a car from Oshawa, Ont., driving to Grindstone Lake, Haliburton, attempting to enter three summer homes and breaking into three others

Live Pig In Basement Parliament Buildings

TORONTO, Jan. 31—(CP)—Employees in the basement of the provincial parliament buildings are being bothered by a pork surplus—there's a live pig in the basement. He's in a crate of course but he has to be fed milk from a baby's bottle.

The pig was sent to P. Rhynas, Chief of the Division of Operation Personnel of the Department of Lands and Forests. Somebody in Kenora sent the animal but the sender's name can't be deciphered.

Mr. Rhynas, who is in Sudbury with Anglers and Hunter's Federation, has been told he has the pig waiting for him in the vault. He has been asking for instructions.

SPREADING IT ON—In the almost total absence of snow, workmen pack pulverized ice on the Intervales ski jump at Lake Placid, N.Y., in preparation for the International Ski Federation's world championships which began Monday. The ski run, used in the 1932 Olympics, has seats for 4,000 spectators and can accommodate 10,000 viewers.

Truman Orders Scientists Develop Hydrogen Bomb

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—The Senate-House of Representatives Atomic Committee gave strong indication today that it is about to recommend that the United States develop the dread hydrogen bomb. The cost of such a development scheme has been estimated variously up to $4,000,000,000. Most speculation is that President Truman will order it.

A committee majority appeared ready to give its backing to the president in any such decision.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today told the Atomic Energy Commission to work on the "so-called hydrogen or super-bomb."

The committee has assembled testimony from top atomic, military and scietific leaders. It has had the H-bomb under continuous investigation and consideration for at least four months.

Up to now, it is understood, there has been no call for any show of hands to determine how each of the 18 committee members feel about developing the bomb, reported capable of eight to 1,000 times as much power as the present devastating atomic weapon.

But there is no doubt that the majority feels that the United States must, for its own protection, go ahead as rapidly as possible and try to develop a new weapon.

His Decision

President Truman told a press conference last Friday that the decision on development of the H-bomb is his alone to make and that the decision had not yet been made. His statement had the immediate effect of bringing out into the open for the first time mention of the hydrogen bomb by name by key U.S. atomic and congressional leaders.

Among them was Senator Millard Tydings (Dem. Md.), chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Services Committee and a member of the Atomic Committee. He told reporters Monday

Heavy Snowfall Across Ontario

TORONTO, Jan. 31.—(CP). — The first heavy snow in Southern Ontario in 1950 fell during the night. A blanket of from three to eight inches was general from Sault Ste. Marie to the Ottawa area.

The snow started in Windsor about 8 p.m. and reached Central Ontario around midnight. Northeasterly winds which accompanied the storm caused considerable drifting. But the Ontario Department of Highways reported most roads blown clear. All had been plowed and sanded.

The peak of the storm, which will move into Quebec and the Maritimes later today, had passed Western and Central Ontario by mid-morning and was expected to stop during the afternoon. Skies will remain overcast, however, and light flurries may occur in some districts, forecasters said.

Canadian Flier Rescues 2 Scientists In Antarctic

ABOARD THE JOHN BISCOE, Argentine Islands, Jan. 31—(Reuters)—Flt.-Lt. Peter Borden St. Louis of Ottawa today flew 200 hazardous miles to rescue two of five British scientists who have been marooned on Stonington Island in the Antarctic for more than three years.

Six other scientists have been on the island for two years.

St. Louis, a veteran bush pilot picked especially by Sir Miles Clifford, governor of the Falkland Islands, for the tedious rescue job, piloted his Canadian-built Norseman emphibious plane from the Argentine base to Stonington, Britain's most southerly outpost.

The Canadian flier, on special leave from the RCAF, brought back T. M. Randall, radio operator, and B. Stonehouse, meteorologist—both of Yorkshire, England—who had first priority for rescue.

Though now fit, they have been ill for periods during the last year.

Unable to land in a prepared pool at Stonington island because of ice, Pilot St. Louis landed in a fjord eight or 10 miles away.

Bringing not even a toothbrush with them, Randall, Stonehouse and J. S. Huckle, general assistant who hails from Dorset, England, rowed in a small boat for three hours, through a maze of icefloes to the rescue plane.

Randall and Stonehouse went aboard, and as two men were needed to row the boat back to base, Maj. K. S. Pierce-Butler, a leader of the Falkland Island dependencies survey on which the marooned scientists were engaged, went back with Hurkle to take over radio operator duties. Pierce-Butler had accompanied St. Louis on the flight.

Injured Pilot Fights Way In Deep Snow

Rescue Units Sent To Get 5 Men; No Trace of Transport

WHITEHORSE, Yukon, Jan. 31 — (AP)—A rescue party backtracking on an heroic search party's trail through waist-deep snow, early today reached five other crash survivors as the great C-54 plane search pressed on.

The survivors, three reported injured and the other two "all right," were being brought to a military camp hospital.

Their twin-engined Dakota plane crashed 21 miles south of this Yukon base Monday while engaged with more than 50 other planes in the search for a missing U.S. Air Force C-54 transport with 44 persons aboard. The rescue party slogged through five miles of waist deep snow to get to the survivors.

Their fate remained unknown until the pilot, Lieut. Charles R. Harden, his face broken and bleeding and his foot crippled, fought his way through thick woods and waist-deep snow to the Carr-Cross Highway, 21 miles south of here. There his feeble flashlight signal was spotted by two civilian employees of the U.S. Engineers who took him to White Horse.

Go Into Action

Rescue facilities which have been poised for nearly five days awaiting discovery of a missing transport with 44 persons aboard swung into action.

Major W. Benedict of the USAAF, pilot, and Sqd. Ldr. G. E. Nickerson of Winnipeg, co-pilot, on night patrol in another Dakota, spotted the wreck about midnight. They said they saw signal fires burning in the brush but could not determine to what extent the plane was damaged.

A search party with food and medical supplies headed out into the sub-Arctic darkness to find the plane.

Before they left, the dramatic story of the injured pilot's trek began to unfold.

Pilot Sets Out

The crash occurred at 10:16 a.m. and for several hours the six men aboard waited for sign of another search craft. Then the pilot, despite his painful injuries, struck out through the deep snow and thick forest. As the early night closed in, he reached the highway where the two civilian employees came across him.

Meanwhile, the big air search for the missing transport went on, although, there was mounting despair for the safety of the 34 military personnel, eight crew members, an expectant mother and her small son who were aboard.

2 Canadian Ships Join Manoeuvres

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 — (CP). — Two ships of the Canadian Navy will manoeuvre with units of the British Fleet in the Caribbean late in March, winding up a two-month training cruise by the Canadian ships.

The aircraft carrier Magnificent and the destroyed Micmac will make the trip, naval headquarters announced today.

The Magnificent, now at Bermuda, will take the 18th Carrier Air Group, comprising two squadrons of Firefly fighters, on the cruise.

Commodore K. F. Adams of the Magnificent will command the Canadian ships. The Micmac will be commanded by her captain, Lt.-Cmdr. F. C. Frewer of Toronto.

The frigate Swansea, under It.-Cmdr. J. P. T. Dawson of Montreal, will accompany the flotilla on the first leg of the cruise when it leaves Halifax February 13. The Swansea, however, will go on to Nassau, Bahamas, and return to Halifax at the end of February

The training cruise to the West Indies is carried out every year by RCN ships. It is designed to give the crews practice in shipboard and fleet manoeuvres.

Ask Permanent Support For Farm Prices

Afraid Unemployment Will Be More Serious If Farm Buying Down

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 31—(CP) — Government price supports for farm products stood out today as the main topic of the 14th annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

H. H. Hannam, of Ottawa, introduced the question in his presidential address, prepared for delivery at the opening session of the two-day meeting, when he called for permanent support as a necessary step to a proper balance in the national economy.

The subject was to the front in closed pre-convention meetings of the federation's directors who boiled down a lengthy list of resolutions. It was a prime topic among delegates in informal talks.

Mr. Hannah, in his 10th presidential address today, said that unemployment in Canada, already cause for concern, will "rapidly become much more serious" if farm purchasing power continues to decline.

Worst To Come

He estimated that if conditions which prevailed in 1929-33 returned in the next four years, unemployment figures would soar to 1,500,000.

He said there "very probably" was a direct connection between tumbling farm prices and increase in the number of unemployed, estimated officially last week at more than 300,000.

"We believe that the Canadian economy can be maintained on a lower price basis," he said. "But we must protest the forcing down of farm prices from 1949 levels unless and until prices of those goods and services which farmers must buy show a corresponding decline."

Grim Outlook

Mr. Hannam said Canadian farmers faced a grim market outlook in 1950 following loss of United Kingdom food contracts and poor markets from countries fed on Marshall Plan dollars. Growing surpluses and declining prices in the United States also were bound to have an adverse effect.

He called for sympathetic and fair consideration of the situation from labor and industry now "enjoying peak prosperity". Their support of government emergency action could prevent "the fastening of an injustice upon large sections of our farming industry."

Huskies Kill Lad 6, In Yard

FLIN FLON, Man., Jan. 31—(CP)—Six-year-old Garry Lawrence Bielby died in hospital Monday night after being mauled by two Husky dogs. He also suffered from exposure. His mother, Mrs. Leslie Bielby, had sent him out into the back yard to gather firewood. About an hour later, neighbor Gunnar Johanneson, saw the two dogs mauling him. He found the boy lying in the snow, his clothes torn from his partially-frozen body and scattered about the yard. Garry was nearly unconscious. The fatal attack came less than a year after residents of this northern Manitoba town petitioned that the two dogs be destroyed. The petitioners said the dogs were "a menace" and had bitten "several children."

Several hours after the attack, the two dogs were destroyed by their owner, C. C. Boutellier.

Plan Joint War Memorials To Men Missing In Action

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—(CP)—Thousands of Commonwealth fighting men who died and found no graves in the Second World War are going to have their own joint memorials, both in the lands they defended and the lands where they fought. The Imperial War Graves Commission announced today that two of a proposed series of memorials will be erected in Canada and others in the United Kingdom, New Zealand, Malta, Hong Kong, France, Norway, Italy, Greece, and elsewhere.

They will commemorate the airmen who plunged into the sea or on land and never were found, the seamen who went down with their ships, the soldiers who never came back from patrols or who vanished in the cauldron of action.

The Commission, guardian of war cemeteries scattered across the globe, gave no indication of where the two memorials will be built in Canada or the form they will take.

The chief naval memorials will be in the UK, linked with the memorials of the First World War at Chatham, Plymouth and Portsmouth, and there will be three smaller memorials at Lee-on-Solent, Liverpool, and Lowestof in addition to one in Canada and one in New Zealand.

In War Cemeteries

Armies will be remembered by campaigns, and most of the memorials will be in war cemeteries. In Europe, the sites chosen are Trondheim in Norway, Dunkirk and Bayeux in France, Nijmegen in Holland, Cassino in Italy, and Athens in Greece.

Canadian soldiers are buried in both the Bayeux and Nijmegen cemeteries.

The principal memorial in Africa will be at El Alamein.

In Asia there will be memorials at two cemeteries in Iraq and Persia, at Beirut, at Singapore, and at Saiwan Bay, Hong Kong.

Canadian soldiers are also buried at Hong Kong.

The largest memorial to the Air Forces will be at Cooper's Hill overlooking Runnymede, bearing the names of all those lost during operations from bases in the UK and Northwest Europe.

Truman Calls 70-Day Truce

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) —President Truman today called for a 70-day truce in the coal-mining deadlock while Presidential fact-finders investigate.

He proposed to act outside the union-hated federal Taft-Hartley Labor Act, following the same pattern he used in last year's steel strike.

In messages to the United Mine Workers and leading operator groups, Truman asked that they agree to:

1. 70 days of full coal production beginning Feb. 6.

2. An investigation by a Presidential board of three which would be under instructions to make recommendations within 60 days for a settlement of the mining contract dispute.

Neither side would be bound to accept the board's recommendations.

The President asked for replies to his proposal by noon, Saturday, Feb. 4.

Guards, Police Seek 2 Burwash Prisoners

SUDBURY, Jan. 31 (CP) — Guards and police today sought two prisoners, who escaped from Burwash Industrial Farm Monday afternoon. The two, George A. King, 29, and Donald William Lammont, 27, escaped while cutting cordwood at Shepherd Lake, near Camp No. 1. They disappeared into the heavy underbrush about 2 p.m.

Native of Mount Forest, Ont., King was sentenced to Guelph on Nov. 25, 1949, to 12 months definite and six months indefinite on a charge of car theft.

Lammont, originally from Nova Scotia, was sentenced at Kenora on Nov. 28, 1949, to 12 months definite and six months indefinite for breaking and entering with intent to rob. He was also charged with being a common nuisance.

Burwash officials said today that John W. Butts, 27, who escaped Friday, surrendered to guards a few hours later.

Italian Quintuplets Fail To Survive

LUCCA, Italy, Jan. 31 (AP)—Quintuplet girls were born Saturday to a 30-year-old Lucca housewife, but none survived.

Two of the seven-month premature babies were still-born and the remaining three died within a few hours of their birth the hospital reported.

The mother, Maria Bianchi, is doing well, the hospital said.

British Vessel Saves 8 In Crew

ROTTERDAM, The Netherlands, Jan. 31 (AP)—The 743-ton German ship S.S. Fidamus has sunk near the German island Borkum, the British tug Rumania reported by radio today.

The radio message, picked up here, said the Rumania rescued eight survivors and that a search for eight other missing crew members was continuing.

The tug, 45 miles northwest of Bremerhaven, Germany, radioed "Please come with all speed. Survivors floating in water around us."

The Coast Guard here said the message was intercepted by the Cutter Bibb on its weather patrol in the North Atlantic.

The Bibbs said the radio message was rebroadcast from German station DAN at 8:48 a.m. and that the message from the Rumania, a 592-ton vessel, was sent at 8:42 a.m., EST.

Want Bigger Slice

SAULT STE. MARIE, Jan. 31—(CP)—The city wants a bigger slice of the $5 fee for marriage licences. Alderman Anthony Nino drew applause from City Council Monday night when he tabled a resolution that the city ask the province to reduce the licences to the municipality by $1. At present the city only receives $1 and does most of the office work, he explained. "It won't lessen the cost of the marriage ticket to the grooms-to-be, however," he said.

Escape Starvation In North Trapper, Family Return

THE PAS, Man., Jan. 31—(CP) —A family of four is preparing to return to the remote northland cabin where, two weeks ago, starvation nearly struck them down.

Trapper Wally Lund, his wife and their two children—flown to hospital here—now are fully recovered. Lund says he's eager to return home to Neulton Lake, 200 miles northwest of the Hudson Bay port of Churchill, Man.

His frantic efforts to get food for his ailing family is little more than a memory.

On Jan. 17, when the larder ran bare, Lund set out by dog team for Duck Lake, three days away, with two Chipewyan Indians. The radio-telephone there turned out to be not working.

However Trader Schweder told them they could intercept a Canadian army tractor train which was going towards Ennedair Lake. The troops put them in touch with Churchill via portable radio-telephone.

An aircraft then tried to pick up Lund and fly to Neulton Lake for his family, but was forced back by snowstorms. Lund fearing his family would starve, sent the two Indians back to Neulton Lake loaded with supplies.

Two days later the plane got through and took the Lunds to Fort Churchill. It was found they were suffering from chest congestions.

In the meantime, some 50 Chipewyans are awaiting Lund's return with complete fishing gear. The Indians are existing as did Lund and his family, on trout and whitefish.

Porter Makes Strong Plea Keep Control

If Rent Restrictions Lifted, Will Mean Hardship In Ontario

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—(CP)—Attorney-General Dana Porter of Ontario today made a strong plea that the Supreme Court of Canada find Federal rent controls valid.

Only parliament, he told the court, has the "competency" to judge whether there is a national emergency in Canada.

None of the provinces—neither Quebec nor Saskatchewan or any other province—had this "competency." None was capable of judging whether there was an emergency which required federal controls.

He thus disputed the stand taken by the Province of Quebec and property owners that an emergency did not exist and that the controls are invalid.

Mr. Porter asked the court to give a simple answer of "No" to the Federal Government question put before it:

"Are the Wartime Leasehold Regulations ultra vires either in whole or in part and if so in what particular or to what extent?"

Supports Varcoe

The Provincial Attorney-General — the only one appearing before the court — gave his full support to F. P. Varcoe, Federal Deputy Minister of Justice, who preceded him in giving argument before the court.

Mr. Varcoe had answered a court question by saying that only Parliament had the power to judge whether there was a national emergency in Canada. The court did not have this right.

Mr. Porter said that if the controls were suddenly lifted it would create great hardship in Ontario

U.S. Missouri Won't Budge

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 31—(CP) —All 14 United States Navy's tugs in a mighty pull couldn't get the battleship Missouri off a Chesapeake Bay mud flat early today. A two-hour effort to free the stranded 45,000-ton warship was officially called off at 7.32 a.m., by a terse message from the Missouri's bridge:

"The pull is over. Prepare to pull again tomorrow."

The tugs had churned the calm seas to a muddy coffee color before being ordered to retire.

Wind Dies Down

Failure of the effort was attributed largely to the fact that northeast winds died down during the night and a tide higher than normal did not develop.

The navy had looked for six inches of extra water above the anticipated 27-foot depth. It didn't develop but the navy went ahead anyway.

There was an occasional shudder aboard the giant ship but she made no movement over the bottom of the shoal where she grounded Jan. 16.

Three Badly Injured In Furnace Explosion

TORONTO, Jan. 31 —(CP)—A husband and wife were severely injured and an aged woman rescued from her sick bed when fire raced through a north end home today following a furnace explosion.

At the hospital it was reported the wife may be dying.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Finlayson were taken to Sunnybrook Military Hospital in serious condition

Mrs. J. Noble, 87, was saved when a neighbor, Mrs. A. Thurston, dashed into the house, after the explosion, and carried her to safety.

Firemen were forced to smash down the front door and knocked a hole in the cellar wall for the stretcher carrying Mrs. Finlayson. Although the furnace was wrecked, most of the house was saved.

Driver Trapped By Train In Crushed Car

RIPLEY, Jan. 31 (CP)—Trapped so tightly in the wreck of his automobile that it took a train locomotive to pull away part of the debris to release him, Ernest M. Pollock died in nearby Kincardine Hospital late Monday, four hours after a level crossing crash here.

The 57-year-old Huron township farmer had both legs and one arm badly mangled and possibly suffering internal injuries, but Dr. J. B. Tindall reported that death was due to shock. An inquest is undecided.

Three blood transfusions were given by neighbors in a vain effort to save his life.

Pollock was driving north on his way home when his car collided with the engine of a CNR freight as it was pulling into Ripley station from Kincardine seven miles away. Rolled over by the impact, the car was carried 100 yards along the tracks before it was wedged against a switch.

Combined efforts of a dozen men failed to free Pollock from the crushed auto. Then a chain was attached to the locomotive and one crumpled side of the car Engineer Norman Williams of Palmerston eased back on the throttle and the auto wreck was partly dismantled.

Still conscious, Pollock was able to mumble his thanks as rescuers lifted him out and into an ambulance. Fred Bloor of Kincardine was conductor of the train.

All Hands Safe On Missing Ship

LIVERPOOL, NS, Jan. 31 (CP) —The motor vessel Atlantic Salvage, with five men aboard and more than 24 hours overdue on a voyage from Halifax, entered this south shore harbor town early today reporting all hands safe

Capt. Albert Lloyd said he had put into a cove about 20 miles from Liverpool to wait out a gale that whipped across Nova Scotia's south shore during the week-end.

"We were more worried about the worry we were causing others than about ourselves," the skipper said.

An air-and-sea search had already been launched for the missing 50-foot vessel. An RCAF plane joined several small ships in the hunt on Monday. Planes had been prepared to resume the search today, together with additional ships.

The Atlantic Salvage put out of Halifax Saturday and was due here Sunday night. Recently purchased by the Hudson's Bay Company for northern supply duty, the vessel made the 100-mile run to Liverpool to be outfitted for far-north operations.

$60,000 Fire Razes Office And Warehouse

HAMILTON, Jan. 31—(CP)—Damage estimated at $50,000-$60,000 was caused early today by fire which destroyed the office and warehouse of Frank Brothers. The building was completed a month ago and the warehouse had just been filled with steel.

The blaze, which broke out during a driving snowstorm, was discovered by the watchman at a nearby building. When firemen arrived, flames were shooting through the roof.

Get Forestry Stations

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP) — Ontario forestry stations are being established at Kemptville and Fort William, Lands Minister Scott announced Monday. Extensions were made recently to stations at St. Williams, Orono and Midhurst. Production of trees has increased from 10,000,000 in 1947 to 19,500,000 in 1949, a statement from the minister's office said. It is expected to reach 30,000,000 by 1952.

January, which began over Southern Ontario like spring, is ending more seasonably. Some three to eight inches of snow fell over the southern regions Monday night, and there was considerable drifting. Main cause of this blessing to winter sports was a disturbance which developed over Ohio and moved rapidly towards the New England states. Considerable jet-up in intensity is expected over Ontario and slackening winds tonight will end the drifting.

Temperatures will be seasonably cold tonight, ranging from 10 to 15 above in the lower lakes regions to 10 to 20 below in Northern Ontario Temperatures will continue to moderate slowly over Northern Ontario on Wednesday as winds become more southerly.

Although the present picture is not yet clear-cut there are indications of more snow for Southern Ontario on Wednesday.

Airliner Makes Rush Landing

BOSTON, Jan. 31 (AP) — A German-bound airliner with 39 passengers aboard returned to Boston Monday night from 75 miles at sea when smoke from an undetermined cause filled the cockpit. The pilot landed the plane safely at Logan Airport as fire and crash apparatus stood by Capt. John Hennessey, in command of the American overseas airliner Constellation, said the plane was 15 minutes out of Boston and flying at 15,000 feet when smoke poured into the cockpit.

He said the eight crew members put on oxygen masks, descended to 1,500 feet and shut off some hydraulic equipment.

"That seemed to fix it," he said, "there was no evidence of fire, there was no damage."

Industrials Continue Climb On Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Industrials climbed for the second successive session on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Ford Motor of Canada A held the limelight on the big board following an increase and extra dividend declaration.

Volume for the first three hours was 396,000 shares.

Ford A ballooned to a new high at 28 in heavy trading but settled at 27¾, a gain of 3 following a board of directors meeting late Monday which reported that the company had completed the best year in its history and also announced a quarterly dividend of 50 cents plus an extra of $1. Dividends during the last two years were 25 cents plus 25 cents extra each quarter.

Papers also attracted some attention for fractional advances and foods and utilities were also strong.

The mining board barely moved. Golds weakened from opening firmness with junior producers showing losses ranging up to 10 cents. Consolidated Smelters dipped a fraction in base metals and Labrador, Falconbridge and Steep Rock also eased.

Western oil stocks continued under pressure for a second day.

Capture Suspect 19 After 300-Mile Chase

KIRKLAND LAKE, Jan. 31 — (CP)—After a 300-mile car chase by police from Hearst to Kapuskasing to Cochrane to Kirkland Lake, 19-year-old Jean Marie Beaudoin of Hearst was arrested here early today by Constable Ray Marchand of Hearst on a charge of theft of $400.

Beaudoin is alleged to have stolen the $400 from a friend, Jean Paul Reveille of Hearst who had been keeping him, feeding him and clothing him for four months at his home.

Beaudoin is said to have stolen the money Monday and taken a taxi to Kapuskasing where he changed taxis to go to Cochrane. There he changed taxis again to travel to Kirkland Lake.

Police Track Youths In Snow For Arrest

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Police early today captured at gunpoint two youths they had tracked through the snow after a break-in at a west-end garage.

Constables Roy Herder and John Reid, in plain clothes, had been assigned to keep watch on garages following an epidemic of such entries. One shot was fired during the chase.

Anthony DeLuca and Patric Tanzola, both 22, were charged with breaking and entering.

Begin Discussion Of Greater Toronto Plan

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Mayors and reeves of 13 municipalities involved in Greater Toronto's proposed metropolitan plan have started discussions on unification. They broke up their first meeting Monday night without committing themselves.

After two hours of informal debate there was little comment regarding the main issue under discussion—the status of transportation in Toronto and suburbs.

Mayor Hiram McCallum, of Toronto, said that with the inevitable growth of Greater Toronto area, privately-operated bus companies in some municipalities would grow big. To try to buy them out in order to coordinate transportation "would "cost a fortune," he said.

Several mayors and reeves said they saw no fault with the present transportation setup in their respective areas—except that there were recurrent demands for a single fare.

The Toronto Board of Control Monday proposed progressive amalgamation of Toronto with Mimico, Long Branch, New Toronto, Swansea, Weston, Forest Hill, York, North York, East York, Leaside and sections of Etobicoke and Scarboro.

Nearly A Million

Toronto's population now is about 700,000. With amalgamation it would be nearly 1,000,000.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar said today that the Toronto Board of Control is "premature" in moving for amalgamation. He told an interviewer:

"I should have thought that the city would have waited until the committee of mayors and reeves had met."

Nathan Phillips, Toronto alderman, said he is opposed to the amalgamation. Supporters of amalgamation had no estimate of what the move would cost the city nor had city council any mandate from the people on the question. He charged that the plan is tantamount to placing a mortgage for an unknown amount on every Toronto home.

Deny Two Children Have Been Kidnapped

HAMILTON, Jan. 31 (CP) — Reports that two children had been kidnapped in Caledonia were proved to be unfounded today when it was learned from a reliable source that the children are safe in the hands of relatives.

The source declined to be identified or to give details.

Police said the children, Patrick Rice, 2, and his brother, Michael, 3, were spirited away Monday from the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rice.

They disappeared in a green automobile. Later, Mrs. Rice, the grandmother, received a telephone call from a woman who said she was Mrs. Gwendolyn Rice of Niagara Falls, Ont., mother of the children. The woman, said to be separated from her husband, told the grandmother that the children would be given good care.

The children's father, Garth Rice, is working in Toronto. Custody of the children has not been settled.

Gardiner Gives Account Of Job

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 31 (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner said today the future of the Canadian farmer, "so far as the sale of surpluses are concerned," could be determined by policies now followed by Britain and the United States.

Natural markets for most of Canada's five major farm products—wheat, hogs, cattle, milk, and eggs—still are in those countries, he told the 14th annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

His prepared address summarized the agricultural picture during his 14 years as Federal Minister, stressed conditions in the four-year periods before and after the Second World War.

On price support for farm products, he recalled the government already had announced the Prices Support Act of 1944 will be amended at the next session of Parliament to remove the restriction that it apply only during the transition period from war to peace.

Mr. Gardiner said the British policy affected Canada most directly because of its determination to build up a dollar reserve of $2,000,000,000 by 1952.

U.S. Army Sends Men, Equipment To Sault

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP) —The United States army will send men and equipment to guard the canal locks at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., when Michigan makes living quarters available, it was learned today.

The army has the men, about 900, and the basic weapons for the job, but no place to put them. The State has told the army that it will make room by moving some 600 mental patients from the old army hospital on the outskirts of the city.

Army plans call for the move to be made before the end of this year. The personnel will live in the hospital and adjacent barracks.

The army planned to return to the upper peninsula last year, but postponed action until Michigan could arrange other accommodations for the patients in the State institution.

Russian Guards Cut Berlin Truck Traffic

HELMSTEDT, Germany, Jan. 31. (AP).—Russian border guards cut down truck traffic between Berlin and West Germany again today in an apparent move to re-impose the on-again, off-again "little blockade."

Monday and Sunday — when truck traffic was light—the Soviet guards at this zonal border check point dropped the rigid inspections that had cut down truck traffic to a trickle for eight days. This morning, however, trucks began to pile up in long queues at the barrier.

Western German customs officials reported that Soviet guards were passing only five Berlin-bound trucks an hour—well below the normal traffic.

Better Livestock Keynote At Conference

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP)— Improved production is the keynote of various Ontario livestock associations which opened annual meetings here Monday.

Aberdeen-Angus, Shorthorn, and Swine Breeders met Monday, and Jersey and Ayrshire Breeders' Associations open today. In each case the emphasis will be on increased efficiency and high quality.

Recommendation that annual beef sales be held at some point west of Toronto was made by Harold White, secretary, who said that 80 per cent of the Shorthorn stock comes from west of the city.

Have Better Pigs

At the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association it was pointed out that advanced registry commands more attention than it did previously, and that better pigs are being produced.

The premier award for Yorkshires in Ontario was presented to Sam Gallagher and his son, of Alliston

Chief speakers at the Aberdeen-Angus meetings were A. C. MacTaggart, president, and Paul Fisher, conservationist from Burlington, Ont., who said that soil conservation is an important part of beef production, as of all other types of farming.

The Shorthorn Association will hold its annual sale at the Coliseum in the Exhibition Grounds today with other breed sales to follow. The Aberdeen-Angus spring sale was set for May 4 at nearby Woodbridge

It disappeared after making a routine radio report at Snag, Yukon, while on a flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Great Falls, Mont.

For the first time, the mercury dipped below zero Sunday night and officials said if any one of the plane were still alive Monday night the "cold would hurt them plenty."

Fog, snow and sleet Monday "blacked out" the most probably search area, 40 miles south of here, where a loud explosion was reported last Thursday about the time the big plane vanished.

Troops commanded by Col. F. S. Bowen, dropped all preparations for Exercise Sweetbriar, scheduled next month in the area, and began searching the area. Their main objective was 6,469-foot Mt. Caribou, five miles north of Carcross.

"It's a long time since I was in Peterborough," Red remarked, "and it gives me a wonderful feeling to know that I am still remembered there and that my friends want to help this way."

Back-Bush Deer Slaughter; Guilty Man Brought To Bay

An account of the slaughter of six deer was told in police court today in the trial of Stanley E. Lonsberry, 21, Warsaw, who pleaded guilty to three charges concerned with deer hunting. Sentence was defereed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, until three other trials centred around the same hunting spree were heard. One of the four charged, Wilbert Bauder, 21, of Kingston, pleaded guilty to carrying a rifle in the Peterborough Crown Game Preserve Jan. 7 and was fined $100.

Everett Lee and Richard Clark who both live outside Warsaw face three charges each. Their trials are being heard this afternoon.

Lonsberry pleaded guilty to three charges: transporting two deer during the closed season; assaulting Game Overseer Ray Simpson with intent to escape lawful apprehension; and a similar charge involving Game Overseer C. Stanley Windsor.

Two charges against Bauder which were withdrawn by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw were having possession of deer in the closed season and hunting deer with a rifle without a permit.

Overseers Trace Tracks

Three Game Overseers, Ray Simpson, Robert Trotter and Stanley Windsor told a story of catching two of a car load of four hunters Jan. 7 and tracing their tracks through the Game Preserve and finding that six deer had been shot, five in one afternoon.

Officer Windsor said he found a car parked on the Kosh Lake road about 100 yards outside the Game Preserve. He saw tracks of four men leading north-west into the Game Preserve. He called on the other two Game Overseers and togther they set up to search points on the road in the afternoon about three miles south of the car.

Officer Windsor said he went to a point about 300 yards farther along the road from the other two Overseers. About eight p.m. he heard a car horn blow and then saw the lights of an approaching car.

Had To Jump

He said he stepped out into the roadway, dressed in his uniform, and with flashlight tried to wave down the approaching car, but it continued its pace of about 50 miles an hour. When the was only fifteen feet away, Officer Windsor had to jump out of the way to avoid being hit.

A short time before, Officer Simpson had the same experience. In two cars the officers chased the hunters' car. When it turned down a side road, it ran into a ditch and three of the men got out and pushed it to get going again. As Officer Trotter came along, he saw one of the men leave the car and start across a field.

Crouched in Swamp

He waved Windsor's car on and took out after the one man. He found Bouder crouching under a bush in a cedar swamp. In the meantime the fleeing car was stopped by a barred gate across the road and Officer Windsor found Lonsberry behind the wheel of the car. In the car were four rifles and two deer carcasses.

The following day Officers Trotter and Simpson backtracked on the tracks made by the four men and found evidence of four deer having been shot. The next Wednesday they found the carcasses of two more deer, one half-eaten by wolves. Several empty shells were found near the points where the deer had been found shot, which fitted the rifles found in the car.

"If we build the bomb, that advantage, or at worst equilibrium of great destructive armaments will combine to act as a deterrent to the outbreak of another war."

2 Girl Hitch-Hikers Held For Stealing

HAMILTON, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Two hitch-hiking young girls from Toronto, who invaded Wallingford Hall at McMaster University Monday, pleaded guilty today in court to charges of stealing. They will be sentenced tomorrow.

The girls gave their names as Cora Fisher and Joyce Blasy.

Bird Box Contest Up In Air

Whether the bird house building contest, sponsored for the last several years by the Peterborough Fish and Game Association, will be operated again this year hinges on the ways and means committee of the association. The association agreed Monday to hold the contest if the financial position of the club allows.

Cam Rowatt, past president, told the association that the contest helps the work of the club in their juvenile education on conservation of game and song birds

Mr. Rowatt urged the association to start the contest earlier this year, if at all. He reminded them that if it was not started early it would interfere with the school manual training plans. A careful notification of the contest to the schools would help the contest, he said. Last year some of the schools were not notified of the contest either by telephone or by letter.

Last year the bird house contest cost the association $168. President Jack Baldwin suggested that perhaps the association couldn't afford the contest this year in their present financial position. Mr. Rowatt suggested that the association try to get sponsors to back the club.

Britain Ready To Make Deal

LONDON, Jan. 31 — (CP). — A Treasury spokesman said today that Britain would be interested in further purchases of Canadian food through the use of blocked sterling balances if it meant Canada would accept sterling as the final payment.

But if such a proposal was merely a method of delaying dollar payment, then he "did not think there would be much in it."

The spokesman was commenting on an article from the Ottawa correspondent of the Times. I said that Canadian farmers were pondering means to meet the problem of a disappearing British market and "one method which suggested itself is to accept payment from Britain of blocked sterling."

The Times correspondent said the suggestion was in an "exploratory stage.'" It had been raised as a possible short-term trading policy which would make no immediate drain on Britain's dollar reserves. It would also enable Canadian food producers to continue to sell agricultural products to Britain until alternative markets develop.

The Federal Government controls were "extraordinary" measures taken because of the Second World War

Now that the war was over, the Federal Government was decontrolling in a reasonable way.

Not Usurping Powers

There could be no "'suspicion" that the Federal Government was trying to usurp powers not rightfully belonging to it.

Lifting of the controls suddenly would mean "widespread hardship under present ronditions."

Ontario did not want to be placed in the position of having to enter a field vacated by another government. It did not want to take over the "'left-overs" of Federal rent controls.

Finally, the province did not want to be put in the position of having to deal with the emergency as it now exists. This was a Federal matter and belonging to the Federal Government.

Parliament's right to judge whether there was an emergency could not be upset even if there was a "substantial opinion" in Canada opposing such right.

Mr. Porter maintained, however, that there was no such "substantial opinion." Most of the opinion in Canada was to the effect that the Federal rent controls had to be maintained.

Calder Candidate For Liberal Leader

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Campbell Calder, Liberal member of the Ontario legislature for London, said today he would stand as a candidate for election as leader for the Ontario Liberal Party.

Here to address a meeting of the Danforth-Beaches Liberal Association tonight, Mr. Calder said the visit is part of his campaign for leadership.

"I have made no secret of the fact I was running for the leadership," he said. "I am going to be in there and stay in there."

USSR Recognizes Red Regime In Indo-China

MOSCOW, Jan. 31 (AP)—Russia today recognized Ho Chi-minh's anti-French Viet Nam Republic in Indo-China and agreed to exchange diplomatic representatives with the Moscow-trained Communist chieftain.

The announcement by Tass, official Soviet news agency, at the same time described the French-supported rival Viet Nam regime of former Emperor Bao Dai as a "puppet government" representing only a "small group of reactionaries."

(The Soviet announcement came only a few hours after a report from Washington said State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States had sent greetings to Bao Dai, expressing the hope of establishing closer relations Diplomatic officials in London said Monday Britain will recognize the Bao Dai government next week and the United States probably would follow suit.

(Ho Chi-minh's guerrilla forces have been fighting the French in Indo-China since Dec. 19, 1946, and control most of the seacoast. The French created the rival Viet Nam government, covering 40 per cent of Indo-China and most of the area's 20,000,000 population.

(The French parliament last Sunday ratified an agreement made last spring with Bao Dai, former Emperor of Annam, placing him at the head of the new government with considerable autonomy. But control of foreign relations and military forces remained with the French who have ruled Indo-China with varying degrees of authority since 1787.)

In Paris, a French official spokesman said that Russia's recognition of Ho Chi-minh regime in Indo-China was "an act of very great gravity."

Radio Audience Holds Slugfest

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31 (AP)—An early morning slugfest between a radio commentator and a weekly newspaper publisher went out over the air Monday—and it's slated for a second airing in Municipal Court today.

The battle took place in Copa City, Miami Beach night club, between Barry Gray, the commentator, and Reuben Clein, the publisher.

Gray charged Clein with assault and battery and Clein charged Gray with assault with a deadly weapon—a microphone.

"You said you were going to retract some vicious statements you made about a weekly newspaper," Clein said as he approached Gray near the end of the program at 2 a.m.

"I have changed my mind," Gray replied.

Listeners heard a "whomp," and then a scuffle. Somebody turned on a hillbilly record.

"He is out cold and he is bleeding pretty badly," Gray said when he returned to the mike. "The cops are on the way to take him away.'

Later Clein said:

"I slapped him a couple of times when he refused to apologize. I didn't want to hurt him. As a walked away, he hit me over the head with his microphone."

Pig Loses Role

CANTON, O., Jan. 31 (AP) — "Smelly Ellie," the pig, no longer is a member of the Canton Players Guild cast presenting "January Thaw" by William Roos. The ham actor, which had a comedy walk-on part in the third act, proved to be too much for the olfactory senses of both the cast and members of the front rows in the audience. A successor—much younger and cleaner — will be chosen.

Co-ordinated Effort of All Required For Better Health

One person out of every 25 in the Peterborough area is sick, Dr. Fred D. Cruikshanks, a member of the Weston Rotary club, chairman of the Ontario Health League and National Industrial Health committee told the Rotary Club Monday. He was speaking on "Human Relations in Industry."

"ARCHANGEL" ARRESTED—Self - styled "Archangel" Michael Verigin, charged with instigating Doukhobor violence in British Columbia, is shown at Vancouver Court House following his arrest at Hilliers, Vancouver Island Doukhobor community of which he is the head. Other leaders arrested at the same time were John Lebedoff, Verigin's secretary, and Joe Podovinikoff of Krestova community, 18 miles north of Nelson.

"Many of the people are discouraged and unable to work. As we look around this industrial community, we cannot help but be aware of a great deal of human misery, disease, accidents, ignoance and malnutrition, all taking their toll."

Canada, he explained, is spending annually more than a billion dollars on account of sickness and accidents. Time lost, through sickness he believes costs Peterborough industry several million a year.

In Canada, by a false tradition, he intimated, the people have become accustomed to look after sickness and donate liberally to build hospitals to accommodate sick people Many of these he asserted need not be ill. Expenditures, for sickness were out of proportion to what is spent on prevention. By way of comparison, he said, for the billion dollars spent annually on illness, the federal and provincial governments spend only $7,000,000 on prevention.

200,000 Ill Every Day

"It took the last way to show us just how unhealthy we are Almost half of the recruits were below category "A" and unfit for active service. Not long ago the Health Minister told us that 50,000 men are absent from work each day due to illness. Add the school children and housewives to this and we have 200,000 in Canada who are daily unable to carry on their vocations due to illness".

A million and a quarter Canadians work in factories, and each average 9½ days per year of lost time due to illness. Many of the club members themselves, he added were among those who lost 12,000,000 days of work last year in Canada.

The philosophy of the Health League of Canada and of the community health services, he said, is that higher standards of health are possible by the co-ordinated effort of all. The Health League, he explained, is now engaged in a great project to start changing these "unhappy figures" by helping industry in establishing medical services.

Industrial medicine is the science of occupational health, he explained. The prime purpose is the prevention of disease and its objective the maintenance of the health of the industrial workers.

Principal features of the well-organized factory medical centre, he intimated, are: up to the minute first aid facilities; necessary equipment for complete pre-employment and periodic examinations; a consulting service for all employees; supervision of factory sanitation; special examinations for executives and key personnel.

Least Healthy Most Important

The least healthy individuals in the industrial set-up, he added, are invariably the most important. Of 500 executives with an average age of 47.4 years (he quoted figures from the examination by Life Extension Institute of New York) 62 per cent were found to have defects requiring medical attention.

"Well-organized medical services in industry reduce sickness absenteeism. It has been shown that if sickness absenteeism is reduced by 50 per cent, production can be increased as much as 15-20 per cent."

The National Association of Manufacturers in the United States studied 1,600 industries with fewer than 500 workers who had well-organized medical services. These showed that sickness absenteeism has been reduced 28 per cent and lost time from accidents and occupational diseases more than 40 per cent. Ninety per cent of them reported better labor relations. The association showed further by the examination that the workers lost $16,000 a year in lost wages and at the same time the company lost $24,000.

"A well-organized medical department in any plant is really profitable. It must not be considered a gift to the worker. It is an operating cost, just as normal advertising, sales promotion or plant maintenance. It is an investment in the future health and vigor of the human part of the factory."

Dr. Cruickshanks was introduced by Roy Girven and thanked by Robert Allen.

Three records of conversations said to have taken place between Collins and a detective hired by Reliable Toy were played before the assize court. The hearing is continuing.

Brighton Ice Rink Next To Be Opened

COBOURG, Jan. 31—(ENS)—A number of rinks which have been in course of construction during the winter are now ready for use. Two weeks ago the Brighton rink was officially and next Saturday is the date set for the opening of the rink in Grafton village.

Those taking part in the opening ceremony will include the Hon. William Goodfellow and Dr. Fred Robertson.

As it is usually cold enough in that part of the county for natural ice, Grafton and Brighton did not go to the expense of putting in artificial ice. Cobourg's artificial ice arena has been in use throughout most of January and will be officially opened in February.

Deny Captain Drunk On Ship

BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 31 (CP)—The International Shipmasters Association of the Great Lakes said Monday there was no basis for a statement attributed to a passenger on the steamship Noronic that the captain was drunk when the vessel burned.

The Noronic, luxury cruise ship of the Canada Steamship Line and largest passenger vessel on the Great Lakes, burned last Sept. 17 at its Toronto pier with a loss of 119 lives.

(The charge that the ship's master, Capt. William Taylor of Sarnia, was drunk at the time of the blaze was made by C. R. Wilson, a passenger aboard the ship, at Cleveland, O., hearing. Both Taylor and the CSL denied it.

(A judicial report by Justice R. L. Kellock of the Supreme Court of Canada, issued last November, did not make a finding on whether drinking had contributed to the loss of life.)

"It is regrettable," the Association said in a resolution, "that a man of Capt. William Taylor's reputation and temperate living be so prejudged"

Fish And Game Discuss Sportsmen's Show

Peterborough should have a sportsmen's show similar to that operated annually in Toronto, Alf Pink suggested at the monthly meeting of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association Monday night. The show, on a small scale than Toronto's, could be run four nights he said.

Mr. Pink offered to contact entertainers and exhibiters while in Toronto attending the show this year, and report back to the association. Cam Rowatt offered to write a letter to the management of the show asking for particulars. He explained that the show cost the Toronto Anglers and Hunters' Association nearly $60,000 before the doors were opened. Even then he added, six businessmen had back it financially should it be a failure.

The members agreed to wait until an answer was received from Mr. Rowatt's letter.

The List Of Subversive Persons

An American immigration official in Washington has said that the Canadian Government has an official list of between 8,000 and 11,000 persons who are considered to be "subversive" in some degree. Commissioner S. T. Wood of the R.C.M.P. denies that this is so. Some people have seized upon this opportunity to excite themselves, declaring that the existence of such a list is in itself a threat to liberty.

* * *

We do not agree. Whether people like to think so or not, every country has a secret service of some kind, and that service has lists of people whose conduct might at some time be prejudicial to the good of the country as a whole. That is what secret service agencies are for. Such lists may include people who are downright wreckers, and others who are merely upholders of unpopular or curious opinions. It is not the job of the secret police to weigh the guilt of these people, but if is their job to know who those people are.

* * *

The possession of such a list by the R.C.M.P. would only be prejudicial to the good of the country if the R.C.M.P. were able to deal with the people on the list in an irresponsible manner. But there are legal checks upon the activity of the secret police, and so long as these are in good working order there is no chance that entirely innocent people will suffer any inconvenience.

The Boss As An Enemy

A curious story reaches us from England, about nine carpenters who were ordered by their union not to cycle from job to job; they were instructed that they must walk or travel by bus. Reason? A union rule of 1924 states that "No member shall provide a cycle of any sort for the purpose of locomotion to or from any of his employer's jobs or works during working hours and members doing so will render themselves liable to be dealt with". In other words, carpenters mustn't hurry. One of the carpenters, a Mr. G. Wills, commented to the press, "This is real restrictive practice; I carry over a hundredweight of tools and on my motorcycle could get from job to job easily and do much more work; this is trade unionism gone mad".

Certainly such a rule seems a queer one in a country which is stressing maximum production, and which has a vast quantity of building to be done. But the rule reflects an attitude which is growing rarer in trade unionism—the belief that the boss is an enemy, and that anything which can be done to hinder him is going to result in a better deal for the worker.

Nothing could be further from the truth. It is the boss who gets the work, and his reputation depends on the kind of job he can do, and the price he can quote. Practices which shove prices up needlessly harm his reputation, and that of the whole trade in which he is engaged. In small business particularly the difference between the boss and his employees is not an unbridgeable one; the boss takes the risks and the responsibilities, and he provides the jobs. Anything that his workers can do to give him a good reputation is to their own benefit.

Power Is Not Inexhaustible

Atomic energy is frequently spoken of as a wonderful new source of power which will revolutionize industry and services in general. Before we indulge ourselves in any elaborate dreams of limitless power, however, we must firmly grasp the fact that as yet atomic power can only be developed through the use of certain rather rare and costly minerals. How rich the world is in these minerals is not known at present, nor do we know how they are distributed over the earth's surface. Atomic energy may be a great source of power for mankind; no one is yet in a position to say positively that it will be.

Nor are our other sources of power inexhaustible, although some of them are in great supply. The most optimistic estimate at present puts the world's supply of petroleum at 13,000,000,000 gals. which is deemed to be enough for the next thirty years at the present rate of consumption. New petroleum may be discovered, but hardly in quantity to make a great difference to this estimate.

There is enough coal still in existence to last the world for about a thousand years. It is not distributed in such a way, of course, that every country can depend on an equal share. Nevertheless, coal is becoming scarcer, and it will not be long as such things go before its price will begin to mount steeply.

Water power is a source of energy which has the advantage of leaving the supply undiminished. About five per cent. of the world's possible hydro-electric power is being exploited at present. But a really complete exploitation is out of the question. In this connection it may be mentioned that for some decades scientists have worked on the problem of harnessing the tides, to provide energy. As things are at present, however, there are few places in the world where the rise and fall of the tide is great enough to repay the heavy cost of developing it.

The supplies of power in the world are not illimitable, any more than the wealth of our soil is illimitable. It will not be long before the world is forced to take conservation on a global scale very seriously.

National Order In Easy Stages

Premier Frost, speaking to managing editors in conference at Niagara Falls over the week-end, gave the most reassuring statement on Dominion-Provincial relations we have had from any Provincial Premier in the last several years. His attitude was a wholesome change from the policy which his predecessor Mr. Drew followed in and out of season. Mr. Frost believes that the B.N.A. Act is not as shackling as many people think; that within it very large areas of agreement and mutual projects are possible; and that if provincial and federal leaders approach Dominion-Provincial problems co-operatively, the discords can be resolved and the various governments can in unity go forward on nation-wide paths which now seem closed.

As the Premier pointed out, national labour and social welfare action has been taken without revision of the B.N.A. Act, and much more can be achieved when there is a will to do it. A constitution is a statement of fundamentals; it cannot plot details of the future. The lines are laid down in a constitutional document such as the B.N.A. Act; the motives to make it work are not, nor is the machinery established completely. "What we need is to introduce a little spirit of co-operation, good-will, and determination and the machinery to get things done. As far as I am concerned, I would like to start right now."

This is the sort of thing we have been hoping to hear from the Premiers of the provinces for a long time. Because of his office as executive head of the wealthiest province, one of the two provinces most frequently at logger-heads with other Provincial governments and the Federal Government, this is an important statement.

Mr. Frost does not believe that the intricacies of federal-provincial relations are easy, nor that all can be made plain sailing over night. But, given the will to arrive at working agreements, a great deal can be achieved step by step, on specific matters such as integrating a Provincial public works program with Federal plans. "We would be glad", Mr. Frost said, "to fit in to an overall public investment program. If action in unemployment problems is needed. Let us get together right now".

The difficulties of federal-provincial relations have been exaggerated and the remedies minimized, Mr. Frost believes.

"Let us not make the job appear harder than it is. We indulge in altogether too much talk about the great difficulties which are attendant upon making a division of taxing powers and responsibilities.

"The fact is, that if Dominion-provincial conferences were called frequently on specific items, order would evolve out of things in which there has been disorder because of a lack of co-ordination between the efforts of the governments.

"We should emphasize not the difficulties but the practical means that can be taken quickly to meet problems as they arise."

Mr. Frost's assessment of the situation, and his co-operative policy are good auguries for the future, as well as for a successful conclusion to the Dominion-Provincial conference which had its first session in mid-January.

Tully Reviv'd

By D. W. BROGAN

MR. RILEY, in The Mill on the Floss, had "a sense of understanding Latin generally," although this comprehension of any particular Latin was not ready." We are, alas, most of us in Mr. Riley's position. So it was a service to the preservation of our cultural traditions to produce a selection of Cicero's letters with sufficient commentary to make the story of the decline and fall of the Roman Republic intelligible. And if only as a commentary on Shakespeare and Shaw, this book deserves the warmest commendation.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT it does more than make Julius Caesar and Caesar and Cleopatra intelligible to us. It introduces us to one of the great figures of antiquity, now more and more hidden from us as Tully's Offices no longer provides part of the staple of our educational system. Perhaps it was when he ceased to be Tully, and became Marcus Tullius Cicero, that the battle for the classics was really lost. Here we have Tully the politician, the popularizer of philosophy, the orator, the would-be saviour of the State; and, if our Latin is feebler than was that of our ancestors, we have a more sympathetic understanding of the terrible years in which the Roman Republic foundered in blood and savagery.

◇ ◇ ◇

FRENCH courtiers at Saint-Germain unkindly said it was only necessary to listen to James II to understand how he lost his throne. So with Tully. Eloquent, kind-hearted, zealous for the good old ways, a snob, a climber, what could he do in the world of Julius Caesar and Marc Anthony, or of that figure more formidable than either, Octavian, the Stalin of the Roman Revolution? He could not help believing in the nobles, the "best people."

◇ ◇ ◇

YET he should have known better. For when he was Governor of Cilicia, he tried to protect some unfortunate Cypriots from two rascally money-lenders, only to discover that these were stooges, and that the real extortioner was none other than "the noblest Roman of them all," Marcus Brutus! So when Caesar had conquered Italy, the men he pardoned and released went off to join Pompey, provoking Caesar to write: "It suits me perfectly that I should be true to my character, and they to theirs." (It was this sentence that made Macaulay write in the margin "noble fellow" and has bred the legend of the superhuman, magnanimous hero of Caesar and Cleopatra.)

◇ ◇ ◇

TULLY was too intelligent not to appreciate Caesar's superiority and detest the savagery, greed and silliness of the conservative emigres. But we see him, spared and cultivated by the Dictator, yet rejoicing in Caesar's murder and hoping, in vain, that eloquence and what the Italians call a combinazione would do the trick — till Anthony's thugs caught up with him and "the long day's task was done." It is as good as a thriller to watch, through Tully's eyes, the ebb and flow of hope and, till too late, almost hidden from him, the rise of the boy who was to be Augustus.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT there is much more than mere politics in the story.

There is the simple pleasure of meeting our old acquaintances, Cassius and Dolabella; there is even Balbus busy building as usual; in fact, most of the characters of the plays and the grammar books. Here is that representative figure, Clodius, brother of Catullus's Lesbia, who changed his name from the too aristocratic "Claudius" when he took up the cause of the people, as Mr. Lancaster's young gentleman became Bill Tipple when he joined the Party. There is that perennial nuisance, the all-star festival. "Actors returned to the stage out of respect for the occasion who, I thought, had left it out of respect for themselves. What pleasure can there be in six hundred mules in the Clytemnestra or three thousand wine-bowls in the Trojan Horse?" Ask Mr. de Mille.

◇ ◇ ◇

DISRAELI said of Greville that "he was the most conceited person with whom I have ever been brought into contact, though I have read Cicero and known Bulwer-Lytton." There is something majestic in conceit on Cicero's scale. The ingratitude of the Roman people to their saviour nauseates him, and his accounts of the rapturous way he was received, after his return from exile, would, after a successful first night, be thought just a little over the edge of good taste at "The Ivy."

◇ ◇ ◇

HE was, of course, a great Roman pleader, i.e., actor, but Dickens or Proust might have hesitated at creating so magnificently comic a character as Cicero, still clinging desperately to the hope of a triumph in the very height of the Civil War. He had carried out a useful little campaign of the North-West Frontier type and so he must have a triumph, after the Gallic War, after the Civil War. We may be certain that if he had survived Actium, he would still have expected his triumph. Yet he was not merely vanity. He was, as even we unlettered can see, a man of prodigious literary talents, humour and charm. And he was honest and genuinely patriotic. No wonder the conspirators said:

O! let us have him; for his silver hairs
Will purchase us a good opinion.

Here we have him, and amazingly good company he is—now that we're out of school.

Unconsidered Trifles

The young plumber had proposed and had been accepted. Several hours later the couple parted and he went home.

At three o'clock the next morning a loud ringing of the front door bell of the girl's house was heard. Her father, roused from sleep, went to the window and, sticking out his head, inquired, who was there.

"It's John," said the voice from below. "I asked Dorothy to marry me and she said she would, but I forgot to kiss her."

Letters To The Editor

WHY NOT CONTINUE THE PAVING?

Sir: I would appreciate a small space in your column for the purpose of asking a few questions regarding the city paving project as published in the Examiner January 19.

Perhaps someone can tell me where the long block of Monaghan Road between Wolfe and Frank Streets has disappeared to, or rather is going to disappear to come spring? I wonder if the City Council is going to provide us with cars equipped with wings so we can drive down the street as far as Wolfe St., then take off and float gracefully over what used to be the street in 1949.

By now you have probably guessed that I want to know why the paving of Monaghan Road only goes as far as the C.G.E. line rather than all the way from Charlotte St. to Lansdowne St. I hardly think it possible that the C.G.E. cannot afford the extra tax for a paved street; so that only leaves two reasons in my mind; either the council does not want to ask for it or they find it more profitable not to.

Perhaps the members of the council don't have to drive Monaghan Road four times a day, five days a week, but a great many people do, and I think that that these people are entitled to a reasonable explanation of this plan. If there is one.

Thanking you, I remain,

ONE OF THE PEOPLE THAT DO.

FLESH IS THE GOAT

Sir: The winter went slowly at first it seemed and now quickly. It has been brightened by the prelude to each day of Songs at Sunrise, that demonstrated woman's prerogative 'help meet to man'.

And in 'Morning Devotion', an intimate stimulating revelation of the ministers of Peterborough detached for the time from the awe inspiring, people consciousness, ritualism (forgive the expression, there seems no other) of their churches. We note the different individualities (and like them for it) some accentuate spiritualness (most of them) some combine, but none, (or so it seems) grant flesh its place.

It has always seemed to me that flesh is the culprit, the sufferer, the goat of its spirit, for spirits are not always kind or good—the flesh is martyrized by its spirit.

Even animals are driven or blessed by its spirit especially horses, and dogs, some cows just wait for the chance to kick compelled by the spirit of cantankerousness or maybe revenge. Farmers know that for best results a spirit of harmony must exist between the two, man and beast.

By the same reasoning would not a spirit of harmony between churches and people, governments and people be advantageous? None denying the needs of the flesh but by making friends with it forget it, and at last arrive and contact the kindred spirits of the great unknown.

COUNTRY SPIRIT.

MARRIED WOMEN AT WORK

Sir: This will be another letter on "Employment of married women".

I too, like the party who wrote in January 14 edition, think the general employment of married women very unfair, unless of course a good reason is given for employment.

I think the government should put a ban on married women working—unless she is a widow who needs revenue, or a married woman whose husband is unable to work because of ill health, or any other legitimate reason. I do not think this should include only factory workers, but store clerks or any type of work that a man or single girl could fit into. I know numerous stores both in Peterborough and this village where married women are holding positions and many men and single girls are either out of work or doing just part time work.

Housekeeping is a full time job if done properly even if there are no children. I have learned how to sew since married 12 years ago and find I save as much doing my families' dressmaking as I would if I had a job away from home. I also do all my own baking which I would not have time to do if I worked out. I am also able to do a lot of entertaining which adds to the happiness of both my husband and daughter.

We live as well as any family can and budget our one salary so we have a nice savings besides our own home and car. What more can anyone ask? My husband is the sole breadwinner and I—the homemaker—which is the way it should be. Our evenings are not taken up in trying to catch up on household chores—but include relaxation and entertainment.

I direct this beef to the Provincial Government and hope they do something about it before things become desperate.

Try giving up your jobs, married women, and go into married life in a real way—be a homemaker and I'm sure you will love it.

"HOMEMAKER"

THE FARMER'S RIGHT TO BE UNREASONABLE

Sir: In an editorial of January 27th you blame the present plight of Canadian agriculture on the inefficient farmer. It is quite true that there are too many inefficient farmers but it is rather odd that you never seem to be concerned about inefficient factory workers.

When the inefficient factory worker could not hold a job, he organized a labour union. The union arranged things so that he could not be fired and also so that he would receive the same pay as his more efficient co-worker. Of course, you and I pay through the nose for this in the way of higher prices for appliances, automobiles, etc., but the public in general seem to be pretty well satisfied with this arrangement. Hasn't the farmer as much right as the factory worker to be unreasonable?

You say that if the farming industry is to be subsidized, why not subsidize the automobile industry. What about the thirty-three and a third per cent. duty on automobiles made in the U.S.A.? If this is not subsidizing the Canadian automobile industry, what is it?

Yours truly,

IGNOR P. AMUS.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the king of Assyria sent Rabshakeh from Lachish to Jerusalem unto king Hezekiah with a great army. And he stood by the conduit of the upper pool in the highway of the fuller's field. Then came forth unto him Eliakim, Hilkiah's son, which was over the house, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah, Asaph's son, the recorder. And Rabshakeh said unto them, Say ye now to Hezekiah, Thus saith the great king, the king of Assyria, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest? Lo, thou trustest in the staff of this broken reed, on Egypt; whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all that trust in him.

Beware lest Hezekiah persuade you, saying, The Lord will deliver us. Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria. (Isa. 36: 2-4, 6, 18.)

Herefords In Norway

Hereford cattle, long one of the most popular beef varieties in Canada and the United States, to say nothing of the Argentine, are going to be tried out in the hilly terrain of Norway.

The first shipment of "whitefaces" left the United States recently consigned to the ranch of Ole Sandberg near Hamar, where a great deal of experimentation with different breeds of cattle has been carried out.

With the breed's proven ability to thrive under almost any conditions, either on the open range or in the pasture lots of small farmers, very few persons will harbor any doubt that Herefords will adapt themselves readily to the fairly severe Norwegian climate.—Owen Sound Sun-Times.

Legion Takes Gananoque In One-Sided Puck Fray

The local Legionnaires romped to a 14-1 victory over Gananoque here last night to lengthen their lead in the OHA senior "B" grouping before a small crowd. In the Gans' last appearance here of the schedule, they were short three players and short on condition. They played strongly for some five to eight minutes of each period but gradually faded, while Legion turned in a smart passing attack throughout to earn the duke by a big margin. Only good goal-tending by Macdonald held down the score that much. Play was fast and quite clean, with Legion up 6-1 in the first and 10-1 going into the third.

Joe Rochetta led the scoring attack for Jim Ellis' squad, scoring two goals and aiding on three more. He was followed closely by Bert Hill and Bill Crowley, with four points each, as Fred Mortimer and Toodie Greenlaw looked good in figuring in on three markers apiece. Keith Montgomery and Reg Stewart also went fine, going both ways, and were in on a pair apiece. Some of the other Legionnaires helped out on one, while Jackson got the lone Gans' goal—to open the scoring—on a pass from Harper in the first PICKED OUT—Reg Stewart last night was picked out as the best puckist on the night's play as Legion walloped Gananoque here. Reg was in on a couple of goals and played a fine backchecking game in every period.

Good Goalie

Macdonald was good in the visitors' net, despite the one-sided score, as Legion could easily have had eight or nine more, but for quick close-in saves. They were buzzing in there a lot and threatening most of the way, even with a man short. At one time, with Legion shy a player, the Gans did not get one shot on Goalie Ross Nicholls. McCarney and Tindal went best for them, though all worked hard.

Chum Fryia sat it out with a fractured collar-bone, but Legion had Sixty Coombs back in action once more—okayed by the OHA as a local resident. The Ellis outfit settled down early to play smart combination and checking back well, aided by some steady work on defence and good goalkeeping. The visitors also toiled throughout and played it clean, but their lack of natural ice — plus some absentees—made it a foregone conclusion early. They made the odd dangerous sortie and never quit trying—actually deserving several goals but for quick work by Ross — but they were outclassed by a goodly margin most of the route

Gananoque — Goal, Macdonld; defence, Keyes and McCarney; centre, Tindal; wings, Harper and Jackson; alternates, Anderson, Parish, Brown, Fair and Dailey.

Legion — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Godfrey and Burns; centre, Rochetta; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Montgomery, D Mortimer, Hill, Coombs, Parnell, Stewart, Greenlaw and F. Mortimer

Referee—T. Holway Linesman—P. Calladine.

Ugly Duckling Colt Turns Out A Winner

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 31 (AP) —Johnny Longden wasn't particularly impressed when he agreed to work out a homely, deformed colt at Santa Anita last summer. But when the horse breezed a mile in :46 2-5, Longden remarked:

"That's the runningest two-year-old I ever rode."

Today, Longden is the permanent rider for this ugly duckling, your host. And horsemen at Santa Anita are pointing at the crook-necked colt as one of the brightest Derby prospects ever to come out of California.

Thus far, Your Host has started nine races, won five and placed three times. He's earned $133,907 for his owner, movie producer William Goetz, and it's probably only the beginning.

Hawks Get Win

Black Hawks edged out a 3-1 peewee puck win over Canadiens at Keene, Goldie scoring in a scramble; Cairns sinking one from Olmstead and Brown, while Doleman got the last from Stewart. The losers' marker was gained by Johnston on his own rebound. Play was fast and close. Hawks now lead with six points, Canadiens and Rangers having two each, while Leafs, Wings and Bruins have none so far. Teams:

Canadiens: Playford, Allen, Halcrow, Johnston, Whitton, Mahoney, Lesurf, Carver, Williams.

Hawks: Smillie, Goldie, Druery, Murphy, Stewart, Doleman, Olmstead, Cairns, Brown, Armstrong, Naish, Scharf, Beggs, Kimball, R. Brown.

Jim Coleman Resigns Columnist Job

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—Jim Coleman put a job-wanted advertisement in the Toronto Globe and Mail today. It was the first announcement that he no longer is the newspaper's sports columnist.

Sports Editor Jim Vipond confirmed that Coleman had resigned but gave no reason. Coleman said: "I just decided to quit. I'm not mad at anyone."

The advertisement, a 1½ inch box in bold-face type on the sports page where Coleman's column had appeared for more than eight years, said:

"Wanted—

"Business opportunity for man experienced in all phases of advertising, public relations and newspaper business. Your interest solicited. Phone Jim Coleman, Hyland 5673."

Coleman said in a statement:

"I've spent approximately 50 per cent of my newspaper career working as sports columnist for George McCullagh and the Globe and Mail. I've had freedom of expression to an extent that seldom has been given to a working reporter.

Wants a Change

"It appears, though, that I have been labelled as a sports columnist for the rest of my life and I want to make a change while I'm still young enough to jump into a more productive branch of the publishing business or into some other industry.

"There's an old bromide that a newspaper man must be mad at someone to quit his job. I'm not mad at anyone."

Bouncy, 38-year-old James A Coleman, native of Winnipeg, worked on the Tribune in that city and later on the Vancouver Province, Edmonton Journal and Edmonton Bulletin before going to the Globe and Mail.

64 High School Rinks Take Over At Guelph

GUELPH, Jan. 31 (CP)—Sixty-four Ontario High School rinks will take over the Guelph and Galt curling clubs this Thursday and Friday for the third annual Ontario Schoolboys' Bonspiel.

The bonspiel will feature three events—the Esso Trophy, the main event; the Gore Mutual Trophy and the Consolation event. This year the venue of the Esso Trophy and the Consolation event have been switched to Galt ice, leaving the Guelph club with the Gore Mutual play.

Red Sagle's Sault Ste. Marie rink is back with the same foursome that won the Esso Trophy last year but 1949's second place team, Western Technical Commercial, has lost all its Gore Mutual champs through graduation.

Strong rinks are expected from Sudbury and Lindsay. Lindsay has two rinks entered, one of which won the Esso Trophy two years ago. Although not represented last year, Sudbury has been the scene of student curling for several years.

Kingston Nylons Win

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 31—The free-skating Kingston Nylons turned on a powerful offensive in the third period here Monday night to trim Belleville Diesel-Electrics, 8-1 in an OHA Senior "B" fixture.

Ken Partis and Johnny Armstrong each tallied twice for the winners, while Hawkins, McKeown, T. Gerow and Aitken got the other goals. Cousins scored Belleville's goal.

Earlier, CGE defeated Keene 4-2, while Westclox won 7-3 from Nashua, the game between Brintons and De Laval being a 4-all tie. Thursday at Civic Arena, Quakers meet CGE while the Shades play De Laval. Friday in Keene sees Brintons playing Keene. Secretary Alf Barber gives this standing up to dateff

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

None other than Whipper Billy Watson himself, pro mat champ, will show at the Brock Arena this Thursday night, and against that huge grapple attraction, Yukon Eric. There, folks, is one for the books—and Peterborough got in ahead of Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens in getting this wrestling bout. The main go, of course, on the three-bout card, with two good prelims being thrown in. They want to pack the Gardens with a spring meeting of these mat giants, so they're just building up to it now, but the Whip — who leaves this week-end for a six-week tour of Western Canada—wanted a real stiff bout first, so he agreed to match speed and skill against the power of the Lumberjack with the 56-inch chest. It's a natural and will jam the place.

Haven't got a copy of the 1950 baseball rules, but we hear there's one change concerning wins and losses for pitchers. That's of interest to players and fans, as there's been many an argument. Now, 'tis said that a starting pitcher cannot get credit for a win, if his team wins, unless he has pitched five innings. Approximately half the game if it's the usual nine-inning game. Previously, a pitcher could run into trouble, maybe in the third, and leave while his side was still ahead, say, 5-4. The relief hurler would have to work hard and, if his team won out, he would get no official credit for the win. The first guy would, and that never looked fair. But it will be corrected henceforth.

Kingston And IOOF-ers

An interesting OHA junior "B" puck joust is on tap at 8.30 tomorrow p.m. in Civic Arena when Kingston Vics tackle the local IOOF-ers in a group game. The Vics are battling hard to get up around the exalted atmosphere breathed by Oshawa and Triple Links and their easy win o'er Lindsay the other night shows they are coming. And the Kingdon crew are also playing hurry-up hockey as the schedule nears a finish, being just one point off the top-place Motor Citizens. Another of those tight and sizzling junior hockey scraps, and it rates a good-sized gallery.

* * * * * *

Ed Haynes, writing for the Port Hope sheet, explains the OHA intermediate playoff setup concerning those clubs. Four of the five "A" teams meet, first and third, and second and fourth, in best of three, winners having a best-of-five final. All over by Mar. 10. Lakefield goes into "B" playdowns. In junior, Orono goes into "D" playdowns, while Cobourg and Port Hope have a junior "C" playoff, regardless of how they finish in the standing. Winner then meets Lindsay, another "C" club. The "B" clubs—Oshawa, Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston—hold their own playoffs to declare a winner for provincial junior "B" playdowns.

Fatten The Averages

You see what we mean, now, about not reporting a play-by-play account of modern hockey? That 14-1 win for Legion over Gananoque here last p.m. proved the point. Definitely a one-sided senior "B" tilt, with Legion back to form and ganging up almost continuously. The losing goalie looked good, despite that count, believe it or not! It could easily have been about 24-1on the ordinary play. The Gans, it must be remembered, have been struggling by with little or no natural ice, and they can't seem to get a full team together for long hikes. They work hard but they just don't have it, and Legionnaires definitely did last p.m. A good all-around performance by Jim Ellis' outfit last p.m. here, though not too many customers saw it.

Two carloads of Lindsay boxers were guests of the Peterborough amateur mitt club last eve in the Ashburnham Hall, coming here under guidance of their manager, Lloyd Burrows and his assistant, J. Baker. Some 40 boys from both towns had a good session of training, and Ron Menzies, in charge of the local boxing council, reports that the Scugog leather-pushers are improving rapidly and will extend the local lads when they meet in ring competition. An amateur card is planned for here shortly, with a return one soon in Lindsay. Meantime, the Peterborough boxers continue training each Monday, Wednesday and Friday night at the hall.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

Playing in the Ontario Tankard games for this district in Lindsay on Monday, two local rinks skipped by C. Giroux and Dr. R Clark won both their games In the morning they defeated Oakwood, and in the afternoon they won from Lindsay. They now proceed to Oshawa, on Thursday, to play in the next round.

And on the same day the two District Cup rinks skipped by F Green and V. Brown, also go to Oshawa for the next round. Would it be too much to hope for a double victory? We don't think so.

On Thursday, J. Allan, F. Stenson, E. Bickle and H. Rutherford leave for Chatham to play in the annual Colts bonspiel.

A number of our lady curlers leave tomorrow noon for their annual trip to the Seignory Club Quebec. Included in the party are Mrs. H. Inman, Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. M. McCartney, Mrs C. Greco Retains Crown In Bloody Fight

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 (CP) — Canadian welterweight champion Johnny Greco Monday night defended his crown successfully for the fifth time when he scored a ninth round technical knockout over Fritzie Pruden of St. Catharines, in a Forum fight card spattered with blood.

About 6,000 Montreal fight fans paid $16,000 to see three technical knockouts on the program and a rough, well-fought, 10-round semi-final in which Montreal's Gus Mell, 148, edged Billy Wyatt, 148¾, of Trenton, N. J.

Greco weighed 146, Pruden 144¾ for the 12-round title feature bout. Pruden staggered the suburban Notre Dame De Grace Italian with a solid right in the opening round but after that it was all Greco. Johnny methodically worked on Pruden's right eye throughout the fight and by the ninth round, it was closed and blood was streaming over both fighters' bodies. The end came at 1:45 of the ninth.

Cabled Offer

Willie Ketchum, who now is Greso's manager, said Monday night that he had received a cable from Jack Solomons, British fight promoter, offering to match Greco in England for the welterweight championship of the British Empire if he beat Pruden.

Ketchum said the matter was under consideration, No opponent was named, he said, but presumably it would be Dave Sands, Australian welterweight and middleweight star who has been highly successful in Britain. No date was suggested by Solomons

The other TKO's came in a light heavyweight and a lightweight bout.

Eddie Zastre of Winnipeg, 173, stopped Mike Sobel, 173, in the fourth round of a six-heat preliminary.

Armand Savoie, 133, Montreal, waited until the last round of an eight frame event to stop Chuck Burton, 128¾ of Newark, N J.

Pruden, less experienced than Greco, was rated the No. 1 welterweight challenger by the Canadian Boxing Association before Greco's decisive victory.

Ringside observers said that Pruden's right eye seemed swollen before the bout. Greco closed it in the fourth and a Montreal Boxing Commission doctor twice looked at it between rounds to see whether Pruden should be allowed to continue.

A skill learned from Indians when he was a child has been developed into a profitable business enterprise by Henry McGauley and four workers. They make snowshoes at Sault Ste. Marie.

Mr. McGauley, born at Blind River, Ont., as a child became a favorite of Indians trading at his father's store before the turn of the century.

"They taught me all sorts of tricks and one of the most fascinating was the way they made snowshoes," he says.

"During the depression, when things started to get really tough, I went back to making snowshoes the way the Indians had taught me. The Deparment of Northern Development used quite a few, and that seemed to be the stepping stone. I figured I might as well keep on at the business. I've been at it ever since."

Monday he observed his 20th year in business and his 75th birthday.

He averages 500 pairs a year and has turned out as many as 1,000. Customers come from Canada and the United States. Some of the best are pulp and paper and mining companies in Northern Ontario.

Seven curling rinks have a chance of sweeping both the Ontario Tankard and Governor-General's Trophy in playoffs at Toronto Thursday and Friday.

With 16 group winners already declared, draws from the eights to the finals will be played. The Burden Trophy and the Globe and Mail Trophy also are to be decided.

Oshawa, Hamilton Thistles, Kingston, Toronto Granites, Renfrew, Thornbury and Fergus are all represented in both main events. The Orillia Curling Club and the Ontario Hospital at Orillia will compete in the Governor-Generals' event.

Representatives of Hamilton's rival senior football clubs met Monday night to consider a proposed amalgamation but no official statement was issued. Another meeting is expected next Wednesday. Hamilton Wildcats of the Big Four were represented by Alex Muir, president, and former presidents C. C. Lawson and Sam Manson. The Tigers' delegates were H. G. Hilton, Charles Slater and Argue Martin.

At Brantford, a meeting of the Intercounty Senior Baseball Association executive has been called for Thursday in Brantford.

President Otto Manske said that although the regular schedule doesn't start until May 6, executives will discuss the appointment of an umpire-in-chief and the situation of "Tobacco Road" League, that centres in the section south and west of this city.

Manske said umpire candidates have been narrowed down to about four: Bill Herbert, of Galt, Les Rundle, president of the Norfolk County Umpires' Association, H. Ariss, of Kitchener, and B. Crawley, of London.

Cleveland Barons Monday night announced they have traded Harry McQueston, 33, a spare goalie, to Detroit Red Wings for James Joseph Shirley, 21, a goalie now with the Detroit farm club at Indianapolis. McQueston, a native of Toronto, will report to the National Hockey League team in Detroit Tuesday.

Art Houttenman, 22-year-old pitcher for Detroit Tigers, Monday night was named "most courageous athlete" of 1949 by the Philadelphia Sporting Writers' Association. The youthful right-hander was honored because of his remarkable comeback last year after he was left near death in an auto collision in March. He came back to pitch two months later and won 15 games.

Investigate Racket

VANCOUVER, Jan. 31 (CP) — Police are investigating reports that a juvenile protection racket forced an 11-year-old boy to steal $110 from his father rather than face further bloody noses and black eyes.

Badminton Notes

Peterborough badminton players won a tournament from the Trenton No. 6 R.D. club, taking a 4-3 margin in ladies' doubles, winning 5-2 in men's doubles and taking it 9 to 5 in mixed twosomes. Trenton is composed of players from the town of Trenton, Belleville and the air camp. The Central Ontario tourney this year will be held there on Feb. 24-25. The local club expects to send a full team and a few extras. Players wanting to try for a place should sign now at the Market Hall.

Canadians Divide Exhibition Series

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 31—(CP)—Canadian curlers Monday divided an exhibition series here and in Edinburgh.

The Canada "A" team, returning here to the ice on which they played the first game of their Scottish tour beat Renfrewshire by 52 shots, 128 to 76

In the capital, the "B" squad lost by 12 shots to the Edinburgh Ice Rink Curling Club, 128 to 116.

All six "A" rinks won: Manitoba, skip Gordon E. Moulf, Winnipeg; Alberta, skip Jack Hutton, Calgary; Nova Ssotia and Prince Edward Island, skip Wallace W Smith, Lunenburg, N. S.; Ontario, skip A. J. Parkhill, Oshawa; Northern Ontario, skip C. E. McEwen, Port Arthur; and Saskatchewan, skip B. S. McNeice, Regina.

The two winning "B" rinks were Manitoba, skip J. L Bowman, Dauphin; and New Brunswick, skip N. C. Ralston, Saint John.

Before starting play on Monday Errick F. Willis of Winnipeg, Walter B. Cowan of Toronto and Sam Rothschild of Sudbury Ont., all recorded their impression of Scotland for broadcasts by the BBC and CBC.

Marmora Gains Close One From The C's

MARMORA, Jan. 31 (ENS). Before 1,100 fans, Marmora's Trent Valley hockey team, minus the services of Gus Leonard and Cousins, won a hotly contested and even game against their old opponents, Campbellford, Monday evening, in the former's arena by the score of 6-4. The sterling play of Laverne in the Campbellford nets and that of the home goalie, Borland, kept the score down in what was the fastest game witnessed here this season.

The game was tied at the end of the first and second periods, and looked, with 110 minutes to go, as though it would end in a draw, but Marmora had the edge on end to end rushes and scored two goals within 10 seconds of each other to win the encounter.

The teams:

Campbellford— Goal, Laverne; defence, Douglas Free and Tanner; centre, Blake; wings, Hendricks and Hay; alternates, Robinson, Herrington, Doherty, Don Free, Smith Pace Taylor, Forrester, spare goalie Hopping.

Marmora— Goal, Borland; defence, Kerr and E. Leonard; centre Stewart; wings, Lavender and Trumble; alternates, Loveless, Goodchild, McInroy, Gray, Darrah, Nayler; spare goalie Sweet.

Referees—Bill O'Malley of Trenton and Dick Bridgeman of Trenton.

The summary:

First Period

Marmora—McInroy (Kerr)	2:26
Campbellford—Forrester (Hay)	6:36
Penalties—Nayler, Leonard, Darrah
Second Period
Marmora—Goodchild (Kerr)	5:13
Campbellford—Robinson	10:57
Campbellford—Doug Free (Robinson)	11:48
Marmora—Lavender (Trumble)	19.05
Penalties—Blake 2, Forrester.
Third Period
Marmora—Stewart (Lavender)	47
Campbellford—Herrington (Robinson)	4:08
Marmora—McInroy (Loveless)	14:48
Marmora—Goodchild (Loveless, McInroy)	14:57
No penalties.

UCC Defeats TCS

PORT HOPE, Jan. 31.—Trinity College Schools' first team dropped their second hockey game to Upper Canada College, 9-1. Upper Canada's line of Thompson, Wahlroth and O'Sullivan accounted for seven of their goals while Logie and Hogarth scored the remaining two. Cooke scored from Church for the only TCS goal.

GOOD SUPPORTING CARD —Supporting Thursday night's main bout at the Brock, which brings together Whipper Billy Watson and Yukon Eric, will be two other star matches. The semi-final will feature towering Hi Lee, shown above, and Golden Boy, Steve Stanlee. The opening clash will be between Johnny Barend and Joe Christie. The entire card is well-balanced and the main go looks to be just about the best ever offered local mat fans. A sell-out crowd is predicted.

Ronty Ousts Richard In Third Spot

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 (CP) — Paul Ronty, a steady plugger with Boston's National Hockey League Bruins, climaxed his dogged climb in the scoring race during the weekend by pushing the mighty Maurice Richard of Montreal out of third place.

Ronty was barely among the 10 top scorers in December. Since then, he has been moving ahead steadily and scored a major upset by passing Richard. League statistics released today showed that Ronty has 19 goals and 23 assists for 42 points, one better than the Rocket.

Ted Lindsay and Sid Abel, Detroit's sharpshooting pair, remain in first and second position, respectively. Lindsay has 17 goals and leads in assists with 33 for 50 points. Abel is just one point behind with 25 goals and 24 assists.

Although dumped into fourth place, Richard picked up a goal to retrieve his sniping leadership over Abel with 26. He has 15 assists.

Howe Fifth

Gordie, Howe, third member of Detroit's ace line, is fifth with an even 40 points.

Toronto goalie Turk Broda chalked up his seventh goose-egg of the season Sunday as the Maple Leafs blanked Chicago Black Hawks 4-0. Broda now is tied with Montreal's Bill Durnan in the shutout division.

Most penalized player of the League is Bill Gadsby, Chicago defenceman, who has spent 107 minutes in the penalty coop so far.

Quite the opposite, Bill Quackenbush, Boston Bruins' star defenceman, and winner of the Lady Byng Trophy last season, was given his first penalty last Thursday after going 131 consecutive games without a single trip to the cooler.

The last time Quackenbush was given the nod by the referee was March 6, 1948.

Toronto Maple Leafs are leading the pack as the most penalized team with 532 minutes.

Detroit Red Wings are pacesetters of the league with 59 points.

Montreal and Toronto are tied for second place with 49 points apiece. New York Rangers are fourth with 43, just one ahead of Boston and Chicago remains in the cellar with 36.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Great Britain fell 11-0 before the United States in the Olympic hockey championships at Chamonix 26 years ago today. It was in the days before hockey was an established sport in Britain. The victors met Toronto Granites, Canada's entry, in the final, and lost 6-1.

Toronto Marlboros Crush Stratford Kroehlers 10-2

By The Canadian Press.

Stop George Armstrong and you stop Toronto Marlboros. That's the theory advanced by many Ontario Hockey Association opponents but as yet no effective method has been developed to collar the golden boy of amateur works to Stratford Kroehlers in a Junior A contest and fired three goals as Marlboros flattened the tail-enders 10-2. It was the third win by Marlboros over Stratford in four days. As was the case on Saturday afternoon when Armstrong rapped home three markers, two of them were of the unassisted variety.

Stratford made a fight of it in the opening period and held the league leaders to a 1-1 tie. Bob Armstrong, no relation of terrific George, opened the scoring for Stratford near the mid-way mark of the frame, a lead that held up until 18:26 when defenceman Dan Windley came up with an unassisted counter to deadlock the score.

Settles Issue

A seven goal second period settled the issue beyond any doubt as Marlboros walked all over the Stratford crew. Dan Windley started it off with his second and was followed by Armstrong, Jack McKenzie, Larry Regan, Armstrong with two more and Danny Lewicki.

Things settled down in the final frame as the Stratford defence tightened and the Kroehlers held Toronto to a pair of goals while scoring a single themselves. Tommy Fyles pounded in the first goal and was followed six minutes later by Lewicki with his second. Ritchie, Stratford's newest recruit, rapped in the final tally of the game.

Although not as rough as the record would make it seem, 19 penalties were handed out including two majors and a misconduct. Marlboros paid the heaviest, serving 12 of the sentences.

VOL. C. No. 25 — TUESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1950 — PRICE FIVE CENTS

Audience Gulps As 13 Corpses Get Cellar Pomp

"It's the sixth time I've seen this play, and I get more fun out of it every time". That was a remark overheard in the lobby when the murders, infectious laughter and Victorian fluff of Arsenic and Old Lace had had their final curtain call Monday evening, the first of three performances in Peterborough. It was a good tribute to the enduring qualities of the play, and to the excellent production. And it was a good reason for Peterborough to flock to see it.

The Brian Doherty - Michael Sadlier - Graham Ferguson production has a special Peterborough appeal. In it re-appear old friends, Summer Theatre folk: Mr. Sadlier, the excellent Gerrard Sarracini (who again plays so fiendishly yet with innate humanness the part of brother Jonathan), and the guest star of the summer week of 'Arsenic', the noted Catherine Proctor. Miss Proctor gives an aura of warm genuineness to her stage, and in this play, a delightful coziness with crime. It is a privilege to witness her performance.

Different From Summer

Comparison with the summer production—which many Peterborough people will be intrigued to make—is not odious. The set is more sumptuous and quite new (designed by Margaret McDonough); the costuming calls for nostalgic oh's and ah's, and no majors in the cast can be tossed off with the adjective "supporting". The very proficient English actor Frank Crawshaw takes the part of Teddy; a difficult role beyond the horn-blowing, Charge! stage, because a lunatic has no development except into greater lunacy.

William Drew did a notable job with Dr. Einstein, the best I've seen. The parts of the young couple, Elaine and Mortimer, are always bothersome in the structure of the play. Kate Reid and William Hutt extracted every ounce there was in them, with stirring impetuosity. Floyd Caza and Andrew Anthony were the dumb, personable cops; Barbara Hamilton played sister Martha with decorous (and decorative) insouciance.

Stage manager is, by the way, the able, affable Charles Brennan, who is acclaimed locally for his mastery of ancient internal combustion engines.

A first-class professional production. It is being given this evening at the Queen Mary Auditorium, and again on Wednesday at the Collegiate.—T.J.A.

Automobile Club To Press Demand For Direct Route

Ernest E. Estlick Monday night was elected president of the Peterborough Automobile Club at the annual meeting held in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel. He succeeds James Juby who held that office for the past two terms.

Stanley A. Darling is the vice president and James J. Dorris was returned as secretary-treasurer.

Following is the report of the nominating committee which was adopted unanimously: Mr. Estlick, president; Mr. Darling, vice-pres.; Mr. Dorris, sec.-treas.; executive committee—Dr. Donald W. Aitken, William W. Jeffries, Leonard H. Bearne, John G. Lewis, Leroy Crocket, Dr. W. Max McCutcheon, John Dishart, Harry G. Silver, Charles H. Elliott, A. Cecil Wolff, Wilbert E. Franks and Victor L. Hamilton.

Highway Project

Speaking for Alex Sollitt, former president of the club, Charles Elliott asked the members to press for a direct highway from Toronto to Peterborough.

This, he explained, has long been a favorite project of Mr. Sollitt's and he thought that if the government were approached in the right way "something could come out of it." The subject was particularly topical because of the hint from the Minister of Highways, Hon. George Doucett, that Peterborough might be included on the route of the Trans-Canada Highway.

Mr. Dorris explained that it was his understanding a direct road was "definitely in the government's plans."

The layout would be as follows: the double lane Highway 2 to Newcastle, then north on Highway 35 to a couple of miles south of the CPR tracks, and finally parallel to the tracks into the south end of the city.

Press For Action

Mr. Estlick after taking over the chair from the past president, stated there would be no change in the policy of the club. However he said the executive would press for action on such things as roads, streets and signs in an endeavour to give the members greater driving pleasure.

He did not elaborate.

Logan Selby, organizer of the Ontario Motor League, urged the new executive to strive for a greater membership and complete the club's organization. Afterwards such projects as driver training, traffic safety measures and a campaign for road signs could be undertaken.

Kitchener Course

Mr. Selby spoke approvingly of the Kitchener Board of Education's decision to permit secondary school children, through the schools, to learn good driving. So far it has been a success and other communities are enquiring into the scheme, he said.

It started at the beginning of September in Kitchener. A dual-control car is used and about 32 students can receive instruction in a day during a six to eight week course. The whole project is extra curricular.

Wolf-Fox Hunt Organized With 3 Planes, Jeep, Radio

The wolf hunt is on. Saturday morning an expected 150 hunters, armed with shot-guns, will converge on an undisclosed area in the northlands of Peterborough county to battle with the wolves and the foxes.

As last year, the hunt will be sponsored by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association with the help of the 50th Heavy A. A. Regiment (Prince of Wales Rangers), R.C.A.

Norman Bradley of the association reported at its monthly meeting Monday night that plans started early in the fall are now nearly complete. The hunt, he said, would be the same as last year and was being repeated due to numerous requests.

Once more the hunt will be mechanized. Approximately the same equipment will be used this year as last, a jeep with a radio, a 3,000-pound truck with radio, a 1,600-pound truck with covered rack for hunters without other transportation, three walkie-talkies and 25 to 30 men from the regiment to assist the hunters.

Planes to be Used

Not only will the hunt be on the ground but in the air in various ways. The three craft ready are two Cubs (seating two each) and a Fairchild 24 (seating four). One of these crafts will be used by the National Film Board who plan to film the mass hunt in the wilds of Peterborough county.

Sgt.-Major William Pushie, at present in command of the A. and T. staff at the armouries, suggested to Mr. Bradley that tin cans be carried by the bush beaters. By beating the cans the men could easily be heard by the waiting firing line.

Only Shotguns

No rifles will be allowed on the hunt, only shotguns using BB, buckshot or S.S.G. Mr. Bradley explained that rifles would be dangerous to the men beating the bush.

A week ago, he said, a survey of the area to be hunted was made. A number of deer were seen as well as wolf tracks. The exact location of the area will not be disclosed until Saturday morning. Mr. Bradley explained that experience has taught them not to disclose the area because hunters clean out the area before the scheduled hunt.

Cam Rowatt, a director of the association and last year's president reminded the members that foxes will be treated as an enemy on the hunt as well as wolves. No shooting of rabbits or deer will be allowed.

The hunters and the equipment will assemble at the Charlotte St. parking lot at 8 a.m. Saturday. After a half-hour briefing on the hunting area the parade will start towards the grounds Sportsmen from the towns north of Peterborough will join in with the procession along Highway 28. On reaching their destination the hunters will have light lunch before setting out on the hunt.

Vultures Swoop On Burnt House Swipe Bedding

Scavengers stole a quantity of bedding from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McBride at 215 Murray St. which was swept by fire Saturday night.

Mrs. McBride reported to Sergeant Leo Murphy when she went to her house Monday to move out some of her belongings, she discovered three bedspreads, two sheets and possibly some pillow cases had been taken.

Someone was seen wandering about the fire-blackened house Sunday. Detective Sergeant John Stevenson reported that the house had been left unlocked when the McBrides went to spend the night with neighbours.

UE Plan Strike Vote Monday CGE Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 37 — (CP) — The United Electrical Workers' Union is preparing to take a strike vote Monday at the five Toronto plants of the Canadian General Electric Company unless management and the union break a deadlock over contract proposals. The Toronto plants employ 1,500 persons altogether.

C. S. Jackson, Canadian director of the UEW, said a membership meeting is scheduled for Sunday. Presidents of all UEW locals in Canada are being called here for another meeting Sunday.

The Toronto union members have rejected a conciliation board recommendation for a cut in the work week from 44 to 42 hours with a 5½-cents-an-hour increase in pay. The union demands a 40-hour work week, a wage boost of 16¾ cents an hour and provisions to protect seniority and piecework rates.

Gladioli Dinner Plans

Edward A. Summers, representative in Durham of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, will be the speaker at a dinner of the Peterborough Gladiolus Society, Wed. Feb. 1 at the Empress Hotel. Dr. E. Council With Wall Hazard In Mind Finds Property Encroaches On Public Way

Encroachment beyond the street line of the wall fence of the residential property along the east side of Monaghan Road at Weller St. was reported to the committee of the whole council Monday night by John G. Pierce, Ontario Land Surveyor.

Extrusion of the fence on public land extends from .78 ft. at the north end of the lot to 4.58 ft. at the south end.

"This is a matter I think we might discuss with Dr. R. K. Magee," who lives in the house on the corner property.

For that purpose it was referred to the property committee in a motion by Aldermen Doug. Miller and J. E. Gillespie.

Ald. H. Dodds offered the explanation that accidents had occurred at Monaghan Road and Weller St., some of them caused, it was believed, by the fence obstructing the view of traffic.

"It was felt that it would be in the public interest if it was replaced by an ornamental iron fence," Ald. Dodds said.

Law Was Changed

City Solicitor Huycke recalled to the committee that until 1905 the right of way of streets was regarded as being the property of the Crown. The law was then changed, and streets were vested in their towns and cities. The fence was built along the property by the late Duncan Walker, 30 years or more ago, Mr. Huycke said.

Concern for public safety in traffic at that corner moved the council recently to engage Mr. Pierce to make a survey of the corner to determine whether there was encroachment.

Ball Park Dealt To Commission $30,000 Lights?

Supervision of Riverside Park is being transferred to the Recreation Commission, as recommended by the committee of the whole Council Monday night.

The motion by Ald. J. A. Dewart and Ald. P. J. Anglesey signifies in one detail of effect that "the commission will deal with the Baseball Club." And the ball club is looking for lights for night ball.

The intention of the Council is that the parks committee will continue to maintain Riverside, but that the Recreation Commission should assume complete supervision and management of it.

The Council is asking the commission to delegate three or four of its members for a discussion of bylaw, plans and any other questions in which both bodies are interested.

"We want the commission to know we wish to support them in what they are trying to do," Ald. Hugh Waddell remarked. His motion for a meeting was seconded by Ald. Miller.

Baseball's Aims

Ald. Herb Young, chairman of the parks committee, reported to the Council the recent conversations with baseball club representatives regarding the use of Riverside Park.

"They feel," said Ald. Young, "that Riverside is a natural place for baseball and they would like to keep the game there. Cost of lighting the park is estimated at $30,000."

Ald. Young said that if the city would assume half the cost, the baseball interests could make up the rest by subscription or guaranteed loan.

Items of management such as lights, gate collection and so on are to be a responsibility of the Commission, if the council's motion goes through.

It was understood that arrangement would be made to recover the city's part of the lighting bill in yearly deductions from the gate receipts.

"What's next?" Ald. Braund said.

New Grandstand?

Members were not immediately certain of the direction of the Braund pointing

However, some one said "grandstand."

"Peterborough is becoming a big city," said Ald. Dodds. "In five years time we may have a new stand."

The prospect of professional ball was mentioned for 1951, but not for this year.

Some members of the council are convinced that in present circumstances it would be an extravagance to build a grandstand at Riverside Park with a big stand available at Morrow Park with some lighting already begun, more probable, and with club accommodation more or less adequate under the stands.

Respect for the long and ardent support of the game by a little group of citizens, who are generaly known, is uppermost in the council's sentiments. If those men decided to retire, what then would be the club's position in respect to park, stand and all the rest?

One of the comments in the discussion was that relations with the Commission appeared to have improved since the strain of last November, but it was stressed that council's desire to co-operate with the Commission had not changed or declined at any time. their wish, it is said is to reach a solid understanding and to assist in promoting a sound program of recreation.

Leslie, 9, Falls Through Canal Saves Himself

A nine-year-old Peterborough boy with plenty of self-possession saved himself from drowning late Monday afternoon when he fell into the Canal near the high bridge at McFarlane St.

Within 300 yards of his McFarlane St. home on the bay of the Canal, Leslie Donaldson dropped through a weak spot in the ice. He had cut back across the ice after delivering his papers to customers on the east side of the Canal, near the low bridge.

At the point where he plunged into the icy water the Canal is 10 to 15 feet deep, but fortunately for him it was only three or four feet from the canal bank. Although almost numb with cold he was able to make his way to the bank, keeping himself afloat in his waterlogged clothing as he broke a path through the ice to the shore.

Saved Himself

There were no witnesses to the accident and consequently young Donaldson had to save himself by his own efforts.

First indication his parents (Mr. and Mrs. Jack Donaldson) had was when he came sprinting into the back yard, banging on the door and asking to be let in.

LESLIE DONALDSON

"He was upset and soaking wet and naturally I wondered what had happened to him," his mother related.

Nine-year-old Leslie was given the old family remedy for chasing the chills—a hot mustard bath—and sent to bed immediately afterwards. He was still in bed early today but this was just a precaution, Mrs. Donaldson observed.

"He had a cold before he started out," she said, "and I was worried about the reaction that might set in."

Apparently her fears were groundless because he has no temperature and from his bed he declared he is feeling fine.

"I think he looked after himself pretty well for a nine-year-old," his mother said today. "He could easily have become panicky as there was no one else around to help him. He had to break through the ice and crawl up the stony bank by himself."

Today it is the No. 1 topic of conversation among his school chums who are eagerly awaiting his return so they can hear a first-hand account of his narrow escape.

LaundryWorkers Apply For Union

Employees of Fannings' Launderers and Dry Cleaners have applied to the Ontario Labour Relations Board for certification as a local union in the Textile Workers' Union of America (CIO-CCL).

Notices to that effect were posted in the plant Monday morning as ordered by the OLRB in accordance with the Ontario Labour Relations Act.

Union officials say they have a majority of the workers in the plant already signed. About 40 would be included in the bargaining unit which consists of all employees with the exception of foremen, those above the rank of foreman, and office employees.

All but a half dozen in the bargaining unit would be women.

Application was made on January 27. The company will have an opportunity to signify whether or not it will dispute the application, and then a hearing will be called by the OLRB to check the validity of the union's claims.

Industrial Commission Puts Huge 150-Acre Suburb Site To Council; Cost $57,000

Purchase of 150 acres of suburban property south of Lansdown St. and west of Erskine Ave. for the future industrial expansion of Peterborough was recommended to the council last night by its committee of the whole in a motion by Ald E. C. Braund, seconded by Ald. Hugh Waddell. Cost of the five parcels, including three houses, is $57,000. The owners are Ernest Adamson, Arthur Stenson, James Anderson, Pietro and Vittorio Fisico and Mrs. Rose Minicola. The options were obtained in recent weeks by Gordon Hancock on instructions from the Industrial Commission, who submitted the project to the council as an investment in an industrial area for future attractions of industries.

The enterprise of the Commission was presented to the committee by its members, H. L. Garner, chairman, Herbert I. Bradburn and Bruce Payne. They were accompanied by Dick Raine, chairman last year of the manufacturers' committee of the council. He has been succeeded by Ald. P. J. Angleesey.

Given that extensive property served by two railways, Mr. Garner remarked to the council: "We'll try to make good."

Negotiations

The chairman said the Commission was at present negotiating with four or five industries, one of which appeared to be definitely interested in Peterborough.

The Adamson property is largely the east half of the old John Harper farm. It fronts on Lansdowne St. west, with its white brick house close to the street, which is actually No. 7 Highway, at the foot of the long hill, and crosses the Canadian Pacific Railway for a total of 80 acres.

Arthur Stenson has twenty acres extending westerly from Erskine Ave. It lies south of the late John Williams home which was bought by the city a few years ago for industrial use.

South of the Stenson place is the ten acres and brick house owned by James Anderson, and immediately south of that property is the Fisico ten acres and house, which is north of the Canadian National Railway.

The block terminates south of the CNR with the thirty acres owned by Mrs. Rose Minicola, but does not include her house and store.

170 Acres Possible

That is the general area of the Industrial Commission's project of acquisition. To the north of it on Erskine Ave. is the Williams place and to the west of that is the Graham property which was bought from the estate of James Graham. There is a house on each side of these parcels. Together they comprise twenty acres, making a total of 170 acres which would become available to the city for future manufacturing sites.

Most of the property is in North Monaghan, with sewer and water connections only 600 feet distant from the Erskine Ave. front.

The members of the Industrial Commission, who were appointed last year, outlined advantages of their basic project.

Crack-Pot Tried To Crack Meter

An unsuccessful attempt was made Monday night to steal the top of a meter on Water St. between Brock and Hunter Sts.

The head of the meter was found twisted at a 45 degrees angle from the top of the post by Constable William G. Scott. Marks on the meter indicated someone had used a small bar to try to pry the meter head from the post.

Failing that, the unsuccessful meter-cracker had tried to pry open the meter and failed again. However he did manage to render the meter useless.

NURSES BATTLE EPIDEMIC — Beaver Village, primitive Indian settlement in Halfway Valley in the wild mountain country west of the Alaskan Highway (left), was stricken with a diphtheria epidemic in December. 650 Books Added To Lakefield Village Library

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 31—(ENS)—Six hundred and fifty-two books were added to the Public Library during 1949 and total membership was 376, 151 adults and 225 juveniles, the secretary, Mrs. J. V. Ridpath, reported at the January meeting of the board.

A gradual increase in interest was reported by the secretary, who said the library had been open four sessions a week for all and during a special noon hour session, for-out-of-town students attending the high school.

In September first form students had visited the library in groups to learn how best to make use of the facilities.

Low benches were added to the equipment of the library and the children were making good use of them. And a bulletin board had been placed in the reading room.

Donate Books

A number of citizens had donated books and magazines and industrial and business concerns have sent books and pamphlets which were greatly appreciated.

Three boxes of books from the travelling libraries branch of the Dept. of Education were received during the year. Mrs. George Kelly, Mrs. Fife and Arlene Crowe have loaned pictures for use in the library.

Circulation was 8,830 of which 4,869 were adult and 3,984, boys' and girls' books. This was an increase over last year's figure of 607.

A financial statement revealed a balance of $123.54.

The Board forwarded names to the council for appointment of two new board members owing to the announcement that R. E. Sutton, principal of the school, and Mrs. Reg. Doubt, a newly elected member of the school board, wish to resign. Mrs. Doubt has served on the library board seven years and Mr. Sutton, three years.

Does Lack of Offspring Spoil Chance of Happiness?

DEAR MISS DIX: We are a married couple in our 30's. Have a little home and farm which we have worked together and paid for. We are much devoted to each other and very happy. But we have no children and our friends and acquaintances continually tell us that our home can never be happy without children but we do not miss them, and as God has not seen fit to send us any we are content and thought we were happy until people stirred us all up. Do you think it true that childless people cannot be happy?

WORRIED

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: What's the matter with your common sense that you have to let somebody on the outside tell you that you are not happy when you are happy and get you all hot and bothered over it?

It is the silliest thing I ever heard of. For how can any one else in the world know how you feel about things or what you desire or what would make you happy? Taste is absolutely individual and the thing that one person enjoys bores another to tears and what one person yearns after most the others wouldn't have on a bet. Believe me, my dear lady, you will never be happy until you make up your mind that you are not going to let what people say influence you one hair's breadth.

As to whether a married couple are made unhappy or not by the lack of children, it depends entirely upon the individuals. There are some men and women who have the paternal and maternal instinct so highly developed in them that they are miserable without little arms around their necks but there are plenty of other people who can take children or leave 'em, so to speak, and be equally happy, and not a few couples who regard children as brats and nuisances.

Many of the very happiest marriages are childless. If a man and woman love each other, they are drawn closer together by the lack of children because they have only each other on whom to bestow their affection. They become better pals because, not having any children to take care of, the wife is free to give all of her time to her husband.

So you see there is no reason to let your neighbors make you think that you are going to be unhappy because you haven't any children. Especially when you are not.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 22 years old and have been married three years to a man of the same age. We have a darling baby 2 years old. Ever since the baby came my husband goes out once in a while and most always stays out all night. He seems to get a restless fit ever so often and then we start fighting. He says he has never been with any girl since he married me but while he is out I keep imagining such awful things about him that it is driving me mad. He says he loves me and he gives me all his money but if he loved me he would be home knowing how badly I feel about it? My parents are dead, but I could stay with my sister and try to find a position. She would mind my baby for me.

C C L

ANSWER: Yours is another of the tragedies of too-early marriage. When a boy of 19 gets married before he has had any playtime, he almost invariably tires of the bondage of wedlock as soon as the novelty of it has worn off.

He doesn't want to be tied down with a wife and baby; he wants to be one among other youngsters having a good time. It's a perfectly normal state of mind. It is just because he is still a boy and craves the pleasures that belong to his time of life.

If you are a very wise young woman, you will try to realize that it is not because your husband has ceased to love you that he wants to step out now and then with the boys, but just because he is young and youth chafes at bonds and fetters. So when you see him getting restless instead of fighting with him encourage him to go out and have a little fling.

As for divorcing him, you would be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, for you would find it very hard to support yourself and the child. And certainly you have no right to make your sister pay for the folly of your too-early marriage by dumping your child down on her to care for.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Why are so many school teachers headed for the old maid class? Is it because they have ruled children so long that they have become domineering and men are afraid that they will makes bossy wives?

R M R

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think you are mistaken in believeing that there are more old maids among school teachers than there are among other class of self-supporting women, or that men find them less attractive than other girls. Possibly there are egotistic men who are afraid of being henpecked, and who are not willing to marry girls better educated than themselves, but most men have come to realize that brains are an asset in a wife, and that makes the schoolma'am a preferred risk.

Heflin Refuses $3,000 Week, Wants Freedom

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 31 (AP)—Would you leave a $3,000-a-week job to assert your independence?

Van Heflin did. And he has no regrets.

"I figure this way," he said "after five years of college and 20 years in the business, I ought to be capable enough to make my own decisions. At any rate I would prefer my mistakes to be my own, and not those made by my studio."

Heflin's parting with MGM was friendly, as all contractual endings are supposed to be in Hollywood. But he made no secret of his discontent with his post-war roles.

"The role of Athos in 'Three Musketeers' is bound to be a secondary one; D'Artagnan has to be the star," he remarked. "In 'Madame Bovary,' I was one of the three lovers of Jennifer Jones."

Grateful For 'Name'

But the Oklahoma-born actor is grateful to the studio for giving him what he sought from the movies—a "name."

"I realized the importance of a movie 'name' when I was touring with 'Philadelphia Story'" he recalled. "I knew that people like Lunt and Fontanne, Katherine Cornell and Helen Hayes could fill houses for the first three days in a town, but business might fall off after that.

"But the movie 'name' of Katharine Hepburn could fill the house, even to the balconies, for a week or more.

"The power of the movies was also driven home to me when the film version of 'Philadelphia Story' came out. I realized that Jimmy Stewart, playing the same role I did on the stage, could be seen by as many people in two days as had seen me in two years of the play's run, and he could get an academy award for doing it."

Flopped In B Pix

Heflin, who had flopped as a B-picture actor at RKO in 1936, accepted an MGM contract in 1941. He started at $500 a week, $150 less than his stage salary.

"I wasn't 'swamped with offers as the saying goes about Broadway success," he said with unusual candor. "I took the salary cut because I wanted to get a movie 'name.' I realized I didn't have the good looks or personality to become a topflight star, but I felt I had enough competence as an actor to establish myself."

However, shed no tears for Heflin's loss of three gees every pay day. His salary as a free-lancer will amount to around $10,000 a week—and there are plenty of takers.

Person Renting Plane Liable For Damages

The grocery store of Jack Wilson has been added to the list of break-ins reported to police since the start of the year.

Mr. Wilson told police Monday that his store had been broken into and $25 in cash and $10 in cigarettes taken. The robbery occurred some time between Saturday about six p.m. and Monday morning.

Entry had been via double doors at the side of the building which led onto a loading platform. Detective-Sergeant John Stevenson is investigating.

SCRAP FROM THE STRATOSPHERE—This small, rusty electrical device, called a "switchette," has soared 250 miles above the earth—higher than any other man-made article. Shown by Mrs. Dolores Mohlmann of Schenectady, N.Y., the switchette was a part of the two-stage rocket (model of which Mrs. Mohlmann also holds) which set a new altitude record in February, 1949. Scientists formerly believed the record-setting rocket disintegrated when it re-entered the earth's atmosphere. The badly-smashed but almost intact switchette was found recently at the proving ground at White Sands, N. M.

Hospital Administrator Offers To Resign Job

KITCHENER, Jan. 31 (CP) — Gordon Friesen, administrator of the Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital, offered to resign Monday following a hospital finance discussion with civic officials.

Mr. Friesen claimed the meeting, called to discuss the $66,000 deficit in the November report, reflected on his work as administrator. Mayor Leavine, himself a physician and surgeon, had suggested that a summary of the various hospital personnel and their particular duties be made to council, whereupon Mr. Friesen offered to resign.

Dublin Streets Named After Englishmen

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

DUBLIN, Jan. 31 (CP)—Come for a walk through the ancient streets of Dublin—and you won't see many Irish street names.

Unlike in many of the world's capitals, national heroes have seldom been commemorated here by naming streets after him. But many thoroughfares still bear the names of members of the English aristocracy which for centuries ruled Ireland.

The great exception is the spacious O'Connell Street, the city's main artery, named for Daniel O'Connell 19th century statesman still called "the liberator" for his leadership in having many Roman Catholic disabilities removed from British statute-books.

Paradoxically, however, even O'Connell Street is dominated by a figure from English history. Towering high above the street, perched atop a column similar to that in London's Trafalgar Square, stands a statute of Admiral Lord Nelson—no particular hero in Irish eyes.

Shopping Centre

Dublin's second-best-known roadway, the famous shopping centre of Grafton Street, is named after an obscure English governor of the early 18th century, and nearby Nassau Street reminds passersby of William 111, Count of Nassau. It was the same William who won the Battle of the Boyne, to the perpetual delight of all Orangemen and the continued chagrin of all good Roman Catholic Irishmen.

Merrion Street and Merrion Square derive from the Castle of the Fitzwilliam family at Merrion—originally Myryong. The square still provides some of the finest examples of Georgian architecture to be seen in Europe.

Many of the "streets broad and narrow" in Dublin's northern section, are named after English viceroys, soldiers and gentry of a century or two ago. They include Mountjoy Square, North Frederick Street, Blessington Street, Granby Row and Wellington Street.

Place-Names Frequent

But in many cases Dublin thoroughfares' names arose because of where they were situated. For instance Townsend Street was so called because it once stood at the end of the town. Nowadays, since the Liffery was walled up, it is a long way inland from Dublin Bay.

Winetavern Street got its name from the great number of inns which stood there. The name remains reasonably apt.

Formal Installation

HAMILTON, Jan. 31 (CP) — Formal installation of E. C. Fox, Toronto industrialist, as chancellor of McMaster University here will take place March 31, the university announced Monday. The present chancellor Dr. George P. Gilmour, becomes president and vice-chancellor.

Advertising Increases

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP) — A 17.9 per cent increase in national advertising linage in December, compared with the corresponding month in 1948, was reported Monday by the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association. Total advertising during December showed a gain of 9.3 per cent over December, 1948.

Science Develops Machine To Reduce Child Birth Risk

By FRED KERNER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (CP)—Medical science has scored another victory on its never-ending battle to reduce the risks of child birth.

A Columbia University specialist today disclosed the development of an electrical machine which determines whether an expectant mother is on the verge of giving normal or abnormal labor to her child. The unique device also shows whether labor is real or false.

The designer of the machine is Dr. Charles Steer, a member of the department of obstetrics and gynaecology at the university's college of physicians and surgeons. He made public his unique machine in the current issue of the American Journal of Obstetrics and Gynaecology published today.

Called the "electrohysterograph," the apparatus records the electrical activity produced by the human uterus as it contracts during labor. This activity is recorded by electrically-activated pens on chemically-sensitive paper through the use of six wires fastened in pairs on the patient's outer abdominal walls.

Gives Immediate Warning

The machine, patterned roughly after the electro-encelphalography machine used to measure brain waves, gives immediately warning if abnormal labor is about to take place. Abnormal labor is caused by the uterus muscles failing to contract sufficiently or properly. With this warning, steps can then be taken immediately to offset the condition through an operation or the administration of drugs to stimulate the muscles.

Dr. Steer said that during normal labor the machine shows a characteristic sequence of activity. This was determined during a four-year project with the machine on more than 200 patients. Readings for abnormal labor greatly differ from the normal recordings.

BLACKHEADS

Don't squeeze blackheads—dissolve them. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from any drug store and apply gently with wet, hot cloth over blackheads. They dissolve and disappear by this safe simple method.

6—In Memoriams

COONES—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. B. F. Coones, who passed away January 31, 1945.
Her life is a beautiful memory
Her death is our silent grief,
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden,
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
So we leave her in God's keeping,
The rough road safely o'er.
And our dear one we loved so dearly
Has only gone before.
—Ever remembered by daughter Clara.

FONTAINE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Angus Fontaine, who passed away January 31, 1948.
Time speeds on, two years have passed,
Since death its gloom its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light,
We miss that light and ever will
His vacant place there is none can fill.
Down here we mourn but not in vain,
For up in heaven we will meet again
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

JACKMAN—In loving memory of mother, Mrs. George Jackman, who passed away two years ago January 31.

Aiken Supports Truman Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(CP)—Senator George Aiken (Rep. Vt.) reported Monday that he and President Truman "found ourselves on common ground" in favoring development of the St. Lawrence Seaway and more power for New England.

Aiken visited the president and afterward told reporters Truman is "very much for getting something done." He said he thinks the president will meet later this week with a committee of private citzens backing the St. Lawrence project.

Aiken reported the St. Lawrence Seaway bill now is in a "hostile sub-committee" of the senate foreign relations committee. Aiken said Senator Millard Tydings (Dem. Mo.), sub-committee chairman, is against the development because the port of Baltimore is against it.

Evidence Given In Stabbing Case At Sudbury

SUDBURY, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Preliminary evidence was heard Monday by Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe in the case of Raoul Laviollette, a Montreal postal clerk who is alleged to have stabbed his wife, Marie, and Leo Lafreniere, in a Sudbury apartment on Jan. 15. Laviollette was committed for trial. Bail was set at $3,000.

Mrs. Laviollette and Lafreniere were admitted to hospital following the stabbing, but were released the day after receiving treatment for their wounds.

Lafreniere appeared on the witness stand and testified on Laviollette's action prior to the stabbing.

Lafreniere said that he and Mrs. Laviollette, with whom he admitted living for the last 1½ years, had found the accused in the apartment when they returned home from shopping, Saturday afternoon. Later the three of them went downtown and had a few beers and Laviollette discussed the possibilities of divorce action and a home for the children, who are still at his home in Montreal.

When Laviollette returned to the apartment with his wife and Lafreniere, they had coffee. The accused, said Lafreniere, walked around behind him and stabbed him in the back three times with an ornamental dagger. Laviollette then slashed his wife in the face, Lafreniere stated.

Food Subsidies No Help To Producers: Senator Fraser

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 31 (ENS)—Senator William Fraser told the Rotary Club Monday that subsidies on apples and other farm products were now proving to have been a disadvantage to the Canadian farmer. Chairman of the National Apple Advisory Board from 1939-45, the Senator explained his interpretation of the causes of the current over production of apples. He also spoke of surplus production of foods in the States, saying there were enough eggs rotting in storage in the U.S. to give one egg every day to every person on the earth.

At the present time, apple-growing in Canada was an economic casualty, due to improper handling, not only by the Government but also by the growers, Senator Fraser said.

In 1932, the British Government, under Mr. Baldwin, established a tariff of 90 cents a barrel on all imported apples not grown in the Commonwealth. This is what started the industry on its downward trend.

Mr. Fraser was chairman of the National Apple Advisory Board from 1939 to 1945. In 1941 and up until 1949, the Canadian Government made outright grants to growers in the Annapolis Valley when their market dropped off. In some cases the Government purchased the apples and sold them as a processed product, and, in other cases, the surplus apples were given away.

The Okanogan Valley also received assistance, and now that the war is over, they are still asking for assistance.

Britain Planted Trees

During the period 1933 to 1936, the British Government planted about five million apple trees. These were planted scientifically and yielded good crops. The orchards were sprayed through pipelines from central tanks, and this development paid big dividends as is shown in the decreased purchases of apples from Canada.

Last year Britain produced 28 million bushels of apples. Canada produced only about 18 million.

The subsidies paid by the Canadian Government to the apple-growers had a tendency to promote the growing of apples. Everybody wanted to grow them because they were assured of the Government price support, even though there were no markets for their product. This led to even greater over-production.

The egg industry was also in the same situation. During the war Britain absorbed millions of dozens of Canadian eggs. This was satisfactory as long as Canada was giving them the eggs, but when they had to pay for them in dollars they couldn't do it.

Since 1942, Canada had given Britain an average of one and a half billion dollars a year. The Government had to give this away or let it go to waste. The price support program encouraged over-production.

Better Without Grants

Growers were now of the opinion they should never have started taking the Government grants. They felt they would be better off now if they had not.

The United States Government is doing the same thing, the senator declared, and has been storing over-produced items in huge underground warehouses. The U.S. now has enough eggs on hand, which are rotting, to give one egg each day to every man, woman and child on the face of the earth for a period of six months.

Many other items, such as potatoes, apples, etc., were there, purchased with the taxpayers' money, and now rotting. These goods had been taken off the market in order that the high prices can be maintained, Senator Fraser said.

Agriculture was still the soundest industry in Canada. The farmers were the best business men in the country, the senator declared. "However, the more he depends on Government subsidy, the worse off he becomes," he warned. Under ordinary circumstances there was no price control on a declining market. If there were then the Government was the buyer, and if this was the case the country was coming one step closer to socialism.

The speaker was introduced by Bill Hogle, and a vote of thanks was proposed by the president, Charles Calver.

A. K. Louks announced ladies' night would be February 14.

Small Fire At CGE Much Water Damage

Considerable damage, chiefly from water, was caused at the CGE Sunday afternoon when a fire broke out in the canteen section of the refrigerator unit.

An electric motor overheated and spread to some of the supplies and soft drink cases. Before the blaze was extinguished two sprinkler heads had been set off and a one-and-a-half-inch hose was used.

The water dripped down into other departments under the third storey canteen. Another section of the refrigerator unit was damaged as were the printing and stationery and shipping departments.

Industrial Commission

Industrial Trends

Mr. Bradburn said that industrial trend was toward the south and west. Manufacturers preferred to be located in an industrial area. Mr. Garner mentioned the example of Chatham in its recent expansion as evidence of that plan of factory grouping in one of the smaller cities of the provinces.

The proposed industrial block is compact, and is traversed by two railways, permitting the desirable facility of switching from both, thereby avoiding transfers from one to the other. The area is unified, and in its expanse of land it provides for an unestimated number of industries.

A major advantage of the project, Mr. Bradburn said, was that it gave the Commission and thereby the city control of the land values that could be quoted to any enquiring company. He recalled the experience with property owners when Canadian Industries Limited investigated the site possibilities of property along Lansdowne St. west, part of the present area under option.

Land prices mushroomed over night when owners learned of manufacturing interest. C.I.L. were looking for a site for their nylon plant which eventually was built at Kingston. Municipal ownership of desirable land precluded the booming of values at a time when a fixed sum should be quoted to industrial enquiries.

The optioned area is a level expanse of suitable land, adjacent to the city, in the line of industrial development, and crossed by two railways. And the city will have possession of it.

Mr. Hancock told the committee he had encountered the reluctance of owners to conscider selling, and the consequent uncertainty as to when they would have to abandon their homes, and buy or build other houses for their needs.

$50,000 Voted

Ratepayers authorized the council a few years ago to invest up to $50,000 in properties for future industrial requirements. One of them was at the southeast corner of Lansdowne St. and Erskine Ave., since purchased and occupied by the Coca Cola Company.

Another eight acres of the Robert Harstone estate were bought on the north side of the C.P.R. and on the west side of High St. Four acres are now under lease to Canadian Timber-Rib Structures Ltd., with option to buy the entire parcel. This company has built a plant of their own material. These transactions, it was said, indicate the gradual recovery of the city's investment in industrial sites.

Receivable Money

Approximately $30,000 of the permitted investment remains.

"The city will likely get back whatever money is spent on manufacturing properties," Ald. Waddell commented.

To buy the 150 acres in the Lansdowne- Erskine area, Mayor Swanston suggested that the council could prepare a bylaw to take up the options and submit it to Ontario Municipal Board for approval. The $57,000 needed for this purchase could be borrowed on five-year debentures.

The first step toward the implementing of the Industrial Commission's project was the Braund-Waddell motion recommending to the council the acceptance of the options. Details of financing are still to be determined. The motion was unanimously adopted.

In the words of Ald. Doug Miller: "If we want it, we have to pay for it".

New York Trip Enjoyed By The Petes

It was late Monday when most of the Petes' hockey team returned from a tour lasting nearly four days, a highly enjoyable one, according to Secretary Baz Phelan. It started out with a draw game in Gananoque on Friday and then the club pushed off for Lake Placid, N. Y., some 310 miles from here. Arriving at 5:15 a.m. Saturday, a police car escorted the team to the hotel and a practise session was arranged at the fine Olympic Arena where the boys chased the American and Canadian figure skating champions off the ice—Ron Horton staging a fancy skating show of his own.

Some sight-seeing and excellent meals were followed by the first exhibition game. The Lake Placid squad proved young and fast to come from behind and win out 7-3 against a tired team. The same thing practically occurred in the Sunday tilt when the Petes faded and lost out by a 5-2 count. There were many inquiries for Freddy Mortimer, who played there last winter. Many of the Petes took in the world ski championships Sunday where 10 countries competed, the Norwegians being the pick of the contestants. Some of the Petes were included in newsreel shots.

Cheered the Team

A staunch supporter of the Petes was Susanne Morrow, Canadian figure skating champion, from Toronto. She and the American champion, Yvonne Sherman, visited the boys in their dressing-room. Billy Barrett, star half for Notre Dame, also met the bunch. He liked the work of Bill McMaster, saying he was tougher than any gridder Notre Dame faced all season. Bill proved a big hit with the crowd as he stepped into all and sundry, and Lake Placid would like him there next year.

A big crowd attended Saturday's game and a fair-sized one on Sunday, prices being $1.00 and $1.50. Red Creighton also put on quite a show as he played. Young Bud McDougall took part in a championship game first, playing half of the time for Saranac Lake and half for Lake Placid. He stole the show, scoring a goal and setting up several, to win the hockey stick for the best player on the ice. NHL scouts on hand were impressed with McMaster and Junior West.

Officials there treated the club in grand style, and President Ed Riley and his team were highly impressed. They expect to be back next year. Red Creighton may arrange a lacrosse match there in the summer. Johnny Russelle was busy checking on two good baseball prospects, a pitcher and a first baseman. All in all the Petes enjoyed the excursion from start to finish.

King George Loses

Confederation recently defeated King George in a senior school hockey league tilt by a 9-2 score. Holland, Parry and Crowder scored in the first frame, while Parry and Bryan counted in the next one, McIntosh having an assist. In the third, Holland hit the hemp three times, Crowder and Bryan getting the others, an assist each going to Withers, Davis and Parry. The latter and Holland were outstanding in a slap-dash duel with plenty of speed shown. Teams:

King George: Found, Barclay, McIlmoyle, Fuller, Withers, Fairs. Butcher, Crowder, Roote, MacKenzie, Thompson, Barker, Johnston.

Confederation: B. Bryan, Dunstan, Brooks, M. Bryan, Davis, Holland, Sloan, Parry, Simmons, Coones, McIntosh.

Referee, J. Weir.

Hastings Triumphs

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 31 (ENS)—Hastings juveniles defeated Lakefield 5-4 here last night in a neat puck tussle. J. Sloan scored the first from D. Sloan with Stevenson tying it up from Morrow. The second period saw goals counted by D. Sloan (two), K. Ford and Fairman, with Morrow and J. Sloan each having two assists, and McMillan one. In the third Chambers, K. Ford and J. Sloan hit the twine, an assist apiece going to Laver, Morrow and Coyle. Teams:

Hastings—Goal, Must; defence, Chambers, J. Fairman; centre, Laver; wings, McMillan, Lynch; alternates, Isaac, K. Ford, D. Fairman, Morrow, Wortman, D. Ford, Scriver, Stevenson.

Lakefield—Goal, Blake; defence, Morrison, Twist; centre, Geraldi; wings, Montgomery, D. Sloan; alternates, Coyle, J. Sloan, Heffernan, Calberry, McCracken, Wilford.

Referee, R. Scriver; linesman, T. Junkin.

Seek Dollar Loan

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 31 (AP)—Australia is considering asking for a substantial dollar loan to finance the purchase of much-needed goods from the United States, it was learned today.

Must Regulate Markets To Gain Dollars

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

N. S. Robertson, president of the North American Life Assurance Company, had some plain speaking to do Monday about exports.

Some of it may not be pleasant reading to some industries, but here it is:

It is said that our impending external trade problem stems from world conditions, from our customers' dollar exchange problem, and that there is nothing we as Canadians can do about it. With this view I do not agree. There are factors in the problem which are wholly external to Canada, and no doubt over these we have no control. But I am convinced that there are many other elements which we can ourselves regulate and manage so as to assist in the capture and retention of foreign markets.

The old trade patterns by which our customers earned dollars from others with which to pay us have perhaps largely disappeared, at least for the present, and if our prospective customers are to gain dollars they must in the meantime earn them from us or from this continent.

Must Find Dollars

Therefore, it would seem in our interest to help find these dollars, and in looking for ways to do so we will have to abandon some of our long-established patterns.

For example, we will have to recognize that the over-all benefit of Canada is more important than any special protections to local or sectional industry or interest, and we must refuse to demand or erect bulwarks, either by tariffs or regulations, that will exclude our customer's goods and thereby exclude him from earning dollars to buy our products.

Indeed it were better, and in the long run cheaper, that some particular industry or industries disappear if reasonable foreign competition cannot be met, than that our whole economy should suffer from the inability of our customers to find Canadian markets and thereby the required Canadian dollar. There is no doubt that the devices by which we exclude imports are also effective to prevent exports so vital to our economic health.

Seek Compensation

EDMONTON, Jan. 31 (CP) — Compensation for damage to farm properties by seismograph oil survey crews operating in northern and central Alberta will be sought this year. D. Roberts, secretary of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts, said Monday the damage is being done through seismograph explosions too near farm property. He said in many cases basement walls of farm houses have collapsed and farm wells have gone dry.

Deafening Applause

OSLO, Jan. 31 — (Reuters) — Deafening applause greeted British ballet stars, Margot Fonteyn and Robert Helpmann when they danced before King Haakon and Crown Prince Olav in the packed Oslo theatre Monday night. Fresh from their triumph in North America, the Sadlers Wells dancers are giving two performances with the new Norwegian ballet company to help the company out of financial difficulties.

EDISON, Ga., Jan. 31 — (AP) — A 13-year-old mother took her baby home from hospital Monday, "just too excited to say anything." Baby Winnie Louise was born last Wednesday to Mrs. E. J. Deal, tall, 135-pound blonde, who married a year ago when she wa 12. The bobby-sox mother had quit school after the seventh grade. Deal, 20, is a cotton gin worker.

Accountants Deny Monopolizing Jobs

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—Guy W. Smith, president of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Ontario, Monday disputed a statement that the Institute seeks to monopolize the profession of public accountancy.

Chester S. Walters, Ontario's Deputy Provincial Treasurer and an honorary life president of the Certified Public Accountants Association, said Saturday that three associations of Ontario Accountants are closing ranks to block what they say is a move by the ICA to monopolize the profession.

Smith said his group has never advocated any type of regulation which would give it an advantage over any other association.

Unions Would Like Means Test Removed

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP) — A campaign launched by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO) for removal of the means test for old-age pensions was taken up Monday by other unions affiliated with the Canadian Congress of Labor.

The plane was discussed at a meeting of representatives of the steel union, the United Automobile Workers, the Canadian Brotherhood of railway employees, the United Packinghouse Workers, the retail wholesale and departmental store union and the United Rubber Workers.

3,000,000 Leprosy Sufferers Throughout British Empire

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, Jan. 31 (CP)—Three million persons throughout the British Commonwealth today are suffering from leprosy. Of this number, says the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association, 200,000 are "dangerous cases" urgently in need of treatment.

"This means special treatment in settlements segregated from the main living areas," Henry S M Hoare, secretary of the association told The Canadian Press.

"Of these serious cases only about one-fifth are being provided for at present. The others—less urgent but no less serious—are receiving very inadequate treatment."

Hoare said that the world total of leprosy cases was "in the neighborhood of 10,000,000, of whom only about 10 per cent are getting any kind of treatment.

...00 In Britain

In Britain there were probably 300 lepers, the majority of whom did not know they were suffering from the disease. In Canada, as far as he knew, only one case has been reported.

The association is grappling with a dreaded disease which in some parts of Africa afflicts as many as one in 20 of the population.

"We spend more than £50,000 ($155,000) each year," Hoare said, "and all of it comes from private donations. These, unfortunately, are pitifully inadequate for our needs."

Dr. Gordon Ryrie, 50, who for nearly 20 years was in charge of a leper colony at Sungei Bulch, Malaya, said "children are our greatest problem."

"If we could get at the children in the early stages of infection, we would be well along the road to stamping out the disease entirely," he added.

In Britain the problem is regarded as less serious, yet of the estimated 300 sufferers only 60 are under the association's supervision. Fear of being socially ostracized is held responsible for the fact that more sufferers do not report themselves as lepers.

Only leper colony remaining in Britain is located in a lonely part of Sussex. It houses 14 lepers and is only for British subjects.

Judged Insane

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Jan. 31 (AP)—West Point honor graduate John Steven Conner, 39, was judged insane Monday, and so will not stand trial on a charge of murder in the shotgun deaths of his three children. Likely Order Some Czechs Leave Canada

By DOUGLAS HOW.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—Cabinet has pondered Czechoslovakia's expulsion of two minor members of the Canadian Legation staff in Prague, and is expected to order some members of the Czech Embassy here to leave Canada as a retaliation, informed quarters said today.

Final decision awaits the return and personal reports Wednesday of the two non-commissioned officers of the RCAF who became the first Canadians to be struck by a relatively new phase of the cold war involving expulsions and counter-expulsions.

Enough official information has been sent here from Prague, however, to fortify the original belief that the charges against the two were farcical and to make out a strong case for the necessity of a firm Canadian retort.

This, it is anticipated, will not only involve steps against Czech representatives here, but a request that Canada be allowed to replace the two men. The RCAF expects to post another two men to replace those two as the staff of the legation's air attache.

The ousted pair, Sgt. Reginald Danko of Lauder, Man., and Toronto, and Cpl. J. G. Vanier of Rochebaucourt, Que., are scheduled to leave London by TCA aircraft tomorrow in a plane that is due at Montreal's Dorval airport early Wednesday morning.

No Raiding Pact

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Two of the largest rival unions in the United States Monday announced a "no raiding" peace pact through Labor Secretary Maurice Tobin. Walter A. Slugged By Thief

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP) — A would-be thief escaped Monday night after slugging Fred L. Hoblitzell, former Liberal member of parliament for Toronto-Eglinton with a blackjack in his home here. Mr. Hoblitzell, also president of Anglo-Petroleum, Limited, said he arrived home to find the man in his house. He grappled with him for 10 minutes before being dazed by the blow.

Asks $30,000 Damages

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—After math of a grenade explosion five years ago, and 18-year-old Ottawa art student seeks $30,000 damages from the federal government. The claim was made in a petition of right filed in exchequer court by Robert Ginn through his widowed mother, Mrs. Florence Ginn. The youth said in his petition that he lost his right eye, the lower part of his right arm, amputated at the wrist, and other "cuts and contusions" when a grenade exploded in his hand.

Third Special Charge

VANCOUVER, Jan. 31 (CP) — The third "habitual criminal" charge in British Columbia's history was read Monday against Frank (Steamer) Bell, 35, of Winnipeg in assize court here. He had been convicted on a charge of illegal possession of narcotics immediately prior to reading of the second charge.

Cheque For $2000 Given Hospital By Rotary Club

A cheque for $2,000 was presented to the Civic Hospital by the Rotary Club. This was the second donation by the club in two months to a hospital, the Sick Children's Hospital receiving $2,000 in December.

Mrs. E. C. Braund, president of the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital received the cheque from Clare Collins and Robert Allen. She immediately turned the money over to John R. Marshall, chairman of the Board of Governors.

Mr. Marshall said subscriptions have been received from many organizations in the city. The Women's Auxiliary, he explained, through its efforts has raised $12,000 for the hospital to build the total of subscriptions already received to $30,000. By July, when the hospital is opened, he hoped the subscriptions would total the $50,000 mark.

Mr. Collins said in calling on Mr. Allen to make the presentation said the club felt that it was fitting in Health Week to make such a gift to the hospital. The money, he intimated, was raised principally from receipts of the Barbara Ann Scott train to Toronto two years ago.

Tuberculosis Tough Enemy But Backing Up

Tuberculosis is a tough enemy Fifty years ago when the Canadian Tuberculosis Association was formed it was a popular belief that if laws against spitting could be enforced tuberculosis would be wiped out in time. It might be—but the time would be be something like several thousand years.

A great deal more militant and diversified program has been undertaken and though TB is being pushed back slowly—the death rate has fallen from 200 to 37 per 100,000 — it does not yield easily In a National Health Week review of the situation, the Canadian Tuberculosis Association says that step one was to provide sanatorium beds so that patients could be admitted as soon as their case was discovered.

Then it was realized that there was urgent need to find cases earlier, for the sake of both the patient and those with whom he was in contact, and programs were launched to find cases in the early stage, before the symptoms warned of danger. This program to find cases early is still expanding, reaching out to include the whole population.

It has been the hope of scientists that vaccination would work the wonders against TB that it did against smallpox. This hope was not fully realized but at least it has been found that BCG gives partial protection to these who have never been exposed to tuberculosis germs, and it has greatly decreased the incidence of the disease among those who of necessity are exposed to the disease but who have not previously been infected.

Another new horizon is rapidly widening—the possibility of cutting down the number of recurrences of this disease by fitting the patients for suitable work when they leave the santorium. Those who have given the matter most attention are quite convinced that the number of recurrences can be reduced by sound rehabilitation.

Along with these advances, there has been increased use of drugs and surgery in treatment.

The forces against tuberculosis are strong, and if employed to the full, they will be victorious.

Four-Lane Highway MayBeSeparateRoute

TORONTO, Jan. 31 — (CP) — If and when the Ontario Government decides to proceed with construction of a four-lane highway between Hamilton and Windsor it may choose a route separate from either No 2 or 3 highways, it was reported Monday night. There was no official statement however.

Municipalities linked with either highway have been agitating to have their route chosen, and a deputation from the No. 2 Highway municipalities will meet Highways Minister Doucett shortly to press their claims. This section includes Paris, Woodstock, Ingersoll, London, Chatham and Windsor.

Most of the support for the No. 3 group comes from St. Thomas.

245 Convictions

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP) — Convictions during December for breaches of Ontario game laws numbered 245, the Lands Department announced Monday. Sixty-nine persons were convicted of hunting without a licence, 16 had furs illegally, 22 had loaded guns in automobiles, 10 had gill nets illegally and 11 had venison in closed season.

3 Men Fined For Fighting In Restaurant

Three young men were found guilty of common assault and each fined $5 and $5.33 costs when Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., reduced a charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm on Joseph E. Paquette, Douro township, in police court Monday.

The three were: Angus Austin, 22, of 135 James St.; Fred Wynne, 21, Toronto; and David Muir, 20, Toronto.

Paquette said he had been sitting in the De Luxe cafe about midnight, Jan. 23. He said that as the three young men came in the restaurant, he spoke to his companion about getting a taxi to take him home. He said Austin, who is a taxi driver, apparently overheard him, stopped at his table and offered to drive him home in his friend's car. He said they were apparently trying to act smart and he told them he did not want a taxi. He testified that they said he was looking for trouble.

Had Black Eye

Wynne, he swore, hit him from behind with his fist and Austin hit him from in front. The back of his head and his left eye received the blows. Paquette had a large black eye in court.

He said he got up out of the booth and the third man, Muir, came along and also started. All three hit him with their fists many times and Muir knocked out one of his front teeth. He said he kept trying to get away and finally escaped out the back door just as the police arrived.

A waiter, William Yee, testified the three men came into the restaurant, walked around it and stopped at Paquette's booth. Muir did not stand near the booth. He said he did not hear the conversation. The first he knew of any trouble was when Austin and Wynne started beating Paquette. Muir then ran to them and joined in. He had no idea how the fight started.

Austin testified he had come into the restaurant with his companions wearing his taxi driver's uniform. He said Paquette called him over and asked to be driven to his home in Douro, eight miles away. Austin said he told Paquette he was off duty and could not drive him.

Claimed Held By Paquette

He said he tried to walk away twice and on both times Paquette stopped him by holding his sleeve with his hand. The second time he became angry and swung backhanded at him with the arm Paquette had seized.

He said Paquette got up and hit him on the side of the face. He added Wynne hit Paquette once. He then wrestled with Paquette in the aisle.

Muir said he did not hit Paquette but only shoved him twice. The second time, Paquette fell against a booth. Then the police arrived.

There was evidence that all four men had been drinking, but apparently none had been drunk. Wynne admitted to Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw he had nearly become involved in a fight with four youths on the street outside another cafe.
